Hunter, 20-13, the 1974 Cy Young Award winner, struck out five Orioles and didn't allow a runner past second base in outduelling Jim Palmer, another charter member of the 20-victory club. Palmer, the 1973 Cy Young Award winner and a 20-game winner in five of the last six years, is now 20-10.

It was the seventh shutout for Hunter, a career high. He has won four of his last five decisions, completed nine consecutive games and has 27 complete games over-all, the most for the Yankees since Carl Mays had 30 in 1921.

In the last five seasons, Hunter has won 103 games and lost 48.

After Chris Takes Women's Title

Orantes Destroys Connors in Final

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The usually staid centre court at the West Side Tennis Club took on the atmosphere of a bull ring.

Manuel Orantes, the 26-year-old left-hander from Barcelona, was the master, making defending champion Jimmy Connors see red in the ring.

"Vamos, maestro," hundreds of Spanish-speaking fans shouted. "Manuela, Manuela, Manuela.

"Orantes, Orantes, Orantes. Ole, ole, ole."

Orantes taunted Connors by playing to his two-fisted backhand, kept him at bay on the baseline, then brought him in with drop shots and set him up for the kill.

The 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory in the United States open championships Sunday ended Connors' chances of retaining the title and reigning with his former fiancee, Chris Evert, who won the women's crown on Saturday.

Orantes' victory came less than 18 hours after his "miracle match" with Guillermo Vilas of Argentina. In that under-the-lights semi-final, the third-seeded Orantes came from far behind and beat the second-seeded Vilas 4-6, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

During the match against Connors, which lasted less than two hours, chants kept coming from high up in the stands, which were packed with a record crowd of 15,669. They came from a group of Mexicans who had come to cheer Raul Ramirez, the No. 11 seed who went out in the round of 16. They stayed to back Orantes.

The 23-year-old Connors advanced to the final Saturday afternoon with a 7-5, 7-5, 7-5 triumph over Sweden's Bjorn Borg, the No. 5 seed, breaking him in the 12th game of each set.

He then sat on the sidelines and cheered Miss Evert to her 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 triumph, over Evonne Goolagong of Australia.

Miss Evert's victory was worth $25,000. She received another $900 as a semi-finalist in the women's doubles. Not counting accessories and endorsements, she has banked a record $280,927 so far this year.

Miss Goolagong, now a three-time runner-up at Forest Hils, earned $12,000, increasing her 1975 earnings to $109,109.

Orantes, No. 2 on the Grand Prix of Tennis championship points list, earned $25,000 for his victory, increasing his year's earnings to $131,406, while Connors' $12,000 as runner-up pushed his total earnings, including challenge matches, to $587,809.

Champion Lost for Words

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson, an intelligent and usually highly articulate young man, seemed almost at a loss for words.

"It's a great feeling to have," he said, then paused. "It's very hard to put into words, to describe just what it means.

"I can tell you this. It means a very great deal, it gives you a very good feeling inside, to know that you've won when you're facing players the calibre of Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lou Graham."

Of those major title-holders, only Nicklaus was a threat to Watson in Sunday's final round of the World Series of Golf and his bid fizzled and failed in a series of frustrations that had the usually self-contained Nicklaus, scowling, muttering and, at least once, angrily tossing his club.

Watson, one of the game's brightest young stars, held him off with a solid, last-round 71 and won by two strokes in the last World Series to be played under it's exclusive, four-man format.

"I think the change will be good," the red-haired, 25-year-old Watson said. "It's great to have just the four winners of the major titles, but I think it will be even better to have the others in the tournament, the foreign players, the amateur champions, the point leaders, the double winners."

ANDRUSYSHYN

Zenon Producing For Argos

Zenon Andrushyshyn of Toronto Argonauts kicked four field goals Sunday to maintain a comfortable lead atop the Eastern Football Conference scoring race, although his team lost 28-20 to Montreal Alouettes.

Andrysyshyn now has 76 points, including 21 field goals, while Gerry Organ stayed in second place with 58 points as Ottawa Rough Riders whipped Hamilton Tiger-Cats 56-31. Organ booted eight converts, one short of the CFL single-game record held by Bill Bewley, formerly with Montreal.

Als Keep Pace With Riders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ottawa Rough Riders coach was amazed while a former Riders quarterback was dismayed following a pair of Eastern Football Conference games Sunday.

"It was some basketball game," said Ottawa coach George Brancato, shaking his head in amazement at the 56-31 score by which his Riders beat Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Montreal Alouettes kept pace with the Riders atop the EFC standings by beating Toronto Argonauts 23-20 and Argo coach Russ Jackson, the former Ottawa quarterback star, said:

"We kicked it raound like we were back in kindergarten."

At Ottawa, a crowd of 27,259 was treated to a wide-open offensive display, including four touchdowns each by Ottawa fullback Art Green and Hamilton split end Terry Evanshen.

LEADS ATTACK

Another star was Ottawa starting quarterback Tom Clements who led the club to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and a 35-10 advantage by half time.

Brancato said Clements' play selection was perfect and he again displayed his outstanding ability to miz his receiver's and runners.

Other Ottawa touchdowns came from halfback Jim Foley, tight end Tony Gabriel, quarterback Condredge Holloway and wide receiver Moody Jackson. Grry Organ kicked converts on all eight touchdowns.

Evanshen's touchdowns, all on passes from Jim McMillan, increased his Canadian Football League career record to 69 touchdown receptions.

Hamilton kicker Ian Sunter added a field goal, a single and a convert and Garney Henley added a two-point convert.

The Riders used three quarterbacks, with Holloway replacing Clements in the third quarter and Canadian native Bill Robinson taking over in the fourth quarter to direct a 75-yard drive that ended with Robinson's 18-yard scoring pass to Jackson.

Hamilton started veteran Jerry Keeling at quarterback but Keeling failed to gain ground and rookie McMillan took over.

At Toronto, coach Jackson's dismay stemmed mainly from the Argos' second-quarter lapse when the Alouettes rallied from a 9-0 first-quarter deficit.

Three field goals had given the Argos their early lead but Montreal came back with a Jimmy Jones touchdown pass to Larry Smith and then Johnny Rodgers ran back an Andrusyshyn punt 60 yards for another touchdown.

Don Sweet added two converts and two field goals for a 20-9 Als lead at half time. An Andrusyshyn field goal, a touchdown by Ed Shuttlesworth and a two-point convert by Peter Muller erased the Als lead but Sweet's 47-yard field goal late in the final quarter produced the victory.

Jones went all the way at quarterback for the Als, completing 15 of 28 passes for 196 yards. Mike Rae handled the quarterback chores for the Argos, completing 13 of 25 passes for 108 yards.

A crowd of 39,120 Toronto fans saw the Argos lose their fourth game in a row, leaving them in a last-place tie with Hamilton, each with four points.

Western Conference

Place-kicker Dave Cutler stretched his lead in the Western Football Conference individual scoring race Saturday night, contributing 10 points to Edmonton Eskimos' 28-24 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Cutler booted two field goals, three converts and a single, raising his season total to 81 points. Place-kicker Cyril McFall of Calgary Stampeders is second with 52.

Edmonton's Roy Bell had three touchdowns for a season total of 30 points, putting him in a three-way tie for sixth place in the scoring race with Jim Young of British Columbia Lions and Willie Burden of Calgary Stampeders.

First Place Goes with It

Eskimos Win Aerial Battle

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos moved into first place in the Canadian Football League's Western Conference on Sunday after shooting down Saskatchewan Roughriders 28-24 in a hotly contested aerial battle.

Quarterback Tom Wilkinson masterminded the Edmonton offence with 27 completions in 40 attempts for three touchdowns.

Roy Bell, who gained only 55 yards on 16 carries, caught all three major scores, including two from 19 and 20 yards out in the fourth quarter as the Eskimos came back from an 11-point deficit.

Ron Lancaster threw 17 completions in 25 attempts before suffering his only interception at the hands Dale Potter with 28 seconds left in the game.

"That's the best rush I've seen this year," Wilkinson said. "Our guys really came together in the last eight or nine minutes and reached down and did a tremendous job . . ."

Dave Cutler completed Edmonton's scoring with three converts, two field goals and a single.

"We didn't play tough enough when we had to," said Saskatchewan coach John Payne. "They came up with the big plays when they needed them.

Quarterback Ron Lancaster put it this way: "If you can't stop them, you can't beat them."

A record Clark Stadium crowd of 25,201 watched the Eskimos win their sixth game in seven starts to take sole possession of first place in the Western Conference as they leave on a two-game swing in the east.

The Roughriders, two points behind in second place with five wins and three losses, meet Calgary Stampeders in Regina on Wednesday.

Veteran Saskatchewan fullback George Reed was the top ground gainer of the game, collecting 12 yards in 22 carries. He also scored two Roughrider touchdowns on runs of two and seven yards.

Steve Mazurak scored the other Saskatchewn touchdown on a seven-yard Lancaster pass. Jack Abendschan kicked three converts and a field goal, but had a second field goal attempt blocked in the third quarter.

Edmonton compiled a net offence of 428 yards, including 29 first downs. Saskatchewan had a net offence of 347 yards for 21 first downs.

Minto Cup

Imports Pace Burnaby Squad

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — The Burnaby, B.C., junior lacrosse finalists appear to have made a couple of good import selections for the Minto Peterborough Gray-Munros.

Bob Cool and Kevin Alexander, two pickups from Victoria, led the Burnaby club to a 10-8 win Sunday night in the first game of the best-of-seven national junior finals.

Cool scored three goals, Alexandr added two and the Burnaby defence held Peterborough to just two goals in each of the final two periods.

"That's the kind of defence we played all year," said Burnaby coach Dan Mattinson. "But they'll get used to it in a couple of games."

and para 5 player's name

Dan Perrault, Matt Aitken, Mike Holden, Ray Mattinson and John Krgovich added single goals for Burnaby.

Bob Wasson scored three times for Peterborough and single goals came from Ted Floyd, Peter Byers, Paul Evans, Randy Bryan and John Martin.

The next game in the series will be played here Tuesday.

Peterborough coach Ben Floyd said bad shooting and penalties hurt his club.

'A couple of times we passed when we should have shot," said Floyd. "We controlled the loose balls and faceoffs and that's usually good for a win."

Peterborough won 28 of 35 faceoffs and piked up 122 of 202 loose balls but took 38 minutes in penalties. Burnaby had only 12 minutes in penalties.

Fred Gardner, a pickup from Mississauga, replaced Mike Legrow in the Peterborough goal midway in the second period. Rich Zechel was the Buraby goalie.

Leeds United Looks Good

LONDON (CP) — Leeds United is threatening to chase the English League soccer title once more, despite the widespread talk that the team's best days are over.

Leeds played with all its old style Saturday to beat Wolverhampton 3-0 and edged up to third place in the league standings, only two points behind leading Manchester United which defeated Tottenham Hotspur 3-2.

The Leeds team, which has maintained a leading place in British soccer for a decade, has begun to break up. Johnny Giles has moved to West Bromwich as player manager. Billy Bremner and Norman Hunter are available for transfer. Both have been great international stars, but neither can have many more years of soccer left.

So, at the start of this season, everyone was saying that Leeds was on the way down. But don't suggest that to the Leeds players or to their manager, Jimmy Armfield.

Armfield took over the manager's job at Leeds a year ago after Brian Clough had a brief and unhappy spell.

"When I came here we were second from the bottom of the standings," said Armfield. "We finished the season in eighth place and reached the final of the European Cup of Champions. Does that sound like a team that's finished?"

Gordon McQueen, Allan Clarke and Duncan McKenzie scored goals in the Leeds victory Saturday.

Meanwhile, Manchester United extended its unbeaten run to 18 games with the win over Tottenham. The Spurs took a 2-1 lead on a goal by Chris Jones but then lost it when Tottenham's Ian Smith scored on his own goal. Jerry Daly scored the winner for United.

One point behind United in the standings is West Ham which scored a 1-0 victory over Manchester City on a goal by captain Frank Lampard.

Queen's Park Rangers also kept their unbeaten record intact with a 1-1 draw at Birmingham.

Scottish international striker Ted MacDougall had his second three-goal game in three weeks to help Norwich beat Everton 4-2.

MacDougall, with seven goals this season, is still one behind Malcolm MacDonald who scored twice in Newcastle's 3-0 win over Aston Villa.

Francis Lee scored twice in a 3-0 win by league champion Derby County over Burnley.

Fulham, last season's beaten Football Association Cup finalist, joined Nottingham County in a tie for the lead in the English Second Division with a 3-1 away win over Oxford United.

Clan Gathers

FIFE, Scotland (CP) — MacSporrans from all over the world are gathering this month for the first time to elect a chieftain. In ancient times, MacSporrans were the official purse bearers to the MacDonalds and only one man in each generation was allowed to bear the name until the 18th century when the clans were outlawed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Efforts expended on behalf of someone else will be rewarded in a most unusual fashion in the near future.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to benefit today through close associates or partners. You will be let in on something. It will prove much to your liking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're very creaitve at home today. Little tasks that are usually a bore will prove to be pleasant diversions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Much attention will be centered on you today. Your company will be sought by others. You may even get a surprise invitation.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22) Something is stirring to make both you and your family feel more secure. It could be that raise you've been hoping for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be receiving some good news. You'll be anxious to share it with a few choice friends. It will come through a unique channel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This should be a good day for you where things of a material nature are concerned. Be alert for a chance to fill your piggy bank.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have excellent leadership qualities. They'll be very evident to your peer group today. Assume greater responsibility.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be fortunate today in dealings with those in authority. Favors that would not be granted to others will be given to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Things will work out today if you use imaginative concepts. Don't be afraid to test bold-new ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Conditions that have a direct effect upon your standing in the eyes of other are extremly favorable today. Your deeds will win you points.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A situation that was out of harmony will be brought into focus today, the end result will please all concerned.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

It has been said that bad cards make bad players. We aren't sure that this is so, but we do know that bad players tend to do even worse with bad cards.

West had one queen and no singleton and resigned himself to a loss the moment he looked at his hand.

Thus, it never occurred to him that when his partner bid all the way up to four clubs on his own that four spades to the queen-10 would warrant a four-spade bid.

Furthermore, West's hand fulfilled one requirement for a sacrifice bid. He was pretty sure that South would make four hearts.

South did just that, but look what would have happened if West had pulled himself together and bid four spades.

North and South might have gone on to five hearts—down one. They might have doubled four spades or let East play there. If they had they would have been sorry. East would make four spades with no trouble at all.

Ask the Jacobys

An Oregonian asks what sort of hand South should have. North has opened one diamond, East has doubled and South has bid one notrump.

The answer to this one depends on partnership understanding, but in common with almost all experts and bridge teachers we play the bid to show eight or nine high-card points, a balanced distribution and certainly no five-card major suit.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Sex Instruction Must Fit Child

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please give me the names of books on sex education that would be appropriate for my 13-year-old son?—Mrs. T. H.

I know several that I consider good, but I would hesitate to recommend any on this subject. The parent selecting such a book should shop around and find one that is suitable to the individual child (and parents). I'm flattered by other letters from parents asking me the same question, but I do feel strongly that it is an individual parent's duty to present such subjects as he or she sees fit.

Also, while books are fine, they are not the sole—certainly not the best—method of dealing with the situation. I detect from your letter that your husband may be reluctant to handle the matter personally. What is wrong with your doing it yourself? It may not be the best way, but it beats tossing a book to him and telling him to read it.

In cases where fathers have been reluctant to speak openly about the subject of sex with their sons, there are ways to get around it. A good way to break the ice of reluctance is for the father to sit down with the boy and read the book aloud. This has the advantage of getting the message across with at least some degree of personal involvement.

Then if there are questions, the father should answer directly and not fluff them off.

There are excellent pamphlets for various age levels that can be obtained from the American Medical Association in Chicago. Your library or local book stores undoubtedly have such material.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 48-year-old woman who has had recent medical problems—yellow jaundice, a gall bladder operation, and an operation for removal of a stone in the common bile duct.

Since this I have been bothered with a ringing in the ears. It is constant. I have visited specialists and have taken various medications. Can you suggest something?—Mrs. B. H.

There are so many potential causes of ear noises that it would be difficult for me to narrow them down to a specific one. You apparently have been treated successfully for your other ailments and are at present in good shape otherwise. Which prompts me to suggest that you may find the cause in any of several drugs you may have been taking. You don't list any specific medications, but aspirin, streptomycin and a few of the rarer drugs can cause such symptoms. Also, if you have been taking quinine drugs, this could be a factor, as could excessive caffeine in coffee or tea, even tobacco or alcohol or aspirin.

The reason most cases of tinnitis (the technical name for ear noises) become apparent in the 40s and 50s is that most of us develop ills at about this age that require prescribing of medications. It can be an early symptom of otosclerosis—a hearing problem.

Have your doctors included a specialist in ear disorders? Changes as otosclerosis are frequent causes of ringing at your age.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother takes insulin (45 units). The injection is made about 8:30 a.m. each day. How long does this have effect, about how many hours before it wears off?—A. M. B.

The effect is gradual and reaches a peak in from six to eight hours. Hence, low sugar levels can occur late in the afternoon. A second, usually smaller dose is often required before the evening meal to prevent an unwanted rise during the night. However, insulin therapy varies from patient to patient, and a process of adjustment is usually required before a stable program is worked out.

Way to Stop Crime: Make Thieves Work

SURREY, B.C. (CP) — A stolen television set is sold in a Vancouver pool hall. A hot stereo set is fenced and will reappear soon in a New Westminster pub. A stolen tape deck is pawned in a parking lot.

They were simple thefts—and their owners asked for it.

In Surrey, where invitations to criminality led to 2,330 break-ins last year—a community alert has gone out.

A stop-thief program, introduced earlier this year and promoted by a crime-stopping duo, places the onus on potential victims of theft.

"Thieves are the laziest people in the world," says Surrey RCMP Sgt. Keith Sim. "The best way to stop them is to make them work."

There are numerous ways to make life difficult for the break-in artist. Some are self-evident.

The so-called green-thumb bandit, for instance, would vanish if all residents locked the doors to their homes when they went out to work in the garden.

The grocery grabber, who operates in parking lots of shopping centres, would all but disappear if shoppers locked their car doors and left merchandise in the trunks while away from their vehicles.

But the stop-thief program gets fairly elaborate.

Sgt. Sim and his crime-stopping cohort Ald. Bonnie Schrenk have spoken to ratepayers' and senior citizens' organizations and businessmen in their six-month campaign.

They plan to approach tenants, mobile home owners, condominium owners, community groups and more ratepayers.

The program includes advice on securing premises, identification of belongings, lending an appearance of occupancy to unattended homes, neighborhood watch and intruder confrontation.

Surrey RCMP have nine electric engravers for loan to residents who wish to mark their possessions. The force also provides stickers for front doors or windows indicating that articles inside have been marked.

"People are being encouraged to mark their items with a chisel, awl and hammer or one of our identification pencils," says Sgt. Sim.

"Stickers are deterrents because a thief usually cases the home before attempting entry and he's less likely to steal anything that's marked. It means he has to take the trouble to file away the markings and the goods will then be damaged for resale value."

The crime-stoppers also advocate dead-bolt locks for front and back doors on homes, especially the type with a locking mechanism keyed on both sides.

Promises Further Price Freeze

TORONTO (CP) — Premier William Davis moved to defuse two issues advanced by election opponents during the weekend, promising to extend the price freeze on gasoline and oil and to study ways to improve health conditions for workers.

Mr. Davis announced Sunday night that a 90-day gasoline and oil price freeze due to expire Sept. 30 is being extended to Nov. 15. He said the government would decide on further action after receiving an interim report from a provincial royal commission studying the subject.

Mr. Davis annouced Saturday that his government will create an institute of occupational health to study improvements in health conditions in mining and manufacturing—a topic which the NDP had been hammering hard before and since the call for a Sept. 18 general election.

The premier said the government's advisory council on occupational and environmental health has been instructed to study a similar institute in Britain as model for the new body.

A Son Instead Would Have Made Him Rich

LONDON (AP) — Sir John Waller would be a million dollars richer today if his wife had given birth to a son instead of a daughter over the weekend.

"But she is the prettiest baby I have ever seen," said Waller as he cradled the infant in his arms at Queen Charlotte's Hospital. "She is wonderful."

Lady Waller proudly declared: "She is perfect. I could not care less about the inheritance."

A cousin, the late Lady Viola Waller, left Sir John 500,000 pounds sterling, now worth $1,050,000, but he gets only an income until he produces a male heir. A bachelor when Lady Viola died, he was married to Anne Milcham in April, 1974, when she was 30 and he was 57.

After his visit to his wife and baby, he toasted them at a nearby pub and admitted: "It is unfortunate it was not a boy.

"Of course, I am disappointed," he said. "But we will have another go."

Davis Advocates Renting Controls

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Rent review boards will be given power to freeze rents and in some cases recommend retroactive rebates to overcharged tenants, Premier William Davis promised Monday night.

Campaigning toward the Sept. 18 Ontario general election in his home riding of Brampton, the premier released a statement which he hoped would clarify the government's position on rent-gouging landlords, a key election issue.

He said review boards to be established later would have the power to freeze rents until they could make findings on tenant-landlord disputes and make recommendations to courts, which would be the final arbiters.

Earlier in the day while campaigning in Toronto, the premier said the proposed legislation would be retroactive to July 30 and landlords who raised rents excessively from that date until the legislation was brought in later this year would be made to pay rebates to the tenant.

"Some landlords—I'm sure not many—have been in the process of exploiting the situation," he said in an interview.

In his statement, Mr. Davis said that if a board decides a rent increase already in effect is excessive, it will not only recommend to the court a reduction in rent but a rebate for the period in which the larger sum has been paid.

The court's decision would be final. There would be no appeal.

Under the proposed legislation, a tenant would have to be given two months' notice of a rent increase and would be allowed 30 days to appeal it to the rent review board.

Once a board made its recommendation, the tenant's rate would be fixed at the rent recommended by the board until the court made its decision.

"It is contemplated that, in the majority of cases, the board's determination will be accepted by both landlord and tenant, since it will be backed by thorough investigation and all will know that the board may air publicly any case in which it feels rent gouging is taking place," Mr. Davis said.

While campaigning Monday night in his home constituency of Brampton, Mr. Davis also announced an $18-million-a-year program of additioonal government assistance to low-income pensioners.

About 100,000 persons renting their accommodations would receive up to $25 a month to compensate them for rent increases amounting to more than 12 per cent a year.

The total of 300,000 receiving assistance under the province's guaranteed annual income (GAINS) plan would receive an extra $6.02 per month for a total of $30.04 to bring monthly payments to $250 including federal pensions.

Liberal Leader Nixon, campaigning in Sarnia and London, hit out at the economic record of the Davis government over the last four years, saying that during this period Ontario has been losing its historic position as the economic pace-setter for Canada.

"Since 1971, Ontario's performance, as measured by a number of important economic indicators, has been substantially worse than that of the rest of Canada," he said.

Mr. Nixon said the Liberal campaign has the Conservatives "on the run" and the premier is "going around the province like a big blue balloon ready to be deflated."

"The people of Ontario are prepared to abandon 32 years of Tory rule," he said. 'We are ready to apply a stiff new broom to sweep the provincial house to order."

Mr. Lewis, who swung quickly through several eastern Ontario communities, including Ottawa, said at a news coonference in Cornwall that the premier is in "full and unlovely retreat.

He said Mr. Davis is yielding to public and opposition pressure in a final, desperate bid to win the election.

Davis Waffling Annoys Lewis

TORONTO (CP) — Premier William Davis has shifted ground for a second time on the issue of holding down exorbitant rents but the move has earned him no plaudits from opponents in Ontario's general election campaign.

"It's a graphic picture of a government in trouble," commented NDP Leader Stephen Lewis after the premier had said his government would fit some teeth into rent review boards, though not as tough as those proposed by the two major opposition parties.

"Mr. Davis had no choice but to revise the plan again because his previous positions were ineffective," Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said. 'Obviously, they can't make up their minds.

The New Democrats and Liberals have been urging that rent review boards—to be set up by the government—be given authority to chop down big rent increases.

The government started off with the intention of giving such boards power only to publicize the names of offending landlords. As the issue steamed up, it announced early in the campaign for the Sept. 18 election that they would be given authority to take landlords to court.

After the Quake

Death Toll Rises

LICE, Turkey (Reuter) — The death toll in the earthquake which devastated this area of eastern Turkey has risen to 2,200 and the final figure might be about 3,000, relief officials said today.

As the search continued for victims, a four-year-old child and two 90-year-old men were pulled alive from the rubble Monday after being trapped since the earthquake Saturday.

In Ankara, the Turkish cabinet held an emergency meeting today to discuss ways of housing the thousands left homeless by the quake.

About 2,000 tents have already sprung up around the ruins of Lice.

Almost 1,000 deaths have been confirmed in Lice, once a town of 8,000 people.

Homes Stifle Sex

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's senior citizens' homes must be improved before they stifle the intellectual, social and sexual needs of their residents, Pamela Cuff, a senior citizens' residence architect, said Monday.

"The type of people coming into the homes are different," Mrs. Cuff told a conference of the Ontario Association of Homes for the Aged. "They have more education and greater cultural and social experiences."

She said there is a need for different settings within the home such as rooms for entertaining friends in private, recreation areas, television rooms and dance floors.

Quinte NDP candidate Carson McLauchlan criticized The Intelligencer Monday night for what he termed the paper's "Tory Policy," and Progressive Conservative editorial slant. Mr. McLauchlan was speaking at an all-candidates' night sponsored by Kinsmen Club.

Unemployment Figures Plunge

OTTAWA (CP) — The national unemployment rate increased by one-tenth of one per cent in August, maintaining for the sixth straight month the worst jobless rate in 14 years.

Statistics Canada reported today the August rate was 7.3 per cent. The rate had remained at 7.2 per cent for the previous five months, except for May when it dipped to 7.1 per cent.

This is the worst rate since 1961, when it stayed above seven per cent for 13 months before dropping to 6.8 per cent in August of that year.

The August jobless rate declined this year in three provinces. Ontario was down one-tenth of one per cent to 6.2 and Alberta dropped three-tenths of one per cent to 4.1 per cent. The Saskatchewan rate dropped two-tenths of one per cent to 2.7 giving that province the lowest rate in the country.

The rate increased in all other provinces, with the largest jump in New Brunswick, where it rose 1.2 per cent to 11.9 per cent. Newfoundland continued to have the highest rate at 21 per cent, up 1.1 per cent from July.

Nationally, there were fewer jobs available in August than in July and the number of people seeking work did not drop at the same rate, leading to higher unemployment. The statistics are adjusted for seasonal variations, which economists regard as a more accurate measure.

On an actual basis, 623,000 were officially unemployed in August.

Student unemployment dropped to 4.8 per cent in August from 8.1 per cent in July—consistent with the annual pattern—although the rate remained higher than the last two years. Student unemployment was 3.7 per cent for August in both 1973 and 1974.

Unemploymnt among women remained steady at 6.6 per cent while the rate for men jumped two-tenths of one per cent to 7.7 per cent.

The figures are adjusted to account for seasonal variation.

On an actual basis, a total of 623,000 were officially unemptoyed in August.

Rollins Purchases Highrise Project

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Rollins Construction Ltd. said Monday it has purchased the condominium highrise project slated for Belleville's waterfront with construction set for next spring.

Maurice Rollins, owner of the company, said the deal to purchase the land and plans from Lamplighter Realty Ltd. closed a week ago. Company engineers and architects now are reviewing Lamplighter plans.

The project was first announced at a meeting of a Belleville planning committee more than three years ago by the Lamplighter firm. The highrise included nine floors arranged in a semi-circular shape. The design ensured each living unit in the building would have a panoramic view of the bay.

Since then a second firm became involved in the project and approached the same planning committee for permission to enlarge the building from its original 71 units to 112.

Mr. Rollins said he would not seek 112 units but something "between 71 and 97 units each selling in the condominium for $36,000 to $50,000."

Because of the value of the property and the $4 million it will take to construct the building, "It's the biggest gamble I've ever taken," said Mr. Rollins.

"It is a special project — a prestige project in which the units might sell slowly," he said.

Units will cover about 1,800 square feet and include one to three bedrooms. Each will be specifically decorated to the purchaser's taste, said Mr. Rollins.

"When it is built, it will be the first condominium highrise between Oshawa and Kingston," said Mr. Rollins "For me, it's a little more exciting than usual." I'm personally very interested in the construction."

"We're going to attempt to follow the original plan as as possible — plans which include a yacht facility right on the grounds," he said.

Mr. Rollins guessed at least 75 per cent of the building would be filled with tenants by the summer of 1977 when the building will be registered with the province as a condominium corporation.

Council Defers Building Project

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A new 10-storey apartment building is planned for west Belleville.

But, Monday night, city council deferred action on a request to speed the project by exempting it from a city fire-safety ordinance.

Dan C. Casey, a principal of Creson Investments Ltd., Toronto, asked the proposed 116-suite "quality" apartment building planned for the east side of Palmer Rd.--be exempted from the city's fire sprinkler bylaw.

The bylaw is believed the only one of its kind in Ontario, said Mr. Casey.

Sometime this fall the Ontario government will introduce a provincial building code. This will create uniform standards for the province. With its introduction all municipal measures supplementing building codes--including the sprinkler bylaw--will end, he said.

Creson therefore finds itself caught in a timing problem.

If the developer can't get exemption from the Belleville ordinance it will have to wait until the Ontario regulations are in effect. Meantime, inflation may create higher costs that could make the project unfeasible, said Mr. Casey.

Creson intended following the National Building Code--which deals with fire protection in highrises. The apartment block, would be of concrete and steel, one of the safest types of structure against fire.

Oppositoon to the request was voiced by Ald. Stu Meeks. He said there had been two "very-near disasters" recently in Toronto projects because of sprinkler malfunctions. The city's bylaw was one that protects the people.

Mayor Ben Corke said council would deal with the request as quickly as possible. But first it wanted legal and city staff advice.

Nutrition Study Criticizes Habits

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

An educational task force studying nutrition in schools has come out with a double-barrelled report admonishing school catering services for not encouraging nutritious food and school administrators for not placing more emphasis on the subject.

The report, presented to the Hastings County Board of Education Monday night, said that snack foods, french fries and sugar content foods have the highest sales in school cafeterias. It also revealed that out of 3,900 students in Hastings County using cafeteria facilities only 440 purchases full-course meals, which cost between 65 and 80 cents.

It charged that there has been no co-ordinated development of a health curriculum for the schools in the county. The report also found that the major price increases in cafeterias occur more frequently in the most nutritious foods.

The study recommended students should receive more visible emphasis, through the observance of a nutrition week during school year in which related activities encourage students to eat better.

It was also recommended in the report that teachers should have a continuing professional development program providing staff with the most up to date information and teaching aids in nutrition.

It suggested the pricing policy in school cafeterias should be reviewed by the appropriate board committee in order to create price incentives for the purchase and consumption of better foods.

Greater liaison between outside health agencies and school board officials was also another recommendation. The study stressed a greater need for curriculum development in the areas of health courses as they relate to nutrition,

Bandits Escape Police

PARIS (AP) — Police searched today for two "young, calm and very decided" gunmen who changed cars twice during a high-speed chase through the streets of Paris and escaped with $1.35 million.

The gunmen were also encumbered at the start of their flight by three hostages but left them in the getaway cars they abandoned.

"We almost got them," Police Commissioner Robert Groussard said. "It was touch and go for a few moments there."

Armed with machine pistols and a sawed-off shotgun, the two men invaded a bank on the Left Bank about 11:30 a.m. Monday, took seven persons hostage and demanded six million francs. Following an afternoon of negotiations, police delivered the money and a white limousine to the door of the bank.

The men waited four hours more before agreeing to the getaway arrangements, then left four male hostages behind and drove off with three women hostages.

Police, ambulances and newsmen pursued them through winding streets at speeds of up to 90 miles an hour.

The gunmen abandoned the white car on the northern edge of the city, leaving one of the women behind, and continued with the other two women in a second car which police said had apparently been waiting for them.

Forces on Alert

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Huge security forces were on the alert in both Boston and Louisville, Ky., areas again today as school desegration plans involving massive busing of pupils went forward. In Boston, where 26,000 of the public school system's 85,000 pupils are being bused this year, 1,800 city and state police were ordered into the streets for the second day of the new school term and 600 National Guard military police were on standby.

Back in Office

LISBON (AP) — Pro-Communist Gen. Vasco Goncalves was temporarily back in office as Portugal's premier today, four days after other military leaders stripped him of all power. The government said Goncalves, in response to a request from President Francisco da Costa Gomes, had agreed to withdraw the resignation Costa Gomes accepted Sunday. It said he would serve with his cabinet in a caretaker status until his successor, Vice-Admiral Jose Pinheire de Azevedo, can form a cabinet.

Fighting in Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) — Christians and Moslems battled in the streets and houses of Tripoli with guns, fire bombs and rocket salvoes today as religious warfare raged in northern Lebanon for the third day. Five miles to the east a private army of 3,000 Moslems laid siege to the Christian hill town of Zagharta, the hometown of President Suleiman Franjieh. They bombarded it with mortars and rocket grenades.

1,500 Evacuated

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — About 1,500 persons were evacuated from their Ohio River homes, Monday night after an explosion sent phosphorous drifting from a chemical plant, Mason County sheriff's deputies said.

Heart Attack Kills Farmer

MADOC — Frank Walker, 61, of Eldorado, died Saturday of a heart attack while working at his farm, said Madoc OPP.

Mr. Walker was found near his truck by police about 7.30 p.m.

Police first thought he had died as a result of a fall from his truck. He was apparently putting racks on the truck sometime Saturday when he died.

A postmortem Sunday at Belleville General Hospital revealed Mr. Walker died of a heart attack.

Roads, Housing Main Goals Says New Mayor

There are more comments and complaints about city street than any other area of city government, says Mayor Ben Corke.

Delays in road construction projects are responsible for common frustration shared by city hall staff and elected officials, he told city council Monday night.

Mayor Corke made the remarks in an address to his first regular session of council since his appointment to office two weeks ago after Robin Jeffrey resigned to run as Progressive Conservative candidate for Quinte riding in the Sept. 18 provincial election.

Mayor Corke said delays in construction projects don't arise from lack of official interest.

Among the causes, he said, are delays in consultants' plans, in completing property purchases and non-availability of provincial or city funds.

But he also cited what he called "more positive" developments:

(1) Work should start on sewer construction on the remaining sector of the East Dundas St. widening by November; roadwork will come "hopefully" in May.

(2) Reconstruction of Sidney St. from Tracey St. to Highway 401 will be recommended in 1976.

(3) There should be a report next month on rebuilding of Victoria Ave. from William St. to MacDonald streets, with work to start next year.

He also noted housing as another concern. Mayor Corke said it has been "frequently disappointing" to find that a developer has not been moving as quickly as anticipated on projects.

"I hope to be talking to some of these people in the very near future," he added.

As mayor, he said, he will be making himself "readily available" to citizens who want to talk to the city's chief official.

Energy Consumption Concerns Trustee

Stirling trustee Don Williams wants to know what individual schools are doing about conservation of energy.

At Monday's board of education meeting Mr. Williams requested a blow by blow account of what current steps are being taken and what future plans exist for energy conservation in the schools.

Keith Hawkins, controller of plant with the Hastings County Board of Education, told trustees that teachers, students and principals are making concerted efforts to conserve energy in the schools. He said it has been an on-going phase for the last two years.

However, Mr. Hawkins reminded the trustees that the saving measures do not equal the inflationary rates of energy and that costs continue to skyrocket each year. He said the board does not have the capital expenditure to install the necessary equipment and systems to further reduce energy consumption.

He said that most schools have teacher student committee seeking the ways and means to cut consumption.

Parade Plans Under Way

The Quinte Santa Claus Parade Committee already has extensive plans under way for this year's parade and it promises to be the best yet.

The parade will be held Sat., Nov. 29, leaving the construction headquarters at Ben Bleecker Auditorium and starting at the corner of Moira St. west and Wallbridge Crescent at 10 a.m. It will follow last year's route down Front St. and back up Pinnacle St. to Station St. corner.

Meetings have been held since last year's parade to arrange items such as costumes, tractors for the floats, volunteers, make-up, permits, refeshments and candies for the kids. Some 13,000 candy canes are on order.

Last year, 45 floats, 12 bands, clowns, antique cars, majorettes and local clubs participated in the 1½-hour parade.

Arrangements for television broadcasting on Cablevue 4 are also under way. Commentators will again be a little girl and boy.

Tag day to raise funds for the annual venture will be held Nov. 14 and 15 when volunteers will be placed in strategic spots in the city to accept donations.

Cruiser Loses Window

A 24-year-old Belleville man has been charged by city police for creating a disturbance and causing willful damage.

Police, Monday night, were taking a man into custody near a local tavern. After placing the man in the patrol car, he kicked the window out, said Police Chief Douglas Crosbie.

Charged is Lawrence Branton of 225 Parrott Drive.

Damage Extensive In Three Mishaps

Aproximately $8,000 damage was sustained in three centre and north Hastings accidents Monday, sending six people to hospital for treatment.

At 8:40 a.m., three high school students from Thomasburg received cuts and bruises when the car they were riding in went out of control on Crookston Rd., one mile east of Highway 62. Driver of the car was Edwin Steven Bell. Also in the car were Leslie Jung and Cheryl Latchford.

The second major accident of the day came at 2:40 p.m. when a car went out of control on Highway 62, 26 miles north of Madoc causing $4,000. Driver of the car Gloria Savage and her 14-month-old son were treated and released from Bancroft Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Madoc Ontario Provincial Police, who investigated all three occurrences, laid a charge of having improper lighting against a Hungerford Township farmer following the third accident.

While travelling on Highway 7, two miles east of Madoc, Ottawa resident Dennis Charles Olsen, 41, lost control of his vehicle after coming up behind a tractor — also eastbound.

The Olsen car rolled in the ditch causing $1,000 damage.

William Palmateer, 20 of Hungerford Township, has been charged with having improper lighting at the rear of his tractor.

Boss Brown

Joe Brown of the popular CTV network television show, the Family Brown relaxes in camper bus a few minutes prior to family's appearance on stage at the Prince Edward County Fair. Although very busy now with their television show and road apperances, Joe Brown says that back in the early 1950s, beforee the Family Brown as such today was formed, he had his own little three-member band, the Hillbilly Jewels, which performed regularly at Wellington, Bloomfield, Rossmore and Picton. "I even spent my honeymoon in Bloomfield," he recalls.

Criticism of Routes Prompts Bus Study

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

BLOOMFIELD — The Prince Edward County Board of education has voted to review its transportation policy following a two-hour interview Monday night with parents who protested the busing services in their areas.

The policy review was triggered by Ronald Conley of RR 2, Bloomfield, who told trustees he refuses to send his two young children to school this fall because they must walk along a busy road where there is no shoulder or sidewalk.

Mr. Conley said the school bus this year is not allowed to turn at the end of Gilead Road and the Town Line. Consequently, his children must walk near a mushroom plant where traffic is heavy in the early morning as workers arrive.

"I can't afford a funeral," he told trustees.

Another concerned parent, Mrs. Roy Wight of Glenora said her three children this year must walk a half mile from their home to a bus stop. She said it would take only "a couple of minutes" for the school bus to pick them up and added there is a turn area near her home.

Another Glenora Road parent complained because some children who live only two miles from school must ride 12 miles on the bus and actually pass the school once on the trip.

A Hallowell Township man objected because his children must walk down the highway as the bus is not permitted to turn near his home as Ontario Provincial Police say it is unsafe to do so. He protested the children now are endangered as they walk on a road where cars travel at 60 miles an hour.

A Bloomfield man told trustees some youngster now are arriving home almost an hour later than they did last year. Some of these children live only a five minute walk from the school but must ride the bus.

Ralph Margetson of Hillier protested that bus services are needlessly duplicated on a township road running on the boundary of Hillier and Ameliasburg as a different bus stops for pupils on opposite sides of the street.

Regulation governing school busing, bus turning and changes in routes were outlined to the parents by board chairman Douglas Caley, business administrator Ernest Shortt and other trustees in an effort to explain to parents the reasons for the apparent inefficiencies in the busing system.

It was observed the ministry of transportation and the OPP do not permit buses to turn on highways or heavily travelled roads. For this reason it is not always possible for drivers to stop at every door.

Mr. Shortt noted that many of the parents' requests were for extra stops that would only require a few minutes each. If totalled, however, these stops would mean bus drivers should start their routes at 4:30 a.m.

Mr. Shortt said bus overloading has occurred on some routes delaying the arrival of some students at home each afternoon.

He explained the bus loads on various routes fluctuate as new families move into a community or young children reach school age.

The number of buses serving the county has not decreased this year but some of the routes have been extended.

Mr. Shortt said about $500,000 will be spent for school busing in 1975 with a large amount of this sum offset by grants. There are approximately 70 routes in the county.

Chairman of the board Douglas Caley told the parents' delegation that trustees studied the changing of township boundaries for two years but the proposal was voted down.

Chamber Erects County Map

PICTON — An information map advertising Prince Edward County has been erected at the Adolphustown ferry landing by the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber director Gordon Lloyd said Monday that the six by eight foot sign was placed on the Adolphustown shore last week. It is similar to the map erected between Outlet and Sandbanks provincial parks last year.

Bowling-You Don't Have To See to Hit the Pins

By JERRY BROWN

TRENTON — "You threw a strike," might be what one friend says to another when they are bowling together but on Monday afternoons at D and A alleys, on Dundas St. here it is what one of the volunteers would say to the skillful blind bowlers of the Trenton Lions Bowling team.

Some of the bowlers are completely blind while others are able to see shadows but none can see much past halfway down the alley so volunteers and their coach, Ian Cover, keep score and explain to the participants just what mistakes they made.

The group of men and women, sponsored by the Trenton Lions club, are part of a province-wide blind-bowling league, competing through the mails.

"We decide who will represent the team on any given week and then we send their scores for that day by mailogram to the team we are playing against," said Mr. Cover. "This way we can keep track of the league results.

The bowlers use a special portable rail which helps to make their approach to the end of the alley unaided.

"All of the bowlers are given a handicap which is based on their previous average," Mr. Cover said. "A blind bowler is allowed three-quarters of the difference between his weekly average and 180 while the coach who also bowls as part of the team is scored on a 215 handicap basis."

The Trenton team just received a trophy for winning the provincial blind bowling championships which is presented yearly by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB).

The season runs from late September until May and the league consists of teams in Peterborough, Ottawa, Cornwall and Kingston along with the Trenton representative.

The team has only been in competition for two years and is entering its third season and team members give their coach almost all the credit for the championship.

"Ian is one of the best coaches because he takes a personal interest in the players and also because he is an excellent bowler," said Mel Buckingham, one of the organizers for the Trenton club.

Historical Sites Prime Tourist Lure

BRIGHTON — It is necessary for local residents to convince their friends and neighbors that Proctor House, when completed, will be a magnet drawing passing tourists off the 401 Highway to spend their vacation dollars, said Robert Phillips, executive director of Heritage Canada.

Speaking to the small gathering at the Agricultural Services building, Monday night, Mr. Phillips said the era of hand-made houses is rapidly drawing to a conclusion and it is important to retain the particular elements giving each town its own individual characteristics and not to sacrifice them for "progress."

Mr. Phillips told the group a survey done with tourists indicated one of the main reasons they travel is to see and experience historical sites recalling past eras and different lifestyles.

"It is the controllable factor in attracting tourists,' Mr. Phillips said. "The primary reason people travel is to visit families and you can't regulate that very well."

He urged for the group to continue to push for government legislation to detail, protect and assist with the financing of preserving heritage sites for future generations.

"If people did what they do to historical buildings in Canada while they were living in Britain they would go to jail because they have a strong law there and it is enforced," he said.

Mr. Phillips advocated the kitchen table approach to fund-raising. He told the group of many successful efforts in other parts of Canada which included soliciting donations from any people or families having lived in a town at any time, and called for the local group to work with the national organization to fight public apathy and leave the heritage for coming generations.

Bowling for Fun

Aurel Caissie, one of the members of the provincial champion Trenton Lions Blind Bowling team practises for the start of the new season. Aurel and his teammates hope to win the mailogram league competition and to repeat as the provincial champions.

Festival Ends In Deficit

PICTON — The Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce will pick up the tab for a deficit of $186 incurred by the Picton Merchants' Association during the Gold Cup shoppers festival.

Chamber president Sheldon Whitteker Monday told directors the merchants spent $870 in festival preparations and events but reported a return of only $683. The Gold Cup committee of the Chamber of Commerce had verbally promised to make up any deficit from the festival.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson, town council's representative to the chamber observed there were several complaints because Main Street was blocked for the one-day festival.

He suggested a downtown survey of merchants should be taken to determine how many would support the mini-mall next year.

Debate Proposed

PICTON — The Picton Rotary Club will sponsor an all-candidates session here September 16 during a regular luncheon meeting at Prince Edward Yacht Club.

Invitations have been extended to Liberal candidate in the Prince Edward-Lennox riding Keith MacDonald, NDP standard-bearer Jan Nicol and Conservative incumbent James Taylor.

SECRET OF HOME HEATING

Ed. McKinney Realty Ltd.
J. E. McKinney

The most important cause of physical discomfort in a house is not poor heating — it is insuficient insulation. Even the best heating system — gas, oil or electrc — can't keep you truly warm if you've been short changed in insulation. I include, of course, storm doors and windows and weather stripping.

With little or no insulation, during cold weather, the exterior walls, floors and ceilings get quite cold. The higher you push your thermostat, the faster the cold, surrounded surfaces draw off the heat. The cure is plenty of insulation. It solves the problem of heat loss. The thermostat need not be raised way up (the real reason why insulation lowers fuel costs).

So, if you buy a new house, have it insulated to the hilt. If you buy an existing home and there is not enough insulation, make sure it can be added. That's the secret to house heating.

To Our Service
Customers,

All of us in the Service Department at Elliott Motors would like to thank all our customers for their patience and understanding over the past few weeks. The preparation of a large volume of buses for the opening of the school season caused temporary tie-ups which hampered regular service. We apologize for any inconvenience.

We are pleased to report that things are back to normal, and that we can now provide the usual top quality service. Thanks again for bearing with us.

Black Guerrilla Warfare Possible in Rhodesia in Wake of Talks Breakdown

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The mid-Zambesi River meeting of white and black African leaders to try and resolve the Rhodesian crisis ended in disaster when Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith withdrew from the talks.

That event taking place in the middle of more widely-publicized activities in the Middle East went relatively unnoticed.

Yet the failure of the talks which had been encouraged by no less than, South African Prime Minister Jan Vorster who was also there, has the potential for the beginning of a Vietnam-style guerrilla war in Rhodesia.

The African National Council under Methodist Bishop Abel T. Muzorewa which was the chief African group at the short and aborted meeting, was itself a union of black groups determined to bring black majority rule to Rhodesia, or Zimbabwe as they call it.

And one of the groups inside that union, the so called Zimbabwe African National Union was cool from the start at using negotiations instead of guerrilla warfare to get results.

Bishop Muzorewa's non-pacifist fellow African leaders are convinced bloody battle is the only answer as they say it was in Mozambique, now an independent republic ruled by its former liberation movement.

Mr. Sithole the militant head of the Zimbabwe African National Union is undoubtedly correct on the bloody aspect. But whether very tough white troops recruited from the equally-determined Rhodesian white community will give in as the Portuguese military finally did in Africa, is highly questionable.

What could bring Rhodesia to her knees where negotiations with black movements over majority rule is concerned, is that country's increasingly serious economic situation.

It is a decade, unbelievably, since Rhodesia made the move for the Unilateral Declaration of Independence (UDI), which no country in the world recognized except South Africa and the former right-wing regime in Portugal.

So long as Portugal ruled in next-door Mozambique, its ports were safe for those Rhodesian exports which could be sold mainly in a bootleg fashion, given the global economic boycott against Prime Minister Smith. And such ports would guarantee imports reached the land - locked self - proclaimed state.

Now that huge and vital area is ruled by a neo-Marxist black government made up of the leaders of Frelimo, the major black liberation movement which fought the Portuguese.

In 1971 the United States broke the world embargo by permitting Rhodesia to sell chrome to that country concerned about its reliance on expensive and not always reliable Russian sources for chrome.

Other nations in the world also buy this vital metal used in the many alloys of modern life, giving Rhodesia a sizable income from the 350,000 tons it tries to export each year.

There are only 270,000 whites in Rhodesia compared to its primarily black population of six millions. Something will have to give soon and even South African Prime Minister Vorster making his own moves of reconciliation with new and militant black nations, has warned Smith to do the same thing.

So far he has not. He appears to be on a collision course which could lead to the bloodbath predicted by all the experts.

Life Outside The City

"You notice the difference once you cross the bridge," the cab driver was saying.

Sure enough all around was the water of the bay and the verdant shore at Rossmore, all coming together in the special mellowness and beauty of early September.

The air was fresher too, he agreed, and he gestured approvingly toward the road widening and other improvements at the intersection of Highway 14 and County road 28, better known as the Old Picton Road. A stretch of highway requiring careful driving (alas such is not always the case) at the best of times, the new contours will be of particular advantage to motorists in winter.

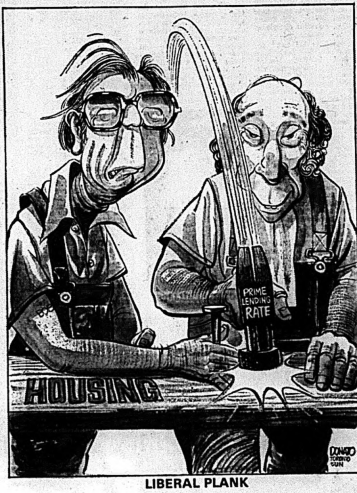
Progress though can produce changes in the environment that result in some inconvenience, even if only temporary. Like the bulldozer working on a new home site which with its fumes drove one housewife indoors rather than continue putting out the washing.

So much for the calm and fresh air of the countryside. Before long too the snowmobiles will be exacting their toll in noise and maneuvers that on occasions anger someone or other.

As for rural housing, new structures are appearing all around the city. No more so than on that Old Picton Road where available sites are going quickly and homes are going up where before there was open countryside.

It shows that the housing shortage is not the problem it is often made out to be. At the same time these are substantial homes and Mortgage Manor is the name of the game. Not everyone can get those mortgages, and note that the bank rate is up again. For a great many a home of one's own is still but a dream.

And the ones who are building new homes in many cases are doing much of the work themselves. It's reminiscent of pioneer days.



LIBERAL PLANK

Not Many of Them Left

With de Valera gone from the Irish scene, the Emperor Hallie Selassie too, the great political figures of earlier times are now fewer in number.

One is 83-year-old President Tito of Yugoslavia whom the Chicago Tribune notes was "extremely chipper looking" when he appeared before the camera during President Ford's visit.

France's de Gaulle of course passed from the scene a couple of years or so ago and the much younger Giscard d'Estaing is in charge there.

Harold Wilson is an enduring personality in Britain, but without the charisma or aura of legend that others command.

There's Brezhnev of the Soviet Union, in his late sixties now and showing promise of being around for some time yet.

Spain's General Franco of course is of the same generation of those leaders who have left this earthly scene in recent times. He was near death himself a year or more ago, but recovered, and is still ceremonial head at least in that country.

And let's not overlook China's Chairman Mao.

There are lesser personalities who have also been around a long time, such as Stroessner in Paraguay and Hoxha in Albania, but when Franco and Mao go, they will be just about the last of their line.

Feeding The People

The population of the United States is growing at the rate of about three million a year, according to current information.

But in China, with its 800 millions, the word is that population growth is down to two per cent, with the prospect of it being brought down to zero growth. This from Doug Tipper, Hastings county agricultural representative who says he heard it from a doctor who had visited the country as a tourist.

The Chinese consequently have been able to increase food production, a factor the visitor can appreciate from the extensive cultivation of terraced slopes.

What of food production here in Canada . . . and potential shortages? If the demand were there, says Tipper, there would be a commensurate increase by producers. In other words there are untapped resources of land which are available if needed.

Canada's Prosperous Evolution

Brantford Expositor

If any of those North American workers who first celebrated Labor Day 93 years ago, or even later ones who survived till 25 years ago, could have been around today they would have been dumbfounded at the degree of affluence in which million of Canada's toilers live — and grumble and strike for more.

They would have been incredulous when told of Canadian pay increases of 20, 30 and 40 per cent in one year and of fringe benefits worth an average $2,000 a year; likewise on discovering that amid today's prosperity and free-spending over seven per cent of the labor force is jobless, and that in the first half of this year the Unemployment Insurance Commission paid out $1.7 billion in benefits, mostly supplied by employers and taxpayers.

Astonishment would have greeted the information that three provinces have Socialist governments and that one of them, British Columbia, is strike-ridden.

If not too stunned to absorb more updating, our visitors could have learned that workers in the B.C. food industry, already among the highest paid in those occupations ($10,920 to $13,832), are demanding increases so that someone called a meal cutter would get $21,112 a year ($406 a week), a baker $18,964 ($365 a week), a meat wrapper — no butcher skill — $19,240 ($376 a week) and a woman who tots up groceteria purchases on a machine $16,536 ($318 a week).

The visitors could also have been told that Alberta has plumbers getting $34,345 a year, Ontario has nickel miners averaging 20,000 and electricians who next year will rise to $25,000 and that an Air Canada janitor gets $885 a month — an increase of 443 per cent since 1950.

Of course, our visitors might have departed puzzled because potential informants ignored them, being occupied driving, boating, golfing, cottage-closing, camping with a $10,000-$20,000 trailer, or watching a color TV set that cost the better part of $1,000 more than a year's pay for most workers when Labor Day was born.

Contract Negotiations And Strike Season At Hand

Wage settlements that have been negotiated so far this year are notable for three things:

—Average year-to-year increases that are the highest on record.

—A trend toward one-year contracts rather than multi-year, because inflation makes the future too uncertain for both parties.

—Perhaps most important, a pronounced tendency to include a cost-of-living allowance (COLA) clause in more and more contracts.

With COLA, the union member's basic wage rises automatically with every up-tick in the cost-of-living index. (Big wage increases, over and above COLA, are increasingly common as well.)

In the first three months of this year, nearly 30 per cent of new contract settlements included COLA clauses, compared with fewer than 20 per cent in January-March, 1974.

By the second quarter of this year, the proportion of contract settlements containing COLA had jumped sharply to 42 per cent. For the current quarter, it will likely be higher again.

The growing prevalence of this sure-fire inflation' protection has not led to any moderation in basic wage expectations.

On the contrary, the average increase in base wage rate (that of the lowest paid classification in the bargaining unit) for all major contract settlements in second-quarter 1975 was 18.8 per cent, up from 16 per cent in the first quarter.

But in the case of contracts that run for one year only, the average base-wage increase in the second quarter was 24.5 per cent, a big jump from the first-quarter average increase of 18.6 per cent on one-year contracts.

And the higher average wage increases are going to a broad section of organized labor. Three out of every eight major contract settlements in the latest quarter had a term of only one year.

Leaving aside the construction industry, there are 421 major contracts covering some 1,250,000 employees due to expire in 1975, according to a compilation by Wood Gundy Ltd., Toronto-based investment firm.

Of these, 268 have already expired but fewer than 200 new contracts have been signed.

The busiest period for contract negotiations between labor and management is just beginning. During the final four months of this year, for example, more than half of the outstanding public administration and defence contracts—covering nearly 250,000 employees—must be negotiated.

At the federal level alone, the contracts of almost 98,000 public-service employees are to be negotiated this fall. Large numbers of provincial-government employees in Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick will also be seeking pay increases.

"Great public inconvience is still possible should any of the unions with strike privileges in the public sector decide to engage in work stoppages," says Barbara Hoyle of Wood Gundy.

"Any work stoppage in the transportation sector would, of course, be particularly harmful to the national economy."

What's ahead for 1976? More of the same, probably.

The contracts of some 60,000 auto workers expire next year. Also seeking better contracts will be large numbers of retail workers, meat packers, miners, shipping and electrical workers.

Wage increases in next year's contract settlements, Wood Gundy believes, are not likely to be as great as in 1975 because of the influence of 12 successive months of high unemployment and a year of poor corporate profits.

Mr. Davis' never ending bag of goodies grows larger by the day. From oil price freeze to rent review boards with power to roll back rents.

It will strike the average voter as peculiar that Mr. Davis and his Tory crew did not consider any of these steps as necessary until he found himself in an election.

Now, the crudest joke of all — Mr. Davis is now heard from radio and TV that Ontario has the finest school system in the world. If the current crop of illiterates graduating from Ontario schools is anything to go by Bill had better find another issue to talk about.

In fact, many people in the province are fed up with having their votes solicited by Mr. Davis and his spendthrifts with their tax money via ads telling us how they protect the consummer, farmer, old age folks, environment and so on. Some of us know differently.

Jean-Pierre Goyer: a Decoy for P.M. or a Sure-fire Ministerial Bungler?

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It is difficult to know who most treasures Supply and Services Minister Jean-Pierre Goyer.

The Liberals or the Conservatives.

The Conservatives because he presents an always available target for shots at the weird and wonderful ways of the government.

Or the Liberals because, being such an easy mark, he could be serving as a sort of decoy to draw fire from the real target, his boss, Lucky Pierre, the peripatetic PM.

[illegible] target practice, nobody gets off more rounds at Jean-Pierre than British Columbia Conservative MP John Reynolds.

And if Mons. J.P. Goyer is serving as a government decoy, John Reynolds isn't exactly wasting his fire because some of his shots have to ricochet off the Supply and Services Minister and at least graze the Prime Minister.

For PET, being the boss, is responsible for Goyer's gaffs, and can, if he must, fire him.

So the Supply and Services Minister, in the next cabinet shuffle, could hardly be surprised to find himself dealt out of the ministerial deck.

Back to the backbenches like former Ministers Herb Gray of Consumer Affairs, Robert Stanbury of Revenue, and Stanley Haidasz, of Multiculturalism.

Which would be tough to take.

Or sloughed into the Senate, which wouldn't be exactly a disaster for Jean-Pierre, even if a bit dismaying for the ever put-upon taxpayer.

John Reynolds, who has been tracking Jean-Pierre in his erratic cabinet career, has scored a bullseye, nailing the Supply and Services Minister for abusing his power in building a "personal fiefdom."

First, recalls the B.C. MP, Goyer "nagged" over staffing and equipping the new branch plant at Winnipeg.

It didn't matter that Hunter had been a bureaucratic boffin these 34 years, having served as financial adviser to the late, great C.D. Howe, wartime "Minister of Everything."

He had to go, the way Jean-Pierre saw things, because Hunter, being Master, wanted to staff and equip the Winnipeg Mint. And Goyer was bold, wasn't he, even if he didn't know much, if anything, about running a mint?

And Hunter had to go, says John Reynolds, because Goyer wanted to shoehorn a friend into the $50,000 job?

The friend? Yvon Gariepy, former municipal official in Ville St. Laurent in Jean-Pierre's Montreal-Dollard riding.

Then there was the filling of the $50,000 presidency of Crown Assets Corporation. The Crown agency's staff, including its executives, urgently wanted the acting general manager, P.A. Chamberlain appointed. After all, he had the experience.

Experience Goyer didn't care about.

So, says John Reynolds, the Supply and Services Minister appointed another Montrealer, a Mrs. Claudette Nadeau who, "by her own admission knows virtually nothing about the business" of Crown Assets which disposes of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of surplus government property and material every year.

Jean-Pierre Goyer long will be remembered, John Reynolds reminds the taxpayers, as the genius in Supply and Services who bought millions of gallons of heating oil, paying a super-rich 90 cents a gallon for much of it.

Jean-Pierre organized the special investigation branch of the Privy Council, the super-sleuths, known fondly as "Goyer's Gumshoes."

Jean-Pierre was the former Solicitor General who endeared himself to one and all with his proud boast that he was more concerned with rehabilitation of criminals than with the protection of the public.

And Jean-Pierre was the super-sensitive minister who blew his cabinet top when one of his $25,000 departmental executives proclaimed in public that Goyer was goofing his Supply and Services job.

Jean-Pierre didn't bother to argue the multi-million-dollar pros and cons of the charge — Supply and Services being the bulk buyer for all government departments — he just suspended his critic. Without pay.

It created quite a scene in cabinet and senior bureacratic circles.

But that is one thing you have got to give Jean-Pierre — he is fascinatingly unpredictable.

District at a Glance

Garbage Bins Draw Complaints

MARMORA — J.W. Tooley of the Kingston office of the ministry of the environment, has written to the Marmora and Lake Townships Council asking what they intend to do about several complaints that he has received from property owners about the township's garbage collection boxes.

Charges have been made that the boxes aren't conveniently located, that there are not a sufficient number of them and that they are not kept cleaned out.

Council said it will consider placing some more boxes next year in the cottage areas but as for the complaints regarding unclean boxes Councillor Joe McGrath, in charge of sanitation, said he had inspected them recently and found nothing wrong with them.

Township Passes Grants

MARMORA — Marmora and Lake Townships are not in a financial position to take advantage of the federally-offered LIP grants this year, the Townships Council decided recently. Also the closing date for applications, Sept. 12, does not allow time to find a project that meets all the requirements, Council decided. Projects that might be undertaken next year could be budgeted for to match grant monies, one of the requirements in the federal scheme, Reeve Ritchie Wells suggested.

Bridge a Concern

MARMORA — Marmora and Lake Township Council will inspect the Beaver Creek bridge near the home of Irwin McCoy at his request. Because of its low position between two hills the bridge collects water on the top and it is feared the bridge is deteriorating. Reeve Ritchie Wells suggested engineers from the ministry of transportation and communications check the span on their next visit.

Pound-keepers Named

MARMORA — Two new pound keepers, Roy Hannah and Bill Kelly, have been appointed by Marmora and Lakek Townships Council. It was pointed out during discussions there is a township by-law prohibiting owners from allowing cattle to run on the roads; also that line fences must be maintained even if one property owner does not keep stock.

Merchant Ends Career

TWEED — Tracey J. Quinn retired from business Aug. 15, ending a long career as a merchant here. The retail business, which for many years was known as Quinn's Store has been sold to James Brian Stafford of Toronto, who has spent the past ten years in merchandising and management, mostly with the Hudson Bay Company, and since May of 1973 as general manager of two suburban shopping centres in Toronto and in Montreal.

Resident Reaches 90

PLAINFIELD — Mrs. Emma Reeves, formerly of Tweed, now a resident of Plainfield, marked her 90th birthday, today. Born in 1885, Mrs. Reeves is still active, alert and interested in everything and besides is blessed with fairly good health.

Voters Must Apply For Proxy by Sept. 10

Voters who will not be in their riding to exercise their mandate during the next two weeks have only two days left to do anything about it.

Qualified voters may have a proxy form certified at the returning office allowing a "friend" to cast their vote for them. But, the returning office will only certify these forms until the close of office hours, Wednesday, Sept. 10.

In the event a voter knows he will not be in his home riding election day, three advance polls are being held to accommodate his vote casting. These will be held Sept. 12, 13 and 15. Poll locations and further information can be obtained by calling the returning office at 962-9548.

If none of these dates are appropriate, the voter will have to obtain the proxy sheet. An individual may cast votes for any number of relatives but for only one friend.

The voter who will not be in the riding during polling must obtain a proxy sheet from the returning office which gives identification particulars and the reason why he cannot cast his own ballot.

The designated voter must then take the proxy form with him to the poll.

Kidnappers Beware

Belleville police department will form a special committee this fall to meet with local business and industry officials to discuss plans in the event executives are taken hostage for ransom.

"We're going to educate business persons on what their reaction should be if they are taken hostage," Chief Douglas Crosbie said in a telephone interview.

It was announced recently in Toronto at the annual Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police convention that wallet-sized cards are being prepared to tell business executive what to do if they are kidnapped.

Chief Crosbie said police will be meeting with local business executives to agree what steps the victim and police would take in the event of a kidnapping.

Family Affair

Progressive Conservative candidate for Prince Edward-Lennox riding, James Taylor MPP says his work is often a family affair. The point was proved in Picton Wednesday as his wife Mary and daughter Kim took time from their full schedules to assist him in campaigning.

The Campaigners

Taylor's Campaign Family Affair

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — A seven-day work week coupled with long hours on the campaign trail does not crowd out family life for James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox riding and Progressive Conservative candidate in the Sept. 18 elections.

The 47-year-old lawyer, who was elected to Queen's Park in 1971, says he and his wife, Mary, and their four children find his work a unique opportunity for togetherness as the Taylor team.

"It is a family affair," he observed in an interview.

"My wife is very involved," said Mr. Taylor noting that she relays constituents telephone calls to him from their home in Northport to Queen's Park on a daily basis.

The Taylors' sons, Jim, 16, and Tim, 14, both attend Prince Edward Collegiate Institute and offer behind-the-scenes contribution to ease their father's work load.

Each day after school they drive to the family's 400-acre farm in South Marysburg to care for a cow-calf herd. Often the boys spend an entire weekend doing farm chores.

"'Farm work is hard work, but if I get a few hours free I find it a tremendous outlet to do something physical," commented Mr. Taylor.

The Taylor's daughters, Cindy, 19, and Kim, 20, both students at Queen's University have taken time from their busy schedules to support their father in his campaign.

Kim was at work recently in the Picton committee rooms planning for the posting of "Re-elect Taylor" signs in the riding.

Both girls were active in the Young Progressive Conservatives group here during their high school days, a tradition now continued by their brothers.

The Prince Edward-Lennox MPP says his work at Queen's Park in the last four years has carried a four-part theme — experience, action, performance and results. The riding's future is an ever-present consideration.

Mr. Taylor's experience at provincial level includes work as legal counsel with a select committee on municipal affairs from 1963 to 1965 and with a select committee on conservation authorities from 1965 to 1967.

After his election to Queen's Park in 1971, he sat for four years on a major standing committee on public accounts, the watchdog of all government spending.

He was also chairman of a standing committee on the administration of justice and chairman of the private bills committee that sponsored a private bill in the legislature for Prince Edward to service and sell industrial sites.

The MPP was a member of a select committee on snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles and sat as a member of a standing committee on resource development.

"I have been very active on standing committees and very involved in our own party caucus and in the discussion of spending estimates of all ministries," said Mr. Taylor.

The MPP says he feels it is important to be constantly available to his constituents and he has held regular meetings with them throughout the riding.

In the last four years he says he has followed "literally thousands of matters of concern" with his constituents and he has worked with almost every organization and group in Prince Edward-Lennox.

"I feel a member has to do his homework and this means long hours in studying of programs and obtaining facts and figures for a good working knowledge of problems," he noted.

"You have to be able to express the views of those who have a keen insight into problems but cannot crystalize their views at the decision-making level," comments the MPP.

Mr. Taylor is campaigning door-to-door this month and says a familiar greeting is "You don't know who I am but you helped me once."

The Conservative candidate observes he now is working toward improvement of our natural harbors and is continuing to press the federal ministry of the environment and the ministry of natural resources.

"I think we have to look more closely at public transportation to ensure the riding participates more fully in programs to assist it," he says.

Farm problems are a continued source of concern and Mr. Taylor says he feels it is imperative to maintain control over production of our own foodstuffs.

"The farmer must be sufficiently motivated to stay on the land."

The MPP says he is also concerned with the telephone service and rate structure in the riding and feels service "has not been the best."

He added long distance charges are imposed for a call from Sophiasburg to Ameliasburg, Adolphustown, Napanee or North or South Fredericksburg.

"The cost of a private line is price prohibitive," said Mr. Taylor.

Premier Davis speaks out: the public servants of Ontario must be neutral, non-partisan and impartial

"The Government of Ontario employs some 70,000 civil servants. They are competent, dedicated employees–one of the finest government support staffs anywhere–and the services they provide are vital.

"Unfortunately, however, leaders of the group which represents many of our civil servants–the Civil Service Association of Ontario–are seeking, through a series of misleading advertisements, to put pressure on the government in the heat of this election campaign.

"The reason for the pressure is this: the Government of Ontario takes the position that civil servants should not have the right to strike. We also hold that civil servants and Crown employees should not be given the right of full public participation in partisan politics.

"The leadership of the Civil Service Association of Ontario opposes our stand. Their advertising campaign is, I regret to say, both misleading and false in its attacks on the government.

"Perhaps because this is an election year, both the Liberal and NDP leaders and their parties agree with the Association's position. But our ultimate responsibilities are not to them. They are to the people of Ontario, as well as to the interests of the civil service itself. So I would like to set the record straight.

"The rule prohibiting civil servants from actively participating in an election (other than voting, of course) has been in existence since 1897. Its purpose is to maintain a public service which the people can recognize and respect as impartial and non-partisan. The same provisions generally apply to Federal employees, and to the Civil servants of the governments in most other provinces.

"Moreover, the Public Service Act of 1963 established the basis on which civil servants may participate in election campaigns. My government has made no changes or amendments to that legislation, and proposes none.

"In the end, it is up to you, the people of this province, to decide whether partisan political activity should be allowed in the public service. That is one of the decisions you will be making when you vote on September 18th.

"As to the other decision–whether or not Crown employees should have the right to strike–let me say candidly: I do not believe they should have that right. The reason is very simple. The right to strike carries with it the power to shut down the Province of Ontario–to seal off its government offices and, indeed, to close down the Legislature itself.

"The people of Ontario look to their government for a wide range of services. We are paying for those services through our taxes, and have a right to receive them. Moreover, our government has the responsibility to deliver those services uninterrupted.

"No third party should have the right to determine when or for how long those services may be withheld.

"Ontario's civil servants are paid fair and competitive wages. They enjoy bargaining rights which employees of the Federal government and many other provincial governments do not yet enjoy. We believe the Government of Ontario has been, and is, a good employer. It has not been arbitrary or provocative. But it has stood firm on the principle that government employees should not be able arbitrarily to cut off essential services to the people of this province.

"We have made our stand in the public interest. We are opposed to tampering with a non-partisan civil service and we are opposed to allowing strikes against the province. That will be our position for as long as we are asked to represent the interests of the people of Ontario."

'Being a (Lady) Cop Isn't Glamorous'

Linda Smith

The image of policewomen — flashy, tough, super-athletic and modern as portrayed by television isn't anywhere near the real thing according to Belleville's two policewomen Lynda Smith and Daryl Wagar.

Instead, the policewomen consider themselves conservative and cynical. And occasionally they're hassled by people who bear grudges for police.

Lynda, a native of Belleville, deals with family problems and the emotional after-math in the Youth Bureau. She spent the first of her three years with the Belleville Police on the 'beat'. Daryl, from Napanee, still works that shift.

"Once you put on your uniform you are a different person," said Daryl. "You see things the average person in society will never see"!

"And you hide your reactions utnil later when you're alone," added Lynda.

The glamor of police work also portrayed on television is another myth according to these women. "There isn't all that excitement the way television tells it. You know, it takes five minutes to arrest a drunk and you spend 45 minutes writing the report."

"People are saturated by American television and the police shows," commented Lynda. "Especially the kids."

Being a policewoman has been an uphill struggle all the way, according to Daryl. They, along with one other woman, were the only females in a class of 200 at the Ontario Police College in Aylmer.

Now, Daryl and Lynda serve on a staff of 70.

"Ithink people tdy to stereotype women too much. They always assume women are good with children so that's what they handle . . . well, I'm not," said Daryl. "I like the idea of being out on the street and being the first person there when something happens.

"We're limited here because of our sex," she continued. "The staff is sometimes protective towards us."

Both have been threatened in the line of their duty, bruised and, in one case, knocked down but, says Daryl, sometimes it's better to be a woman than a man.

"You can use your feminity on them and bluff them."

On emergency calls where trouble is expected the women are always assisted. Their main form of protection, when needed, is a "swift-knee" as Daryl puts it.

"People are very unpredictable; you become tougher because you're always getting hurt and conned by them," said Daryl. "It's hard to accept the fact some people hate you just because you're a cop.

"You aren't really a person," she added.

"Everything in police work has to be reality. You can't be idealistic in this job," said Lynda.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hinze

Hinze—Stone

Parkdale Baptist Church was the scene of the August wedding of Barbara Diane Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stone, and Roger Wilfred Hinze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hinze.

Rev. Ron Schindel officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a satin gown with embroidered overlay featuring daisy medallions. Her multi-layered veil was caught in an embroidered daisy headband. The bride carried a white Bible decorated with talisman sweetheart roses.

Georgine Broekema, the bride's sister, was matron of honor in a gold crepe gown with scoop neckline. She carried miniature carnations, talisman roses and brown strawflowers with baby's breath. She wore gold flowers in her hair.

Attendants were Phyllis Smith and Sharon Haskett in similar ensembles.

Cecil Hinze, the groom's brother, was best man; he was assisted by ushers Adrian Caddick, Wayne Haskett, Grant Alford and Bill Broekema.

The reception was held at St. Mark's United Church Hall.

After a wedding trip to points north, the couple took up residence at RR 1, Foxboro.

Fashion Show Will Aid St. Thomas' Building Fund

Three members of St. Thomas' Anglican Church congregation put their head together recently and came up with the idea of holding a garden party and fashion show to raise money for the burned church.

Helen Ketcheson, Laura Alford and Miss Stewart Mason pooled their talents and their $5 in talent money from the church to organize the afternoon's activities which will take place September 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. McLean Haig, the Trent Road.

The party begins at 2 p.m. with an official opening by Canon Peter Tett.

First on the agenda will be a Seven Seas fashion show coordinated by Ethel Deacon.

Sponsored by the women of the congregation, the afternoon will also include an auction conducted by Virginia Lewis. Six items including paintings by Helen Graham and Dorothy Walter, needlepoint and a Staffordshire vase will be sold.

The women will also sell tickets for a draw.

A second fashion show will follow the auction. The day's models are Beverley Deacon, Marilyn Rollins, Eunice Driscoll, Helen Logan, Francis Potter, Susan O'Brien and Babs Deacon.

Refreshments will be served.

Admission, at the door, is $1.

Names Not Used

LONDON (CP) — Names of rape victims should not be revealed during trials or after except in special circumstances, a panel of solicitors and newspaper editors has recommended. In a memo to the Heilbron committee investigating rape laws, the joint committee said it was unfair and undesirable that victims should be subjected to local and national publicity.

BERLIN (CP) — Thousands of East German women have ignored a call to be trained as drivers of tractors and combine harvesters. They contend it is not women's work. Sure-fire Onion Peeling Tricks— Guaranteed to Stop Your Tears

Dear Readers: With everything that is happening in the world, do you know what people are concerned about this week? Would you believe it's how to peel onions without crying?

Recently I printed a letter from a reader who had the thing licked. "I learned the trick from my mother-in-law," she boasted. And then she went on to say, "If you start at the root of the onion and peel up you'll never shed a tear."

Well, I did a little home research and ended up with bloodshot eyes and a runny nose. I told my "little helper" to give my regards to her mother-in-law.

This is what the mail has been like all week:

"Weep no more, my lady. Just put an electric fan on your work-counter when you peel onions and it will blow all those awful fumes away."—Michigan Fan

"Why cry when you can put a plastic bag over your head and get the job done dry-eyed and in record time?"—Cincinnati Clara

"Our home-ec teacher taught us how to peel onions and keep smiling. Just put on sunglasses, sweetie." — Atlanta Fan

"If you stick a whole slice of white bread in your mouth you'll never shed a tear. Grandma taught me this trick when I was a bride."—Grand Rapids Fan

"No more bawling over the onions. Not since my next-door neighbor told me to slice them submerged in a bowl of cold water. But be careful and don't cut your finger."—Rosemary In Rochester

"Just put the onions in the freezer for 15 or 20 minutes before you cut them and your problem is solved."—Las Vegas Hash Slinger

"My great uncle served in the First World War and brought a gas mask home from France as a souvenir. The darned thing is perfect for peeling onions. But don't answer the door wearing one. The paper boy came to collect one day and the poor kid almost fainted." — St. Louis

"Put a clothespin on your nose and kekep your mouth open. It never fails."—Memphis, Tenn.

"I wear my husband's motorcycle helmet with the goggles when I slice onions and I haven't shed a tear since I thought the stunt up.—Manhattan Cook

"Put a large hunk of raw potato in your mouth and you'll never cry over an onion again as long as you live."—Jackson, Miss.

"If you wear contact lenses, keep them in. They make your eyes 'onion proof'."—Little Rock

So, there you are, Dear Ones a whole host of helpful hints to choose from. But remember—I'm not guaranteeing any of them. You're strictly on your own. And please don't write and tell me what works and what doesn't. If I never see another letter about onions again it will be too soon.—Yours Truly, ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been sitting here for 30 minutes trying to say this in language you can print. Here's the best I can do. After 15 years of marriage my husband is suggesting things I think are far out. What is right and what is wrong in married sex?—N. N.

Dear N. N.: There's no "right" or "wrong." If two people agree, anything is OK. It's up to them to decide. Note, I said TWO people.

Emergency Help for Unwed Mothers

MONTREAL (CP) — Unmarried pregnant women seeking an alternative to abortion need not go it alone. At Birthright of Montreal, an emergency pregnancy service, they may get help in coping with the medical, social and psychological problems of being an unwed mother.

Johanna Methot, director of services for the agency, emphasized that Birthright does not try to persuade women not to have an abortion. Rather, she said, the non-sectarian organization endeavors to make callers aware of all their choices and of the resources available if they do decide to carry the baby to term.

"I feel if more women were aware of places they could go for help," she said in an interview "there might be fewer abortions."

Birthright volunteers will help a pregnant teen-ager break the news to her parents—an important step since minors cannot receive medical attention without their parents' consent.

If the family rejects the girl, or if she is alone in Montreal, she will be directed to a home for unwed mothers. Sometimes volunteers take teen-agers into their own homes.

The service provides doctors and makes the necessary hospital arrangements. A girl who decides to go through with the pregnancy is directed to groups dealing with diet control, family and children's services, prenatal classes and adoption agencies.

"We help them with maternity clothes," Mrs. Methot said. "We tell them about maternity leave, unemployment insurance and, if they need a lawyer for some reason, we refer them to legal aid.

"Also, if the girl is undecided about whether to place the baby or not, we can put her in touch with single mothers' groups."

Mrs. Methot estimates that of the 200 callers and visitors the service has received during its three-year existence, at least 15 or 20 decided to keep their babies.

Birthright of Montreal, formed in 1972, was joined in 1973 by Grossesse Secours, a French-language branch. The original Canadian organization was established in 1968 in Toronto under the direction of Louise Summerhill and now has more than 40 chapters throughout the country.

Today's Child

By Helen Allen

BARBIE

Barbie, with her sweet face and freckles, has a somewhat elfin look. This slightly built girl will soon be 11. She has fair skin, blue eyes and brown hair with fair highlights.

In good general health, Barbie tends to get colds. Her foster mother says it's because she is always rushing outdoors in winter without warm enough clothes. Barbie has a mild allergy to cats.

Barbie has just started grade six. She has the potential to be an average student but does not work up to her ability. Math is her weakest subject.

On first meeting new people, Barbie appears happy and bubbly but her friendly feelings dry up unless adults indicate that they are really interested in her.

She can be charming, happy, dependable, self-reliant and friendly. Generally she is well behaved. However, she can be strong-willed, stubborn, demanding and jealous. Therefore Barbie needs parents who will appreciate her many good qualities and yet keep their cool while helping her get the less attractive ones under control.

Barbie loves horses and her favorite reading is horse stories. She enjoys bike riding, tobogganing, bowling. She likes working at crafts and is beginning to learn to cook. She's fond of rock and country music. As a Brownie she works hard to earn her badges.

Parents who will give Barbie the security she needs and love she can count on are being sought for her. The mother and father should want to spend much time with their new daughter. She should be the youngest by several years in her adopting family.

To inquire about adopting Barbie, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter please tell something of your present family and your way of life.

'Long Legs' Ad Withdrawn

TORONTO (CP) — A recent withdrawal of a cigarette advertisement after women complained that it was sexist seems a small victory in the battle to change the portrayal of women in advertising.

The ad featured two workers in a manhole peering up at shapely legs on a female passerby and read: "Like Benson and Hedges . . . the longer the better."

The Vancouver Status of Women Council organized a letter-writing campaign which was successful in stopping the ad.

In Toronto, another group of women took offence at the same ad and carried out night-time raids to deface billboards carrying the message.

Sharon Gibson, research assistant to the Ontario advisory council on the status of women, said many women around the province are angry about the way they are depicted by the media.

"Our monitors have found nearly 100 advertisers in magazines still using the woman in stereotyped roles of housewife, nag, dumbell or sex object," she said.

The advertising industry has analysed, scrutinized and psychologically dissected the female—the holder and the wielder of the purchasing power.

As well, a report by the department of labor indicated that five of every eight women more than 15 years of age are homemakers and the majority of women who work consider their employment as a job, not a career.

Sociologist Helen Levine noted the advertisers realize that most women are at home or are not in glamorous jobs.

"If I were at home staring at the four walls—chances are, I'd go out shopping," she added.

Although precise statistics on women's expenditures are difficult to find, the National Organization of Women in New York stated that the woman accounts for 85 per cent of the retail market in the United States.

After considering the majority status of women buyers, advertisers direct their advertising to women's weaknesses, fears and anxiety to psyche women up to make purchases.

Consequently, sexy females are used to sell products to women who want to identify with them and to men as sex objects.

But, Terry O'Malley, creative director of Vickers and Benson Ltd., an advertising agency, said as far as depiction of the female in advertising is concerned, "about 90 per cent of the people who look at ads simply don't care. All they care about is themselves."

Travelling Hospital Reaches All Children

HALIFAX (CP) — If people can't or won't come to the hospital, then the hospital must go to the people.

And considering the vast territory served by the Izaak Walton Killam Hospital for Children here—the three Maritime provinces—that appears to be a pretty big task.

Dr. Richard Goldbloom, physician-in-chief and director of research for the hospital, is determined that all children in the region have the best and most up-to-date care possible—irrespective of geography.

The hospital, the only childrens' hospital in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and P.E.I., serves between one and two million children in those areas as well as youngsters from western Newfoundland.

He said in an interview he wants to abolish what he terms the "mecca complex."

"One of the concerns in the last few years is that traditionally, if kids have serious problems, they have had to come to the 'big' centre.

"This is something that has been done more than necessary. A child shouldn't be penalized because he lives away from the centre."

Not only is it more difficult on the child, but travelling and lodging expenses incurred by the family for the visit to Halifax can be excessive if the child's hospital stay is of any great length.

Among the outreach programs already established by the hospital are travelling clinics specializing in such areas as neurology, plastic surgery and cardiology.

Specialists in these fields visit small communities regularly and set up headquarters usually at the local hospital. Through referrals by local doctors they can see up to 40 young patients in a two-day span.

In terms of dollars and cents, it is considerably cheaper for one doctor to visit the community than for 40 patients and their families to trek to Halifax for diagnosis, consultation and treatment.

Another program in operation is the screening of newborn babies for hereditary diseases. All infants in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are given a blood test soon after birth for a disease known as phenyl ketonuria (PKU). Although the disease doesn't show visual signs in the newborn period, if left untreated it can cause mental retardation. Treatment is simple—proper diet from birth.

The hospital has also opened a clinic for inherited metabolic diseases. Tests, in some cases, can be given to the mother in the early stages of pregnancy. These tests can determine whether the baby will be defective.

Mongolism is just one condition for which these tests are given. The clinic is open only to women with known histories of the diseases.

The reproductive care program established by the hospital is one of the most advanced in Canada, said Dr. Goldbloom.

A team consisting of a pediatrician, obstetrician and nurse question women with histories of high-risk pregnancies. If it appears the child could be considered a high risk, plans are made in advance of delivery to bring the mother into the hospital so that adequate care can be given to both mother and baby.

"We now have evidence that babies born to people in this project have a much lower mortality rate."

The program is open to Nova Scotia residents.

In conjunction with the hospital's neo-natal facility, a mobile incubator, manned by a team of specialists, is on call to travel to outlying areas in Nova Scotia to pick up newborns in need of the highly sophisticated care given here at the hospital.

Dr. Goldbloom said about 100 babies a year are brought to the hospital in the incubator, which is capable of monitoring all vital functions.

From the doctor standpoint, there is an attempt to keep out-of-city Nova Scotian pediatricians in close touch with the hospital.

About 31 of the 35 specialists reside in Halifax but the remaining pediatricians have been given a special affiliate status with the hospital so they "feel part of it."

Married 500

TORONTO (CP) — Since her appointment in 1973, Kay Cook, the first woman "marrying chaplain" of Toronto's First Unitarian Church has joined more than 500 couples in wedlock. The mother of four children says this summer has been busy, with as many as 14 weddings scheduled for one weekend. She charges 45 for a church wedding and $80 if she travels to another location.

Insects Not Found

OTTAWA (CP) — A department of health official said that commercial baby foods, found by the United States Consumers Union to contain insects, insect parts and rodent hair, are not available in Canada. The department tested products from the three major manufacturers of baby food.

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the National Parole Board has turned a down a request for parole by Dr. Henry Morgentaler, serving a 18-month sentence for performing an illegal abortion.

Election Program

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC said Monday its Ontario network will carry a one-hour program Friday in which leaders of the province's three major parties discuss the issues in the current provincial general election campaign.

Prepared for Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said Monday that he is prepared to shut down the post office for two or three months in the event of a national postal strike.

In a speech to officials of the paper envelope industry, Mr. Mackasey said there might be a long strike if the union sticks to its demands for a 71-per-cent pay increase over one year and a 30-hour work-week.

Vote to Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal policemen voted overwhelmingly Monday to reject the city's latest offer on working conditions, but decided not to take any strike action immediately.

Plans Ottawa Visit

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. Defence Secretary James Schlesinger hopes to visit Ottawa later this month, a spokesman said Monday. Schlesinger was invited to Canada by Canadian Defence Minister James Richardson but no date had been set. The Ottawa talks would deal mainly with North American defence.

Closes University

KHARTOUM (AP) — Sudanese President Jaafar el Numairi, who put down an attempted coup last week, announced the indefinite closing Monday of the University of Khartoum where he said security agents had discovered "anti-government instigators, guns and ammunition."

Business Failures Up

TORONTO (CP) — Business failures in Canada in the first half of 1975 increased substantially from a year ago, says a report by Dun and Bradstreet of Canada Ltd., Toronto.

Talks Break Down

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations between Canada Cement Lafarge Ltd. of Montreal and striking workers at nine company plants have broken off, a company spokesman said Monday.

Demands Radiation Controls

TORONTO (CP) — The Atomic Energy Control Board (AECB) wants some improvements in radiation controls at Ontario Hydro's nuclear power stations, an AECB senior official said Monday.

However, John Beare, assistant director of AECB's nuclear plant licensing directorate, said any complaints by the federal regulatory agency are within the context that present operations "do not pose unacceptable risks" to either the public or Hydro workers.

"We usually found Hydro was as much interested as we were in improving the situation itself," Mr. Beare said in an interview from Ottawa.

He said the board had been critical of Hydro about radiation problems in the early operations of the Douglas Point generating station, the prototype of Candu nuclear stations.

Internal Hydro documents disclosed Monday said the Douglas Point plant, about 35 miles southwest of Owen Sound, had two spills of radioactive elements into Lake Huron in 1970, one that occurred when a Hydro worker turned a valve marked Do Not Operate and the other from an undetected leak.

Mr. Beare said the spilled liquids were not at hazardous levels although they violated specific release limits.

New York Enacts Emergency Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — After more than 19 straight hours of negotiations and debate, the state legislature early today enacted an emergency plan imposing strict state controls on bnew York City's budget and advancing some $2 billion to keep the city from financial collapse.

The bill was immediately signed into law by Gov. Hugh Carey.

The legislation is intended to end the latest in a series of fiscal crises the city has faced this year as it limped closer and closer to default on its massive debt.

The measure enacted today creates a new board controlled by state officials to impose what amounts to a condition of receivership on the city's budget process. It provides some $2.3 billion from various public and private sources to keep the city solvent through November.

But without renewed investor confidence or federal aid, the city could still default in December. Opponents of the bill warned that its heavy commitment of state cash threatened to wreck the state treasury if default occurred then.

Supporters argued, however, that an immediate default would have disastrous consequences that would pose just as serious a threat to the state, and that the plan offered a chance to avert default altogether.

The legislative package was drawn up by Carey after first the city and then the state Municipal Assistance Corp., set up to refinance the city's debt, were unable to market securities because of a lack of investor confidence.

The board will have broad powers to approve the city budget and prevent the city from spending more than it is taking in. The board will collect city revenues and turn them over for spending it has approved in advance.

Quebec Considers Parent Opposition

MONTREAL (CP) — The controversy over Quebec's official language Act deepened Monday as some Montreal parents kept their children out of school while the government prepared to consider their appeals and a radio petition opposing the law gathered momentum.

Many immigrant children in the east-end St. Leonard district did not report for school Monday morning as parents in this mainly Italian area awaited official school assignment notification from the Jerome Le Royer School Commission.

Appeals received from parents who want their children to attend English-language schools are to be discussed here today at a special meeting of Quebec Language Board representatives, said a spokesman for the Italian - Canadian Education Committee.

The spokesman said the committee has forwarded 500 appeals to the education department. About 400 were from parents whose children passed English proficiency tests administered by the Le Royer commission in St. Leonard.

Under the language act, known as Bill 22, immigrant children whose mother tongue is not English but who wish to attend English-language schools must pass the tests. Those who fail are sent to French-language schools.

The Le Royer commission's 11 English-language schools were closed last Thursday and Friday to clear up confusion over enrolment of immigrant children under Bill 22's new regulations. Following intervention by department of education officials the board raised enrolment to its English schools to 300 from the original 74.

Bill 22 has also become the subject of two petitions.

The first, sponsored by radio station CFCF, seeks one million signatures from Quebecers opposing the law.

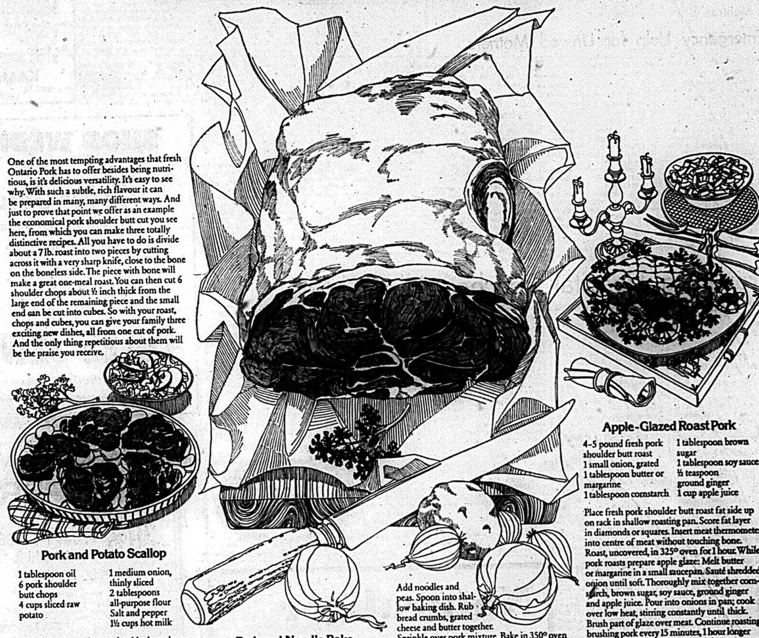
How one pork cut can solve your dinnertime dilemma three times this week.



One of the most tempting advantages that fresh Ontario Pork has to offer besides being nutritious, is it's delicious versatility. It's easy to see why. With such a subtle, rich flavour it can be prepared in many, many different ways. And just to prove that point we offer as an example the economical pork shoulder butt cut you see here, from which you can make three totally distinctive recipes. All you have to do is divide about a 7 lb. roast into two pieces by cutting across it with a very sharp knife, close to the bone on the boneless side. The piece with bone will make a great one-meal roast. You can then cut 6 shoulder chops about ½ inch thick from the large end of the remaining piece and the small end can be cut into cubes. So with your roast, chops and cubes, you can give your family three exciting new dishes, all from one cut of pork. And the only thing repetitious about them will be the praise you receive.

Pork and Potato Scallop

1 tablespoon oil
6 pork shoulder butt chops
4 cups sliced raw potato
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
Salt and pepper
1½ cups hot milk

Heat oil in frypan, brown shoulder butt chops. Place a layer of potatoes and onion slices in 2-quart shallow casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle with some of the flour, salt and pepper. Repeat, ending with layer of potatoes. Pour over enough hot milk to almost cover potatoes. Arrange chops on top of potatoes. Bake, covered, in preheated 350° oven for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer until potatoes are done. Makes 5–6 servings. Great with buttered spinach, Waldorf salad.

Pork and Noodle Bake

1½ pound fresh pork shoulder butt
1–2 tablespoons oil or drippings
1 medium onion, chopped
2 celery stalks, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dried thyme
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 (10 ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 (10 ounce) package frozen peas
1 cup water
6–8 ounces dry egg noodles.
½ cup bread crumbs
½ cup grated cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon melted butter

Cut pork shoulder butt into 1-inch cubes. Heat oil or drippings in frypan; brown pork cubes. Stir in chopped onion, celery slices, salt, thyme, pepper, mushroom soup and water. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. While pork simmers cook noodles as package directs; drain. Add noodles and peas. Spoon into shallow baking dish. Rub bread crumbs, grated cheese and butter together. Sprinkle over pork mixture. Bake in 350° oven for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings. Serve with crisp celery and carrot sticks.

Apple-Glazed Roast Pork

4–5 pound fresh pork shoulder butt roast
1 small onion, grated
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup apple juice

Place fresh pork shoulder butt roast fat side up on rack in shallow roasting pan. Score fat layer in diamonds or squares. Insert meat thermometer into centre of meat without touching bone. Roast, uncovered, in 325° oven for 1 hour. While pork roasts prepare apple glaze: Melt butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Sauté shredded onion until soft. Thoroughly mix together cornstarch, brown sugar, soy sauce, ground ginger and apple juice. Pour into onions in pan; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick. Brush part of glaze over meat. Continue roasting, brushing pork every 15 minutes, 1 hour longer until glazed sparkling brown and thermometer registers 170° and pork is tender (allow about 35 minutes per pound roasting time). Let roast stand on warm platter 10 to 15 minutes to make carving easier. Makes 5–6 servings. Serve with potatoes au gratin, buttered green beans, celery cabbage salad.

Council Briefs

Little Interest in Study

Ontario's Royal Commission on Violence in the Communication Industry, got scant attention at city hall Monday.

Before city council was an outline from the commission of its assignment — which included presentation of briefs.

Ald. Joe Cox suggested council refer the matter to Police Chief Douglas Crosbie.

However, council moved to merely receive the correspondence.

Appointment Delayed

City council Monday delayed for two weeks appointing a representative to a steering committee on formation of a district health council.

A resolution before council suggested the appointment of Ald. Stu Meeks. Council representation on the committee was requested last month by Donald M. Soutter, Ontario health ministry planning coordinator in eastern Ontario.

Ald. Jack Ireland moved that the resolution be tabled until the next council meeting.

Equipment Purchases Approved

Purchase of new equipment for its police and fire departments — now approved by the Ontario Municipal Board — was made official Monday by city council.

Council gave third reading to bylaws that permit purchase of new radio equipment for police, costing up to $75,000 of which the city pays $30,000 and allows purchase of a new fire pumper for up to $50,000.

CPR Crossing to Close

Another railroad crossing in mid-town Belleville is to be closed off.

City council Monday passed a resolution to close the Canadian Pacific crossing on South John St. It is the latest in an ongoing program of such closures in the area, aimed at reducing noise since trains won't have to sound warnings approaching closed crossings.

Finances in Order

City councillors seem satisfied Belleville's finances are in order.

Monday night a representative from the city's auditors was available before council to explain any queries on the annual municipal audit.

But the councillors had no questions to ask Robert Irvine, of George A. Welch chartered acountants.

Garbage Collection Altered

There'll be a change in city garbage collection schedules. Mayor Ben Corke told council Monday night.

The number of days will be reduced from six to four, with new equipment being introduced.

One of the reasons for the change is difficulty in finding crews willing to work Saturdays, indicated the mayor.

The new pickup schedules will be advertised soon, he said.

Tax Adjustments Reviewed

Business tax cancellations so far this year in Belleville have totalled close to $43,000.

The cancellations — caused by business shutdowns, moves to new locations or other changes — were approved Monday night by city council.

Two lists, totalling 117 separate adjustments, were presented by the city treasury.

River Cleanup Suggested

The Moira River may create jobs in Belleville next winter.

City council Monday night decided to pursue the possibilities of obtaining a federal Local Initiatives Program grant.

Ald. Meeks suggested LIP funds be sought for repairing parts of the riverwall on city-owned property. He also included a cleanup of the Moira while water levels are low.

Letters Flow In

City council still is receiving agreeable official letters on its urging that Toronto Island Airport be kept operating as a provincial communications service.

Replies received Monday night by council included a letter from Ontario Transportation and Communications Minister John Rhodes.

Mr. Rhodes said he considered the airport an "important transportation asset" for all southern Ontario.

A two-year joint study of the airport's future now is underway, during which time federal and provincial governments will pay a total $300,000 to keep its facilities operating.

Loading Zones Approved

Several schoolbus loading zones were designated Monday by city council.

Stipulated by bylaw were areas outside three public and separate schools:

Church St. east side, along the frontages of Belleville Collegiate, St. Michael's Academy and Nicholson Catholic College; East Bridge St. outside St. Joseph's school; and Victoria Ave. along St. Michael's Academy.

Dance Gets City Blessing

City council Monday night agreed to join a square dance. It declared Sept. 14-20 Square Dance Week in Belleville.

The request came from the Quinte Twirlers Square Dance Organization. The group holds its ninth annual jamboree Sept. 20.

Housing Report

Thelma Eller, Ontario housing ministry analyst answers city council questions on geared-to-income housing for senior citizens in Belleville. A ministry study suggests demand for elderly requiring such accommodation will soon practically be met in city.

Builder, Homeowners Deadlocked Over Water

Quinte Heights homeowners and builder Noramco Corp. Ltd. are deadlocked over who will pay the cost of installing a system to tap unused wells and end water shortages in the 53-home subdivision.

The stalemate became apparent in Sidney Township council chambers Monday as Quinte Heights Homeowners Association president Lavern Hatcher told council residents will "no way accept any financial obligation for getting water service."

His comments came in light of a written statement by Noramco general manager H. R. Ledingham.

The manager writes that the Toronto firm is "prepared to make the water . . . available" once an agreement has been reached over payment for the necessary work.

Homes in the subdivision near Bayside Secondary School have historically run low on water in summer. This year, lack of water pressure made taps, showers and toilets inoperable and brought the issue to a head and a delegation to council.

Sidney township councillors brought water into the subdivision by truck as a short-term solution.

Reeve Gordon Wilman said Monday he hopes the provincial environment ministry will "put pressure on Noramco to do something."

Mr. Hatcher said estimates to connect a fourth well into the existing water system stand at $15-20,000. Residents have declined to pay such costs because they argue they purchased service lots — something they have not received.

He says the water will be made available but his firm will "reserve the right to the water so that we would be able to tie it in with any other use of the entire water supply system for further development."

Parking Privilege Extended

The Hastings County Board of Education Monday night extended its free parking privileges to Belleville General Hospital at Queen Elizabeth Public School on MacDonald St. — but, not without warning it would be the last time.

The parking previlege was granted to the hospital in 1973 because it was unable to complete a multi-level parking garage on Bay St. The hospital has also been attempting to buy other parcels of land nearby for parking facilities. However, rezoning problems have hampered these efforts.

Director of education Eric Runacres said the hospital is making every effort to solve its parking problems, however, he warned that Queen Elizabeth Public School will need this space next year. The parking previlege runs out next spring.

MacDonald Will Tour Trenton

Flora MacDonald, federal Progressive Conservative MP for Kingston and the Islands, will arrive in Trenton Friday at 3:30 p.m. to lend campaign support to provincial candidate Robin Jeffrey.

Fred Deacon, campaign manager for the Quinte riding candidate, said Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Jeffrey will do some door-to-door knocking, mainstreeting and industroal tours in Trenton during the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. MacDonald will not be appearing in Belleville.

O'Neil, McLauchlan Debate Issues

A special all-candidates session for the Kinsmen Club of Belleville turned into a tame affair Monday when the prime target in Quinte riding for the Sept. 18 provincial election failed to appear.

To highlight their annual Ladies Night, the first meeting of the new club year, the Kinsmen invited all candidates to speak and engage in a question-and-answer session.

However, Progressive Conservative candidate Robin Jeffrey bowed out, citing other commitments, leaving New Democrat Carson McLauchlan and Liberal Hugh O'Neil to espouse their parties' policies and defend those in turn.

Mr. McLauchlan was especially perturbed at Mrs. Jeffrey's absence. He said when he learned she "would be too busy" to attend the Kinsmen affair, he challenged her to a radio debate but she also declined, saying she could not find the time.

Most of the questions dealt with Davis government policies and election promises but without Mrs. Jeffrey present, the two other opponents could only give their own parties' versions.

On rent controls, Mr. McLauchlan, although saying the majority of rent increases are unsubstantiated, noted. "there's got to be a . . . reasonable profit for the landlord."

Mr. O'Neil took basically the same stand — "if a chap has a house he paid $30,000 for 15 years ago and is worth $60,000 now, he has to get some return for his investment. Rent controls have to be based on costs."

However, he said individual cases must be judged on their own merits.

On Ontario Hydro, Mr. McLauchlan pointed out as a Crown corporation, it is part of the NDP philosophy to have more industries under government control but "we don't have the grips on it tight enough."

Regarding the 10,000 acre industrial park the Davis government purchased near Prescott and Spencerville early this year, Mr. O'Neil said all new industry should not be located at one site but filtered out among municipalities (Belleville, Frankford and Trenton in Quinte riding) to lower the tax base.

Defending current NDP government action in British Columbia where there is labor unrest, Mr. McLauchlan said, "it's a bad year all over. Labor unrest cannot be blamed on the New Democratic Party."

Study Shows Housing Adequate for Seniors

A provincial government report suggests no further geared-to-income housing for Belleville senior citizens be undertaken at present.

The recommendation comes in a needs study prepared at city council's request by the Ontario housing ministry.

Projects already in operation and new construction should satisfy current demand, says the study.

However, council was told Monday night by Thelma Eller, ministry housing analyst, if it was not completely assured by the geared-to-income housing situation for the elderly it could request a new needs study after current developments are operating.

Statistically, the report notes:

— Senior citizen projects now under Ontario Housing Corp. (OHC) management provide a total 244 apartments. Vacancies are runing at two or three a month.

— Two new developments will provide a further 163 units by next spring.

This means a total 407 units will have been provided on the basis of income for elderly Bellevillians by next year.

Vacancy rates in projects now operating and upcoming accommodation in the new housing developments — on Wellington Cres. and East Bridge St. — should satisfy present and projected demand, the report said.

The study found 308 applications for senoir citizen housing filed with the OHC office in Belleville.

Of these, 139 were judged "very interested and in need" of OHC housing; another 167 were considered to have "some need and interest."

For such senior citizens on moderate incomes the report suggested council consider becoming involved in an alternative scheme — the Community Sponsored Housing Program.

This provides for elderly people with more income or assets who can afford to pay more rent — though not as much as demanded in the private market, said Mrs. Eller.

Projections based on present statistics of need and accommodation available estimated there would only be a surplus of four needy applications by 1977.

City Dwelling Ratio Above Ontario Average

Belleville housing has included more apartments and single detached residences than the average for Ontario.

Ratio of the city's accommodation stock is shown in a provincial government study prepared for city council.

The study—a needs survey on senior citizen accommodation—was prepared by the housing ministry. It based its findings of city housing on 1971 Statistics Canada figures.

At that time 3,030 apartments accounting for 28.5 city accommodations compared to 27.3 per cent for Ontario.

Some 6,595 single detached homes accounted for the major 62.1 per cent—against 61.3 per cent for the province. Single attached homes totalled 995—or 9.4 per cent compared with 11.4 per cent for the provincial average.

Moving River Bed

Belleville public utilities commission workmen are moving the Moira River bed near Highway 401 to prepare for blasting so they can install a 16-inch water main under the river. The newwater main will serve industrial areas in North Belleville and may eventually serve Thurlow Township, said general manager Neil Britton.

Loyalists Teachers Accept New Pact

By ROBIN CHASE

Staff Reporter

Members of the college of applied arts and technology (CAAT) academic division of the Civil Service Association of Ontario at Loyalist voted 85-7 Monday to accept a contract settlement between the union and the provincial government for 1975-76.

Ontario's other 21 community colleges Monday approved the agreement by an 85 per cent margin.

Paul Wall, president of the Loyalist CAAT academic division local, said after the vote the new agreement "puts more emphasis on work-related experience or experience related to subject matter . . . and less on formal academic degrees."

The contract includes a 12.48 per cent increase for teaching masters and counsellors, 13.19 per cent for instructors, 12.34 per cent for first-class librarians and 11.68 per cent for second-class librarians over the 1973-75 contract.

Mr. Wall said the percentage increases represent the amounts by which the maximums in the former contract have increased and are the minimums any teacher can get.

The new salary grid scale for masters and counsellors shows a $12,000 minimum, a $21,000 maximum for those with no post-secondary certificate, a $21,750 maximum for those with a one-year post-secondary certificate, a $22,500 maximum for those with a two-year CAAT diploma, a $23,250 maximum for those with a three-year CAAT diploma and a $24,000 maximum for those with a four-year honors university degree, a professional engineers degree, a chartered accountants degree, a registered industrial accountants degree or a certified general accountants degree.

The minimum for instructors is $10,100 and the maximum is $16,850. The minimum for fist-class librarians is $12,200 and the maximum is $16,700. The minimum for second-class librarians is $14,500 and the maximum is $19,000.

Other settlement highlights show annual increments up from $500 to $750, the method of reaching the top of the grid scale rigorously defined and the denial of merit increment grievable.

The settlement sets out five classifications — teaching master, instructor, counsellor, first-class librarian and second-class librarian. All current masters, associates, assistants and affiliates are to be classified as teaching masters.

Workload shows 19 maximum contact hours per week and 21 for others, 700 maximum contact hours per year and 900 for others, 775 maximum contact hours per year for nursing and 180 maximum contact days per year and 190 for others.

Council Balks at Study Costs

City council Monday balked at passing a bylaw covering $100,000 for developments expenditures under consideration by its parking authority.

Council said it wants more details on what's proposed for the money.

The bylaw up for approval authorized the money to be spent by the Belleville Parking Authority and debentures issues.

The projects centre on the old public utilities property and building between Front and Pinnacle streets and the adjacent recreation department-area parking lot.

They enclude building demolition and a feasibility study on construction of a parking garage.

City manager Wilbur Purcell said authority members have indicated they would be "happy" to appear before council.

A decision on the spending bylaw was delayed two weeks.

The Yeas Have It

Loyalist members of the college of applied arts and technology (CAAT) academic division of the Civil Service Association of Ontario (CSAO) voted 85-7 Monday to accept a new one-year contract. Impartial ballot counters are Garth Kelman (rear left) and George Christopher of Loyalist administration.

Expos Sweep 2 from Mets

PAT SCANLON

MONTREAL (CP) — Right-hander Don Carrithers of Montreal Expos served notice Monday night that he and his last-place team-mates do not regard the rest of the National League baseball season as simply an unwelcome formality.

Carrithers scattered eight hits as the Expos whipped New York 6-1 to sweep a double-header and put the Mets nine games behind the East Division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pat Scanlon's one-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Expos a 6-5 win in the first game after Wayne Garrett had tied it in the top of the ninth with a run-scoring single.

A Pirates win and a St. Louis loss sent Pittsburgh 6½ games in front of the Cardinals and Philadelphia marked time with a victory and stayed seven games behind.

"We're going to be a spoiler in this race," Carrithers said after moving his record to 3-2. "We're not all that far behind the Cubs, so there's that to go for, but all these clubs are battling for a pennant like the Mets."

The Expos trail Pittsburgh by 18½ games and are three behind fifth-place Chicago.

Carrithers allowed at least one base runner in every inning except the seond and fourth but was never in much danger.

The Mets' run came in the fifth on an RBI ground-out by pinch-hitter John Milner.

Jose Morales and Larry Parrish drove in first-inning runs and Bob Bailey singled home one in the third, when Morales scored from second on an error by catcher John Stearns. Pepe Mangual had an RBI hit in the fourth and Jim Dwyer drove in the final run in the sixth.

Jerry White and Jim Cox slammed solo home runs for the Expos in the first game, and Mike Vail, who connected safely in both contests to run his hitting streak to 16 games, and Dave Kingman did the same for New York.

Vail also had an RBI double and pitcher Skip Lockwood singled for a run to account for the other Mets scoring.

Dwyer scored on a wild pitch after White's shot, Cox lofted a sacrifice fly and Larry Johnson doubled for a 4-1 Montreal lead after one inning.

Lockwood's hit chased starter Chip Lang, making his major-league debut, in the second and Dale Ourray, the third Expos pitcher, got the win to move to 11-8.

Only 737 Care

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As a long, dreary season winds down, Atlanta Braves find themselves going nowhere with no one around to care.

It took the fifth-place Braves only four days to top the all-time attendance low they set Thursday night, when 1,062 people crossed the turnstiles for a 2-1 victory over San Diego. Monday night, with good weather, 737 spectators sat in the 52,744-seat Atlanta Stadium for a 9-6 loss to Houston Astros—the only National League club with a worse record.

"That many, huh?" asked Atlanta outfielder Mike Lum.

"It's the low ebb in a long season," said Bob Hope, the Braves' director of public relations. "This is the longest we've been out of contention in years. It's late in the season, and the fan appeal's a little dim right now."

So when Darrell Evans hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning, the crowd, the vendors, four umpires, 80 baseball players, the ground crew and the cleaning ladies got a private performance of Chief Nok-A-Homa's dance behind the left-field fence.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati Reds beat San Diego Padres 3-2, Los Angeles Dodgers blanked San Francisco Giants 4-0, Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Chicago Cubs 4-1, Philadelphia Phillies beat St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 and Montreal Expos beat New York Mets 6-5 and 6-1 in a twi-night doubleheader.

Houston's Cesar Cedeno hit two home runs and had six runs batted in, almost single-handedly raising the Astros' record to 56-89 and bringing them within 41 games of first place.

Cedeno also hit a two-run double in a three-run Houston first. His solo homer made it 4-0 in the third inning.

Evans' two-run homer in the seventh inning had given Atlanta a 5-4 lead.

Johnny Bench's 26th homer of the year, a two-run shot in the eighth inning, lifted the NL West champions past San Diego. Willie McCovey's 18th homer of the year had given the Padres a 2-1 lead they held until the eighth.

Steve Yeager's two-run single highlighted a three-run Los Angeles eighth inning and backed Andy Messersmith's three-hit pitching in the Dodgers' triumph over San Francisco.

It was the sixth shutout of the season for Messersmith, 16-14, while John Montefusco, 13-8, took the loss.

Bolts Roar Back

BOSTON (CP) — Boston Bolts spotted Montreal a 9-3 lead in the second period and came back to defeat the Quebecois 17-14 Monday night to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Lacrosse League semi-final series.

Cliff Hill, Bram Wilfong, Kevin Parsons, Larry Bell, Ivan Thompson and Robbie Patten each notched two goals for the Bolts. Joe McCrea, Ted Evans, Jerry McKenna, Dave Johnston and Brian Davidson added singles.

Dave Tasker, Gord Floyd and John Sheffield scored two each for the Quebecois with singles going to Bruce Arena, Gerry Pinder, Bill Squire, Wayne Finck, Dale MacKenzie, Serge Loiselle, Bruce Roundpoint and Gary Brezany.

Montreal led 6-2 at the end of the first period and increased their lead to 9-3 with four minutes gone in the second period. But the Bolts, playing before 4,565 hometown fans, got seven goals in 15 minutes and the teams were tied 10-10 going into the final period.

Montreal outshot Boston 46-38.

A's Respond to the Challenge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looked like a World Series game. There was a big crowd at the Oakland Coliseum, the game meant something and, of course, the A's won.

"We proved again that this team plays a little better when the games mean a lot and when a lot of people turn out to watch us," said Sal Bando, the Oakland captain who contributed a home run and two singles to an explosive A's attack that beat Kansas City Royals 8-2 Monday night.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York Yankees blanked Detroit Tigers 3-0, Cleveland Indians defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1 and Baltimore Orioles beat Milwaukee Brewers 6-2.

The script seems to be the same every year. The A's play as well as they have to in winning the American League West, then they play better than everybody else in sweeping to the baeball championship.

Last year, Texas made a September run at the A's but fell five games short. This year it's the Royals, who might as well pack up their bats and balls. Oakland's Claudell Washington says their season is over.

Do the Royals, now six games back, have a chance?

"No chance, no chance at all," Washington said. "If they won this game they would have had a chance. They had to sweep the series but they blew it."

Oakland fans are notorious for recognizing the football Raiders, the A's, after the regular season, and a bargain—anytime.

A crowd of 38,735 saw the A's manhandle the Royals on home runs by Gene Tenace, Bando and Washington and Ken Holtzman's five-hit pitching.

Washington snapped a 2-2 sixth-inning tie with a 400-foot homer, his first since June 20, when he also connected against Kansas City's Dennis Leonard.

"What can I tell you?" said Leonard, "They were just better than I was. I was throwing it where I wanted to and they were hitting it where they wanted to."

Meanwhile, Baltimore's losses in May are looking bigger and bigger in September.

"We lost 11 of 12 games in May when we weren't hitting," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver, "and we've never recovered from that, even though we've been playing .660 since the all-star game."

The Orioles' latest success was led by Tommy Davis, who had three hits—including a two-run homer, and Mike Torrez, who pitched a six-hitter.

The victory and Boston's loss to Cleveland left the Orioles six games back of the first-place Red Sox with 20 games to play for both teams in the American League East.

Cleveland's Don Hood, who hurled a seven-hitter, profited from three Boston errors leading to three unearned runs in the fourth inning and outduelled Rick Wise. John Lowenstein's homer accounted for the other Cleveland run.

New York;s Rudy May tossed a seven-hitter to pick up his career-high 13th victory. It was May's first shutout of the season and the second in a row for the Yankees.

Graig Nettles hit a solo home run in support of May, who struck out four, walked one and didn't allow a runner past second base.

RADIAL

Sooner or later, you'll own Generals

The Dual Steel II Radial sets a new standard of excellence in tire design and performance.
General's Dual Steel II Radial is engineered to provide the most desirable balance between mileage, traction, handling, noise and appearance for today's cars. The block style tread design with its spacious channels between ribs prevents hydroplaning for outstanding handling and stopping ability regardless of conditions, without a significant increase in noise over conventional rib designs. Deep moulded in slots on the contoured shoulders add traction when cornering.
The Dual Steel II Radial has a wide aggressive tread featuring a traction siped, continuous running riding bar centered between six blocky European-style ribs. The tire rolls smoothly yet has exceptional road-gripping ability. Non-flat spotting polyester cord is built into the tire body in radial plies.

This unique construction principle generates less internal flex-heat than that found in ordinary bias ply tires as the tire rolls and flexes. The tire runs cool and remains strong. All this coupled with two wide steel belts under the tread to virtually eliminate costly rubber-erasing tread squirm to give even greater mileage. The two steel belts in addition give excellent protection against penetration punctures in the tread area. The General Dual Steel II Radial combines all the benefits of radial tire construction for long tire life and driving safety.

All Is Not Settled Between BMHA, BMSA

There seems to be quite a pot of controversy boiling in the rear elements of minor sports. The prospective conflict, and it appears there will be no way around it, is between Belleville Minor Hockey Association (BMHA) and the parent body, the Belleville Minor Sports Association (BMSA).

For the first time in several years, everyone running the show in minor hockey is dancing to the same tune.

The current executive is doing everything it can to follow the objects of the BMHA consitution: "encourage, promote and develop minor hockey in the city of Belleville."

That is where the conflict begins. Belleville Minor Sports Association, the governing body of all minor sports in the city, doesn't agree with the BMHA's interpretation of its own constitution. It's not exactly that BMSA doesn't agree, rather, that it can't agree. If the minor sports association did agree it would be in direct conflict with its own constitution — by which minor hockey is also to adhere.

Minor hockey says in order for it to comply with the objects of its constitution it must cast its support to its all-sar teams.

On the other hand, minor sports takes a completely opposite stand. It is BMSA's contention that representative teams in any sport are on their own. All-star squads should not be considered part of the minor sports system.

"We don't think that we can develop hockey to its fullest in the city without the all-star concept," said BMHA president, Ron McEachern, "it is a necessary part of promoting the sport."

Therefore, when minor hockey submitted its original budget to minor sports, it included game and practice times for Ontario Minor Hockey Association (OMHA al-star teams.

Minor Sports Association sent the budget back to minor hockey eliminating several proposed figures including practice times for OMHA clubs.

"If minor hockey can't lend its support to all-star teams at least to the point of an hour of practice time a week we may find ourselves without several good coaches," said McEachern.

"We can't afford to lose anyone on our OMHA coaching staff," he added.

Right now if a boy wants to play minor hockey it will cost him $15. If he wants to play OMHA it costs him the original $15 plus another $8. Besides that figure, parents must pay at the gate to watch their sons play in an OMHA game.

"I don't think it's right that parents should also be charged for practice time," stated McEachern, "minor hockey should at least take care of the first hour of practice each week."

Wednesday night, when all minor sports congregate at the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle Street for the annual budget meeting, there are going to be a lot of questions floored.

"We hope to get a lot of the answers," added hockey's president, "I know for sure though, that if we are going to promote and develop minor hockey properly we can't afford to cut our budget any further."

That particular statement would indicate that minor hockey will stand firm behind its all-star teams. If such a stand is taken, it could mean the severance of the city's hockey association from the minor sports organization. And that could be disasterous to both associations.

SLICES — As minor sports does their thing on the first floor of the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle Street, the Quinte Hockey League (QHL) will take a crack at getting the ball rolling for their 1975-76 season.

Any interested parties are encouraged to attend the QHL general meeting. The agenda includes election of officers for the upcoming season and league formation. The Quinte League is still looking for a fourth team to fill out their schedule. The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

• • • • •

Thursday night, another formation and general meeting will be going on at Sir James Whitney School. This time the Gas House Hockey League will be electing its executive and accepting teams for the new season. Interested parties are again encouraged to attend.

Top Teams on Show In Alemite Twin Bill

Wednesday night, area softball fans will get a chance to see the best of three leagues in action. Beginning at 7 p.m. at Alemite Park, a doubleheader featuring Bayview Orchards, winner of the Prince Edward North Shore Softball League, Black Diamond, champion of the Belleville Industrial Softball League, and the Madoc Purinaettes and Belleville Yardmen, both of the Belleville and District Ladies Softball League, will take place.

Bayview and Black Diamond will clash in the opening game. The two champions are playing off in a five game challenge match, which both leagues believe will become an annual event.

Half of the monies raised from this series, the portion going to Prince Edward North Shore Softball League, will be presented to Bruce Nickle to aid him in deferring recent medical expenses.

This is the second game of the challenge series. The first game is being played tonight in Ameliasburg at 7.30 p.m. The third game of the best-of-five hook-up will take place Friday at 7.30 p.m. at the Alemite.

The second game of Wednesday's doubleheader will be the regular Ladies League contest. It is the first game of their best-of-seven final. Belleville Yardmen eliminated in the semi-finals wwhile Madoc defeated Ellis Construction.

The ladies game is scheduled ed to begin at 8.30 p.m.

Paul Svoboda, trying out for the Centennial Chargers senior football team, comes up against some pretty stiff competition while running a pass pattern in a workout this week. He had to contend with the Chargers' second year head coach, Steve Waller enroute to completing the offensive drill. Svoboda is one of 38 hopefuls in the CSS camp trying to make the roster for the upcoming season.

Chargers Optimistic

By ALAN TEBWORTH

Staff Sportswriter

The only prediction that Centennial Secondary School senior Chargers football coach Steve Waller will make is that the squad will do more up-downs (a type of calesthenic) in their practices, for the upcoming season.

"And that's about the only one that I can be sure will come true", said the second year coach at CSS. "With a one and five season last year, we can't do much worse. But we will be working harder than last year, and we hope to improve on that record," said Waller.

Last season the team started out in a roaring fashion, dumping Bayside by a large margin in the league opener, but after that, with a combination of injuries and hard luck couldn't put another victory together.

The team has been hit hard by graduation, with about a dozen players gone from the roster of last season. Among those gone are Ken Jackett, Jeff Bradshaw, Bruce Kellar, and Ian Hamilton, all starters.

However, this year's edition of the Chargers has a bit of experience left. Returning from last year's crew are running back Rob Scully, probably the fastest in the league, and quarterback Rob DeJong. DeJong is starting his third season in the senior ranks, as is Scully.

DeJong was bothered for most of last season by an injury he suffered in the warmup for the first game of the season against Bayside. The six-foot redhead strained ligaments in the pregame practice, and lost most of his effectiveness. His wicked throwing arm and three years of experience should make him one of the best QB's in the league this year, if he can bounce back from the knee injury.

Steve Tilley is also a three year veteran possibility, pending his return to school on his academic basis. Tilley would be a definite asset, providing excellent defensive skills, along with being an able place-kicker.

Along with the veterans of three years, Steve Hicks is back for his second season, as is Nick Lamirande, both starters from last year.

Newcomers are plentiful, with many up from last year's undefeated COSSA junior champions. Included are quarterback Paul Hipkin, who will be used in the offensive backfield as well, and Doug Fraser, a lineman who can go either way, according to Waller.

Paul Broder, a newcomer to the Quinte area, should fit into the Charger lineup well. He is a speedster moving here from Ottawa, and is able to go both ways in the backfield.

A couple of players that were at Centennial last year, but did not play football, will be a positive help. They are Dennis Kamada and Dave Jeffs.

Kamada, a junior two seasons back, chose to play basketball last year over the gridiron. He is a speedy backfielder as well and can pick off passes when called upon.

Jeffs, a victim of circumstances last season, will be around to provide muscle to the defensive backfield as well as filling in on tthe line. Last season he was drafted by the London Knights of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series. His plans for school up in the air until he decided his own fate while playing softball in Stirling. A pitcher, well known for his combination of speed and junk, Jeffs managed to break his elbow during a game, ending prospects in the arena and on the football field for the season.

If everyone can stay healthy in the Charger camp the CSS team should be a contender when the season opens in about two weeks.

Ties Eastern Mark

Evanshen's Four TDs Short of CFL Record

TORONTO (CP) — Terry Evanshen's four touchdowns off pass receptions during the weekend was not a Canadian Football League record and only tied an Eastern Conference mark.

The Hamilton Tiger-Cats wide receiver caught his four scoring tosses Sunday as the Ticats dropped a 56-31 game at Ottawa to the Rough Riders.

The CFL record of five was set by the late Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Conference game at Regina against Saskatchewan Roughriders in August, 1959.

Evanshen shares the EFC record for touchdowns on pass receptions with team-mate Garney Henley, Ron Morris of Toronto Argonauts and Argo Hall of Famer Royal Copeland.

The Ticat veteran's performance did stretch his record career TD pass-catching total to 69 and moved him into second place among homebrew touchdown scorers, ahead of Ronnie Stewart and nine behind leader Normie Kwong.

Ottawa halfback Jim Foley is the league's most successful passer this season, connecting on three of three, including two for touchdowns in Sunday's rout of the Ticats.

Punting in the East is about as close a race as has been contested in recent years, with less than a yard separating all four regular kickers.

Perennial champion Zenon Andrusyshyn of Toronto currently stands third with a 43.1 average. Newcomer Ken Clark of Hamilton leads with 43.7 followed by Montreal Alouettes' Sonny Wade at 43.3, Andrusyshyn and Dick Adams, Ottawa, 42.9.

May See Olympics

TORONTO (CP) — The (CBC) reported Monday it has learned that a compromise agreement has been reached on European television broadcast rights for the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

In television and radio reports, the CBC said one of its correspondents learned the Montreal Olympic Organizing Committee had reached agreement in principle with the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) and details of the agreement were to be announced Friday.

The compromise price for the TV rights was reported to be $10 million, well short of the $16.2 million the Canadian organizers had been seeking. The EBU had previously refused to pay more than $8.2 million.

Earlier Monday, the EBU announced in London it had extended until next Monday the deadline for completing negotiations. The previous deadline had been last Friday. The announcement came from Sir Charles Curran, director-general of the British Broadcasting Corp. and chairman of the EBU, following a meeting with Lord Killanin.

Mann Cup Championships

Burrards Look to Juniors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Burrards plan to make good use of the Italian Roadrunners when they open the Mann Cup lacrosse championships tonight against Brampton Excelsiors.

The Italian Roadrunners are three players—Rico Bellusci, Ray Durante and Joe Marello—picked up from Richmond Roadrunners of the Western Canada Junior Lacrosse League.

Vancouver coach Ross McDonald made extensive use of Bellusci when the Burrards defeated Victoria Shamrocks 4-1 in the finals of the Western Lacrosse Association.

Bellusci played in the final two games of the best-of-seven series, and scored eight goals and added four assists. Five of the goals came in the last game of the series.

The three juniors have an old team-mate already playing with the Burrards. Ron Pinder scored 64 goals this year in his rookie season in senior competition.

McDonald, who performed in 16 Mann Cup games himself as a player, looks for the Burrards to redeem themselves for their 1973 loss to Peterborough in the Mann Cup, which was a sudden-death game. This series is a best-of-three series, with the second game Thursday and the third, if necessary, Friday. All games will be played here.

"The players have long memories," McDonald said Monday, "and the club wants to win the Mann Cup for the Vancouver fans."

Seven members of the Burrards have played for the Canadian senior championship before, led by powerful defenceman Bob Salt.

The 6-foot, 210-pound Salt has played in four previous Mann Cup series. He was named the most valuable player of the WLA playoffs.

Goaltender Don Hamilton, Gord Frederickson, Bill Rawson, Ward Sanderson, Dennis Quigley and Steve Matheson also have played for the national title previously.

Hamilton played in the 1961 series and recorded the only shutout in Mann Cup history when Vancouver blanked Brampton 13-0. Hamilton still plays with a lot of spirit despite his age—38—and recently scored a goal in the first game of the finals against Victoria.

Brampton, the Eastern Canada senior champions, goes into the series as the underdog, but the Burrards aren't taking the Excelsiors lightly.

"Brampton is a big, physical, hungry lacrosse team that has a lot of experience," said Bob Parry, general manager of the Burrards. "Six of their players played in the pro league back east in 1974.

"But we have some players who have had their fair share of Mann Cup experience, so it should be a good series."

Brampton has also picked up a high-scoring junior for the series. Bob Burke was taken from Bramalea and recorded six goals and eight assists for Brampton in just two games.

Pressure on Liske Is Riley's Promise

WINNIPEG (CP) — British Columbia Lions will meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers tonight in play with a lineup that has already proved successful against the Bombers.

But Winnipeg coach Bud Riley has been working on his defence and promises the pressure will be on quarterback Peter Liske, whose pinpoint passing helped B.C. defeat Winnipeg 29-17 Thursday.

"We'll blitz a little more and try to put more pressure on the quarterback," said Riley.

B.C. has two players in Winnipeg who were not with the club during the last game.

But Bob Pearce, the five-year veteran of Saskatchewan Roughriders, has only practised three times with the Lions and only gone over the defensive formations in the office of defensive coach Dick Zornes.

And Jimmy Harris, who played last season with a Vancouver junior club, was added to the roster to replace defensive back Doug Carlson, out with a broken arm.

Already on the Lions' injured list are quarterback Don Moorhead, linebacker Dan Dever, defensive back Bob Hornes, receiver Brock Aynsley and first-year linebacker Paul Girody.

The Bombers will be without wingback Gord Paterson, a top clutch player this season, because of a cracked vertebra.

The Lions have a 2-5 record going in tonight's game and need a win to keep the playoffs in sight.

Winnipeg is in third spot with a 4-4 record.

The Lions, expecting much out of the defence this game, will be going with imports Ray Nettles, Larry Cameron and Dan McDonough at linebackers.

Elton Brown is scheduled to return to defensive end because Brian Soptyk has recovered sufficiently to start at offensive tackle.

If the Lions win tonight, the victory will be head coach Cal Murphy's second in that position.

If the Bombers win, the victory will be Riley's first in three games.

The game will not be televised.

Anti-trust Suit Filed by Neeld

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Greg Neeld, a Canadian junior hockey player who continued to play the sport despite the loss of an eye two years ago, filed a $4.5 million anti-trust suit Monday against the National Hockey League.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court here, claims the NHL and its member teams have conspired to prevent Neeld, 20, from becoming a professional player even though he was selected by Buffalo Sabres in the fourth round of the NHL's June draft of amateurs.

Neeld played last year for Calgary Centennials of the Western Canada Hockey League. He was with Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series in the 1973-74 season when he lost sight in his left eye from a stick accident during a league game.

Neeld is asking $1.5 million in damages, which would be trebled under U.S. anti-trust laws.

The NHL has a rule prohibiting players with less than 25 per cent vision in an eye.

The suit was filed by a Palo Alto, Calif., lawyer, C. William rodie, who is the brother of former San Francisco '49ers quarterback John Brodie.

The suit says Neeld was designated the 11th-best player of major junior teams in the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last season. It claims NHL teams conspired to prevent his selection on the first round of the NHL draft and that on June 17, the NHL board of governors and others conspired to prevent Neeld from getting an opportunity to play with the Sabres or any other NHL team.

BIRTHS

PHILLIPS — Fred and Gail (nee Wilson) R.R. 2, Frankford, Ontario, are pleased to announce the birth of a son, Wade Donald, weight 9 lbs., 9 ozs. on Saturday, September 6, 1975 at Belleville General Hospital. A brother for Corey and Jared. Special thanks to Dr. Vaughan and nursing staff.

IN MEMORIAM

POTTRUFF — In loving memory of our brother-in-law Frederick, who passed away Sept. 9, 1974.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts, he liveth still.
—Always remembered, Albert and Lydia Willis.

LATTONE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Earl who passed away Sept. 9, 1972.
Time may heal the broken-hearted,
Years may make the wound less sore,
But it cannot fill the longing,
For the loved one gone before,
Who shall say the grief is lessened,
Though the smile may hide the tears,
Memories keep the wound still open,
Despite the passing of the years.
—Always remembered by wife Geraldine, Tony and Terry.

POTTRUFF — In loving memory of my beloved husband Fred who passed away September 9th, 1974.
Through the changing scene I loved you,
In life we were as one and death shall not part us,
For our love is eternal and my need of you so great,
From one who thinks the finest gift of life,
Was the privilege of loving you and knowing you loved me.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Lillian.

POTTRUFF — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, A. Frederick, who passed away September 9, 1974.
Deep in our hearts he'll always stay,
Loved and remembered every day.
—Lovingly remembered by son Gary, daughter-in-law Pattie and granddaughter Karilee.

GULIS — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, James Stephen Gulis who was taken from us so suddenly September 9, 1962.
Gone from us but leaving memories,
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
—Sadly missed by Dad, Mom, Nick and Marie.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Harry Gawley wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many cards, flowers and charitable donations on behalf of our dearly departed husband, father and grandfather. Special thanks to the MacKenzie Funeral Home and to all those who visited and sent cards while he was a patient in the hospital, to the nurses, orderlies and staff on 5th level, and especially to Dr. Mustard and Dr. Macintosh our deepest gratitude. To the Rev. Thompson for his comforting words and prayers, also to the ladies who served lunch at the church.

The Gawley Family.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Wal, nurses and staff of the I.C.U. and seventh floor level for their fine care and friendly attitude. Also to Rev. Barney Woods for his visits and to all who sent cards, gifts and visits during my stay in the Belleville General Hospital. A special thank you to my wonderful friends and relatives who in any way helped to keep my farm work going. It has been very much appreciated. I (Ruby) would also like to say thank you to all who telephoned, supplied and offered me rides to and from the hospital. You are all so wonderful. God bless you all.

Clayton and Ruby Rose.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Wilson, Belleville, are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Catherine Elizabeth to Graham Paul King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. King, Toronto. The marriage is to take place Saturday, October 11, 1975 at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Yes, that's the price of this handyman special. It's a real old home, but the foundation is good, the roof does not leak and it has new wiring and forced air furnace. With a little hard work and some good ideas, you can make it new again. It is in livable condition now and can be renovated as you can afford to do so. Only a few miles north of the city, the taxes are only approximately $125.00 per year. Please call for further information.

DREAMING? OF A FEW ACRES IN THE COUNTRY

Have you had that dream of a beautiful little estate in a valley all of your own? Well, here is your chance. Approximately 70 acres. 35 ares workable land, and the balance hills with woods. The buildings are all in good condition, large barn 32 by 52 ft., machine shed and two car garage and a recently renovated two storey house. 3 large bedrooms and bathroom with a 11 ft. vanity and mirror. New forced air furnace. And best of all an unbelievable supply of spring water, gravity fed from the big hill supplying both the house and barn. Dad and family can have their acres to ramble on with the horses and Mother can have the home with modern conveniences. Phone tonight for further information.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS BUT ONCE

Live in the main section of this house and rent the other two, two bedroom apartments. It's a paying proposition anyway you look at it. Rent all 3 units and it will more than pay for itself. No maintenance needed now, and perhaps not for the next ten years. That is just how good the condition of this place is. It must be seen to be appreciated. Give us a call and we will make an appointment to have a look through. Close to downtown Belleville. Phone to-night!

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles." It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions.

All this was accomplished by a healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Your Horoscope

Bernice Bede Osol

Wednesday, Sept. 10

ARIES (March 20 - April 19) The actions of one you're very fond of will disappoint you today. However, she'll soon be back in your good races.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Early today you won't take your commitments as seriously as you should. Later you'll rationalize your reasons.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Though it may be a trifle inconvenient, shop a bit to get better prices today for even the little things.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Shun stores carrying luxury items that might tempt you today. Your will is far weaker than your whim.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You find dozens of flimsy reasons for not handling an unpleasant situation today. It will have to be resolved eventually. Why not do it now?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be careful or your little flirtations today could cause you some embarrassment. Though they may be harmless. They could offend a third party.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This can be a profitable day if you keep your mind on business. Forgo pleasurable pursuits till serious matters are attended to.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lots of little interruptions early in the day will sidetrack you temporarily. Later you'll get in high gear.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You won't be able to call the shots as independently as you'd like today. Another will have some control over your comings and goings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't expect more from friends and associates today than you would be prepared to give, if the roles were reversed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Goals important to you can be attained now, if you don't saddle yourself with an ally lacking initiative.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Rather than be inactive today, do something to get the blood circulating a bit. You'll feel better for it.

Taste and Smell Clinic Operated

GEORGETOWN (AP) — For some people, the smell of a steak grilling on a charcoal fire is nauseating, or not even there. For some, the taste of the steak can make them ill. Or perhaps they cannot taste it at all.

Problems of taste and smell may afflict more than two million people in North America according to Dr. Robert L. Henkin, head of Georgetown University's Centre for Molecular Nutrition and Sensory Disorders. For thousands of patients, it is better known as the taste and smell clinic.

"It's easy to sympathize with the patient who has cancer," but not always with someone who cannot taste the flavor of food or smell a fragrance, Henkin said in an interview.

He said loss of the sense of taste or smell is a basic and serious problem and deserves research and concern from the medical profession.

"For some people, it's a life - threatening abnormality. For some people it's the way we diagnose their underlying disease," he said.

Henkin hopes to continue at Georgetown his 10 years of research into taste and smell abnormalities that he pioneered while with the National Institute of Health. He ran the NIH $200,000-a-year taste and smell clinic until it was closed in July in a government economy move.

His research has centred on the possibility that loss of the senses may be linked to a lack of zinc or other trace metals in the body.

Along with treating new patients at Georgetown, Henkin will continue treatments for the 2,000 patients who came to him at the NIH.

For some people, common tastes and smells found pleasant by most people can cause nausea, he said.

"The smell of fried food, the smell of protein being cooked, is so obnoxious, so repulsive, that they can't be anywhere near," he said.

"There are other patients who can walk blithely into a place that sells fried chicken, sit down, know it's one o'clock, know it's time for lunch, and will eat. As far as they're concerned, it's like eating a piece of cardboard."

He said others have no interest in food once they lose the sense of taste—"They eat to live. Some people just eat from memory."

But for many, Henkin suspects the problem is the opposite.

"The first bite they might taste. But from then on, it's nothing. They're the ones always going around eating, trying to find something they can taste," he said. "Far from losing weight, these people gain weight. They're foraging."

In infants and children, loss of appetite may be caused by taste and smell abnormalities. It can lead to children growing up smaller or less intelligent than they should be, he said.

For adults who may be only slightly afflicted, he said, it's basic to living the good life to have taste and smell senses fully restored.

Beyond that, he said, the research might lead to better ways to control appetites and to reshape taste senses to make abundant but untasty foods palatable without adding chemicals to them.

Snoring Problem Is Hard to Cure

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having this problem of snoring. I am a female of 23. I snore quite loudly, even when I sleep on my side, and I'm quite embarrassed when we have company overnight.

It seems to get louder, and my brother says that every night I get a different tune. What, if anything, can be done?—Miss P. A.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a restless wife from lack of sleep. At night my husband snores. He chews and grunts, and I lose sleep. He won't see a doctor. This just started a few years ago. Any suggestions?—Mrs. N.

Snoring is noisy breathing. Snorers are usually mouth-breathers, at least during sleeping hours, and the sound is caused by air rushing in through the mouth causing the soft palate to vibrate. Children with large tonsils or adenoids will snore, and obese persons are apt to be noisy breathers.

It can be reduced (although apparently not in the case of the young woman) by avoiding the on-the-back sleeping position, which tends to allow the mouth to hang open, encouraging mouth breathing.

Mrs. N. H. may be wise in trying to get her husband to a doctor. Snoring can be indicative of a disorder of the air passage, polyps in the nasal cavity, for example. A bent nasal septum, too, can block the air passage, and this can cause the person to snore. It can also be allergy-related. An allergy can cause swelling of the nasal membrane, creating an obstruction. Pillow down is a common offender in this. This would apply to the young lady snorer, too.

Snoring comes with a relaxed state, and is often a resulting factor of just how fatigued the snorer is on retiring. Some persons, who rarely snore otherwise, become window-rattlers after falling into a deep sleep in an over-fatigued state. So degrees of tiredness may account for the "variations on the theme" presented by Miss P. A.

We do tend to snore increasingly with age, also. This is thought to be caused in some by loss of muscle tone of the soft palate. Snoring is harmless to the "performer," mighty troublesome to the "audience." Except where it is symptomatic of an underlying ailment, it is not a serious thing.

All sorts of ingenious gadgets have been devised to reduce snoring, including clamps to keep the mouth closed. In situations where the snoring threatens to destroy a marriage, such gadgets might be considered. I've known persons to place stones in the bed beside them at night to discourage turning over on to the back.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The heels of my feet have constant pain. Naturally, at night I notice the pain more since my mind isn't busy as it is in the daytime.

Is it gout, arthritis, and why in my heels? Or is it poor circulation? My doctor has given me medication, but it hasn't helped much.—Mrs. P. H.

Could be gout. But it would require an x-ray of the heel and blood tests for uric acid to determine that.

The most likely cause is bursitis of the heel. Warm foot baths before retiring and rubber padding in the heels of your shoes should help. If you've put on considerable weight recently, this could be a contributing cause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that a person can get the mumps over over again until they have affected both sides, after which you can't catch them again?—Mrs. R. E. M.

One attack of mumps usually confers immunity for life, but second attacks may occur in from seven to 10 per cent of cases.

Most cases involve children from 5 to 15 years old. Often, when it is found in males past puberty, there is about a 25-percent chance of orchitis (Testicular complications) occurring.

It has been said that bad cards make bad players. We aren't sure that this is so, but we do know that bad players tend to do even worse with bad cards.

West had one queen and no singleton and resigned himself to a loss the moment he looked at his hand.

Thus, it never occurred to him that when his partner bid all the way up to four clubs on his own that four spades to the queen-10 would warrant a four-spade bid.

Furthermore, West's hand fulfilled one requirement for a sacrifice bid. He was pretty sure that South would make four hearts.

South did just that, but look what would have happened if West had pulled himself together and bid four spades.

North and South might have gone on to five hearts—down one. They might have doubled four spades or let East play there. If they had they would have been sorry. East would make four spades with no trouble at all.

The correct opening bid is one notrump in spite of the fact that you only have 15 high-card points. You should count the two 10s and two nines as a 16th point.

Devolin One Away from Title

Bardon Supplies cored a run in the bottom of the fourth inning Monday, but couldn't hang on as Devolin Motors scored twice in the top of the seventh and once in eighth to win the Quinte Fastball League final series contest 3-1.

The victory gives Devolin a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven hook-up with the sixth game scheduled for tonight.

Don Holoway was again the winner for the Motormen. He fanned four and issued one free base. The big righthander not only limited Bardon to one run, he and Tom MacDonald got the offensive ball rolling for Devolin in the top of the seventh.

Holoway punched a single to drive in MacDonald, after he had singled, and tie the score. The burler then crossed the plate with what proved to be the winning run on Jim Horwood's second single of the night.

Rick Rosebush put the icing on the cake in the eighth, reaching base on a single, his second of the night, and scoring on an error. Dave Horwood had the seventh Devolin safety.

Earl Foster scored the only Bardon run of the game after Weese, Denis Neron, and Bill Dewey added a single each and Warren Ostrander collected a pair of safeties.

Foster and Ken DeMille combined to strike out nine while giving up three walks.

Oilers May Get Ullman

TORONTO (CP) — Lawyer Alan Eagleson said Monday he expects to reach an agreement today with the World Hockey Association Edmonton Oilers on a contract for veteran centre Norm Ullman. Ullman is a veteran of 20 seasons with Detroit and Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League. The Leafs, in a shift towards younger players, did not renew the 39-year-old Ullman's contract this year.

Gold Cup Races

Those Who Asked Received Refunds

PICTON — Refunds were given to 450 persons at the Labor Day weekend Gold Cup Races at Hayward Long Reach after weather conditions forced cancellation of part of the program.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson, town council's representative to the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, on Monday told directors it was decided at 4 p.m. on Labor Day to cancel the balance of the races and refunds were made until 5.30 p.m. to all persons who requested their money back.

Chamber director Gordon Lloyd said he left the race course at 10 minutes to four and was refused a refund.

He added that it was obvious at that time that the races could not be held.

Reeve Richardson replied many persons left without asking for refunds as they seemed to feel their admission fees would help in offsetting the costs of next year's Gold Cup Races. A decision to cancel the races was impossible before 4 p.m.

He added that in many places, such as Mosport, there is a ""no refund" policy and possibly the same rules will apply here for the 1976 Gold Cup.

REPRESENT CANADA

TORONTO (CP) — Bill Tape and Bob Panasiuk will represent Canada in the World Cup of golf, Dec. 3 to 7, in Bangkok, Thailand. Tape, of Woodbridge, Ont., and Panasiuk, of Windsor, Ont., will try to regain the team title last won by Canada in 1968 by the team of Al Balding and George Knudson.

SIGN CAIRNS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Scouts announced the signing Monday of Don Cairns, their second-round choice in the National Hockey League's 1975 amateur draft. Cairns, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound left winger, was the 20th player chosen in the draft. He was named rookie of the year by Victoria Cougars of the Western Canada Hockey League last season for scoring 32 goals and 37 assists.

BANNED FROM COUNTRY

GLASGOW (Reuter) — Billy Bremner, one of the world's top soccer players, and four other Scottish internationals were banned Monday from playing for their country again. The Scottish Football Association announced the life bans of Bremner the Scottish captain, and Joe Harper, Willie Young, Arthur Graham and Pat McCluskey after a meeting of the international selection committee. The committee was inquiring into reports of misbehavior by Scottish players in Copenhagen after the European championship match against Denmark last Wednesday, which Scotland won 1-0.

COX FINED

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Cox of Boston Bolts was fined $100 Monday and suspended for a game for phyiscal contact with referee Charlie Phillips in a National Lacrosse League playoff game against Montreal Quebecois Saturday night.

Jones Leader In Colts' Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Bert Jones led Baltimore Colts to a 26-21 National Football League pre-season victory over the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome Monday night.

After falling behind 7-0 on Lynn Dickey's 12-yard touchdown pass to Fred Willis in the first quarter, Jones led the Colts to 17 points in the final six minutes of the second quarter for a 20-7 halftime lead.

The Oilers rallied in the second half on a pair of touchdown passes by Dan Pastorini but the Colts' second-quarter surge was too much to overcome.

Jones completed 16 of 26 passes for 166 yards and one touchdown, a 10-yard pass to Lydell Mitchell that put the Colts ahead to stay in the second quarter. After Steve Williams blocked an Oilers punt in the third quarter, Jones ran four yards for a score.

Shortly after Mitchell's touchdown catch, a 44-yard pass interference penalty against Houston's Zeike Moore gave Baltimore a first down at the Oilers' one-yard line. Rookie Roosevelt Leaks, formerly of Texas, plunged over for the score with 1:04 left in the half.

Toni Linhart kicked a 45-yard field goal early in the second quarter and booted a 42-yarder as time ran out in the first half.

After an ineffective first half under quarterback Lynn Dickey, the Oilers rallied in the second half behind Pastorini, who hit tight end John Sawyer with a 30-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter and pulled the Oilers to their final score with a 24-yard TD strike to Billy Parks with 3:05 left in te game.

Canada's Cup

Golden Dazy Moves Two Up

DETROIT (AP) — Golden Dazy of the host Bayview Yacht Club took a 2-0 lead in the Canada's Cup yachting series Monday with a decisive victory over challenger Marauder of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto.

For the second consecutive day, the winning edge was due to the smooth teamwork by the Golden Dazy crew, which expertly handled the 55 tacs required on the Lake St. Clair course. They are the equivalent of a race car making 55 turns on a four-mile track.

Golden Dazy gained steadily, amassing a one minute, 26-second edge at the finish of the 19.5-mile contest.

A longer race, 75-100 miles, was slated for today. The skipper of Marauder, David E. Howard, said he hoped the more lengthy races would be to his vessel's advantage.

"Marauder is remarkably easy with speed, Dazy is very mobile in tacking," he said. "Hopefully the conditions will allow for less of the latter and more of the former."

Monday's race was worth one point. After a day of travel Wednesday, the longest race, 150-200 miles and worth two points, is scheduled for Lake Huron on Thursday.

The first yacht to gain four points wins the Canada's Cup.

Contract Talks Fail, Montreal May Be Without Subway, Buses

MONTREAL (CP) — Barely a week after settling a crippling dispute with transit drivers, the city now faces a common-front attack from other transit workers which seems likely to close the subway and bus systems again.

Negotiations between the city's transit commission and three union locals representing about 2,150 workers have all but collapsed.

The city has said it will close down the transit system in the event of a strike which, one union leader said, could come as early as Thursday.

The strike threat loomed Tuesday night as 900 garage and maintenance workers voted to call a strike with two other locals representing 450 transit commission office workers and cashiers.

The crunch comes tonight at a joint meeting of the three locals.

Strike proposals voted by the garage and maintenance men are to be presented to the office workers and cashiers. If they are accepted, a strike date will be set.

Jacques Beaudoin, president of the 1,700-member Montreal Transport Union local representing the garage and maintenance men, said after the union meeting that even if the other locals reject the strike proposals, his union will strike.

"We will go out with or without them," he said, adding, however, he feels confident the cashiers and office workers will agree to the strike action.

Asked to predict a strike date, Mr. Beaudoin said: "Maybe it will be Thursday, maybe it will be next week. I don't know."

This leaves Montreal commuters facing a repetition of the chaos that prevailed for 12 days last month when transit drivers walked off the job.

Month-long talks with the garage and maintenance workers broke down Friday with both sides far apart on all issues, including a crucial wage settlement.

No further negotiations have been scheduled and the city has said it intends to make no new offer.

The garage and maintenance workers want their current $5.51 top hourly rate increased to $8 over 12 months.

The city has offered $6.67 over a two-year contract.

The cashiers want $5.75 an hour—an increase of $1.65—in a one-year contract, while office workers are demanding a weekly salary of about 65 from the current $114.

Predict Higher Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears to be unable to overturn President Ford's veto of a crucial energy bill, assuring higher prices for fuel, food and most manufactured goods.

Failing to pick up the votes of three of four eastern Republicans, the Senate's Democratic majority virtually threw in the towel even before Ford announced Tuesday his long-expected veto of a bill extending controls on oil prices for six months.

Thus, it appeared Ford loyalists and oil-state senators would have about 36 votes—two more than needed to sustain the veto today.

The next step by the Ford administration would be to ask Congress for a 45-day extension of price controls. During that period, Congress would be expected to adopt a gradual elimination of controls along the lines of the 39-month proposal offered by Ford.

The end result of such a move would be that U.S. oil prices would rise to the level set by the oil-exporting countries, currently about $13.50 a barrel. U.S. oil now sells for an average of $8.50.

All sides agree such an increase in oil prices would raise the price of gasoline, food, clothing and most other goods.

Prices Rise 1 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — The rise in consumer prices moderated slightly in August from the previous two months but food, housing and transportation costs continued to rise significantly, Statistics Canada reported today.

The consumer price index increased by one per cent in August. This was less than the jumps of 1.4 per cent in July and 1.5 per cent in June but higher than the relatively-low increases for the first five months of the year.

Increased food prices accounted for almost 30 per cent of the over-all index rise in August, due mainly to increased pork prices, which were up 6.9 per cent from July and were 41 per cent higher than a year ago. Higher prices for eggs, up 12.1 per cent from July, sugar and restaurant meals were also factors.

However the one-per-cent rise in food costs was less than half of the food-cost jump in July. This slowing was attributed to a 12-per-cent drop in fresh vegetable prices and the declining cost of margarine and oils.

The over-all index—on a new base of 1971—was at 141.2, up from 139.8 in July. On the old 1961 base, the index stood at 188.4, compared with 186.5 in July.

In the 12 months to August, the index has risen 11.1 per cent.

Higher prices for housing—both owned and rented—and transportation each contributed about one-quarter of the over-all index rise. Included were increased costs for household and automobile insurance.

Higher gasoline prices "in certain provinces" were also identified by the agency as a factor. A $1.50-a-barrel rise in domestic crude oil prices was to add five cents a gallon for gasoline and other fuels in August, but several provinces delayed the increases by temporarily freezing fuel prices.

The newly-based consumer price index in August was at 141.2. Stated another way, this means a basket of consumer goods which cost $100 in 1971 cost $141.20 last month. The same basket cost $139.80 in July and $127.10 in August, 1974.

Montreal Police Change Tactics

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal police, involved in a contract dispute with the city, have abruptly changed tactics—and victims.

Ending a two-day "work-to-rule" traffic disruption campaign, with some shotgun-toting constables stopping cars and trucks for spot checks, the Montreal Policeman's Brotherhood has announced it will carry the contract battle directly to the adversary camp.

Union representatives and off-duty policemen were to begin visiting today members of the Montreal Urban Community (MUC) public security council—the "other side" in the stalled negotiations.

Visits to offices would be made every hour on the hour, a spokesman for the brotherhood committee on harassment tactics said.

"We won't stop there," he said, adding: "After that we'll move in on them at their residences."

The new harassment action was to be carried out on a round-the-clock basis, he indicated.

There were meanwhile indications that both sides might return to the bargaining table, following an intervention pledge by Premier Robert Bourassa.

The premier met brotherhood president Gilbert Custeau Tuesday and was reported to have been in contact with Paul-Emile L'Ecuyer, president of the security council.

"I am certain a meeting will be held shortly," said a spokesman for the security council.

Sgt. Pat De Caen, head of the union's committee on harassment tactics, and 67 other policemen called on Mr. L'Ecuyer Tuesday for a grievance-airing session, as the second phase of the persuasion campaign got under way.

Mr. L'Ecuyer later said he was not worried about the possibility of a strike.

The 5,200 striking policemen have said throughout that they will not strike.

Unsealed Mail To Be Destroyed

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office is asking the public and businesses to begin sealing all mail or risk the possibility that it will be destroyed, a senior post office spokesman said today.

R. D. Myers, director of the service development branch, said that unsealed mail without a return address that is mailed after July 1, 1976, will be destroyed.

The government is also asking businesses to stop the use of envelopes with open windows effective next July, he said in an interview.

The changes have been planned for about two years now and are necessary because of the use of automated letter-sorting equipment.

Mr. Myers said the sealing of mail and the ban on open windows will be an "absolute requirement."

Limit to Budget Cuts Says Hydro

TORONTO CP — Ontario Hydro has gone "as far as it feels it reasonably can" in cutting a proposed 1976 rate increase to 25 per cent from 30 per cent, the Ontario Energy Board hearing was told Tuesday.

Pierre Genest, Hydro counsel, told the hearing that from Hydro's point of view the originally-proposed 30-per-cent increase was fully justified.

Mr. Genest said the government directive to the company to modify its increase was "founded upon considerations external to Ontario Hydro."

He said the decrease will require Hydro to borrow $300 million more than it had planned and would accentuate "the problems of financial soundness and stability."

The board also heard arguments from the Windsor Utilities Commission and the Township of Nepean.

Murray Whelpton, chairman of the Windsor utility, said municipalities and large companies should get equal treatment from Hydro. Windsor's power costs might be trimmed by 10 per cent if it paid the rates charged large industrial companies.

A spokesman for Nepean, an Ottawa suburb, said the proposed 1976 rate structure seemed to disciminate against utilities such as Nepean Hydro, which had tried to be efficient.

The hearing continues.

Army Threatens To Intervene

BEIRUT (AP) — Mortar fire broke a lull in the fighting between Moslems and Christians in northern Lebanon today amid reports that the army would intervene.

Police reported that Christians from the hill village of Zagharta fired 120-mm. mortar shells into the streets and squares of Tripoli. Moslem militiamen retaliated by shelling Christian positions near Zagharta.

Police reported five more dead on each side, raising the official casualty count to 97 killed and more than 240 wounded in the fighting, which began a week ago and increased into full-scale warfare Sunday.

Officials predicted the toll would rise as government patrols penetrated more areas of fighting.

Angry mobs of Moslems set fire to the Tripoli residence of President Suleiman Franjieh's son-in-law, Abdullah Rasi, a member of parliament. Both are Christians.

Christians then blew up the summer villa of Radwan Ghandour, a wealthy Moslem industrialist who frequently plays backgammon with the president. The villa is near Zagharta.

Street Fighting Subdues

BEIRUT (AP) — Street fighting has tapered off in Tripoli amid reports that the Lebanese army will intervene between Christians and Moslems battling in northern Lebanon. Security officials said negotiations are under way to establish buffer zones manned by the army between the forward positions of the warring factions. It would be the first time the 18,000-man army has intervened this year in the secretarian fighting.

Unions Set Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany and maritime unions are giving President Ford one month to ease the impact of future Soviet grain deals before deciding whether to reimpose a boycott on shipments of corn and wheat. After meeting Tuesday with Ford, Meany and six maritime union leaders suspended the boycott of grain shipments for 30 days.

CLC Proposes National Union

OTTAWA (CP) — A national union of provincial government employees representing 175,000 workers may be a reality by next spring, a Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) spokesman said Tuesday.

At a meeting of the 30-member CLC executive council Tuesday, union officials heard of developing plans for the proposed national affiliate.

Congress officials have drafted a constitution for the proposed union, which would be the third-largest union in the country, and a founding convention is planned for next spring.

The establishment of a national union of provincial workers has been a long-term goal of congress leaders but a dispute with the 200,000-member Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) over jurisdiction of some employees held up progress.

So far there has been no indication that formation of a national body will change collective bargaining procedures. Spokesmen say procedures currently in use likely will continue because of divided jurisdictions within the provincial bodies.

Meanwhile, the national union of provincial employees is to be included in a national council of government employees.

The council will take in the 168,000 members of the Public Service Alliance of Canada and the 200,000-member Canadian Union of Public Employees.

PUC Approves Antenna

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Belleville public utilities commission Tuesday approved an application from city police to install an antenna on the commission's water tower.

The motion was moved by Mayor Ben Corke that the police department pay $300 a year for use of the tower.

The police department will have to assume all costs of installing equipment and be sure it does not interfere with equipment owned by CN and Hastings and Prince Edward Fire Mutual Aid System which is already on the tower.

CN pays $300 a year for use of the tower and equipment owned by Belleville fire department for the mutual aid system does not pay a fee.

"Each department utilizing service of another should pay so we know the costs," said commission manager Neil Britton.

Mr. Britton said there is no explanation as to why the fire mutal aid system does not pay a fee. The CN antenna was the first to make use of the tower.

Installation of the antenna is part of a new $64,000 city police radio system to be in operation by next spring.

Lions Stage Walkathons For Olympic Donations

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Lions Clubs from across Canada Sept. 20 will stage walkathons to raise funds for Olympic athletes, the Belleville Lions Club said Tuesday.

Jim Parkhurst, vice-president of the Lions here, said eight local Lions Clubs in the Belleville area will be participating in the fund-raising effort — named Olympathon 75.

Already more than 300 pledge sheets have been distributed through the 50 Lions members in Belleville. Half of the money raised will go to the Olympic trust to defray athletes' personal expenses with the other half going towards the special Olympics for the mentally handicapped.

Coca-Cola Ltd. is working in conjunction with the national Lions campaign.

"We have no target — but to raise as much money as we can," said Mr. Parkhurst.

He said the club will need at least $10,000 by next spring for the special Olympics alone which are slated for June in Alberta.

The walk will begin at 8 a.m. at William R. Kirk School and will follow a 10-mile route.

For information concerning official pledge sheets call 968-5211.

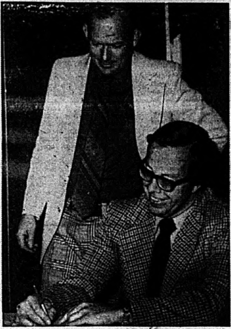
County Classroom Under Way

BLOOMFIELD — The County as a Classroom, a program of community involvement offered through the Prince Edward board of education resumes next week following a summer break.

Project co-ordinator Mrs. Sue Greetham said this week the first program will be held Tuesday, September 16 at Outlet Provincial Park when the history and development of the Sandbanks is presented. The discussion will be headed by John Immerseel, Interpretive specialist for the ministry of natural resources, Napanee.

On September 18 the program will move to Pinecrest School in Bloomfield for study of Learning in the First Five Years, an introduction to the developmental stages of learning prior to a child's entry in school. A presentation will be made by Mrs. Fran Hallam, primary consultant with the ministry of education in Kingston.

Next topic is "Horses - Where Do We Start" scheduled for presentation at Picton fairgrounds on Tuesday night, September 23. This program has been organized as a clinic and breeds discussed will include the Arabian, the Palomino and the Quarter Horse.



Headers for Trenton

Royce Hamer, a principle in Hamer Header Ltd., a new industry opening up in Trenton at the end of September discusses some final details with Mayor Robert Patrick. The plant is employing 15 persons hopes to expand to 45 workers by the end of the year. It will be the only producers of headers in Canada, a device regulating exhaust emissions giving better mileage and more horsepower to engines, said the manufacturer.

New Trenton Firm to Build Engine Part

TRENTON — Town council announced, Tuesday, a new industry is coming to Town and if things go according to plans Trenton may soon be called the "high performance capital of Canada."

The new industry, Hamer Headers Ltd., will produce headers, an attachment for automobile engines which regulates the exhast more carefully, giving the machine more horsepower, better gas mileage and lower emissions.

Initially, the industry will employ 15 workers at their rented facilities in the rear of West Mills Carpets, but owner Royce Hamer hopes to eventually expand the company and have 45 people producing the headers by the end of the first year.

"The previous owners of the company sold me the business because they were not making enough profit but I think part of their problem was the poor wages they paid their workers," he said in an interview.

Mr. Hamer told council and the industry committee he hopes to initiate profit sharing and bonus plans to make everyone in the factory a part of the company. He estimated the average wage would be somewhere between $3.00 and $3.50 per hour.

Mr. Hamer said since the original company stopped producing the device the only place it could be acquired was by importing it from the United States.

"We hope to have a high quality item which will sell about 20 per cent cheaper then the import because we don't have to pay duty on it," he said. "Also if there is any problem the retail outlets, most of which are specialty high performance car shops, can contact us directly and not have the worry of getting satisfaction from foreign companies."

The producted will be advertised as a Canadian-made and Mr. Hamer said he hopes this will add to its success. It will marketed in both Canada and the United States.

The company will have more than 23,000 square feet of room with 8,000 feet used for manufacturing and the rest for wrehousing the finished items and supplies, Mr. Hamer said.

Trenton was chosen as the sight because of the fine reception he received from the municipal representative and also because of the avaiability of funds from the province for setting up a business in a non-industrialized area.

The product will sell for about $140. Mr. Hamer said he hopes to expand into other areas of manufacturing once the business is securely established.

Reptile Centre to Proceed

ATHOL — Athol reeve Keith Perry says the township solicitor has advised council its decision to grant a building permit for a reptile centre near Cherry Valley cannot be reversed.

About 50 township residents turned out for a special meeting with council on Labor Day and voiced strong objections to location of the reptile conservation project in the community. Reeve Perry pointed out the township lacks zoning bylaws and council had no grounds for refusing a building permit.

Shortly afterward James Taylor, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox, called a press conference in Picton and advised reeve Perry to consult with the township's solicitor. The reeve did and said he was told council can do nothing to reverse its decision to grant a building permit.

Mr. Taylor had contacted the ministry of housing concerning the Toronto group proposing the reptile centre and he provided background information on its activities.

He suggested that the project might be halted if a township bylaw were passed to prohibit the breeding of animals including goats, foxes, rabbits, chickens and reptiles.

Milford Fair Opens Today

MILFORD — Prince Edward County's only remaining township fair opened today at Milford with a gala parade of school children and colorful floats.

The one-day fair annually attracts hundreds of visitors who participate in the wide variety of games and contests offered and compete for special prizes for "oldest couple", "person attending from furthest distance" and "longest married couple."

A horse show was planned on the green along with a calf club show and judging of family pets.

Indoors, visitors can view floral exhibits, fruit and vegetable displays, a pottery display and art work.

Highlight of the fair is a baby show to decide "best girl" and "best boy" of the stroller set.

Early Poll In Armory

PICTON — Advance polls for voters in Prince Edward-Lennox riding will be held in the Armory Mall here on September 12, 13 and 15.

The first advance poll will open September 12 from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. On September 13 voting hours will be from noon until 9 p.m. and on September 15 from noon to 9 p.m.

Picton Publisher Buys Five Area Newspapers

By CAROL PARANUIK
Staff Correspondent

MARMORA — The Mullan group of five community newspapers in North Hastings has been sold to Joseph Cembal of Picton, president of the bi-weekly Picton Gazette.

Don Mullan, owner and publisher, announced the sale today which will take effect Sept. 26. The purchase price was not released.

Involved in the sale are the Marmora Herald, Madoc Review, Hastings Star, Norwood Register and Havelock Citizen, all weekly newspapers.

Mr. Cembal, 39, said today there will be no significant changes in the makeup of the newspapers except for "some additional staff" in the future.

"It's a little early to say whom or what . . . because you don't want to make changes immediately," he commented.

Mr. Cembal said Mr. Mullan will remain with the group during the transition period "and hopefully for at least a year."

He said the new group will operate under a separate company. The Gazette is owned by Picton Gazette Publishing Co. 1971 Ltd. which also owns the Amherst Heritage in Amherstview (debuting today) and Napanee Printing.

Mr. Mullan, 38, a director of the Ontario Weekly Newspapers Association, said in an interview, "he (Cembal) would like me to stay on forever."

However, he added, "I'm intending to go on to better things." He said his future plans are not set and it would be premature to release any information at present.

Mr. Cembal, who also owns Quinte Advertising Agency in Belleville, said, "our company will continue the papers' tradition of serving the hometown market with local and area news and the combined resources of all seven newspapers should help our staff to present an even better news and advertising service for our many customers."

Learn how to trim your food budget without lowering your standard of eating.

It takes a lot more than money-saving recipes to save money on food these days.
It takes the Better Homes & Gardens Encyclopedia of Cooking. You'll find it packed with enough money-saving hints to pay for itself.
There are entries on meal planning and nutrition, including charts on vitamins, minerals and calories. Did you know, for example, that while lower grade eggs are cheaper they are not lower in nutritional value; that the dark meat of poultry has more nutrition than the light. And that equal servings of meat are equal in protein, but may differ in vitamins and minerals?
And that's just the beginning. There are 20 easy-to-use, hard-cover volumes. Published by America's No. 1 Food Editors with over 50 years of cooking experience under their belts.
You'll find information on shopping for fruits and vegetables. Including what times of the year to get the best quality at the best price.
To help you properly store the food you buy, before and after you cook it, there are sections with the different methods of canning, freezing, even defrosting, completely detailed.
PLUS 4,200 RECIPES FOR EVERYONE FROM THE THRIFTIEST SHOPPER TO THE TOUCHIEST GOURMET.
Since an encyclopedia of cooking wouldn't be complete without recipes, there are recipes. Enough, in fact, to make three different meals a day for three years and eight months without repeating one.
You'll find everything from a Swiss-Turkey Ham Bake that turns leftovers into a meal elegant enough for a mother-in-law; to a Beef A La Wellington and Baked Alaska fit for a holiday feast.
And since good food is not measured by the amount of time spent in the kitchen, many of the recipes outline the traditional and a shortcut version as well.
Yet all this is just a taste of The Better Homes & Gardens Encyclopedia of Cooking. If you'd like to know more, pick up Vol. 1 in any of our supermarkets. Then pick up a volume or two a week until you have the complete set.
It'll help you make the most of our food and your food dollars.

Profitable investing may depend, to a surprising extent, upon choosing the right season to buy or sell.

That's the conclusion to be drawn from a computer-assisted analysis of price patterns in Canadian financial markets by Wood Gundy Ltd., Toronto-based investment dealers.

The season obviously governs a good deal of Canadian economic activity — farming, construction and retail merchandising (think of Christmas).

Seasonal swings are most pronounced in the car market. It hits a major peak every May and another peak when new models go on sale in early October. Car sales hit bottom in December-January and August-September.

To finance their inventories, entrepreneurs in these seasonal fields borrow heavily about a month in advance of anticipated peak consumer demand.

"Both chartered-bank loans to business and consumer instalment financing exhibit a marked seasonal uptrend very similar to that displayed by interest rates," says Wood Gundy.

The seasonal pattern of this demand, then, establishes a recurring tendency for interest rates to decline to seasonal lows in November, remain low or even decline further until about March, then rise sharply to seasonal highs in the July-September period.

This summer's uptrend in interest rate conforms to that pattern—although last winter's decline was delayed beyond November.

One reason for the annual rise in interest rates in April is purely administrative. A corporation intending to issue bonds or debentures must publish audited financial statements not more than 120 days old.

A general audit is expensive, so most corporate borrowers wait until they have the compulsory annual audit at the fiscal year-end—which is usually Dec. 31.

By April, these corporations have completed their paperwork and are ready to come to the capital market with their new issues. That creates a financing log-jam that tends to force interest rates higher throughout the second quarter of each year.

Investors can profit by taking advantage of these seasonal patterns. Wood Gundy says:

"To the extent that investors have flexibility in carrying out their investment programs, they would be well advised to concentrate their purchases in the summer, other things being that other things are never equal."

One time-honored investment technique is dollar-averaging—the investment of a fixed number of dollars each month, in order to counteract the natural human impulse to invest too heavily when prices are rising and to refrain from buying when they are low.

Investors who follow such an approach might be well advised to consider building a seasonal variation into their purchases, Wood Gundy suggests, by concentrating more of their buying into the mid-to-late-summer months.

An awareness of seasonal factors can assist the equity investor just as much as the investor who buys for maximum yield. Common-stock prices are usually low at the same time that bond prices are low and interest rates high.

As Others See Us

Canadians as individualists . . . and "rugged individualists" at that.

Not that it is all that noticeable in these conformist times, with everyone moving in set patterns. A variety of patterns, yes, but the herd instinct keeps most of us in accepted grooves.

To work, Monday morning, and continue at the grind until Saturday and the weekend when shopping, sport, and religious devotions are pursued with varying intensity. But among these too are artists, writers, musicians, politicians, craftsmen, miners, foresters, sundry adventurers — individualists all.

Many of them standouts, with a measure of fame internationally. Alice Munro, Margaret Laurence, Glenn Gould, Pierre Trudeau, and others.

Will this country ever spawn again though anything of the lonely genius of a Lucy Maud Montgomery, whose unpublished diaries have so compellingly been brought to the television screen in recent days by the CBC, or a Stephen Leacock? Alice Munro and Gregory Clark come close to that tradition, but L. M. Montgomery and Leacock each was one of a kind.

In any event there is an American woman living in Trenton who credits Canadians with being "rugged individualists." Maybe it takes just such an outside observer to perceive this. It was an observation on the provincial election: "It appears to me," she said, "I've never seen the equivalent of 11 countries under one roof. You Canadians are the biggest bunch of rugged individualists I've seen since I left the West, and I think it's great."

Politically, it is an astute observation. How "rugged" we are though, physically and spiritually, in these deceptively easy materialist and morally permissive times is another thing. Will the course this country is embarked upon maintain our democratic traditions, our material and environmental privileges, and our moral integrity and national fibre? The next five to ten years likely will provide some answers, and they may not be too palatable.

The U.S. Sickness

Kenneth Lamott is a Yale University graduate, navy veteran and writer who lives in California.

In 1963 he published a book — succeeding half-a-dozen other publications — and it was called, somewhat prophetically: "Anti-California: Report From Our Para-Fascist State."

That was about the time of the Watts riots, campus unrest and other disturbances in the state. Since then of course there has been the phenomenon of the Symbionese Liberation Army and the abduction and apparent conversion to political activism of Patricia Hearst.

And only last weekend, the attempt on the life of President Ford. In custody is one of the so-called Manson girls, a dangerously eccentric group who came under the spell of one Charles Manson who with a number of his followers was held responsible for another bizarre California happening: the slaying of actress Sharon Tate and a number of friends at the Tate mansion.

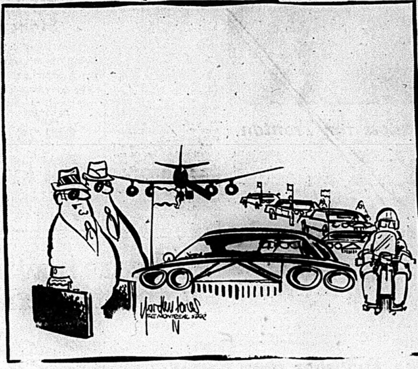
Here is an extract from the publisher's note: "Something is happening to America's Golden State" (here it lists Watts and other centres as places where "the symptoms have become ugly and ominous.").

"State leaders make a mockery of the democratic process. Open warfare is waged against the dissident youth of the state. One-third of the population earns a living manufacturing bombs, missiles, napalm, and rockets. The educational system is rent by political pressure and internal dissension. Blatant racism continues in a pattern which is centuries old. Acute alcoholism, mental illness, divorce and suicide scar private lives at a frequency which is sometimes twice the national average.

"Is fascism a serious possibility? According to Kenneth Lamott, it is not only possible, it is here. What is worse, its presence in California, for years a reliable barometer of America's political and social temperament — clearly and undeniably predicts the future of every state of the union."

More than a decade has elapsed since the book was written. In some respects life is calmer in California and the rest of the United States today, yet what happened in Sacramento last week is indicative of the underlying sickness that remains, and of the ever-present potential for other untoward events at the political and social levels.

Gun-happy America — it might be called The U.S. Sickness!



"Kissinger's in the first one — the others are his laundry."

International Aid Commitments Falling Short

Montreal Gazette

Out of the mountain that is the Canadian International Development Agency and Canadian foreign policy relating to development assistance has emerged a mouse. The mouse is the government's new aid policy, which is to be administered by CIDA but which was enunciated by External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen.

There certainly was some shift in Canadian aid policy but not the type of change required given the reality facing the poor nations of the world. Typical of the drift in Canadian policy is the failure of the government to give a firm commitment of when it will give the .7 per cent of gross national product in assistance to which this country is committed.

Perhaps the Canadian government should be reminded that former external affairs minister Paul Martin twice committed Canada to reaching the internationally accepted figure by 1969 when he spoke at the United Nations in the mid-60s.

Canada had also accepted the second target date of this year established by the United Nations Development Fund. The new aid plan is one due to last until 1980 and there is still no firm target date for achieving the .7 per cent level.

What is lacking is clearer coordination between the new program and the challenges outlined by Prime Minister Trudeau in his Mansion House speech in London and his statements at the Commonwealth conference in Kingston earlier this year.

If Mr. Trudeau and Mr. MacEachen are serious in assuring the developing nations of Canada's commitment to change, where is the challenge to Canadians to alter their lifestyles? Such change will be essential in this consumer-oriented society if there is to be a new economic order.

The five to 10 per cent untieing of bilateral aid and concentration of aid to poorer nations promised by Mr. MacEachen are merely the cheese crumbs on which to feed the mouse of a policy the Canadian government has adopted for the rest of the 70s.

Roads That Have Seen Better Days

Oshawa Times

Coming back from camping or cottage on Labor Day, the week-end or longer-range summer vacationer must have been left wondering again if anyone at Queen's Park thinks before spending more of our money on road repairs.

One would have expected that the highways department people were aware from their many and costly traffic flow surveys, that for the greater Toronto area vacationer there are four main routes into the cottage country northeast of here all the way up into the Madawaska and Ottawa valleys, Highway 7 from Peterborough west, 401 east to Highway 14 and north to Highway 7, 401 east to Highway 37 and north to Highway 7, and 401 east of Highway 41 and north to Highway 7.

Consider the list of highway construction projects facing those vacationers this past summer 7.25 miles of construction on Highway 14 north of Stirling, five miles on Highway 37 north of Tweed, and 2.5 miles on High 41 just south of Highway 7. (And for good measure, if a driver seeking to run this obstacle course westerly didn't come south off Highway 7 at Peterborough, he or she would have run into another nine miles of work east and west of Omemee.)

If such a construction schedule was done accidentally, someone in the department needs a test for competence. If it was done deliberately by a collection of bureaucratic sadists, they will be pleased to know that the shock-bottoming, window-rattling collection of roads they produced did the job, if the collection of torn tailpipes and mufflers on these roads are any yardstick.

Trouble is, it wasn't funny, but more a shame.

Gardeners Establish Records

Watertown Times

Amateur gardeners . . . place emphasis on raising tomatoes, corn, beans, lettuce and radishes for their own consumption. They are not out to establish any records for their crops, only enough to keep them in fresh vegetables for the summer months and possibly enough for canning.

At this time of the year there is considerable rivalry among the more ambitious gardeners to hang up records for the height of a corn stalk. Thus far, however, there have been no reports of out of the ordinary but before another few weeks they may be received regarding extraordinary tall ones.

If records are sought, here is one for the gardeners to shoot at, a 9-foot tall tomato bush raised in a back-yard of Laval, a suburb of Montreal. Solomon Bross said that he did nothing special to the plant which "just kept growing".

The tallest tomato plant, however, was 20 feet high in Southport, England. That was in 1957 and the authority is no less than the Guinness Book of Records.

Parental Shortcomings

Boston Herald-American

The art of being a good parent is not easily acquired, though most of us produce and raise offspring without doing much more than follow the advice of the renowned Dr. Spock. A study just conducted by the New York City Health Department concluded that, in truth, most parents don't know very much about parenting.

Aside from the more flagrant examples of actual child abuse, of which there were many, the study showed that great harm is done thoughtlessly in conventional and routine treatment of children.

The shouted command, the threat, the use of sarcasm, all have their effects on the child, as do such good natured slurs as, "Oh, he's always covered with dirt at this time of day.'

Of possible greater significance is the study's disclosure that children who are treated thoughtlessly or cavalierly by their parents grow up to be inconsiderate parents themselves.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, after doing its own research, last year set up a special curriculum for the nation's high schools so that "being a good parent" could be taught to young people prior to the advent of their own parenthood. It reasoned it was too late to try and educate existing parents and that the effort should be concentrated on the coming generations.

This sound idea, applauded by pediatricians and child psychologists, never got off the ground with the academic community. To date less than 100 school systems in the entire nation have instituted the course. The schools are avoiding instructions in how to function in the most vital role in a human life — parenthood.

Egalitarian Society ?

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

Get your pencils ready? John Smith, factory worker, earns $9,000 annually. He's a member of a union. Marvin Jones, teacher earns $16,000 a year. He's a member of a federation. Mary Doe, widow with three children, survives on $5,200 in social assistance benefits. She's just a member of the human race.

Now let's get on the magic carpet and get five years ahead of everyone. The government has been generous and Widow Doe's benefits have increased seven per cent in each of the last five years. Her family now exists on slightly more than $7,000 a year. Smith's union has average annual increases of 10 per cent and he now earns about $17,000 annually. Jones' federation has "lowered" their wage demands and averaged "only" about 15 per cent in each of the last five years. He now earns $32,000. He also has a cost of living clause, for protection.

Back at the beginning, the income spread from Widow Doe to factory worker Smith was $2,800; from Widow Doe to teacher Jones it was $10,800; from factory worker Smith to teacher Jones it was $7,000. It's a new ball game now. From Widow Doe to teacher Jones it is $25,000; from Doe to Smith, $10,000; and factory worker Smith to Jones $15,000. And who has been doing the most screaming about "falling behind" and suffering from inflation?" They all have. But who was being heard. Take a guess?

Huron County Decides to Maintain Status Quo

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Huron County, by decision of its county council, will not be reorganized to simlify municipal government. The council looked at two plans for restucturing, one of which would have combined 26 municipalities into 12, the other into eight. Warden Anson McKinley describes council's decision as a "blanket no" to both plans.

Huron, therefore will not follow the example of Waterloo which was reorganized by government fiat, or of Oxford, which reorganized itself by its own decision. In both Waterloo and Oxford smaller municipalities, such as Ayr and Wellesley Village in one case, Embro and Norwich Village in the other, were merged into larger local units.

Huron County consists of five towns (Clinton, Exeter, Goderich, Seaforth and Wingham) together with five incorporated villages and 16 townships. The biggest population unit is Goderich with 7,044 people; the smallest is Bayfield with 483. They are going to stay that way, and not seek the gains in municipal efficiency which are claimed for larger units of local government.

The decision is more reasonable for Huron than it would have been for either Waterloo or Oxford, as they were before reorganization. The special advantage enjoyed by Huron for purposes of county government is that it has never been fragmented. No municipality within Huron is separated from the county and all are represented on county council.

It is a situation much different from Waterloo County as it was to the end of 1972. Kitchener, Galt and the City of Waterloo were all separated, each independent of the county which surrounded them. Good planning was impossible while the three fragment and the rump county each tried to go its own way.

Oxford had a similar problem. Woodstock was a separated city and Ingersoll a separated town, making two holes in the middle of the county area which did not take part in county government. Restructuring there has brought Woodstock and Ingersoll back into the fold.

Huron might have achieved a little more efficiency by merging smaller municipalities into bigger ones, but not necessarily. Several part-time municipal officials could have been replaced by one full-time official, but inevitably the salary level would have escalated, and it might have cost as much to get the same amount of work done.

The advantage of getting unity was not to be gained, because Huron already has that. If they choose to go along with a total population of 53,493 divided among 26 municipalities, with 150 elected members of local councils, they should be able to make the system keep working. When united action is needed they have a united county to take it.

Liberal Harvest

The tomato crop is being harvested at MacDonald Farms near East Lake and Liberal candidate for Prince Edward—Lennox riding Keith MacDonald Tuesday checked the yield. He was assisted by his wife, Margaret who often lends a hand by driving the tractor.

People Come Before Farm Says MacDonald

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

HALLOWWELL — Liberal candidate for Prince Edward-Lennox riding Hallowell reeve Keith MacDonald has a farm and on that farm township constituents often call him from a tractor seat to discuss their problems.

Reeve MacDonald, who has served in municipal politics for seven years, says he ran for council because he feels " a person doesn't live a full life with out some public service in his community."

When he began farming as a youth of 17 MacDonald Farms covered about 130 acres. Today Keith MacDonald owns or rents about 800 acres of land in Hallowell and Athol townships.

The century farm has been in the MacDonald family "since it was cut out of the bush" says Keith. It is principally a cash crop operation with 100 head of cattle kept in a cow-calf beef business.

For Keith MacDonald being down on the farm is a full-time job that begins with breakfast at 6:30 a.m. By 7 a.m. he is in the fields outlining the day's work to his farm helpers.

'Over the years I've stayed very close to the men and I never ask them to do anything I wouldn't do," he noted.

The energetic farmer runs most of the heavy equipment at MacDonald Farms and over sees the sowing of seeds and weed spraying.

His wife, Margaret, is an invaluable helper who can operate all but the largest machine on the farm.

The busy season starts when the land is first worked in the spring and Keith often is in the field until 9 or 10 p.m.

"The men finish at six but — often go on to get a job done," said Keith.

In the winter months the workload eases and the MacDonald vacation in the south for a few weeks.

Reeve MacDonald observed several critics have suggested he would not find enough time to represent the people at Queen's Park because of his farm work load.

He commented that when elected he would cut back on some cash crops and switch to farming with machinery on a wider basis.

"Framing will come second," he emphasized.

He said that as township reeve he has often stopped a piece of farm machinery in the fields to discuss a township resident's problems with him.

He has served as township councillor, reeve and warden of Prince Edward and says he enjoys working for his constituents.

In his free time during the "off season" on the farm the Hallowell reeve referees in the Ontario Hockey Association.

The Liberal candidate has adopted a campaign that gives him frequent opportunities to meet the public on a personal level.

A direct man who refuses to waste time, Keith MacDonald notes that he is not "a fancy talker." He strongly endorses a straightforward approach to cut red tape at Queen's Park.

"I think the local person who has lived here and knows the people individually can talk their language and understand their wants in Prince Edward Lennox riding," emphasized the farmer candidate.

MacDonald: Housing Key Issue

PICTON — Liberal candidate for Prince Edward-Lennox riding, Keith MacDonald, says he support early completion of zoning and planning in Prince Edward County to permit a start on much needed housing facilities.

"I don't know all of the mechanics of parliamentary procedure but I am a firm believer that Prince Edward-Lennox has been a bit neglected," he said in an interview.

He observed services for industry are needed in the riding and he feels the province should provide money for industrial sites.

"You have to have something to offer," he stressed.

Mr. MacDonald repeated his stand on education outlined during his recent nomination speech, stating that too many tax dollars are spent on it.

He favors a return to "the three R's" and a stronger discipline.

"I would like to see a mutual pupil-teacher respect," he said.

Yardmen, City Working Together on Sports Complex

The co-operative venture involving city hall and Belleville Yardmen aimed at making the Quinte Sports Centre a reality, inched formally forward this week.

Council made the first basic move toward qualifying the project for senior government grants.

To obtain such funding means creating an organization under local government aegis.

For several months the Yardmen — whose monthly lottery now has built up a $2.77 million fund toward the project slated for Cannifton Road — and council have been evolving procedures whereby government grants may be sought.

Council Monday voted to:

— Agree in principle with the Yardmen and draft a necessary agreement covering the venture.

— Apply for grants from the provincial government's Wintario lottery organization.

— Authorize solicitors to prepare an application for a private bill in the legislature. This would appoint a board of management designated a committee under the Community Recreation Centres Act.

The move means the committee could also seek grants as a community centre.

Council's action follows last week's sod-turning ceremony at the centre site. The sports complex, estimated to cost $8 million in total now is scheduled for completion in late 1977. Among its installations are an Olympic-size swimming pool, enclosed ice surface of international figure-skating calibre, gymnasium and squash court.

Its architect, Bill Sanford said last week work was expected to begin in November.

Disaster Planning Stressed

Belleville — with its proximity to a major airbase — should have some officials aware of disaster procedures, city council was cautioned this week.

Ald. Stu Meeks reminded councillors heavy aircraft from CFB Trenton continually are in the air over the area.

"If ever we had one of those large aircraft come down it would be utter havoc in this city," he warned.

His remarks were touched off by a written suggestion from Angus Duffy, co-ordinator of the recently-dissolved Quinte Emergency Measures Organization (QEMO), that a city official attend an upcoming emergency planning conference at Arnprior.

With the recent end of QEMO — due to funding cutbacks — it's "most important" municipalities have someone with a knowledge of emergency planning, wrote Col. Duffy.

Council voted to receive Col. Duffy's letter.

Ann Landers

Vultures Grab When Relative Dies

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from the gal whose sisters, aunts and cousins descended on her mother's house like a pack of vultures and picked the place clean hit very close to home. The writer signed herself, "Can't Stand Grabbers." Well—I hope your advice to make a will was heeded by all those nice people out there who just assume their belongings will go to the people they want to have them.

When my husband's darling mother died, his sister arrived first. She was grief-stricken for about 15 minutes. Then she pulled herself together and went through the house like a streak of lightning. When I walked into the bedroom to use the phone I saw drawers open and boxes strewn everywher. The place looked as if it had been burglarized. I couldn't believe it.

When "sis" left she had all the jewelry, silver and every piece of art worth owning. She also had her name taped on the best pieces of furniture. "I'll send you some of Mother's nice things," Sis promised as she left.

After the funeral, I received a dozen plastic hangers, a jar of cotton balls, some old clothes and a moth-eaten fur piece.

My husband adored his mother and so did our children. They don't have one thing worth keeping as a memento. Of course the poor darling never wrote a will—and she'd turn over in her grave if she knew what has happened.—Heartsick In Boston

Dear Heartsick: Your letter says it far better than I could—but I'll make another attempt. MAKE A WILL. It's the only way to be sure your money and personal belongings will go to those you want to have them. Otherwise "The Grabbers" will move in fast.

Also, the attorney in charge of the estate should make certain nothing is removed from the house of the deceased until the will has been read.

Dear Ann Landers: May I be you today? I want to give some advice to all the widows in the world who are longing to remarry.

When my husband died I was sure my life was finished. We had a beautiful marriage and I was certain I could never look at another man. Several months later the loneliness set in. I began to accept invitations from interesting bachelors and widowers. One day a very attractive man asked me to marry him. I said yes.

Here are the questions I wish I had asked myself:

1. Does the man have children?
2. How do THEY feel about his remarrying?
3. Do the children get along with one another or are they still fighting about their mother's state?
4. What about YOUR children? Does the gentleman want to include them in HIS family circle?
5. When decisions are made will he consult you or does he go to his children?
6. Does the man really want YOU or is he looking for someone to take care of him?

Had I asked myself these questions I would not have put myself through three years of hell.

I'm out of that marriage now, thank God, regaining my health somthing I never thought possible.—Learned The Hard Way

Dear Learned: Thanks for the lesson. I'm sorry Life was your teacher.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't be alone in my misery. Please help us all.

My mother-in-law, for the third time this year, is coming to visit for two weeks. I could put up with her if she'd just be a guest. But the minute she arrives she begins to clean the house, rearrange the furniture and make suggestions on how to improve the looks of the place. ("Your kitchen needs new curtains. The bathrooms could use a coat of paint,' etc.) She starts every sentence with, "Why don't you?"

Now she has started to interfere with the way I feed and dress our child. "He's not getting enough roughage. He needs vitamins. His room is too hot. His play clothes are tacky . . ."

I find myself getting nervous before each visit. By the time she leaves, I'm on tranquillizers and my husband and I aren't speaking. He says, "She's just trying to help." Get the picture?—Sign Me Berserk

Dear B.: One thing is certain—you will never change your mother-in-law, but you can change a few other things.

First: the frequency of her visits. Ask your doctor to inform your husband that his mother's visits are too taxing and should be cut to twice a year.

Second: when your M. I. L. makes suggestions, smile and say, "You're probably right. I'll think about it . . ." Then develop amnesia.

Third: if she wants to clean your house and rearrange the furniture—let her. Maybe she'll get a hernia.

Study of Drug Misuse Will Begin in Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP) — The first comprehensive study of the misuse of drugs in a Canadian community will take place in Hamilton under a $180,000 federal grant awarded to the department of clinical epidemiology and bio-statistics at McMaster medical centre.

The study will investigate the misuse of drugs ranging from tobacco to tranquilizers, headache pills to heroin, and alcohol and antacids. Prescription as well as over-the-counter drugs will be included in the study.

Dr. Lowell Gerson, professor of medical sociology, is research director for the program, anl Dr. Walter Spitzer, associate professor, is principal investigator.

The first phase of the study will concentrate on collecting information on drug use, said Prof. Michael Gent, chairman of the medical centre. The information will probably be obtained from hospital and drug records, schools, police and agencies within the community.

With this data, the researchers hope a pattern of drug use in the community will emerge and priorities can be established for research into causes, prevention or treatment.

In the second phase, the researchers may undertake studies of the history of rehabilitated alcoholics, effectiveness of programs to stop smoking, local marketing and distribution of non-medically used drugs, doctor-induced drug abuse and the role of the public health nurse in finding people with drug-related problems.

The grant given by the federal Non-Medical Use of Drugs Directorate will cover the first 21 months of the program. If the project proves successful, more programs may be set up in other Canadian cities.

'Indolent Majority'

LONDON (AP) — Women are to blame for not being better represented in the "decision-making forums of the world," the secretary-general of the United Nations International Women's Year said Monday.

Helvi Sipila of Finland, speaking to reporters after she addressed a session of the Inter Parliamentary Union conference here, said: "If women were as much motivated as those who have campaigned for an end to racial discrimination or an end to colonialism they would have solved their problems long ago."

Mrs. Sipila, mother of four who is also a UN assistant secretary-general, said in answer to questions that she and her husband have no domestic difficulties because they employed help to look after their children.

Helen Vlachos, a Greek newspaper owner, told the conference that women are not an important minority, they are an "indolent majority."

"The liberation movement, the nonsense groups which roam the streets, the farcical bra-revolutions are justly fodder for masculine humor," she said.

She said it was not the fault of men that she was speaking to a predominantly male audience at the conference. It was the fault of women, she said, particularly in countries where the discrimination war was fought long ago.

Women have achieved very little since winning that war, she added.

Deep Frying: Kitchen Technique for Special Treats

Deep fat frying is a method of cooking which has lost favor as we become more conscious of calories and cholesterol. On the other hand, fish and chips and croquettes and doughnuts cannot be produced in any other way.

For deep frying use a deep kettle or saucepan, as heavy as available. It should have a flat bottom. For a three-quart kettle use three pounds of fat. No container should be moe than half full of fat.

You should heat fat gradually, using a thermometer or the bread cube test to determine temperature. (A one-inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds at 375 degrees.)

A slotted metal spoon and absorbent towels or paper are other necessities.

Plain Doughnuts

two eggs
one cup sugar
one cup milk
¼ cup melted shortening four cups flour
four tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. mace
¼ tsp. lemon rind

Mix eggs and sugar, stir in milk and shortening. Stir in flour and remaining ingredients. Fry at 375 degrees until golden.

Apple Fritters

one cup flour
¼ tsp. salt
two tbsps. peanut oil
1⅓ cups less 3 tbsps. cold water
two egg whites
Apples
Peanut oil, for deep frying, heated to a temperature of 350 degrees.

In a mixing bowl, combine the flour and the salt and then add the peanut oil and the cold water. Blend well.

Refrigerate the mixture, uncovered, for 30 minutes.

Beat the egg whites until very stiff. Remove the batter from the refrigerator. Gently but thoroughly fold the egg whites into the batter.

Core the apples with an apple corer before peeling them. Cut the apples across in slices of ¼" thick.

Dip the apple slices, one at a time, into the batter and then drop them carefully into the hot oil.

Deep fry the apple fritters for 4 to 5 minutes, or until deep golden brown.

Drain the apple fritters on paper towels. Sprinkle with fine sugar.

French Fried Bananas

four medium-size firm bananas fresh lemon juice
one egg, beaten
¼ cup corn flake crumbs (approximately) oil or shortening for deep frying

Peel bananas; brush with lemon juice. Dip first in egg, then in corn flake crumbs. Deep fat fry in salad oil or vegetable shortening heated to 375 degrees for three to four minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with grilled ham steak or chicken. Serves four.

Scotch Eggs

12 peeled hard-cooked eggs
½ cup flour
one egg
one tbsp. water
two lbs. skinless sausage meat

Roll eggs in flour and with floured hands, cover each egg with sausage meat. Beat egg and water together slightly. Dip each sausage covered egg in this mixture and roll in fine bread crumbs or quick-cooking rolled oats. Fry in deep fat (350 degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain and serve hot or cold. If preferred eggs may be cooked in shallow fat or baked in moderate oven at 350 degrees F.

Chicken Kiev with Shallot Butter

three lb. chicken cut into 4 pieces, deboned and skinned ¼ cup butter
one tbsp. parsley, chopped
one tsp. chives, chopped one tbsp. shallots, chopped juice of ¼ lemon salt
one ths. peanut oil
one cup flour
one cup breadcrumbs

Deepfryer, one-third full of peanut oil, heated to 375 degrees.

Have your butcher debone the chicken breasts. The leg and thigh should also be deboned, but should be left in one piece.

Mix the butter, parsley, chives, chopped shallots and lemon juice together. Add salt, pepper and cayenne pepper to taste. Mix well: then, with a spoon, shape the butter into four balls of one tbsp. each and freeze them.

One by one, place each piece of chicken between two sheets of wax paper and flatten them with a cleaver. Season with salt and pepper.

Place a piece of frozen shallot butter in the middle of each flattened breast of chicken. Roll the chicken over the garlic butter, as you roll, tuck in the edges toward the middle. Place the chicken rolls, edge down, in a plate.

Insert a tablespoon of frozen shallot butter in the thinner slot of each chicken leg. Fold the thigh meat back over the leg.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

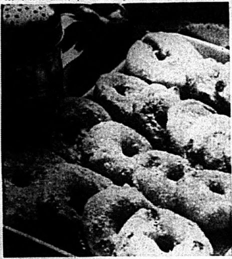
Beat the eggs with one tablespoon of peanut oil.

Dip each chicken piece into flour, then into beaten egg, and finally into breadcrumbs.

Deep fry the chicken pieces, a few at a time, until golden brown. Place the chicken pieces in a small roasting pan and bake for 25 minutes.

Garnish the Chicken Kiev with parsley and serve it with lemon wedges and grilled tomatoes.

Chicken Kiev



Apple Fritters

Churros

one cup all-purpose flour
one cup water
four large eggs
6 tbsp. butter
salad oil for deep frying

Place water in heavy saucepan and bring to the boil. Lower flame and add flour and salt all at once, stirring with a wooden spoon until smooth and mixture begins to leave the sides of the pan. Remove from heat.

Beat in eggs, one at a time, stirring until the mixture is smooth and satiny.

Take a deep-fry pan and heat salad oil (it should become at least two inches deep) until a bit of bread sizzles when thrown into it.

Stuff pastry into a cookie press, using any shape you like, and push through in three or four inch ribbons. Fry four to five minutes until golden. Drain and dust with confectioners' sugar.

Makes a dozen or more, depending on size.

Croquettes

three tbsp. butter
one-third cup flour
one cup milk
two egg yolks
two cups minced cooked food*
one tbsp. chopped onion two tbsps. chopped parsley sauce
seasonings

Make a white sauce, using the butter, flour and milk. Add egg yolks when the sauce is cooked. Add cooked food*: meat, poultry, fish and-or vegetables. Stir in onion and parsley and your choice of seasoning. (Nutmeg, lemon juice, herbs, curry powder, sherry or just salt and pepper.) Heat briefly. Cool and shape into croquettes.

Bread in fine dry bread crumbs.

Deep fry at 375 degrees for two to four minutes.

4,200 Immigrants Hired Each Year

TRENTON — As of the last week in August there were more than 4,200 off-shore workers in Canada to work in food processing plants and harvesting crops, said Robert Forsyth, owner of the only Canadian travel agency arranging transportation for the workers.

The Forsyth Travel Bureau, Blenheim, Ont., has been the sole agent for the transportation of off-shore workers since the program began in 1966.

"He was the only agent who came forward with a planned program," said Len Pierce, agriculture co-ordinator, Ontario region department of manpower and immigration.

"Last November the growers indicated they were happy with his services and told us they wanted to retain his agency," Mr. Pierce said in a telephone interview speaking from Toronto.

Growers and processors approach manpower and request a certain number of workers for a set date, officials of the program said.

"The program is set up to supplement the supply of Canadian farm workers," Mr. Pierce said. "Once we receive a request we forward it to the Jamaican or appropriate government."

The government official then reviews candidates in his country to ensure they are healthy because once they get to Canada they will be working seven days a week for as long as they are needed. Usually this is between six and 15 weeks.

The local government and the travel agency then arrange transportation.

The employer deposits the standard commercial air fare with the travel bureau and the agency attempts to find the cheapest price, usually on charter flights, for transporting the workers to Canada, and Mr. Forsyth said the difference is returned to the employer.

While in Canada the workers are covered by a medical plan and pay into the unemployment fund. Twenty per cent of their salary is deducted and is immediately forwarded to their home government.

All of the growers and processors contacted praised the foreign workers not only for their dependability but also for their work habits.

"They can't all work in their home country because unemployment is very high there so they are eager to work and will do almost any job," said R. A. (Al) Borthwick, manager of Produce Processors. "It's very rare we have any problem with the men," he said.

Jamaican Enjoys Farm Work

TRENTON — Gladstone Knight, 33, from Clarendon, Jamaica is like any other person you might happen to meet anywhere in the world.

He has a family whom he supports and loves, and whom he leaves every year to travel to Canada and work as a farm laborer, doing work that local employers say Canadians don't want.

"I decided to try the program last year because I wanted to meet people and see Canada," Mr. Knight said in an interview.

Mr. Knight, unlike most of the other workers in the program is fortunate enough to have a full time, year round job in Jamaica, where about 25 per cent of the labor force is unemployed.

"I am employed in sugar cane research testing herbacides and insecticides," he said.

Mr. Knight sends most of his salary home, as do most of the other workers, he said, keeping enough to live on while in Canada and for gifts.

Transportation Added Foreign Help Cheaper

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — After all the travelling expenses have been paid, housing costs calculated and salaries doled, foreign workers cost more than $1 an hour over the $2.41 minimum wage, said officials of Produce Processors Ltd., the largest packagers of frozen corn in Canada.

The average transportation costs, roundtrip for the Caribbean workers, is about $224. The three bunkhouses used to house the men, located near the plant and orchards owned by the company, cost between $80,000-$100,000.

The foreign workers repay a small part of their daily wages to help pay transportation costs but the most the employers can recover is about $60 and this would only be done if the workers remained for longer than six months. The average stay in Canada is between six weeks and four months.

"Local people available for seasonal work, are in many cases, not worth the minimum wage," said Eben James, co-owner of Glenburnie Farms and Produce Processors Ltd.

R. A. (Al) Borthwick, manager of Produce Processors thinks it may be possible to pay local labor the extra money if they comprise the entire work force.

"I don't see why they could not be paid the extra $1 an hour but we can't do it when we still hire off-shore labor," he said in an interview, Friday. "It would not be right to pay workers different salaries if they are doing the same job," Mr. Borthwick said.

Arthur Cornish, Farm Labor pool representative for the Northumberland-Durham district Brighton branch, said part of the problem with local labor is the inexperience of the available force.

"If one picker is not doing his share it brings down the average of other workers and cuts into the farmers profits," he said.

More than 4,200 foreign workers have been transported to Canada to work on farms and in processing plants doing jobs local employers said no Canadians will take. The employers also said when Manpower does send them workers, more than half don't—ever show up, some quit after a few hours work and most don't—return for a second days—work. Canadians Don't Want Farm Work: Processor

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The local agricultural pool is undependable, unskilled and too limited for farmers and food processors to rely upon at picking time, representatives of both industries say.

Many of the farmers and packagers said in interviews they would not be able to harvest and process the produce without the use of non-Canadian workers imported annually through the federal governments off-shore labor program.

Eben James, co-owner of Glenburnie apple farms and Produce Processors, the largest packagers and exporters of corn in Canada said "If we didn't have the off-shore workers, [illegible]0 at the farm and 60 at the plant, we wouldn't be able to operate at all."

Mr. James said his companies have "exhausted all means" in an attempt to locate local people who want and would continue to work for the short harvest and plant operating season.

"In the summer months it is not so difficult to find workers for the plant because students are off from school and they are looking for work," Mr. James said. "But when the students return to school there are not many local workers who want to do the job."

Mr. James said some of his former student workers did not return this summer because they had accummulated enough credit from previous vacation's work to collect unemployment.

"Part of the problem is the low wages paid by the industry," Mr. James said. "We pay a minimum wage and anyone on unemployment or who is collecting welfare can make almost as much or more without having to work."

Mr. James sentiments are echoed by Arthur Cornish, a farm labor representative for district, Brighton branch.

"Why should a man making almost $100 on welfare or unemployment go out to do hard work picking crops," Mr. Cornish said.

The farm labor pool was recently formed under the auspices of the federal government to co-ordinate the needs of area farmers with local labor forces.

Mr. Cornish and his supervisor, Mr. Leo McDonald said the program is an attempt to encourage local people who are not aware of the benefits of farm employment, and who could make future good workers, to seek jobs in the industry.

"We want to get them motivated to go out and earn the money," Mr. McDonald said in a telephone interview.

It's Good News in Austria: Grape Crop Big and Good

GOLS Austria (Reuter) — Economic doom may be just around the corner but the wine-drinking Austrians (10 gallons each annually) are smiling—this year's grape harvest is going to be a bumper one.

"Good quality and plenty of it" is the verdict of farmers in this wine-growing village near the Hungarian border.

"We had rain followed by sunshine and the grapes look good."

Gols (population 3287) has already been celebrating at the annual village wine-tasting fair, an eight-day alcoholic jamboree.

As one might expect in a village where the rows of vines run almost up to the back doors of the squat single-storey cottages an enormous wine tent is at the centre of the festival.

A comprehensive tour of the tent to taste every wine from every vineyard might well last the whole eight days but most of the visitors have been locals who soon discovered what they liked.

An experimental 1-16 of a quart is soon followed by a more generous ⅛ which in turn gives way to the standard "viertel" or half-pint glass.

Gols lies in a half-forgotten corner of Austria the Burgenland province. Under the old Hapsburg empire the region was part of Hungary and many people still speak Hungarian.

Between the two world wars poverty drove thousands of peasants to emigrate across the Atlantic and the Burgenland, though transformed since 1945 still is the poorest of Austria's nine provinces.

Tourists seeking picture-postcard alpine villages generally give the Burgenland a miss. Many Viennese living just an hour's drive away hardly ever penetrate into the province whose flat expanse foreshadows the great Hungarian plain to the east.

Many of the roads in the Burgenland come to an abrupt halt at the border, with just a wooden pole and an overgrown track leading to a Hungarian border watchtower in the distance.

But traffic over the border crossings that do exist is brisk and frontier incidents are a thing of the past. Hungarians who want to leave for the West generally can find their way to Austria legally as tourists and forget to return.

One bizarre incident from the Burgenland did make the headlines last year. After a match between a village soccer team and a visiting Hungarian team, a Hungarian linesman decided, possibly through an excess of wine, to miss the bus home and stay in Austria.

The Austrians, worried about the loss of half of their remaining fixtures for the season, bundled the unwilling linesman into a minibus and delivered him safely to the border.

They were put on trial but the case, dubbed the "Oberpullendorf kidnapping" by Austrian papers, has been adjourned since December for lack of evidence.

Whatever the rights and wrongs of the incident, Burgenland wine seems to have been partly responsible. One of those involved told the court he had drunk 35 glasses of "spritzer" (wine and soda water).

Vienna is surrounded to the north, south and west by wine-growing villages where the winegardens or "heurigen" do big business on warm summer evenings.

But the Burgenland is the place where serious drinkers head, though the insects near the border display a Magyar ferocity.

No Flaring In British Oil Wells

LONDON (CP) — Britain is determined that natural gas found in oilfields now being worked in the North Sea will not be wasted. And a British engineering firm has come up with a proposal that some of the gas be turned into a valuable industrial chemical at the wellhead.

Normally the associated gas—as it is called—is burned off at the wellhead in a process known as flaring. Gas now is being produced in quantities ranging from 750,000 to 25 million cubic feet a day.

But though relatively optimistic estimates have been made of the amount of gas that may eventually be discovered, only the giant Brent field, northeast of the Shetlands, has so far been shown to have enough gas to justify a separate pipeline.

The British government has made it clear that it will permit the gas to be disposed of by burning only as a last resort, and a government-commissioned study is currently investigating the possibility of laying a network of small-diameter pipelines to gather the gas from a number of fields to link up to a single gas main for pumping ashore.

Balena Structure of Cambridge claims that conversion to methanol—industrial methyl alcoho—could be an economic alterative. They propose that a new genertaion of steel offshore platforms incorporating storage tanks, such as the current concrete drilling platforms have, could provide the basis for a plant capable of producing 2,000 tons of methanol a day. This could simply be offloaded into tankers and shipped ashore.

Cambridge Offers Much to Tourist

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP) — This famous university town offers many historical sights for the tourist.

Visitors come to see medieval buildings and walk in the footsteps of poets, scholars and statesmen from ancient times.

The university was formed when scholars from Oxford migrated to the school in 1209. The school expanded into a more formal university institution by the end of the 16th century as colleges were formed.

If the tourist does not know what to visit first, the university or the fine architecture of the town, it will be difficult to choose. There has been a traditional rivalry between university and city—"town and gown."

Envy and arrogance have been cited as causes of this hostility throughout the Middle Ages. Yet the cultural life of the city has been stimulaed by the presence of the university.

With a population of more than 100,000, the city is the centre of Britain's most productive farming area and base for several major agricultural research organizations.

Yet the tourist will be most aware of the buildings and what goes on inside them. There is where the town and gown compete most for the visitor's attention.

The Fitzwilliam Museum is one of the finest outside London, housing important collections of paintings, furniture, coins and antiques. Tourists can visit famous churches outside the university's sphere of influence.

The Round Church is one of four in Britain based on the design of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem. The church of St. Benet's with its Saxon tower is the oldest building here.

Of all the college buildings, the Chapel of King's College is always given pride of place. Considered the best example of perpendicular architecture in England, it was begun by the college's founder, Henry VI, in 1446 and was completed under Henry VIII in 1515. Its pinnacles and spires dominate the university area of the city.

TV Future Not Bright

OTTAWA (CP) — The future of Canadian television is not bright, says Ernest Bushnell who predicts that within five years there will be a national cable television company importing United States programs.

Canadian television stations just are not able to compete with American-produced "audience-getters," said the former CBC vice-president and honorary chairman of Bushnell Communications. The latter company has a long history of involvement in television and radio broadcasting in the Ottawa area.

"I bet in five years there will be a national cablevision company for the importation of American programs, and revenues of private companies will go down.

"TV is entertainment and that's what people want—it's as simple as that. A program can be well-made and educational, but people won't watch it if it isn't very interesting."

He said Canadian programs are not as popular as those in the U.S. because the Canadian industry lacks the money to produce quality programming.

Burma Rebuilds Historic Temples

RANGOON (Reuter) — Burma has started to rebuild historic temples and shrines damaged in a major cultural catastrophe at the ancient Burmese capital of Pagan.

The disaster occurred in July when, almost unnoticed by the outside world, an earthquake struck one of the most hauntingly beautiful spots in Asia.

Historic pagodas that had survived even the rampages of Kublai Khan's Chinese Tartar armies in the 13th century crashed and fell after the quake, which lasted less than two minutes last July 8.

One of the artistic landmarks of Asia had suffered what may prove irreparable damage to some of its treasures. Pagan was founded in 850 and by the 11th century had developed into the capital of Burma.

Its 5,000 Buddhist temples and ruins, mostly dating from the ninth to 11th centuries are spread over a 10-square-mile area on the east bank of the Irrawaddy River in the plains of central Burma.

Of the 500 important temples more than half have been damaged.

Daydreaming Prompts Bizarre Court Case

WASHINGTON (CP) — A couple of years ago, there was nothing to distinguish pretty, 16-year-old Wendy Helander from hundreds of thousands of other American high school students except perhaps her tendency to daydream more than most.

But it was that habit, her distraught parents believe, which led to Wendy becoming the centre of a national controversy, the subject of a bizarre and celebrated court case and a member of a mysterious cult known as the Unification Church.

It has also focused public attention on a strange process called psychological deprogramming and on one of its most active participants, Ted Patrick, a San Diego resident. Patrick, apparently, had operated a network in the United States and Canada which used to try to capture youngsters who had joined unorthodox religions and return them to their parents for deprogramming.

He now has been barred from re-entry to Canada after being convicted in California of an offence similar to kidnapping, although sources say he has managed to slip into the country -* least once since then.

Wendy's difficulties began more than a year ago when she became convinced by preachers of the Unification Church, headed by a South Korean, Sun Myung Moon, that she should join.

The church was founded by Moon, a 56-year-old former Presbyterian minister, in 1954 and basically preaches that Christ failed to re-unite man with God but that a new messiah will arrive from the East soon to complete the mission.

New members are initiated in a series of workshops and when the process '- complete thev are taken into the church's communal living quarters, mainly estates in New York.

Wendy's parents say she, like most of the 30,000 American members of the sect, was lured into the church by the attraction of its doctrine, which is a combination of Bible reinterpretation ' and eastern mysticism, and because they were people given to romantic fantasies or daydreaming, and were thus easily brainwashed.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Helander of Guilford, Conn., took Wendy bodily from the church the first time she joined and had her deprogrammed.

What exactly deprogramming consists of is difficult to determine. The Helanders say it simply means isolating a youngster with older adults who try to "cleanse the spirit."

But Unification Church members say it means being locked, terrified, in a room with older people who scream constantly that the member is insane, obscene and possessed by the devil. This is continued, they say, until the subject breaks down in shame and agrees to leave the church.

Whatever is the case, deprogramming is a process Wendy, now 18, is desperately frightened of going through again. Months after being taken away from the church the last time, she ran away from home and rejoined.

Her parents now are locked in a federal court struggle to have her removed on the grounds she is being held against her will.

She has refused to appear, saying through her counsel, Philip Hirschkop: "She wants to see her parents. She loves them dearly. She's scared to death of them though."

Vehicle Hits House

TRENTON — For the second time in less than a week an automobile struck a house, this time causing more than $2,000 damage, Tuesday morning.

Audrey Sheath, 35, of 28 Edwards Street, Trenton was charged with going through a red light when she was in collision with a second vehicle and then drove into the front of a house at 200 Dundas West, suffering minor cuts and bruises.

Adriaane Moelker, 48, RR 4, Trenton, was making a right turn from Dufferin Street onto Dundas West when the Sheath vehicle was in collision with her car, causing $1,200 damage. Patsy Moelker, 11, a passenger in the car, was treated for cuts and bruises.

The house, owned by John Bonn, had some of the siding damaged and a joist in the basement was smashed, police said. Damage estimate was unknown.

Tomatoes Come First

Grade 7 and 8 students at Belleville and District Christian School will be leaving classes today to help a Bloomfield area farmer pick his tomato crop.

Principal Hank Schaly said Marinus Prinzen, RR 2, Bloomfield, has not been able to get helpers to pick his 20-acre crop and it will 'either rot or freeze".

"If help is needed, we as a student body will go out and help," said Mr. Schaly.

"It's not for money; it's this man's need for help."

Mr. Schaly said he has never picked tomatoes.

About 24 students will be travelling to the farm.

Roofing Washes Off

The Ontario Provincial Police are currently carrying out an investigation concerning transient jobbers who are allegedly spraying roofs in the area, says Constable Brian Turner, community services co-ordinator for the OPP's District 9.

In a news release issued Tuesday, Constable Turner said, "complaints have been received to the effect that the material used washes off in the rain and in some instances, damages roofing materials."

He urged "anyone living within OPP jurisdiction who has had work done of this nature, within the last two years, or who has any knowledge of the whereabouts of such jobbers, is asked to contact the nearest Ontario Provincial Police detachment."

Hidden Crib Adds $4,500 To Cost of Intake Pipe

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Belleville utilities commission Tuesday agreed to pay a contractor an additional $4,500 due to unforseen problems installing a 36-inch intake pipe.

"There was no way for the contractor or the commission to foresee the problem," said general manager Neil Britton in a commission meeting.

Mr. Britton said additional costs occurred when a timber and stone dock cribcage built about 1878 was discovered during underwater construction of an intake pipe in Quinte Bay.

Mr. Britton said the contract does not require the commission to pay additional expenses but if they do not compensate the builder future contractors may charge extra in the event unforseen problems arise.

The original contract for the intake pipe, surge tank, pump and other piping to feed Bay of Quinte water into the city water purification plant was with Canada Dredging and Dock Co. Ltd., of Toronto for $322,080.

The price was reduced to about $247,000 as silt did not have to be removed from the Bay.

Consultant Core and Storrie Ltd., recommended to PUC that the additional $9,000 be shared by the contractor and the commission.

The job was begun last November and finished in May. PUC is still doing some work on the shoreline.

Youth Held Following Drug Store Holdup

A 19-year-old Kingston area man has been charged with armed robbery in connection with a holdup at Kelly's Drugs at 411 East Bridge St. in Belleville Tuesday.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today the man is identified as Douglas Ernie Cockborn of RR 1, Kingston. He said Cockburn was to appear at a bail hearing in Belleville today.

The drama began at about 2 p.m. when city police received a report of the theft of a 1969 Ford station wagon which was parked on Front St. near Campbell St.

Chief Crosbie said the car, owned by Garland Burkitt of RR 1, Gilmour, was being operated by his wife. He said Mrs. Burkitt was shopping and had placed the keys over the sun visor.

Police said at 3 p.m., a man with a nylon stocking over his head and brandishing a .32 calibre revolver entered the rear side door of the drugstore where the post office is located and ordered clerk Mrs. Norma Lentz to open the till.

The man removed an amount of money in bills in excess of $200 and fled. Police said someone in the store watched the man flee in a car matching the description of the earlier stolen vehicle. The observer managed to record the licence number.

After police received the report, Constable Daryl Wagar investigated the former cement plant on Point Anne Lane and on her return saw the stolen vehicle approaching her.

She gave chase and was joined by off-duty Constable Bill Brook in his truck.

The suspect pulled up to the cement plant and ran into one of the buildings. Workers dismantling the plant told police someone was in the boiler room and Constables Tom Burkitt and Frank Hall ordered the man out and arrested him.

Constable Al Armstrong of Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville later discovered a revolver in a trash container beside the boiler room.

During a police search of the suspect, $225 in cash was found.

Election Mechanic

Quinte riding election returning officer Gerry Joyce sits at the centre of the provincial election machine here. He carries the responsibility of making sure everyone knows his job and that the election machine runs smoothly.

Nine Months For Break-in

MADOC — A young man from Moira Lake in Huntingdon Township, south of here, Tuesday was sentenced on a series of charges, which included a break-in.

Ronald Carl McCoy, 18, was given three months definite and nine months indefinite following a break-in at Pigden's garage here. He was also sentenced to a month for possession of a stolen vehicle, 15 days for dangerous driving and was prohibited from driving for 18 months.

The sentences, imposed in provincial judge's court here, will run concurrently.

Mishap Brings Fine

MADOC — Albert Hartin, 26, of 16 James St., Tweed, was fined $250 for careless driving and sentenced to 14 days for driving while under licence suspension here Tuesday.

The charges were laid after an accident Aug. 2 on the Sulphide Road, north of Tweed, in which four people were injured.

The penalties were imposed by Judge R. C. Jackson in provincial court.

Corke Has Water Woes

New Belleville mayor Ben Corke already has water problems.

"I get telephone calls from people saying I love Belleville except for the water," Mayor Corke said at a utilities commission meeting Tuesday.

"It will be another month before it gets the weedy taste out of it," a commission director said.

PUC general manager Neil Britton said in April at a seminar at Loyalist College that if you don't like the taste of the water: add ice.

Mr. Britton said the odor and taste of the water becomes more noticable as the temperature increases.

Flavor in water from Bay of Quinte traditionally occurs every summer as the water level in the Bay drops and the temperature increases.

Local Issues Secondary

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Issues of local significance took a back seat while provincial leadership and party policies dominated the speeches of the three Quinte politicians at an all candidates night Tuesday.

The candidates Robin Jeffrey (PC), Hugh O'Neil (Lib.) and Carson McLauchlan (NDP) spent the bulk of their allotted times discussing the merits of their respective leaders and policies. Issues of local significance were left as post scripts to the main text.

The event night was sponsored by the Womens Sales and Advertising Club of Belleville.

Following the meeting each candidate agreed generally the election is being waged on a provincial scale and that locally, the candidates are unanimous in their views of the local issues. The bay bridge replacement, increased provincial aid for riding municipalities and marina facilities are included in each candidate's platform.

Mrs. Jeffrey said "rather than an election of issues, it is a campaign of candidate qualifications. To some degree it is a leadership campaign but the electorate is still interested in their candidates."

Mr. O'Neil said that while the emphasis is not on local issues, "it is a combination of how the candidate approaches local issues, party leaders and party policies that will determine the election outcome."

Mr. McLauchlan was the most emphatic about the complexion of the election race saying it is definitely a matter of party leadership and policies.

"All of the candidates in the Quinte riding are looking for the same things . . . giving the voter little idea how each differs," said Mr. McLauchlan. "The voter is being asked to look further than the local candidate towards the party as a whole," he said.

In general Mrs. Jeffrey told how the Davis Government has stacked up a "substantial record" of accomplishments while Mr. O'Neil criticized Davis for over-spending. Meanwhile, the NDP candidate, Carson McLauchlan, said "we're tired of the government's promises that will happen tomorrow.

The Campaigners

Robin Jeffrey Not Resting On Former Election Wins

While most are inclined to consider the Quinte riding safe seat for the Tories — fledgling provincial candidate Robin Jeffrey is taking nothing for granted.

In fact — she's running harder than she's ever campaigned before.

She's been successful in aldermanic campaigns. Her race against Dr. Russell Scott for the mayor's chair and acclamation last fall returning her to the city's highest office have shown the electorate she is a polished campaigner with a winning formula.

For Quinte Conservatives the current provincial campaign trail is vastly different from the one pursued by retired member Dr. R. T. Potter.

"In Dr. Potter we had an established member bound for a cabinet post who could speak with authority on government performance," said Mrs. Jeffrey's campaign manager Fred Deacon.

"With Robin we can't go to the 'big speech approach' used by Dick," he said. "Rather, we are concentrating on one-to-one relationships with our candidate doing a lot of door knocking and handshaking."

"It's the kind of campaign Robin does well . . . the kind that is both gruelling and stimulating to her," said Mr. Deacon.

As Mrs. Jeffrey puts it, "I'm using the front line attack with a whole bunch of handshaking."

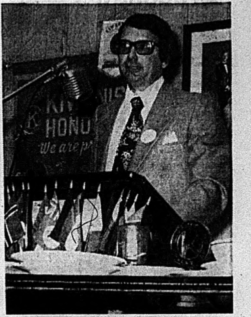
"The Tories aren't in without a race and the election is certainly not in the bag," she said. "There have been tremendous changes in the population here presentimg a challenge to any candidate."

"For that reason the campaign has been exciting," said Mrs. Jeffrey. "I'm working hard so that I won't let my (campaign) team down."

Because of her rural upbringing and extensive knowledge and experience in municipal affairs, Mrs. Jeffrey has announced she will seek posts on farm and municipal committees if elected.

For riding priorities, Mrs. Jeffrey said because of the diverse nature of the riding, each municipality has different needs.

Increased provincial funding to aid with Belleville trunk servicing making way for more housing; preservation of farm land; increased aid for Sidney Township farmers; a marine facility and new bridge for Trenton and the reccognition that Frankford and Batawa are a major growth area and that class three and four agricultural land in those municipalities be developed for urban uses are all areas of concern she said.



Strikes No Solution

Hugh O'Neil, Quinte Liberal candidate, said Tuesday at a meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club that there must be some solution to labor disputes other than strikes.

Decision Process Needs Shuffle Says O'Neil

The minds of civil servants move in "Tory grooves" and it's time a new government cleans out the cobwebs, uinte Liberal Candidate Hugh O'Neil said Tuesday.

Provincial government departmental ministers' assistants should be elected representatives, Mr. O'Neil said at a regular meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

"I suggest two ministers' assistants should be elected so more policy is by the elected officials and not by civil servants."

He told the group of businessmen there must be some other solution to labor disputes than strikes: "I think we're all fed up with strikes."

Mr. O'Neil partly blamed the Liberal federal government and unemployment insurance policies.

"Society has been trained not to work and not to produce. Until the federal government changes something it will continue . . ."

Jeffrey, 'A Proven Worker'

With her daughter Allison, Progressive Conservative candidate in Quinte riding Robin Jeffrey prepares for campaign duties. The local party line hammers away at Mrs. Jeffrey's proven municipal record pointing to it as a solid foundation and stepping stone to catapult the former city mayor into provincial politics.

District Returning Officer Has Final Say in Tie Vote

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Aloof from the election razzle dazzle of which he was a participant for so long, Quinte riding returning officer Gerry Joyce has hung up his track shoes for his work as the local mechanic for the election machine.

One of 125 district returning officers across the province, Mr. Joyce, locally, is the last word in the election — in every sense of the word.

In the Quinte riding, 646 people are working under him making sure the machine runs smoothly — that everyone entitled to vote is enumerated — that every deputy returning officer and clerk knows his job and does it.

If anything goes wrong, Mr. Joyce and his 124 Ontario counterparts are autonomous to take whatever action necessary to get back on the tracks.

"The returning officer is the absolute, last word in most things that go on in an election," he said.

His final word is the tie-breaking vote he can cast to send one candidate to Queen's Park. In the event the election is tied, it is the returning officer who is allowed to exercise his mandate to cast the deciding ballot.

If the returning officer has any active political preference, his deciding ballot — if ever needed — should be the only telltale sign.

The returning officer must become completely neutral among the parties — showing no bias in any regard.

Before his appointment to the job, Mr. Joyce had been a most active Conservative Party worker. Besides being the past president of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Association and past vice-president of the Quinte Association, Mr. Joyce personally guided the campaigns of Lee Grills in two federal races and former Quinte member Dr. R.T. Potter's first provincial race.

But, "It's surprising how easy it is to de-program yourself to neutrality," said Mr. Joyce.

"I miss part of it but its a sacrifice you have to make when you take the job," he said.

There's an honorarium earned by the returning officer which Mr. Joyce says would easily be exceeded in private business. The seven-day-a-week job, however, is a "challenge. That's why I took it."

"I enjoy the election machinery and like to be a part of it," he said. "Chances are if I were not working as a returning officer, I'd take the time off my job to work as a party volunteer anyway."

Look for Differences But They'll Be Settled

What tonight's Belleville Minor Sports Association meeting could turn out to be is a 15-round bout between the two heavyweights on the city's minor sports scene — Belleville Minor Hockey Association, 1,300 strong, and the current champion, BMSA.

However, if both sides stick to their original plans neither should come out slugging.

Ron McEachern, president of hockey, and Sy Bochnek, secretary of the parent association, both expect major discrepancies to arise but they also believe the differences can be settled in a congenial manner.

Another thing both have in common is a belief that the city needs to come through with more money in support of the association.

"That's what it all comes down to," said Bochnek, "but it is very unlikely we'll get much more."

"Whenever something has to be cut in the city's budget recreation is usually the first thing they look at," he added.

For the past few years this has been the case. When the Recreation - Arena Committee presents its budget, in which minor sports is included, to city council, it is usually cut considerably from original estimates.

Then the Recreation-Arena Committee, with that smaller amount of money, has to decide in which areas they can afford to cut down. Thus, minor sports receives much less than they originally request.

With this in mind, minor sports and minor hockey should be able to keep sparring to a minimum at tonight's match.

• • • •

SLICES — The problem between minor hockey and the minor sports organization stems directly from the city's frugality towards the recreation program.

While costs keep increasing and minor sports requests more money, for the past three years all BMSA has been granted is $12,000.

At the same time, for example, the cost of ice per hour for minor hockey has gone up $6 per hour to $23.

What is confusing is that while the city has raised the cost of ice rental from $24 to $30 per hour in the last three years to help defer added expenses and keep the arenas within a reasonable deficit figure, why does minor sports receive the same gratuity each year?

Are they not affected by the same inflation as the rest of the city?

While minor sports receives the same amount of money each year and hockey pays more for ice time each year, our arena debt continues to climb each year and during the same three year period, our taxes increased.

Kind of a thought provoking conflict — isn't it?

Strong Backfield Predict Coaches

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

"A number of people have let us down, but we're still going to be in the thick of things" said Moira Trojan coach, Hugh Cooke, about prospects for the coming Bay of Quinte High School Senior Football Season.

Cooke wasn't kidding when he said a couple of people let him down, as he has been left without an experienced quarterback and one of his top runners. Scott Sisson and John Lowe have decided not to return for another year of football.

Coaches Cooke and Dave Langille were quick to point out they still have a strong, and very competitive ball team.

"Our backfield will be particularly strong. We have Roger Sprague, Rick North, Mike McClelland and Larry Walsh playing for us this season," said Cooke.

"Sprague, North and McClelland all return from last year's squad, while Walsh is just up from the junior ranks.

"We had a good year last year, we were 4-2 and lost both of our games to league champion Trenton," added Cooke.

The two losses were in the Trojans' first two games of the year, and after that they got things into high gear.

Two newcomers to the position of quarterback will have the job. Whether that will hurt the Trojans will be seen in their first game against Madoc. The two players are Joe Molaski and Tony Bennett, both volunteers.

Two newcomers from Belleville Collegiate Institute should help the Trojans also. They are Mike Crawford and Steve Clapp, a pair who played regularly for the BCI team before it folded in mid season.

Others Cooke feels will help the team are centres Dave Stott and John Tomaso, and Tom Stather. At the defensive tackle position the coaches are looking for a repeat performance from Norm Davis and Rob Latchford.

"The thing that may be hurting us most is the fact that a good number of players have to work after school, instead of practising," commented Langille.

"A lot of guys will be going both ways" offered Stott, one of last year's standouts.

"The two teams we will be looking to get back at are Trenton and Madoc" added North.

"We're looking forward to this season, because it's going to be tough, and we have a good team" Langille said.

Extensive practices have been run since September 2, and, if nothing else, the Trojans look in good physical shape for the coming season.

Mulroney's and Broadloom Minor Baseball Champs

Sweeping the final series with Stopette in three straight games, Mulroney's Sunoco rolled to the city championship in the Belleville Minor Baseball Association bantam division.

While Mulroney's captured top honors in its division, the tyke crown went to Belleville Broadloom, winner of three games of four with Alhambra 109. The other game ended in a tie.

In the game which decided the bantam series, Lois Scanlon and Ian McCutcheon shared the pitching duties for the winners while Paul Dent, Terry Kingsman and Gary Rideout were on the firing line for Stopette. Final score was 12-8.

Scanlon doubled and stroked a pair of singles to lead the attack while Ian Stock slammed a triple and a double. Grant Boulton was tops for the losers with a pair of singles.

Mulroney's took the opener of the series by a close 2-1 score and followed up with an 11-4 victory before wrapping it up.

Broadloom took the tyke honors with a 13-8 win in the fourth game of the set with Alhambra.

David Shanque and Todd Goyer got the win. Pitching for Alhambra were Dave Turpin and John Gosson.

Glen Maxwell checked in with a home run and a single for the winners. Mike Wood had two singles. Paul Vogt and Dwayne Emery each collected two singles for the losers.

Minor Softball

Red Shark Squad Bantam Champs

Red Shark has captured the city championship in the bantam division of the Belleville Minor Softball Association.

The champs got by a stubborn Belleville Police Association team 10-6 in the third and deciding game of the final set.

Strong relief pitching by Randy Smith combined with a steady start by Bob Dall led Red Shark while Tim McWilliams pitched well in defeat.

A home run and a double by Ken Connors sparked the Red Shark offensive. Rick Turner slammed a triple and Dall supplied a double.

Ray Gee homered for Police. John Jonopoulous connected for a double and a single while Terry Grimson tripled.

Red Shark is coached by Dave MacMullen assisted by Roy MacKinnon and John MacMullen. Pete Hunt coaches the Police team with the assistance of Paul Pickell.

Police dropped the opener of the series 7-5 but bounced back to even things with a 7-2 win in Game 2.

At the peewee level, Malcolm Brothers and Kinsmen Squirts are all even at a win each. After losing the opener 7-6, Malcolm Brothers bounced back to square the set with a 10-8 win.

Takes Final 4-2

Devolin Captures Playoff Honors

By TOM GAVEY

Sports Staff

With the bases loaded in the bottom of the fourth inning, and only one out it looked like Bardon Supplies were pretty sure of some important runs. Especially with a long ball hit hard and shallow to centre, no one could blame Bardon players for getting just a little optimistic.

What they didn't count on was centre fielder Jim Horwood of Devolin Motors. All Horwood did was make a diving catch, roll over, and keep the ball in his glove, for the second out of the inning.

Devolin Motors took the game 4-2 and the series by the same margin to win the Quinte Fastball League championship on Tuesday night at the Alemite.

"It's beautiful" said Devolin coach Lyle Thompson, and his players were quick to agree with him.

Devolin didn't have an easy time winning the QFL championship, as they had to go through two very talented teams in the Trenton Auger's and then Bardon Supplies.

In the win Tuesday, Larry Griffin was on the mound. He collected nine strikeouts while walking one in the contest. Griffin hurled an eight hitter, all singles.

The loss for Bardons was absorbed by Ken DeMille, who was touched for six hits and walked one. He had two strikeouts in the losing cause.

Devolin took a quick lead in the first inning with two runs. A Bardon error helped the Motormen around.

Bardon almost came back in the seventh. They scored two runs when Earl Foster belted one to centrefielder Horwood, who misplayed the ball. That was all Bardons were to get though, as Griffin hung on to take the win, his second of the series.

Ralph Plane was the big man for Devolin at the plate with three singles. Griffin, John Burnside and Dave Horwood also singled.

Ron Weese put out a good effort at the plate for Bardon, with three one baggers but his safeties were in vain. Denis Neron, Ken DeMille, and Warren Ostrander all reached base with singles. Earl Foster had two one baggers.

With the win went the Alexander Cup, which was presented to Don Holoway, by Mrs. Alexander. George Rutledge presented the top hitter trophy to Rick Rosebush.

The series was a close one, and it could have gone either way.

SHBL Showdown Tied

For the third year in a row, Latta and Melrose are battling it out for the South Hastings Baseball League championship. In 1973, Melrose won the title after falling behind 3-0 in the best-of-seven series.

Last year, Latta took it in six games and this year looks like it could be another nip and tuck affair.

Tuesday night at Melrose, the pennant winning Latta crew squared the series at 1-1 with a 6-2 victory.

Bob Reid, having his best year in SHBL, went the distance scattering five hits. He fanned seven and walked three.

Veteran Terry McTaggart was tagged with the loss in two and two-thirds innings after giving up four runs. Randy Pascoe completed the game. They combined to fan seven and walk five while being touched for eight safeties.

In Latta's three run third, McTaggart gave up a walk with two out and then was reached for singles by three consecutive batters. Pascoe came in, walked in the winning run and gave up one more on an RBI single before retiring the side. Melrose had held a 2-1 lead prior to the inning.

Bob Smith, Wayne Harrison and Roger Ray were all instrumental in the big third. They netted two singles apiece over the distance. Dale Bamber and Bob Reid had one each.

Glen McMechan, Larry Pascoe, Bruce Pascoe, Hugh Brennan and Scott McLaren each collected a single for the losers.

Action resumes Thursday at 6.15 p.m. in Latta with the third game in the set.

To the Victors

Sheila Alexander presents Alexander Cup to Devolin Motors coach Lyle Thompson (right) and pitcher Don Holoway, representing the club. Devolin won playoff championship of the Quinte Fastball League with 4-2 win over Bardon Supplies, Tuesday, at Alemite Park, taking the final series 4-2.

Happy Fans? Not Always

By TOM WILT

Associated Press Writer

Thousands of happy screaming fans cheering for their heroes and packing the concession stands is the way owners of professional sports teams envisag their stadiums.

But the fans aren't always happy. Sometimes they scream for blood, and sometimes they can turn nasty and even violent.

"It concerns the whole concept of the shared superego," says Dr. Brian P. Lipton, a psychiatry instructor at Columbia University. "When people are together in large numbers, they tend not to take responsibility for their own consciences and actions."

Dr. Lipton and his peers say a definite mob psychology tends to manifest itself at sporting events. The individual takes on the crowd's personality; he joins in acts he would not normally indulge in alone.

And if the crowd's attitude is hostile or belligerent, rowdyism, mayhem, perhaps even riots could be the end product.

Some sports officials are taking steps to lessen the problem. Others say they are looking into possible courses of actions and a few pass the whole thing off, showing little concern.

"We have adopted a resolution urging teams to get players off the field quickly after a game," says Don Weiss, director of public relations for the National Football League.

He says football has had an active program aimed at controlling rowdyism for some time.

But of all the major sports, football appears least affected by fan rowdyism in the United States.

As one NFL club executive said: "A fan isn't going to mess with a pro football player. A kid ran out on to the field in Baltimore once and Mike Curtis levelled him with a crunching block. It was on national TV. That probably did more to curb over-zealous fans than any program we've got going could."

Baseball's Henry Fitzgibbon, director of security, and Bob Wirtz, director of information for the major leagues, say they continuously review things like club promotions that could cause problems.

Black Diamond Takes Opener

The Prince Edward North Shore - Belleville Industrial Softball League Challenge Series got underway in Ameliasburg Tuesday night and it appears the only one that has a challenge ahead of them is Bayview Orchards, league champions of the North Shore group.

Black Diamond, representing the Industrial League, rolled to a big 8-0 victory in the opening game of the best-of-five series.

Ron Andrews earned the win, scattering seven hits and fanning five. Don Bonter was the losing hurler with relief help from Steve Doxtator. They also gave up seven hits.

The Indsutrial League team scored six runs in the first three innings and added two in the sixth to coast to victory.

Jack Francis had a triple and a single for Black Diamond and Ron Bateman collected a pair of singles. Gene Francis, Myles McDonell and Doug Stewart had one safety apiece.

Rob Roblin had a triple and Doxtator, John Allison, George Foote, Wayne Craig, George Daniels and Bill Krystallyn singled once each in a losing cause.

DOLPHINS MISS SEASON

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Dolphins have lost two of their defensive players for the 1975 National Football League season. Middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and All-Pro safety Dick Anderson were placed on the injured reserve list Tuesday, making them ineligible for the season. Buoniconti suffered a shattered thumb and Anderson needed surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left knee.

JETS WIN

HELSINKI (CP) — Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association defeated Helsinki I.F.K. 7-5 Tuesday night in the opening match of their three-country tour of Europe. The Jets led 3-2 after one period and 4-3 after two. Bobby Hull with three, Norm Beaudin, Perry Miller, Anders Hedberg, and Bill Lesuk scored for the Jets before a capacity crowd of 9,000.

Mets 'Cousins' To the Expos

MONTREAL (CP)—Mike Jorgensen's run-scoring double in the bottom of the 10th inning gave Montreal Expos a 2-1 win over New York Mets in a National League baseball game Tuesday night.

Jim Dwyer opened the inning with a single off Mets reliever Bob Apodaca, 1-3, and scored from first when Jorgensen followed with his smash to right field.

Montreal reliever Dale Murray picked up the win and moved his record to 12-8.

The Expos took a 1-0 lead in the sixth on a home run by catcher Jose Morales. Morales slugged a 2-2 pitch over the right-field fence for his second homer of the season.

But the Mets came back to tie the score in the seventh with Jack Heidemann driving in the run. Rusty Staub started the inning with a single and moved to second on a single by Joe Torre. Jerry Grote forced Torre at second while Staub moved to third and Heidemann then slapped a single to left.

Both clubs blew chances to score early. In the first, the Mets had runners at first and second with one out after Felix Millan walked and Mike Vail singled. A passed ball by Morales allowed both runners to advance, but Dave Kingman popped out and Staub flied out to end the threat.

Jerry White led off the bottom of the inning with a triple but could not score as Dwyer and Larry Bittner popped out and Pat Scanlon fanned.

The victory was Montreal's 10th in 16 decisions against the Mets, sixth in nine games and completed a three-game series sweep.

Phils' Steve Carlton Back in Form

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pitcher earns his living with his throwing arm, so when it's hurt, the pain often goes right to his head.

It's been a frustrating season for Steve Carlton, the National League Cy Young Award winner in 1972 but now a less-than .500 pitcher.

When his pitching record was up Carlton was up, but when his pitching fell on hard times, he was down, often hiding from reporters in the off-limit trainer's room or telling interviewers: "I'm not talking this week."

The bouncy, happy-go-lucky Carlton, the cover boy of 1972, returned to Philadelphia Tuesday night, and he was once again an open book.

"I've been pain free for the last three or four games," said the big left-hander, who pitched and batted Philadelphia Phillies back into the pennant picture with a six-hit, 6-2 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. "I've been raring back and throwing the ball. I don't have to finesse, and it makes a difference."

Carlton, whose triumph left the Phillies six games behind the front-running Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East, has been suffering from a bone spur in his left elbow.

"I'm throwing as good as ever," said Carlton, 12-13, whose two-run double keyed Philadelphia's four-run fifth inning. "We're a better ball club than Pittsburgh and we deserve to be a lot closer, even in first place."

Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago Cubs nipped the Pirates 6-5, Montreal Expos edged New York Mets 2-1 in 10 innings, San Diego Padres beat Cincinnati Reds 11-2, Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco Giants 8-3 and Atlanta Braves beat Houston Astros 4-1.

Andy Thornton hit his 15th homer, then hit a tie-breaking single to lead Chicago past Pittsburgh. Bill Bonham and relief pitcher Paul Reuschel combined for a seven-hitter against the Pirates, who made three errors and allowed four unearned runs.

The Reds may be kings of the NL West but the Padres weren't letting them rest on their laurels. Willie McCovey drove in four runs and left-hander Rich Folkers fired a three-hitter to bring the Reds down to earth.

McCovey, with two singles and his 19th homer, led the Padres' 15-hit attack against the Reds, who clinched their division race Sunday and had their four-game winning streak snapped Tuesday night.

Leo Lacy's tie-breaking single in the eighth inning touched off a five-run rally that pulled second-place Los Angeles 6½ games ahead of the third-place Giants in the West.

Home runs from Marty Perez, Mike Lum and Dave May of Atlanta Braves helped rookie right-hander Adrian Devine to his first victory of the season. Devine was summoned last week from the Braves' Richmond, Va., farm club.

Jim Dwyer's single and Mike Jorgensen's run-scoring double in the 10th inning sent the faltering Mets to their fifth straight loss. The Mets, who were part of the NL East pennant race a week ago before losing two of three to the Pirates, are now nine games out.

HOWE LACES SKATES

TORONTO (AP) — Gordie Howe, hockey's all-time leading scorer, will become the first playing president in hockey history when he skates for Houston Aeros of the World Hockey Association in their season opener. For now, Howe is scheduled to play in just one game before retiring to the Aeros' front office. But Ben Hatskin, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the league, said Tuesday that Howe may be persuaded to change his plans.

Chicago Star Out of Action

PITTSUBRGH (AP) — Bill Madlock of baseball's Chicago Cubs, the National League leader with a .362 batting average, has been sidelined indefinitely with a cracked bone in his right thumb.

Madlock was struck by a pitch from Bruce Kison of Pittsburgh Pirates in the fifth inning of Chicago's 6-5 victory here Tuesday night.

"He could be out a week. He could be out the rest of the season. It's indefinite at this point," said Chicago manager Jim Marshall.

Madlock is in his second season with Chicago. He batted .313 in 128 games with the Cubs a year ago.

Coach Satisfied With Team's Play

HALIFAX (CP) — The Canadian National Womens' Basketball team returned to Canada Monday after notching 13 victories in 20 games during an extended five-week tour through eastern Europe.

"Any time you are on the road it is tough to win a game," coach Brian Heaney said in an interview Tuesday.

But he said the team had shown it has what it takes to win an Olympic medal.

"When you are half a world away for 40 days, the situation approaches absurdity. Our kids battled time changes, dietary problems, cramped and inadequate living conditions and mental and physical fatigue.

"We won a silver medal in the Hungary tournament; a bronze in Czechoslovakia, copped 13 victories in 20 games and brought home our best record."

The team travels to the World Championships in Colombia Sept. 20 where it will compete against the Soviet Union, Hungary and Argentina.

The team, consisting of 12 players ranging in age from 18 to 27, is sponsored by Sports Canada.

Orioles Keeping Hopes Alive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A funny thing is happening to Boston Red Sox on the way to the American League East Division baseball pennant.

They're slipping—and Baltimore Orioles could have the last laugh.

The Orioles, all but given up as dead birds less than a week ago, kept their fluttering hopes alive Tuesday with a 9-1 victory over Milwaukee Brewers.

Coupled with Boston's 3-2 defeat in 10 innings at Cleveland, it moved the Orioles within five games of the top—the closest they've been since July 8.

And it raised Baltimore hopes of repeating last year's performance.

"It's impossible to say how many we can afford to lose," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver. "Last year they were nine up on us and we beat them by seven. That's 16 games we made up in a month, and we made up nine in 10 days. It all depends what Boston does. They slumped at the end last year, but they haven't had a real slump since."

The Orioles and Red Sox both have 19 games left, including two against each other in Boston next Tuesday and Wednesday.

"If we don't get rained out before then, I'll pitch (Jim) Palmer and (Mike) Torrez against them," Weaver said, referring to the two aces of his staff.

While the Red Sox and Orioles were trying to decide the outcome of the American League East, Oakland A's strengthened their chances in the AL West with a 2-1 victory over Kansas City Royals in 14 innings.

Elsewhere, California Angels beat Chicago White Sox 5-4, New York Yankees defeated Detroit Tigers 9-6 and Texas Rangers took a doubleheader from Minnesota Twins, 3-0 and 4-2.

Lee May and Dave Duncan led a pair of four-run rallies and Doyle Alexander pitched a four-hitter, leading Baltimore's rout of Milwaukee. The victory was the 10th in 15 games for the surging Orioles.

Alan Ashby's run-scoring single in the 10th led Cleveland over Boston. George Hendrick doubled and eventually scored on Ashby's hit to left. The Indians' victory gave them a 9-5 edge over the East leaders, the only AL team to hold the upper hand over Boston this year.

Bill North's run-scoring single with two out in the 14th inning gave Oakland its victory over Kansas City. The win increased the A's lead to seven games over the Royals in the American League West.

Mike Miley drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly and Bruce Bochte doubled home the eventual winning run in the seventh inning to lead California over Chicago. Miley singled in a run in the fifth and drove in another on his sacrifice fly in the sixth. Bochte doubled in a run in the seventh after Lee Stanton had walked and stolen second, giving the the Angels a 5-2 lead.

Toronto May Get the Giants

TORONTO (CP) — Almost everyone is denying that San Francisco Giants are about to move to Toronto except the man who heads the group trying to buy the baseball franchise.

And Lorne Duguid, one of the key men in talks to bring the Giants north, has an explanation for all the denials.

Duguid said his group had also talked to other major-league teams, "but, as in the case of San Francisco, it's the same thing; if people found out how serious we were, the fans would probably drop off."

The Giants, of course, can ill afford to lose any more fans. The team has been losing $1 million annually in recent years and there has long been talk that the San Francisco Bay area can't support both the Giants and the champion Oakland A's.

Despite the denials by the Giants and other officials, Duguid said Tuesday that negotiations to buy the National League club and move it here were progressing favorably.

There were reports that transfer of the Giants to Toronto and of the American League Minnesota Twins to Seattle were on the agenda for baseball's inter-league committee meetings later this month in Kansas City, but members of the inter-league committee, which handles expansion and franchise moves, denied knowledge of such moves.

Bud Selig, president of Milwaukee Brewers, and Montreal Expos president John McHale, both committee members, denied that any recommendations had been put before the committee.

Selig called the reports "ridiculous" and "absolutely unfounded."

McHale said: "We on the committee have been meeting many, many times and will continue to meet concerning expansion. I'm fighting like hell to get a franchise for Toronto. It would be great for us up here (Montreal), but no formal recommendation has been put together this month."

McHale said he couldn't predict when Toronto might get a franchise.

"You're dealing with a very complex question. It involves the minds of many, many people and I can't read their minds."

Duguid, a director of Maple Leaf Gardens, is allied with a group headed by R. Howard Webster. Together, they have formed the Toronto Baseball Club which Duguid says "has been together since we started."

Duguid said negotiations with the Giants have been going on for seven months but have been kept quiet because of a long-term contract which ties the Giants to San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

"But we have found a way around that," said Duguid, refusing to elaborate.

Minnesota Twins owner Calvin Griffith said the inter-league committee had not contacted him on a possible Twins move to Seattle.

"I flatly deny this story," said baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn, referring to the reports of the Twins and Giants moves. "The franchise committee has not made any recommendations and there's no guarantee it will happen in Kansas City."

Giants owner Horace Stoneham said: "We're not ready to sell, and if and when we are, the Giants will be sold in place. They are not going to leave San Francisco."

Mann Cup Series

Bench Penalties Hurt Brampton

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors' coach Ken Lotton didn't have to look far for the reason behind his team's 11-10 overtime loss to Vancouver Burrards in the opening game Tuesday night of the Mann Cup senior lacrosse final.

It was right there on the end of his bench.

Three bench minor penalties for having too many men on the floor enabled the Western Lacrosse Association champion Burrards to score three power-play goals at key stages of the game before a crowd of 3,137.

The penalties also helped Vancouver to come back from period deficits of 4-2 and 8-7 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three series. Second game will be played here Thursday and a third, if necessary, scheduled for Friday.

The three bench minors, plus 11 other Brampton penalties, were directly responsible for the Vancouver comeback, but Lotton refused to take any blame.

"We do things a little differently back east," said the coach of the Ontario Lacrosse Association champions. "Back home our bench openings aren't buried on the outside (of the player box) like they are here.

"It means our fresh lines are on either side and tonight we got caught."

Bench problems notwithstanding, Brampton appeared to have the momentum, grabbing a 5-2 lead early in the second period. The Excelsiors, however, took four consecutive penalties, which all led to Vancouver goals, and the Burrards scrambled back into contention.

Burrards' Ron Pinder, a 64-goal man as a rookie during the regular season, started Vancouver on its way with three second-period goals, lifting the Burrards from a three-goal deficit to cut the margin to one goal going into the third period.

Key Brampton penalties again allowed Pinder, Bob Holmes and Rico Bellusci to score, giving the Burrards a 10-9 lead. The Excelsiors appeared to be tiring from the persistent Vancouver attack.

The Burrards outshot Brampton 61-38 over the course of the game.

Charles Williams managed to score a shorthanded goal at 14:38 for Brampton to send the game into a 10-minute overtime period.

Veteran Gord Frederickson won the game for the Burrards at 3:52 of the overtime period, beating goaltender Harry Woods when left alone in front of the goal on a pass from Pinder. The Excelsiors were playing shorthanded at the time because of their third bench penalty for too many men.

Pinder had four goals and Bellusci three for the Burrards, while Holmes and Frederickson each scored twice.

Bob Burke, picked up by Brampton from their junior affiliate in Bramalea, led the Excelsiors with three goals before being injured late in the overtime. Fellow junior Steve Mastine scored twice.

Other Brampton goal scorers were Michael O'Brien, Bob Haw, Wayne Atkinson and Barry Richardson, and Williams.

CARDS GET WEST

ST. LOUIS (AP — St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League announced Tuesday the acquisition of rookie punter Jeff West on waivers from Cincinnati Bengals. West, 22, led U.S. college punters last year with an average of 41.5 yards a punt. He had a 42.6-yard average as a junior.

Burnaby Bombed

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Coach Ben Floyd thinks his Peterborough Gray-Munros were suffering stage fright when they lost 10-8 to Burnaby, B.C. in the opening game of the Minto Cup final Sunday.

But Peterborough was taking nothing but bows after a 20-3 victory in the second game before 1,874 fans Tuesday.

"I think the big crowd in the first game got the team tightened up," said coach Ben Floyd whose team average on 250 fans a game during the regular season.

The third game of the best-of-seven series to determine the Canadian junior lacrosse champions, is scheduled for tonight.

Burnaby coach Dan Mattinson saw it as the teams worst game of the year.

'We've never been this down before. It was just like men playing with little boys," said Mattinson. "They just breezed by us on the one-on-ones."

Captain Bob Wasson led the Peterborough attack with five goals while Mark Vitarelli scored four, Ken Byers, three, and Gord Duncan, two. John Martin, Moe Jodoin, Randy Bryan, Paul Evans, Steve Byers and Steve Plunkett each scored once.

Kevin Alexander had two goals for Burnaby and Mike Holden scored the only visitors' goal of the third period.

Campbell Quiet On Neeld's Suit

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Tuesday he had no immediate comment on a $4.5-million anti-trust suit brought against the league by player Greg Neeld.

Neeld, prohibited from playing in the NHL because of a league rule barring players with less than 25-per-cent vision in an eye, is seeking $1.5 million damages, which would be trebled under United States anti-trust laws.

"I don't know what his complaint is," Campbell said, except that "somehow or other he's not eligible to play in the National Hockey League."

The suit, filed Monday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, alleges that NHL teams conspired to prevent Neeld's selection in the first round of the amateur draft last June. It also alleges that the league's board of governors and others conspired to prevent him from playing for Buffalo Sabres or any other NHL team.

Neeld, 20, lost the sight in his left eye in a stick accident while playing for Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series in 1973-74.

He played with Calgary Centennials of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League last season and was chosen by the Sabres in the amateur draft.

Two Teams Must Pay

TORONTO (CP) — The World Hockey Association has directed Toronto Toros and Houston Aeros to satisfy claims made by Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Junior Hockey Association for John Tonelli and Mark Napier.

Unless the Marlboros get $100,000 from the Aeros for Tonelli and $75,000 from the Toros for Napier, neither will play this season.

"As soon as we get the money, we'll give Tonelli his release," said Harold Ballard, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, which owns the Marlies. "We have money coming for Napier, too."

What the Marlboros seek is 20 per cent of each player's salary for his first three years in professional hockey. Napier signed for "an estimated $375,000 for three years, Tonelli something similar.

Caribous Lead Semi-final

QUEBEC (CP) — Travis Cook scored four goals to lead Quebec Caribous to a 14-9 win over Long Island Tomahawks and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Lacrosse League semi-final series Tuesday night.

Brian Evans and Murray Cawker added two goals apiece to the Caribous attack in the game watched by 5,350 fans. Other Quebec scorers were Dave Durante, Jimmy Higgs, Jim Miller, Terry Sanderson, John MacDonald and Bruce Murdock.

Replying with one goal apiece for Long Island were Al Gordaneer, Doug Hayes, Paul Murdock, Charlie Henderson, Jim Johnston, Ted Greves, Brian Keegan, Al Lewfhwa Jan Oagee.

Long Island held a 59-46 edge in shots on goal.

The next game in the series is here Thursday night.

Inept Bombers Rile Bud Riley

WINNIPEG (CP) — "I just got tired of looking at the offence."

Those words by Winnipeg Blue Bomber head coach Bud Riley summed up the frustration and ineffectiveness displayed by the Bombers Tuesday night as they fell 15-1 to British Columbia Lions in a Western Football Conference game.

Riley made the remark in the Bomber dressing room when asked why, with just over 30 seconds left in the game, the Bombers punted instead of gambling on third down.

On the basis of Winnipeg's performance in the game, the statement appeared appropriate to him.

Game statistics showed Winnipeg's ineptness in the game. The Bombers gained only 49 yards rushing and 39 yards passing. But even those figures were misleading because, taking into account team losses through sacks on the quarterback, the Bombers ended the evening with 45 yards net offence.

The Lions had a net offence of 310 yards. However, their only touchdown was on a pass interception by Grady Cavness, a 37-yard return early in the third quarter.

The Lions' others points came off two field goals by John Wintermeyer who also got a convert and two singles. Eric Guthrie kicked two fourth-quarter field goals to round out the B.C. scoring.

The Bombers' only point came off Bernie Ruoff's missed 27-yard field goal try.

The Lions' greatest offesive performance came from Lou Harris who carried an impressive 28 times for 162 yards, taking the pressure of Peter Liske to allow the quarterback to pass for 147 yards.

Oshawa Squares Semi-final Set

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Bob Smith's two-run single in the first inning led Oshawa Tony's to a 3-1 victory over Newmarket Ray's Tuesday in their second game of the Ontario Fastball League semi-final series.

The best-of-five series now is tied 1-1. The third game will be played Thursday in Newmarket.

George Redshaw and Phil Gibbons scored for Oshawa on Smith's single. The Oshawa team got its third run in the sixth inning when Smith reached first on a error and went home on a single by Brian Myers.

Newmarket got its only run in the second inning when Gary Weston doubled and scored on Bill Lunney's single.

Oshawa pitcher Wayne Colley struck out 11 batters. Lunney was the losing pitcher.

Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

John Wintermeyer booted a convert and two singles as British Columbia Lions defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 15-1 in a Western Football Conference game Tuesday night but the output did nothing to improve his position in the individual scoring race.

Wintermeyer's three points gave him a total of 35 on 15 converts, five field goals and five singles. That left the B.C. placekicker still in fifth place, a single point behind Saskatchewan's Tom Campana, who has 36 points on six touchdowns.

Winnipeg kirker Bernie Ruoff booted a single to account for Winnipeg's only point in the game. He remains in third place with 46 points.

Placekicker Dave Cutler of Edmonton Eskimos continues to lead the conference with 81 points, followed by Cyril McFall of Calgary Stampeders with 52.

The leaders:

Saskatchewan Must Contain Burden'

REGINA (CP) — Coach John Payne and Saskatchewan Roughriders have identified their major problem in tonight's Western Football Conference game with Calgary Stampeders: Willie Burden.

The 195-pound running back, who has gained 908 yards in Calgary's seven games, will be the Stampeders' key offensive weapon as they seek a victory that will allow them to stay within reach of a playoff berth.

Calgary holds fourth place with three wins and four losses. Saskatchewan trails first-place Edmonton Eskimos by two points, but Edmonton has a game in hand.

The game starts at 8 p.m. CST and will be televised on the CTV western network.

Burden has been held under 100 yards in only two games this season. Saskatchewan held him to 70 in an opening-game 20-2 triumph and Edmonton stopped him just short of the 100-mark at 93 yards in a 35-31 Labor Day victory.

Payne said Burden's acceleration is the basis of his success.

"He can be turning under control and then turn it on quick. If you stop him, you pretty well stop their running game."

Burden's partner in the Stampeder backfield is Rick Galbos, once tried by Saskatchewan as a potential running mate for George Reed.

However, Galbos is a talented receiver who complements Tom Forzani and Glenn Scolnik as a target for quarterbacks Joe Pisarcik and Karl Douglas.

Reed's running mate is Steve Molnar, a journeyman back who, like Galbos, lacks speed. Quarterback Ron Lancaster uses Rhett Dawson and Tom Campana as his primary aerial threats.

The rival quarterbacks are expected to move to their passing attacks quickly because both teams have made changes in the secondary.

Regina was expected to rest all-star safety Ted Provost until he recovers from an arm broken during the exhibition season and deep back Ted Dushinski was scheduled to play despite a hip injury.

Other adjustments have been made at linebacker, where Roger Goree will fill Charlie Collins' old spot in the middle and Ted McEachern will work on the outside.

Sport Briefs

RIDLEY TRADED

ATLANTA (AP — Atlanta Flames of the National Hockey League traded centre Jerry Byers of their Omaha farm club Tuesday to New York Rangers in exchange for goalie Curt Ridley of the Rangers' Providence minor league team. Byers had 21 goals and 3. assists in 58 games with Omaha last year. Ridley had a 3.27 goals-against average in 57 games with Providence.

GERMAIN RETIRES

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP — Veteran centre Ray Germain of Port Huron Flags of the International Hockey League retired Tuesday. The 31-year-old Germain will become manager of a sporting goods store in Sarnia, Ont.

MCLAIN GETS POST

MEMPHIS (AP) — Denny McLain, 31, former American League Cy Young award winner, Tuesday was named general manager of the International League's Memphis Blues. Blues' president Dr. Bernard Kraus said McLain "will add something which has been missing from our general manager's office, namely an enthusiastic attitude." McLain spent the last two years as a play-by-play radio announcer. He won the AL's Most Valuable Player Award in 1963 and the first of his two Cy Young Awards the same year. He pitched in the major leagues for nine seasons with Detroit Tigers, Washington Senators, Oakland A's and Atlanta Braves.

NFL Rosters Being Trimmed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Centre Bill Curry of Green Bay Packers and defensive back Cornell Green of Dallas Cowboys retired Tuesday and Kansas City Chiefs' linebacker Bobby Bell was placed on waivers as the National Football League's 26 teams trimmed their rosters to 46 players.

Curry, an 11-year veteran, was the only holdover from the first Super Bowl in 1967 in which the Packers defeated Kansas City. He was gone from the Packers for eight years and was re-acquired this year in a trade with Los Angeles Rams.

Bell, a two-time All-Pro with 26 career interceptions, asked to be placed on waivers to pursue other interests, a Chiefs spokesman said. "He's not sure what he wants to do. He may retire or may try to get with another team," the spokesman said.

The Chiefs also obtained offensive lineman Randy Beisler and an undisclosed draft choice from San Francisco '49ers, sending defensive back Nate Allen to the 49ers. San Francisco also sent cornerback Frank Oliver, their fourth-round draft choice to Buffalo Bills for an undisclosed draft choice.

In another deal, New York Jets acquired running back Carl Garrett from Chicago Bears for running back Mike Adamle, an undisclosed 1976 draft choice and the rights to defensive lineman Ron Rydalch of the World Football League's Birmingham Vulcans.

Cincinnati Bengals traded guard Pat Matson to Green Bay Packers for an undisclosed future draft choice.

New Orleans Saints cut three rookies and acquired wide receiver Melvin Baker from Miami Dolphins for an undisclosed draft choice.

End costly repairs!
Enjoy doing yourself what it costs so much to hire someone else to do.

Sometimes getting home repairs and improvements done is like pulling teeth. Repairmen are costly. Often too busy to come just when you need them most.

Why not do your own household repairs and maintenance and save money at the same time. It's easy with The New Illustrated Library of Home Improvements, a practical, easy-to-read and understand, illustrated reference on home repairs and improvements.

This brand new, up-to-the-minute library consists of 16 volumes that could save you hundreds of dollars in repair and maintenance bills whether you own your own home or live in an apartment. There are practical pointers on carpentry, plumbing, electrical work, masonry, painting and decorating, reupholstering, even gardening and complete interior and exterior home maintenance.

Detailed diagrams with step-by-step photographs show you how to repair, remodel, refinish and renovate rather than replace things.

The New Illustrated Library of Home Improvement also tells you when not to attempt your own repairs...when, in fact, it pays to have someone else do the work. There's also expert advice to help you keep costs at a minimum when you do need professional assistance.

In these days of rising prices, why pay extra for something you can do yourself just as well? And cheaper! Pick up Volume 1 this week and start doing the things it costs so much to hire somebody else to do.

CP News Roundup

Trussler Fined

CAMBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Marion Trussler was convicted in provincial court Tuesday on a charge of wilful neglect causing harm to animals and fined $100 and costs. She pleaded not guilty at her trial July 31 to not taking proper care of 159 dogs removed from her Cambridge home by the Ontario Humane Society. Ninety-four dogs were destroyed and the remainder taken to the society's Belleville shelter.

Gets Collection

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Ontario Museum has purchased a unique collection of Ojibwa Indian woven rush mats and the materials and tools used in their manufacture. Museum spokesman Helmuth Fuchs said the collection purchased for $3,000 was assembled between 1932 and 1962 and "is probably the most complete collection of Objibwa weaving products and materials in existence."

Raft Freed

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — A 37-foot long rubber raft that capsized in the lower Niagara River with the loss of three lives was freed Tuesday from the treacherous Whirlpool Rapids. Jerry Morton, a pilot who was aboard the raft when it flipped over Aug. 29, used a 40-horsepower motor to ease the craft out of the rapids and down the river to this village.

Refuses Debate

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Nixon's campaign manager said Tuesday the Ontario Liberal leader has refused an offer from Toronto TV station CFTO to re-stage a general election campaign debate with NDP Leader Stephen Lewis which fell through Sept. 30.

Two Honored

TORONTO (CP) — Two medical scholarships worth a total of $120,000 have been awarded by The Canadian Life Insurance Association to Dr. E. D. Ralph, 31, of the University of Western Ontario, and Dr. L. D. H. Wood, 32, of the University of Manitoba. Both will receive $20,000 a year for three years while teaching and conducting research at their universities.

Change Policies

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's life insurance companies have given priority to policies aimed at removing long-time practices that irritate customers. W. J. D. Lewis, president of the 129-member Canadian Life Insurance Association, said 30 companies, representing 50 per cent of Canadian premium income, now give policyholders simplified explanations of their policies in layman's language.

Computor Unveiled

TORONTO (CP) — A new portable desk-top computer, slightly larger than a typewriter, was unveiled today by International Business Machines Canada Ltd. Called the IBM 5100, the 12 models on display will cost $10,600 to $23,600. They will be available only by purchase. First deliveries are scheduled for this month.

One New Fire

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario ministry of natural resources reported today that only one new forest fire has occurred since Monday, and four others have been declared out. There were 16 fires burning Monday. The ministry said the fire season has returned to normal.

Davis Launches Rough Attack

RIDGETOWN, Ont. (CP) — Premier William Davis came out fighting Tuesday in his roughest attack yet on Opposition Leader Robert Nixon.

Mr. Davis, campaigning in southwestern Ontario toward the Sept. 18 provincial election, belted Mr. Nixon for his criticisms of Ontario's educational programs, saying figures used by Mr. Nixon on government spending were "untrue."

"Garbage is a polite way of describing the Liberal's advertising program," the premier said.

As he campaigned by train, the premier also announced a tax rebate program for seasonal farm workers so that anyone engaged in such work could claim a tax rebate from provincial income tax.

"The more income the worker earned, and the longer the period of his employment, the greater the rebate, which could amount to as much as $150 for a full season's work," the premier said.

In addition, the provincial government would propose to the federal government that "as a matter of national policy, it extend a $1,000 tax exemption to any Canadian engaged in seasonal work on the farm."

In the morning, in the town of Dundas near Hamilton, the premier announced a program of provincial government purchasing in an effort to aid small Ontario businesses.

The program—the premier didn't put a dollar figure on it—would take steps to ensure the widest possible involvement by local suppliers in government purchases and to evaluate bids not simply on the tender basis but in the context of over-all costs to the government.

Mr. Davis said government ministries would be instructed to establish targets for purchases from small Canadian businesses.

At every stop during his train trip, which included Dundas, Ridgetown, Woodstock and Thamesville, the premier took the opportunity to lash out at Mr. Nixon, claiming that his party was bereft of leadership and an abject failure in offering viable alternatives to the Progressive Conservative government.

"I have never heard of a more negative or destructive campaign being raised in this province," Mr. Davis charged.

"The people of this province are just too fair-minded, too intelligent, to buy that kind of nonsense."

Coroner Says Seniors Should Die in Dignity

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto's senior citizens' homes too often rush dying patients to hospital when they could have died with more comfort and dignity if left at the home, a Toronto coroner said Tuesday.

Dr. Margaret Milton said in an interview there is no excuse for a terminally-ill patient to lie on arrival to hospital, yet she has seen hundreds of these cases.

In a speech to the Ontario Association of Homes for the Aged on Monday, she told delegates to examine their own facilities and look for ways to correct care of dying patients.

In the interview, she said she is also critical of the practice in some homes to leave a dead patient in his bed for hours in full view of other patients until the coroner can arrive. A coroner must investigate all deaths that occur in public institutions.

Dr. Milton said Metro Toronto doctors must become responsible for improving care of dying patients.

Stops Work

MISSISSAUGA, Ont. (CP) — A stop-work order was placed Tuesday on a housing subdivision being built next to the Rattray Marsh, an 80-acre wildlife sanctuary.

Morgentaler Depressed Over Parole Rejection

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Henry Morgentaler is said to be "shocked and depressed" over Friday's refusal by the national parole board to grant him parole.

"He's under a good deal of stress, shocked and depressed," said Eleanor Pelrine, a member of the board of directors of the Canadian Association for the Repeal of Abortion Law (CARAL).

The 52-year-old Montreal physician began serving an 18-month sentence for performing an illegal abortion March 26 after the Quebec court of appeal overturned an earlier jury acquittal. The appeal court decision last was upheld by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Dr. Morgentaler was acquitted by a jury on a second abortion charge three months ago but the Crown has indicated it will again appeal. The Quebec justice department also has 10 other charges of illegal abortions pending against the doctor who has admitted to performing 5,000 abortions in his Montreal clinic.

A parole board official said Tuesday the request for parole was rejected because "Dr. Morgentaler is also facing several other charges and because of his performance while he has been in institutions."

A statement released by CARAL said it was parole board decison was "political, a futile attempt to justify the past persecution of Dr. Morgentaler by the Quebec and Canadian departments of justice."

Denial of parole was "incongruous when considered in the light of parole freely granted ot persons convicted of such crimes as rape, homicide, armed robbery, and scores of others"

Ottawa Remains Quiet On Oil Freeze Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — With the Ontario provincial election only eight days away, the federal government is lying low on one of the issues—a decision to extend a freeze on retail prices for gasoline and heating fuel.

When Premier William Davis first announced the freeze in late July, federal Energy Minister Donald Macdonald joined the oil companies in condemning the provincial action.

But after the premier announced earlier this week that the freeze, scheduled to end Sept. 30, would be extended until Nov. 15, an aid to Mr. Macdonald said the minister would make no comment.

The minister earlier described the province's price freeze as perilous, saying it would cut into the income oil companies counted on receiving.

He said he was worried the industry would have less money to spend on exploration than anticipated when an oil price policy was announced in a federal budget in June.

So far, the only debate on the issue has been between the oil companies and the provincial government. The opposition parties, including the provincial Liberals, say they support the freeze.

The oil companies say the province's action is an attempt to buy votes for the Sept. 18 election.

'In their attempts to outbid each other for the votes of the citizens of Ontario, the political parties of this province are jeopardizing the energy future of its citizens," says J. A. Armstrong, chairman of Imperial Oil Ltd.

Sun Oil Co. Ltd. said the extension in the freeze will cost it an additional $3.3 million, leaving its capital spending program for the remainder of 1975 and 1976 in a shambles.

Juvenile Courts Used Too Often By Boards

TORONTO (CP) — A report released Tuesday by two student lawyers says some Ontario school boards are using juvenile courts to excess for children with attendance problems.

Andrea Margles and Neil Boyd, who attend Osgoode Hall Law School, spent part of the summer observing cases in juvenile court.

Their report says schools in the Brockville, Toronto, Hawkesbury, Guelph, Ottawa, Pembroke and Renfrew areas make most use of the court process or truancy cases.

It says that using the court as a treatment agency—while it still has the ability to impose the full force of the law—is a threat to traditional legal processes.

In addition, the report says that forcing a child into the classroom under court order does not help the learning process and may result in the child being labelled a delinquent or sent to training school.

IN MEMORIAM

WANNAMAKER — In loving memory of a dear father, Thomas Wannamaker, who passed away Sept. 10, 1974, one year ago.

What we would give if we could say,
Hello Dad, in the same old way,
To hear your voice, see your smile,
To sit with you and chat awhile,
So you who have a father,
Cherish him with care,
For you'll never know the heartache,
'Til you see his vacant chair.

—Sadly missed by loving wife Florence and family.

Opposes Rent Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — Although Premier William Davis's latest stand on ways to control unjustified rent increases is tougher than ever, his proposed rent review legislation is clumsy and inadequate, says the director of housing programs for the Canadian Council on Social Development.

Geoffrey Patterson said in an interview Tuesday: "It seems the premier is still afraid of giving too much power to the rent review boards."

The premier announced Monday that the proposed boards would have the power to freeze rents or allow only part of a rent increase, until a court decided whether or not the increase was justified. Earlier, he said the proposed boards were simply to publicize the names of unscrupulous landlords.

The review board and not the courts should decide rent disputes, Mr. Patterson maintains.

"The courts will give a judicious ruling based on precedent and legal interpretation, which is altogether too rigid for many rental situations."

"A tribunal, on the other hand, could look at any given housing situation and assess it on its ethical and reasonable merits rather than legal codes."

"Mr. Davis seems to want to lean too heavily on the courts, and in doing so he's building up a rigid, cumbersome situation," Mr. Patterson added.

If the rent review board had roll-back power, it might also improve housing maintenance.

What if your pay cheque was late?

Your Intelligencer carrier is a young, independent businessman; he doesn't receive a pay cheque. His profit is the difference between the wholesale cost of his newspapers and the amount collected from his customers.
Most subscribers pay their carriers on the first call. But some people say "come back later" . . . and the carrier's profit is put off. It's like asking you to come back two or three times for your pay cheque.
For many of us this would be a calamity. Of course, you want to be paid promptly. All of us do. The boy or girl who delivers your Intelligencer will appreciate being paid promptly.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Though you may not be aware of it, you have a way of phrasing things today to inspire listeners. You might forget what you said. They won't.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have the ability today to turn a dormant situation into something worthwhile for yourself and another who shares this interes,t

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The results of today's efforts will be beneficial for you, because you're willing to co-operate and be helpful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll have a strong desire today to do something special for one you love. You'll do it secretly, without seeking credit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take a little more time to primp today if you're going to appear before new people. All eyes will be focused on you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your keen insights will be put to a profitable use today. Let your hunches guide you in commercial affairs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're able to use words in a masterly fashion today. Put your thoughts on paper—the results may surprise even you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Material things come your way today without too much effort. If you do feel energetic, it's a good time to hunt for bargains.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're far more assertive today than you've been the past few days. If you're set on accomplishing something, you'll not be deterred.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Opportunity presents itself today to take some positive steps toward a secret ambition of yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're very convincing today in swaying others. You should speak out. Your ideas are better than theirs.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Important ventures you're involved in have an excellent chance of succeeding in the next few days. Dare to think big.

Direct Sunlight Brings Eruption

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After many years of sunbathing and tanning without any difficulties I have developed an allergic reaction to direct sunlight. After 10 minutes or so in the sun my skin erupts in itching red blotches and welts, rather like hives. It subsides in half an hour, leaving no ill effects.

I don't understand why this should happen. Can you explain?—Mrs. W. W.

Ring - shaped, hivee - like splotches can occur in skin that has been damaged by sun or heat, according to a study by Dr. John P. O'Brien, an Australian doctor. The lesions can appear as papules, then enlarge slowly. This may persist for years.

The lesions are called "actinic granuloma," a condition first recognized in 1964. It affects the exposed, weather-beaten skin of susceptible individuals over 30, and most often those over 40. A blonde and freckled skin seems most susceptible to the reaction. "Actinic" refers to rays beyond the violet rays of the light spectrum, which produce chemical changes.

Constant exposure to heat, as from blazing fireplace fires, can cause the reaction, also. Perhaps, Dr. O'Brien suggests, the popular expressions, sunburn and sunbaking, are more medically significant than previously thought.

Whether this is what you have experienced is difficult to speculate on. Certain tanning lotions may be used without harm for years, then suddenly produce such symptoms.

According to a report on actinic granuloma in an American Medical Association publication, the condition may go away aftr months or years. But new areas can be affected, thus prolonging the condition. In some cases the lesions may become a bright red and itchy. No specific cure is suggested. However, avoidance of direct sunlight as much as possible is indicated.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been ridiculed many times because I have been shaving my husband's armpits for 20 years.

This may be effeminate to some people, but my husband doesn't have any perspiration odor, does not stain his [illegible] and, above all, does not look like a pre-simian with ugly hair down to his chest cavity.

I say that if it is acceptable to you and to your husband, fine.

It is not effeminate and does much to reduce the body odor problem. I am in favor of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is thyrotoxicosis? Is this rare or have quite a few people got it?—Mrs. H. K.

This is another name for hyperthyroidism—that is, overactivity of the thyroid gland. There is an increased level of thyroid hormones found in the blood, and metabolic activity is increased as a result.

It is found in about five per cent of persons with chronic heart failure. Fortunately, we now know much about treatment of such conditions, and there are several methods of attempting to control the problem—from medication to surgery.

The exact cause of thyrotoxicosis is not clear. There is speculation that it may be an auto-immune disease, because a certain type of globulin is found is the blood, a common symptom of this.

There is a strong tendency for the condition to occur in families, suggesting a genetic factor is involved.

Bakeapples Flourish This Year

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Newfoundland's wild fruit, especially the top two commercial varieties of bakeapples and blueberries, are flourishing this year.

The delicious bakeapple, a golden-yellow when ripe and shaped like a lumpy strawberry, matures this month and is the first summer cash crop for farmers' families and others who tramp through marshes and boglands, acquiring a day-long stoop to pick the ground-level berry.

They are in big demand on the local market and few are shipped to points outside the province.

Roger Bidgood, who specializes in local products for distribution here and for export, says the demand this year is great both at home and abroad "and we can sell whatever quantity is available to us."

Mr. Bidgood's processing and packaging plant near St. John's supplies frozen fruit and bottled preserves and specializes in export shipments by air.

The bakeapple also grows abundantly in Labrador, Newfoundland's mainland sector, and the provincial government is studying the feasibility of having the fruit harvested and exported from that area as a seasonal industry and income supplement for residents of the northern land who currently depend on fishing for a livelihood.

The province's blueberry crop, meanwhile, is ready for harvesting almost a month ahead of last year's picking dates and the quantity and quality is excellent.

The blueberry is second only to the bakeapple in commercial value but brings only a tenth or less per gallon in price compared with what the bakeapple can bring on the market.

But the harvest is six weeks long compared to two weeks for the bakeapple and in the latter stages picking can be done by raking the blueberry bushes, increasing several-fold a day's yield.

Last year's blueberry crop was not a good one. Picking usually begins around the third week of August but the 1974 harvest was delayed until Sept. 11 because of slow growth.

Blueberries in Newfoundland are the last in North America to ripen each year and the delay in the harvest last year reduced the amount collected to about one million pounds, about 55 per cent of the normal harvest.

A spokesman for Ocean Harvesters Ltd., one of the major exporters of blueberries, says this year's take could be double last year's "if enough people are interested in picking the crop.

In a good crop year, the markets have been glutted by other producing areas and the [illegible] declines before Newfoundland berries get to the buyers.

Opening lead — A ♠

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Both East players in an IMP match elected to open with three spades, both Souths overcalled with four diamonds in preference to a takeout double, both Wests raised to four spades and both North's tried five diamonds.

At both tables this was passed around to West. One West player decided to pass on the theory that his partner just wasn't going to have any play for five spades and that, maybe, the five-diamond contract would not be made.

The other West reasoned that while five spades would surely wind up in the soup the five-diamond contract would make and that a sacrifice bid was indicated.

It was an unfortunate decision, since South had to lose three tricks in his diamond contract. However, change the North - South cards a trifle and the decision would have been a mighty good one.

The really good bid with the hand was North's five diamonds. He saved a lot of points, because had he passed East would wrap up the four-spade contract and take it home.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from California wants to know which major suit do you bid when you have four cards in each and partner responds a Stayman two-clubs to your opening notrump.

The answer to this one is that it is a matter of partnership agreement. Some like to bid two spades; others prefer two hearts.

Our own practice is to bid the stronger suit.

Visitors On Rise

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — The number of visitors from Canada for the first six months of this year to Bermuda showed an increase of 2.8 per cent. January through June of 1975 recorded a total of 19,945 Canadian residents visiting the island.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third straight year, bowling leads the presidential sports awards, according to figures released by the president's council on physical fitness and sports. Jogging continues in second place with bicycling third.

Mileage Rate Raised 2 Cents After Debate

It appears as if a penny is worth more than a thought as the Hastings County Board of Education Monday night spent 30 minutes debating the virtues of raising the mileage rate to 18 cents or 19 cents for bord employees.

The lower figure won giving board employees an additional two cents a mile from 16 to 18. The annual flat rate for mileage for some board employees has been increased to $95 from $85.

Based on figures submitted by a sample of board employees the administration council recommended a new rate of 19 cents per mile and $100 flat rate, because of the recent and projected gas price costs.

Many trustees argued that the operating costs submitted to the adminstration council by employees were inflated figures and painted an unrealistic picture of their actual costs.

Business superintendent Ken Wormald said other Ontario boards were paying 19 cents a mile and some were even paying 20 cents. Monday Ontario's civil servants had a mileage increase of one cent from 17 to 18 cents.

Stirling trustee Don Williams said he was opposed to people making money off of mileage and suggested that 19 cents would give them this opportunity.

Mr. Williams said few car owners change their oil eight times a year nor do they have tune-ups twice a year as submitted in the briefs from employees.

The cost estimates also allowed $1,000 for a year's depreciation. Belleville trustee Robert Ord argued that depreciation, car insurance, car interest payments and licence plates, were fixed cost and that the board should not subsidize completely these expenses to the employees

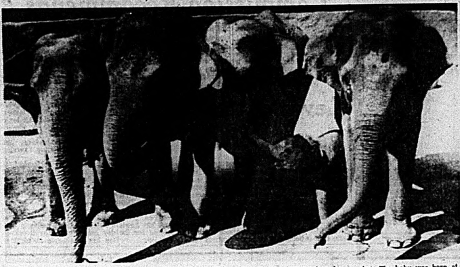
Santa Will Arrive Dec. 6

PICTON — Santa Claus is coming to town Saturday, Dec. 6, says parade chairman Frank Wright, who has asked the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce for a budget of $2.500 to welcome St. Nick.

He noted that about $1.700 was spent to greet the jolly old gent in 1974 and this year there will be extra expenses due to inflation and the need for a secretary to handle parade correspondence.

He said that in 1974 about $1,000 was raised from local businessmen toward the parade costs.

He predicted that the 1975 parade will cost the chamber from $1,000 to $1,500.



When these four big elephants at the Los Angeles Zoo lined up for an impromptu picture taking session this little one crowded in for his picture too. The four and "one-half" elephants just happened to be lined up when a passing photographer snapped this shot. The baby was born at the zoo just three months ago. (AP Photo)

OPP Offer Seminar

PICTON — A crime seminar offered by the Ontario Provincial Police will be sponsored October 22 at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute by the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce.

Community Services Officer for the Picton detachment of the OPP met with chamber directors Monday to explain the program alerting businessmen to counterfeit currency, shoplifting and security measures.

Constable Watt said the seminar dealing with crime prevention has been planned specifically for merchants and their employees.

Businessmen will be shown how to detect counterfeit bills and worthless documents and informed in the powers of a citizen's arrest. Also, the "how, when and where" of shoplifting will be outlined for the merchants protection.

CUPE Holds Seminar

An education seminar was held at Loyalist College on the weekend sponsored by the CUPE Hastings District Council. According to registrar Don Dalrymple, 14 students representing seven affiliated CUPE locals took courses offered in stewards' training and the duties and roles of officers.

Bruce Martin, Ontario education representative, and Doug Lindsay CUPE area representative were in town to conduct the classes.

Welfare Role High

A current report of the Hastings County Social Services Committee to council Monday expresses pessimism about current employments trends.

In June, those receiving aid because of unemployment were the highest since 1971 — regarded as the worst year for such cases since the department was organized.

Last June there were 131 families and 129 single people drawing such assistance. Similar figures for the same month in 1974 were 116 and 98.

Costs Under Fire

Expansion of Alemite park building facilities came in for city council debate Monday.

Discussion was sparked by a parks board request for approval of a construction contract for $30,941 — about $6,000 more than the budget for the project.

A resolution before council suggested the cash difference be met from the city's contingency fund if necessary to prevent a parks board deficit for the year.

Gillies Queries System

TORONTO (CP) — Progressive Conservative MP James Gillies said Tuesday he is concerned that political trends might mean the demise of the free enterprise system.

"Needless to say, I am appalled at this situation, not only as an individual, but also as an economist," he said in a speech prepared for a meeting of association executives. A text was released in advance of delivery.

"It appears evident to me that the industrialized countries, which have opted for more and more government involvement in economic organization . . . have clearly failed to provide . . . a standard of living as high as those countries which have depended on private initiative."

Mr. Gillies, who represents the Toronto riding of Don Valley, said continuous intervention by the federal government is at the root of apparently uncontrollable inflation.

He said about 42 per cent of the gross national product is handled by Ottawa. A staggering corollary was that government expenditures had nearly tripled during the last decade.

Mr. Gillies said it would be irresponsible to condemn these increases if Canadians' standard of living had improved.

"Nor could I fault these expenditures if they had produced less disparity in income among regions of the nation or even a more smoothly-operating economy with substantially less severe recessions and unemployment. . . .

"But it hasn't! In fact, the reverse is true!"

The number of Canadians living below the poverty line is no smaller than it was 10 years ago, housing has become increasingly scarce and more expensive and inflation is persistent.

Warns 'Cheque' Politics

THUNDER Bay, Ont. (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon moved from one end of Ontario to the other Tuesday with a warning to voters not to be taken in by the "chequebook politics" of Premier William Davis in the province's general election campaign.

Addressing 400 persons at a night rally here, Mr. Nixon said the government is announcing new programs costing millions of dollars to "buy votes with taxpayers' money."

The government announced it will spend up to $9 million to aid Niagara grape growers last week, and Monday it unveiled an $18-million plan to help senior citizens. Tuesday the premier announced tax concessions for farm workers.

Mr. Davis is offering only "expensive promises trotted out in the heat of an election campaign," the Liberal leader said.

Mr. Nixon told reporters later that the government's latest announcement, a $150 tax rebate for seasonal farm workers, is another indication "that slipping Conservative support is influencing Mr. Davis's decisions."

"Mr. Davis seems to be offering a goodie a day," he said.

Mr. Nixon also renewed his attack on the premier's "phoney war with Ottawa" and pledged that a Liberal government in Ontario would practise "co-operative federalism " in its dealings with the federal government and the other provinces.

Questions Vasectomies

OTTAWA (CP) — The chairman of the Ontario medical association's urology section has taken issue with speculation that vasectomies may have adverse affects on a masculinity.

Dr. David Moors was commenting on statements by Dr. Gordon Kinson, a university of Ottawa medical researcher.

Dr. Moors was quoted in a recent interview as warning that a testosterone decline after vasectomies in rats might also hit men, reducing their masculine behaviour, appearance and attitudes.

Dr. Moors said vasectomies have been performed on humans for 50 years without serious side effects.

Commission Recommends Procedural Changes

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario commission on the legislature released its fourth report Tuesday, recommending a series of procedural changes to streamline the operation of the assembly.

The commission, which in earlier reports recommended electoral boundary changes and new election spending laws, now is calling for changes in procedure to help make the legislature more productive.

Among other things, the report suggests the Ontario legislature adopt a form of closure, a rule to limit debate on legislation.

A form of closure, the so-called guillotine rule, has been used in Britain for a number of years, and a similar measure was adopted in Ottawa in 1969.

The report notes that the government often is reluctant to use closure for fear of being accused of steamroller tactics. The commission said the legislature should have a closure rule to help the government clear legislative backlogs and keep the legislature running smoothly.

"It should only be invoked, of course, after discussion about the scheduling and the times among House leaders and after notice is given to the legislature. . . ."

The report said the traditional press of legislation at the end of a session or just before a holiday break, when the House often has to sit late at night to deal with a crowded schedule, should be eliminated.

The commission recommended the use of closure to help improve the flow of business, coupled with more co-operation among the House leaders.

Lewis Attacks Farm Policies

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — NDP Leader Stephen Lewis expanded his attack on Davis government farm policies Tuesday, saying Ontario is losing up to $41,210 yearly in crop value for every 26 acres of prime agricultural land that goes out of production.

The NDP leader says prime farm land is being lost at a rate of 26 acres an hour. Premier William Davis, has disputed the calculation.

The rate of crop-value loss per 26 acres varies from $1,742 for hay grown in the Timiskaming area to $41,210 for cauliflower produced on prime land in York County, Mr. Lewis said as he campaigned for the Sept. 18 Ontario election.

Parti Quebecois Attacks Language Act, Bourassa Defends It

MONTREAL (CP) — The ongoing dispute over Quebec's Official Language Act took on partisan overtones Wednesday as Parti Quebecois leaders criticized the legislation and Premier Robert Bourassa defended it.

PQ president Rene Levesque leader in the Quebec national assembly, told a news conference "confusing and discriminatory" clauses in the act had caused current conflicts over language rights in education.

He referred specifically to the plight of Italian students refused admission to English-language schools of the Jerome Le Royer School Commission in east-end St. Leonard because of the quota system for English enrolment established by the language law.

Under the law, also known as Bill 22, enrolment in a school board's English sector is frozen at last year's level.

However, the law also says that students whose mother tongue is not English may attend English schools if they pass a language proficiency test.

At the Le Royer commission schools, more students passed the proficiency tests than could be lawfully accommodated in the board's English schools.

Mr. Levesque said the tests discriminate between immigrants from different countries.

Instead, he said, the PQ proposes that all new immigrants to Quebec, including those from other parts of Canada, be required to enrol their children in French-language schools.

The PQ also recommends the establishment of a regional or province-wide quota system for English schools. Enrolment would be tied to the size of the English-speaking population, Mr. Levesque said, thus avoiding present disparities among individual school boards.

The PQ president also said Bill 22 had failed to stop the primacy of the English language in the province.

Premier Bourassa countered PQ criticism of Bill 22 by noting that the Liberal government was the only Quebec administration to attack "a situation as complex" as the language question.

Mr. Bourassa said Bill 22 would not be changed.

"Bill 22 is a good law," he said at a news conference. "It has all the flexibility necessary to face up to temporary problems."

However he left the door open for changes in the regulations, saying Education Minister Jerome Choquette is studying problems caused by the integration of immigrant children into French schools.

The premier also criticized a campaign for the repeal of the Bill organized by Montreal English-language radio station CFCF.

The 15-day campaign to gather one million signatures from Quebecers opposed to Bill 22 was started last Wednesday by broadcaster John Robertson George Springate.

Mr. Bourassa said he would never support Mr. Springate but would take no disciplinary action against him.

Cabinet Undecided

Turner Quits

OTTAWA (CP) — The resignation of Finance Minister John Turner is reported facing cabinet today as ministers meet together for the first time in six weeks.

It was learned Wednesday night that the handsome, 46-year-old finance minister, seen by many as the future prime minister, has submitted his resignation to Prime Minister Trudeau. He is reported to have explained that he wants to accept a new job with an international financial organization.

But well-informed sources said Mr. Trudeau made no move to accept the resignation until there was a full cabinet discussion on the ramifications of a finance minister resigning at the height of an inflationary period.

Earlier Wednesday, Statistics Canada reported that the consumer price index had risen by one per cent in the last month—and if this pace continues the rise in the current calendar year would approach 14 per cent.

There was no official confirmation of Mr. Turner's planned resignation late Wednesday night, although it is known that the letter had been received by the prime minister. Aides around both Mr. Turner and Mr. Trudeau made it clear that something had happened during the evening and officials, who would normally deny ill-founded rumors were saying such things as, "something is in the wind."

JOHN TURNER

The question was what? The speculation ranged from Mr. Turner returning to private law practice to his becoming No. 2 man with the World Bank or even a new deputy secretary-general of the United Nations in charge of all economic aid.

The finance minister, who normally returns telephone calls with dispatch, was suddenly unavailable, and Mr. Trudeau's office would say only that no statements would be made until after cabinet meets today.

There were reports earlier this year that the athletic lawyer, who unsuccessfully challenged Mr. Trudeau for the party leadership in 1968, would quit politics for a highly-placed job with the World Bank. But, without any official comment from Mr. Turner, nothing happened.

Mayor Gets Pat

Belleville Mayor Ben Corke (left) receives a pat on the back in the form of a distinguished service award from YMCA president Douglas Horne for his key role as chairman of a campaign to erase the YMCA's $87,750 mortgage. Over 100 guests attended the presentation ceremony Wednesday.

The man who headed a fund raising effort to erase the YMCA's $87,750 mortgage got his just rewards Wednesday.

Belleville YMCA president Dr. Douglas Horne awarded Mayor Ben Corke a life-time membership to the YMCA as well as a plaque to mark his service to the club.

Mayor Corke, acted as chairman of a fund raising drive to close a mortgage the YMCA had assumed when it built its new eastend building.

Over $100,00 was raised in a year's time in a low-key campaign that involved about 320 donors, both individual and business.

"Without his leadership, tenacity and drive," said Dr. Horne, "we wouldn't be in a position of solvency."

YMCA executive director Di Diamantides said the club paid its bank $84,285 Wednesday and only $3,465 remains to be paid from $5,500 in pledges expected this year.

"We got more money that we need," he said.

The campaign was mounted quietly last year when YMCA directors found they would have difficulty raising money to meet mortgage interest payments.

Mr. Diamantides said Mayor Corke did a "marvelous job". It was the first time in three fund raising attempts that the YMCA's goal was reached.

The largest boost given fundraisers during the course of the campaign came with a $12,000 donation from the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund.

The Yardmen donation, according to Dr. Horne, was the turning point, the point when campaigning had "bogged down" and needed a boost.

Nova Scotia Labor Talks May Resume

HALIFAX (CP) —Labor tension in Nova Scotia eased somewhat today as officials of Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. Ltd. and representatives of 1,800 striking craft workers and operators prepared to resume contract negotiations.

The agreement to negotiate both contracts at once came late Wednesday in Sydney, N.S., when A. Gordon Archibald, M.T. and T. board chairman, ment with four representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW). They left the picket line to meet with the company head.

Mr. Archibald flew to Sydney after city police refused to escort the company's supervisory personnel into the office building to maintain telephone service. Two people had been maintaining service there withou a break since Sunday.

The craft workers have been off the job for more than a month and the operators officially went on strike in late August. Previous to that they had stayed off the job in sympathy with the craft workers. Both belong to the IBEW.

Contract negotiations, by mutual agreement between the two sides, have been aimed at a settlement for the craft workers first. Any preentage increases were then to be applied to the operators.

Moslems Oppose Army Intervention in Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) — Moslem opposition threatened today the Lebanese government's plans to use the army as a buffer between warring Christians and Moslems in northern Lebanon.

The government named a new army commander Wednesday in an attempt to appease the Moslems and announced the army would establish buffer zones between Moslem-dominated Tripoli, Lebanon's second largest city, and the Christian hill town of Zagharta, five miles to the east.

The leftist-Moslem political leadership in Tripoli said it rejected "the formula advanced by the cabinet." It was believed this would delay the army action since political sources said the troops would move into the battle zone only after consultations with the local Moslem and Christian leaders.

The Moslem statement said the government should first arrest the Christians responsible for the bus ambush Sunday in which 12 Moslems were killed. Retaliatory attacks that followed increased sporadic clashes between the Moslem and Christian communities in the Tripoli area into full-scale warfare.

It is Lebanon's fifth outbreak of communal warfare this year. More than 100 persons have been killed and another 250 wounded since Sept. 3, according to the official count.

Occasional exchanges of mortar, rocket-grenade and machine-gun fire were reported Wednesday. Shooting broke out Wednesday night in the villages of Dhar el-Ein and Abu Samra, on the outskirts of Tripoli, after the discovery of the bodies of three priests killed in earlier fighting.

Flipping New Arrivals

Members of the CFB Trenton Judo Club give a special exhibition for the new arrivals attending welcoming night Wednesday. More than 400 guests turned out for the event at the South Side Recreation Centre, sponsored by the Base Community Services.

Talks Stall Police Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Monreal police director Rene Daigneault said Wednesday the work schedule sought by policemen in their current dispute with the city would be feasible if the city's public security council had allowed him to hire more men.

"I requested 400 new constables be hired to cover our needs in 1975 and part of 1976, but the public security council refused," said Mr. Daigneault.

The security council rejected the proposed schedule in negotiations with policemen because it now would involve hiring 300 additional men.

Mr. Daigneault said the manpower request was included in his budget report to the security council last fall and that it was refused because of costs.

Meanwhile, police brotherhood president Gilbert Custeau and public security council president Paul Emile L'Ecuyer were in Quebec City for a meeting with Premier Robert Bourassa today.

Mr. Bourassa said: "Both parties are to present their views to me and they will be taken under study and hopefully a solution will be reached, avoiding any possible strike."

AMO Says Hydro Increases Must Match Price Index

TORONTO (CP) — A spokesman for the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) told an Ontario Energy Board hearing Wednesday that Ontario Hydro rate increases should be limited to increases in the Consumer Price Index.

Gordon Kaiser, counsel for the AMO, also called on the energy board to recommend a lower increase for all residential consumers than increases for Hydro's industrial customers.

Mr. Kaiser said a proposed 25-per-cent jump in Hydro rates next year might impose "substantial hardship" on some residential consumers.

"The residential consumer is forced to absorb the full impact of rate increases which industrial consumers can pass on in the form of price increases," he said.

Mr. Kaiser said that although the board's present terms of reference deal only with Hydro's proposed bulk-power rates to industrial customers and municipal utilities, the board was free to recommend government action affecting retail rates.

He said Hydro might finance more of its capital spending through bonds in an effort to reduce rate increases.

Pierre Genest, Hydro lawyer, said Tuesday a government-ordered reduction in proposed rate increases to 25 from 30 per cent had left Hydro "testing the limits of financial prudency."

Mr. Kaiser said that although Ontario Hydro's debts now are about 80 per cent of total assets, Manitoba Hydro and British Columbia Hydro both have "very high debt ratios of about 95 per cent" but are able to market their bonds at favorable interest rates.

He said Hydro "lacks a certain cost-consiousness," and had never produced satisfactory evidence to the board hearings of internal productivity studiies.

He said that tying future Hydro rates to the index would force Hydro to become more efficient and restrain its urge to expand.

Marchand May Now Leave Position

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Jean Marchand added fuel today to speculation that he will soon leave the transport portfolio.

He told reporters outside the cabinet room that if Finance Minister John Turner is resigning, "I have no doubt there will be a shuffle."

"To what extent I will be affected, I don't know," he said.

Asked whether he wants to leave the burdensome transport portfolio, Mr. Marchand said: "Personally I haven't discussed it with the prime minister and with my own doctor."

The minister has just emerged from about two weeks in hospital here suffering from hypertension.

After a visit to the tranpsort minister, Mr. Trudeau said recently that he would talk to Mr. Marchand after he left hospital about a possible move. The prime minister said he was leaving the question of a cabinet move open.

Mr. Marchand would neither confirm nor deny reports that he will move to a less onerous cabinet job shortly after the opening of the new Montreal airport at Mirabel early in October.

Tingren Dies

GANANOQUE — Carl Tingren, flamboyant car dealer whose personal appearance as the self-styled "Bearcat" in his own television commercials made him widely known through eastern Ontario, is dead. The body of the 48-year-old Tingren was found Wednesday at his St. Lawrence River cottage near Gananoque. Provincial police said he had been "fatally injured."

Denies Assassin Report

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Egyptian spokesman says a Palestinian report of an attempt on President Anwar Sadat's life is "untrue, a lie and rubbish." The Voice of Palestine in Baghdad, which the Cairo spokesman described as unreliable, claimed gunmen shot at Sadat in the garden of the summer presidential palace in Alexandria a few hours after the signing of the new Egyptian-Israeli agreement.

Parties Snub Women

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Committee on the Status of Women says none of the provincial political parties is any better than the others when it comes to seeing to the needs of women. The committee says in a press release that the three major parties, in their campaign material for the Sept. 18 general election, "make only token reference to the major problems affecting Ontario's women."

Poppy Growth Cut

ANKARA (Reuter) — Turkey will restrict its opium poppy growing area next year to 1975 levels to appease international concern that its fields are a source of illicit heroin, a deputy premier said Wednesday. Turkey banned poppy-growing in 1972 under strong U.S. pressure, but lifted the ban last year.

Unsealed Mail Okay

OTTAWA (CP) — Deputy postmaster-general John Mackay denied Wednesday that any deliverable unsealed mail sent after July 1 next year will be destroyed.

His denial came after a spokesman had said that unsealed mail posted after the July deadline would be returned to senders or destroyed if it did not have a return address.

"You have my assurance in blood that deliverable mail will be handled," Mr. Mackay said.

The post office is allowing persons mailing greeting cards to begin sending sealed mail at the third-class rate of six cents. Because of automatic sorting machines in the post office in which unsealed mail and open-window mail may be caught, postal officials want to eliminate the use of unsealed mail and open windows in envelopes.

Horsepower Earns $35

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Horsepower raised about $35 for crippled children, plowing up the land.

Participants Wednesday at Hastings County Plowing match paid a dollar to try their hand at plowing using horse teams and antique plows.

Money raised in the horse plowing at Glenn Morrow's farm south of Stirling goes to the Stirling Crippled Children's Fund.

Horses were provided by Bob Danford of Stirling, and Harold and Lyle Johnston of RR 3 Stirling.

Milford Fair Offers Something for All

by MARG MAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

MILFORD — Prince Edward County's only remaining township fair, Milford fair opened Wednesday afternoon with a parade of school children, horses and ponies and floats laden with farm produce.

The grand procession was headed by a Scottish piper who marched ahead of an open car carrying James Taylor MPP Prince Edward—Lennox, Keith MacDonald, Liberal candidate for the riding and New Democratic Party candidate Jan Nicol. Also in the motorcade was George Hees, MP Prince Edward—Hastings.

Prizes for ponies in the parade went to Brent Walker, Jeffery Grant and Raymond Clapp all of South Marysburg. Winning horses were owned by Blaine Way and Lois Keogh.

Winner of the best decorated bicycle was Kevin Handley while winner of best float with produce as Laverne Way of Milford.

Highlights of the fair included a rolling pin toss, a nail driving contest, a horse and pony show and canoe races.

The one—day fair also featured a flower show, displays of fruits and vegetables, arts and crafts and a pet show.

President of Milford fair for 1975 is Mrs. Ruth Ackerman.

Vice—president is Kenneth Minaker.

Jason Morris Top Baby

MILFORD — Sweepstake winner of the Milford Fair baby show judged on Wednesday afternoon was Jason Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Morris of Milford.

Jason placed first in the boys six to thirteen months division and defeated 37 other competitors to win the championship.

Winners in the boys' division for babies up to six months of age were David Williams of Cherry Valley, Nathan Bazzola, RR 3, Picton and Brian Guernsey, RR 3, Picton.

In the boys' division for youngsters from six to 13 months winners were Jason Morris, Gordon Minaker, Picton, James Blemkie, RR 8, Picton and David Sharpe, RR 2, Demorestville.

Winners in the girls' division for babies up to six months were Amy Frost, Picton, Jennifer Darling, RR 2, Picton, Tanya Grimmon, RR 2, Milford and Cara Molyneaux, RR 1, Picton.

In the girls' division for babies from six to 13 months winners were Michelle Baverstock, RR 1, Cherry Valley, Andrea Rorabeck, RR 4, Picton, Maxine Blackford, RR 2 Milford and Shelley Wilson of Picton.

Tools Taken

PICTON — Town police are investigating a break in at the Public utilities commission barn at Picton Fairgrounds where a quantity of tools Wednesday was reported stolen.

Picton police chef Charles Fletcher said the thief or thieves apparenty gained entry through a rear door that had been left open at closing time.

Items taken included plairs, adjustable wrenches, hammers, screw drivers and a flasher for the roof of a PUC vehicle. No estimate of value of the missing items was available.

Win Canoe Race

MILFORD — Two Creek youths paddled their own canoe to victory Wednesday afternoon in a colorful race in Milford mill pond.

Four teams entered the canoe races sponsored in conjunction with Milford fair with first place won by Lincoln Metcalfe and Gordon Blakely.

After the races about 200 fair spectators enjoyed a smorgasbord provided by the Woodsmen of the World.

Musical entertainment by The Fendells followed as evening entertainment.

Morley Cameron, left and Paul Haines, volunteer firemen in Sidney Township hold the check for $3,700 they donated to the fight against Muscular Dystrophy, collected in a door to door campaign. Last year the group of firefighters collected $1,800 which was, they were informed, a record amount for local fire companies. This year the men collected almost double the $2,000 they anticipated and are waiting to hear if they still retained the honors.

Town Centre Ready

TRENTON — Town Centre, the new shopping plaza on Dundas St. East will be officially opened Wednesday morning by Mayor Robert Patrick, Dr. R.T. Poter an dother dignataries.

The stores opened officially by the ribbon cutting ceremony will include K-mart, Tamblyn Drugs, Loblaws, Trent Valley T.V. The Mexican Art Shop and the Shell Self service gasoline bar, the first of its kind in Trenton.

The centre contains 110,000 square feet of stores with K-Mart comprising 50,000 feet and Loblaws extended to 26,000 square feet.

There will be space for 500 cars in the parking lot.

Fifty Groups Welcome New Base Personnel

TRENTON — Volunteers flipped, fenced, batted birdies, sang and danced for the more than 400 visitors to CFB Trenton's official welcome party for new arrivals at the base, Wednesday night.

More than 50 special interest groups and clubs had booths at the South Side Recreation Centre for the second annual welcoming event, highlighted by the Sing-Out group performing three half-hour shows for the enthusiastic crowd.

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce, as well as Loyalist College had booths at the session for what Bunnie Thomas, co-ordinator for the Base Community Services, the sponsor of the evening said, was an attempt to acquaint new arrivals with the facilities offered in the Trenton Belleville and CFB Trenton area.

Base Commander Col. J.C. Henry was on hand to address the new arrivals early in the evening as the group rapidly became engrossed in the near carnival atmosphere of displays and exhibitions of many of the crafts and clubs offered for Base Personnel.

Representatives of the CFB Trenton Pipe and Drum Band and Majorettes performed for the the crowd during the two-hour show.

Guests were able to observe the Broadcast video-club taping a program for airing on local cable television. Refreshments were served.

Mor than 250 families were posted to the base this fall, said one of the organizers.

Rocking Washington's Boat

Fidel Castro Plays Revolutionary Brinkmanship with Puerto Rican Issue

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

In a curious reversion to her large role at subversion of the 1960s, Cuba has involved herself in what she calls an "international conference of solidarity with Puerto Rico." That means Cuban support for Puerto Rican independence.

Puerto Rico of course is not another Latin American state with a non-Marxist society which in the eyes of Havana needs cleansing, but part of the United States.

It has a semi-autonomous position under the American flag being a so-called "commonwealth" in which governments, political leaders and governors are elected locally.

But nevertheless Puerto Ricans are American citizens, have all the benefits of that connection except the vote on the mainland.

The Cuban intervention on the side of Puerto Rico's so-called liberators and revolutionaries has nasty overtones of association with the small but busy Puerto Rican terrorist groups who are currently exploding bombs in key places around New York City.

The chief of these, which admits to the New York bombings is the so-called FALN, "Armed Forces for Puerto Rican National Liberation."

Last April four bombings took place in the City of New York, three of them on the premises of major banks and also of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company no less, possibly the largest insurance company in the world.

American security authorities have to assume the Cubans are somehow involved with outfits like the FALN, though naturally Havana papers refer in print only to Puerto Rican outfits which support the peace movement and have met with other Communist bloc "peace movements" for common causes of "national liberation."

In the United Nations, the U.S. won enough world support a few weeks ago to have the spurious issue of Puerto Rican independence removed from the agenda of the United Nations committee against colonialism, the same one which worked over the South Africans on Namibia and the Portuguese on their former widespread African colonies.

And in this committee, the Cuban UN delegation had a prominent role along with a large body of African, Asian and Latin American delegations who dominate its activities.

All this is very hard to understand, given the clear signs of slow but steady rapprochement between Castro and Washington.

The Cuban press carries the information that the Federation of world Trade Unions, (representing the captive trade unions of the Communist countries), "demands" that the U.S. comply, with the UN resolution, ". . . with respect to the Puerto Rican people's inalienable right to sovereignty and self-determination. . . ."

The fact is Puerto Rico though plagued with growing economic troubles inherited from the mainland recession in the U.S. with its large unemployment, is not a police state.

Referendums, open and free, have been held on independence for the island and the vote in favor of same has never been more than three per cent of the population.

Castro operates today from a position of great strength. His revolution is a success and on an upward trend. And most of his Caribbean neighbors have restored or commenced full trade and diplomatic relations with his revolutionary government.

Bearing this in mind, perhaps Castro is trying out a little brinksmanship of his own, since other Caribbean systems like the Cuban, or in support of the Cuban, are still in his interest.

And encouraging one for Puerto Rico could be more propaganda than reality to remind the U.S. that the Cuban Revolution has not changed its basic course.

Aid for Handicapped

How much worse life would be for handicapped members of our society if it were not for organizations such as the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. This was what passed through the mind recently while watching a television program about the work of a U.S. medical foundation established to aid crippled children in Mexico.

As it is, facilities in that country apparently are lacking and there are many children who need treatment but are not getting it.

Even in Ontario where the society's work has been under way for many years, the work is never-ending and the need for public support constant. The rewards can be great though, as Grant Young, nurse in charge of the local branch of the society's work, indicated this week.

Mr. Young brought the Rotary Club, which spearheads the annual Easter Seals campaign for funds, up to date on the society's work. There are about 80 families locally dependent on its help and slides shown gave an idea of the extent of the task in terms of surgical operations and equipment.

That many youngsters are helped to lead a near-normal life is testimony to what can be done.

Most of the slides showed children with brain and limb deficiencies resulting from cerebral palsy and what is being accomplished for them. And there were pictures of a 19-year-old girl who had suffered from a cleft palate condition. The disfigurement and discomfort she had experienced as a child had disappeared and she is now an attractive teenager.

As well as the human touch upon which so much of the work is based, computers now assist in keeping tabs on the medical and other needs of the children. That's where science helps; in the ultimate though it is the dedication of many people which helps ensure a brighter future for these youngsters.

Czech Girl to Stay

Martina Navratilova, the young Czechoslovak tennis pro, has asked for asylum in the United States.

One of the most promising of the new crop of young woman players, Miss Navratilova has been playing internationally for some time and it says a lot about life in her country that she is now taking this step.

Since 1948, when the Communists took over, and the brief but abortive liberalization movement of 1968, Czechoslovakia has been one of the most rigid of the totalitarian states of eastern Europe. Miss Navratilova says politics did not influence her decision, rather it was her home association which sought to restrict her appearances abroad. But doesn't that reflect the system there?

Asked if she enjoys life in the United States, her reply was revealing: "Who doesn't . . . the freedom . . . no problems." Well, there are problems aplenty but we know what she means.

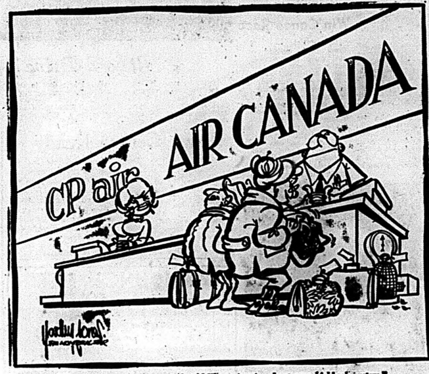
There is no iron curtain in this continent, rendering hazardous any cross-border escape attempts such as recent ones by a U.S. helicopter pilot who, although wounded, flew some Czechs out.

There is confirmation too of the conditions Miss Navratilova is fleeing. From an unlikely source, but one from the world of sport too, in the person of Karen Magnussen.

Miss Magnussen, who won three world gold medals in Bratislava in 1973, and now tours professionally, was quoted as saying in a magazine article last year: "When I see people wanting communism in our country I'd like to string them up. I'd give them five days over there."

She says people there are denied "so much" and treated "awfully." During a Czech exhibition performance, a little girl of a group waiting for autographs ran up to her and "a policeman took her and threw her to the ground." The Canadian star says there were similar incidents in East Germany and Russia.

We still have a free society. For reasons hard to explain, some in our midst would like to see it otherwise. But then, they have not seen conditions at first hand, as these sporting stars have done.



"Two returns to Saskatoon and we'd like to inquire about your kickback system."

NDP's Lewis Exudes Charisma but Little Else

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Election notes; NDP: The party having no great goals in this election, its best hope would be to form the Opposition and it has no great dreams of that. It is a party that is unruffled.

Stephen Lewis most of the time has the attitude of a benign, and clever, elder statesman who is in a position to view the world and its affairs with detachment.

That is except when he gets on one of his close emotional subjects. Reporters with him say he made perhaps the best speech of the campaign when he spoke in Elliott Lake on environment conditions in the mines.

The party's campaign tends to be somewhat scatter-shot. It zeroes in on such issues as housing which have appeal to only a segment of the public, though to it the appeal is strong.

It has produced nothing such as Robert Nixon's education, which involves all levels.

The NDP leader has been taking a more "understanding" tone towards business. An example: When he talked of forcing reduced mortgage rates, he said that there would be tax credits for institutions involved.

It is hard to assess the new Lewis attitude.

How much of it is genuine and how much an act? One can't say for the leader is a very clever and talented man.

There certainly is a tremendous change in the Stephen Lewis of today and the crusading radical who entered the house 12 years ago.

Also who can assess the impact of his TV talks with Gordon Sinclair? They are a couple of gentlemen having a calm discussion. Not entirely in character for either of them.

The party readily resorts to citing British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta as examples that NDP government isn't an ogre and can be successful.

It doesn't point out, of course, that in none of these provinces was the party so firmly under the wing of big labor as it is in Ontario.

The NDP research team is the envy of both other parties.

It has come up with solid figures in such fields as housing and land which have made the government look bad and on the defensive.

Lewis has some sympathy for the Nixon policy to curb the power of the top civil service.

But he apparently doesn't go along with the Liberal economy plank. He has said his budget would be bigger than at present.

The Stephen Lewis seen in the Davis-Lewis TV debate was not the Lewis known at Queen's Park. He had little of the wit and none of the high sarcasm he has shown in the legislature.

"And his servants came near, and spake unto him, and said, My father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? How much rather than, he saith to thee, Wash and be clean? Then he went down, and dipped himself seven times in Jordan according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a child, and he was clean." 2 Kings 5:13,14.

This is the story of a big man who humbled himself to do a little thing that brought great results. Sometime the Lord reaches people through what appears to be the ridiculous. If He can only get us to obey, there is no telling what He will do for us and through us.

Field-Marshall Jan Christian Smuts, soldier and statesman, died two years after he was defeated in South Africa's parliamentary elections and lost the premiership 25 years ago today—in 1950. During the Boer War, Smuts fought brilliantly against the British but after the Boers' defeat joined with them in building the Union of South Africa.

Australia's Colonialist Powderkeg

By ROD CURRIE
The Canadian Press

Australia may be drawn into a nasty family squabble as independence for Papua-New Guinea draws near.

Australia is eager to be rid of its colonist stigma and all was going well until the copper-rich island of Bougainville recently jumped the gun in declaring its own secession from the would-be new country.

The Australians, the Papua-New Guinea government in Port Moresby, and the United Nations of which the colony would become the 138th member—ignored the unilateral declaration of independence. But if Bougainville leaders persist, there may be trouble.

Papua-New Guinea, a study in stone age-space age contrasts, is rich in resources but poor in the means to exploit them.

The group of islands off northeast Australia is heavily dependent on copper mining, worked by an Australian-based subsidiary of Rio Tinto Zinc and accounting for two-thirds of Papua-New Guinea's exports and half its budget. The islands also have potential wealth in timber, tuna and other fish, oil and natural gas, but lack capital and technical ability to exploit these.

The group's three million population and its geographic dimensions makes it comparable with New Zealand, but about 90 per cent of the population are villagers who subsist on farming.

Most of the population is illiterate but the country has the world's most sophisticated telecommunications system run by a coffee and pig farmer of no formal education who is minister of communications.

While the minister of civil aviation bargains in the United States for planes for the overseas air service, the natives back home fight tribal wars with bows and arrows.

Nevertheless, the natives detest the "primitive" image imposed by outsiders and shun the idea of their developing industries coming increasingly under the control of foreign business interests.

Papua-New Guinea has, through Australia, inherited a parliamentary form of government headed by Michael Somare, 40-year-old former teacher and journalist, who will become prime minister when independence takes place Sept. 16.

While the Australians are eager to set the colony free, there is little likelihood the rest of Papua-New Guinea would be able to get enough earnings without Bougainville, about 600 miles offshore.

For a start, Bougainville can physically stop the copper operations. Thus confronted, the new Port Moresby government would be forced to seek to assert its authority.

But its defences, dependent on Australian money and equipment, consist of 3,500 men, a flight of three DC-3s, and five patrol boats.

It could only hold Bougainville by force with Australian naval aid and Australia wants to avoid such involvement which would generate bitterness and probably violence.

Bank of Canada in Doghouse for Raising Lending Rate to 9 Per Cent

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs

Analyst

Thomson News Service

Talk about abuse and vilification—that's all that the Bank of Canada and its Governor Gerald K. Bouey have been getting ever since they raised the bank rate to a near-record nine per cent at the beginning of September.

The central bank doesn't deserve the attacks it has been getting, and its critics know that.

It's true that all the chartered banks immediately increased the interest rate they charge on loans by three-quarters of a percentage point.

But they would have done so anyway—and without waiting beyond the first week of this month.

The demand for bank loans has been growing steadily throughout the past two or three months.

Money supply, broadly defined to include currency and total deposits, expanded at an annual rate of 15 per cent between May and August.

And inflation returned in July to the 11 per cent range, with every indication that it will go still higher. When loans cost less than the inflation rate, everybody wants to borrow.

It was inevitable, then, that the chartered banks and other lenders would raise the cost of loans, and soon.

Since it was a question of timing, the Bank of Canada may have acted first in order to create the impression that it was doing something constructive about the inflation problem.

If that's a political advantage, however, others have been trying to turn it into a disadvantage.

For example, the central bank's action has been resoundingly denounced as inflationary by Ontario's Premier William Davis—who should know about inflation.

He reduced or removed some provincial taxes temporarily just before launching the current election campaign, even though government spending is on the rise and the province's treasury has been running a deficit for several years.

And the real-estate industry, beset by recessions and high costs, wasted no time in putting the blame on the central bank for the current uptrend in mortgage rates.

Somehow, no one has chastised Bank of Canada Governor Bouey for the recovery of the Canadian dollar to more than 97 cents (U.S.)—a gain of nearly one cent since mid-August. Higher yields in Canada have been attracting a heavy northbound flow of short-term investment money.

The partisan attacks on the central bank's inevitable rate increase are not only unfair, but they tend to obscure Canada's real dilemma on inflation.

Consumer prices are again rising dramatically in Canada. The government's half-hearted attempt to obtain organized labor's consent to voluntary restraint quickly fizzled out four months ago.

(In Britain, on the other hand, even the usually single-minded Trades Union Congress has agreed to a limit of about $12.50 per week on all wage increases, to help reduce the 26 per cent U.K. inflation rate.)

Controls on prices and incomes would put a damper on inflation, but the Trudeau government rejects them—because, it appears, they led to the Tory defeat in 1974.

With everything else eliminated, virtually our only weapon against inflation is the Bank of Canada's power to influence interest rates and the money supply.

So cautiously does the central bank use that power, reacting only when it has become inevitable, that the Canadian economy is left with no real defence against inflation.

Nicol Says Farms Key to Riding Prosperity in Future

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Jan Nicol wants to go to Queen's Park to open the windows and let some fresh air in.

Miss Nicol, 27, accepted the nomination as NDP candidate for Prince Edward-Lennox riding March 23 in Picton.

"My number one asset is that I'm a middle-income person," Miss Nicol said in an interview.

A graduate of University of Toronto in environmental studies, economics and psychology she has worked for both the federal and provincial governments.

"I like to be considered as a consumer candidate."

The "well-to-do" members of the last Conservative government, said Miss Nicol, weren't capable of making decisions for average-income persons in Ontario.

The provincial government should take the initiative in protecting individual's rights: "The onus is in the wrong place: On the worker, the consumer."

The Conservative government is not enforcing minimum wage, health and discrimination laws in Prince Edward-Lennox, she added.

"You can't expect an employee in areas where jobs are scarce to take the initiative."

Creating jobs in her riding while preserving agricultural land is one of her priorities.

"It's about time we begin looking at farming as an industry."

"Agriculture is not given a high enough priority by the Conservatives or Liberals. What can be more important than food production?"

The farmer, she said, is not making enough money, and won't get it under the present system.

The real problem is with the marketing system. An NDP farm income assurance program would stabilize the industry and put an end to the "boom or bust" system that now exists.

"The real hardship is on the farmer," Miss Nicol said.

The Conservative government has a big business priority and won't listen to individuals or groups without power, she said.

"Farmers in Prince Edward-Lennox are going out of business".

They are caught in a squeeze, she said, between production cost inflation and small price increases from a "retailer-government controlled food industry".

"In Prince Edward-Lennox, our commerce and quality of service depend a lot on farm income. Helping farmers get their fair share, helps us all."

A healthier farm industry in the riding would generate more jobs.

"There are a lot of employees needed in the farm industry but farmers can't afford it."

With an NDP income assurance program farmers would get a return on investment and time and be able to offer "proper" jobs, not positions paying less than minimum wage.

Industry should be attracted to the riding, but not on farm land, she adds.

Richmond Township in Lennox County, said Miss Nicol, is the beginning of the Canadian Shield, making it poor farm land.

Government, she said, should legislate tax "dis-incentives" to attract industry to locate in the area.

"The Conservatives have spent millions setting up industrial areas but they're all around Toronto."

"I'm beginning to think politics stinks," said Miss Nicol, who was the first candidate nominated in the riding for the September election.

She said she's in favor of local government power and provincial decentralization: "The bigger the jurisdiction the greater the chance for corruption."

ONTARIO VOTES SEPT. 18

Hon. Wm. Davis, PC Leader

Robert Nixon, Lib. Leader

Stephen Lewis, NDP Leader

Which leader and party will do best for Ontario and you?

Before you vote, know where they stand on the issues, including:

Housing/Rent Control
How can more working people own housing. Free market economy vs. government intervention in rent, and land use. Mortgage interest relief for home owners. Public housing and its location.

Inflation
What protection is possible for senior citizens and those on fixed incomes during double digit inflation. How to deal with soaring costs of government services and expenditures at all levels. How to deal with rapidly increasing cost of public services such as health, education, etc.

Environment
How to reconcile job creating industries with protection of the environment. Meaningful public input in decisions affecting the environment.

Health
Maintenance and improvement of high standards for all people in Ontario consistent with costs the economy can afford. Special benefits to meet the special needs of the old, the very young and the disadvantaged. Effective community input and responsibility for running and establishment of hospitals. Special care programs outside nursing homes for the elderly who could cope on their own for longer periods with adequate supplementary services.

Quality Education
High standards. Smaller classes, more individual attention. Professionalism and development of inquiring minds within a collegial atmosphere. Public and professional input in the decision making process in education. Special curriculum development to recognize special needs of Ontario's regions. Increasing costs of education.

Transportation
Construction of highways and provision of adequate public transport in all centres of the province. Clear and coordinated policies and priorities and policies with respect to expressway construction and public transport.

Northern Development
Special recognition of the unique needs of the North (and north-east and north-west) with respect to public services, highways needs, transportation costs, fuel costs, food costs.

Public Input
Real and meaningful public input in the decision making process. Mandatory public hearings for commissions of the Legislature inquiring into such important matters as the working of the Legislature itself and redistribution of electoral seats. Mandatory Hansard recording of Committee consideration of important bills to provide the public with complete access to discussions. Reform of the committee structure of the Legislature. Reform of the rules of procedure of the Legislature.

Public Tendering
Mandatory public tenders publicly opened for all government and government agency and commission purchases of goods and services in excess of a determined minimum amount, including media services and public relations and consulting services.

Prov. vs. Fed. Responsibilities
A clear as possible deliniation of federal and provincial responsibilities in areas of shared concern such as housing, employment, and the economy. An end to buck passing in this area.

Agriculture
Reconciliation of need of adequate prices for producer with fair prices for the consumer. Crop insurance in new areas outside federal programs, or federally supported programs.

Energy
Development of new conservation measures. Exploration of new sources. Free market economy vs. government intervention with respect to prices for oil, gas, gasoline and hydro. Mechanism for determining broader public input with respect to rates.

Employment
Methods for more job creation. Special help for workers in ailing industries, both short term and long term. Development opportunities for younger workers, workers over 45, and older employees. New opportunities for the handicapped.

Quality of Life
Equality of opportunity. New cultural, economic and social opportunities. New cultural, economic and social responsiblities.

In a democracy, people get the government they deserve. If you don't vote, you don't count. In the last provincial election 1,210,000 people didn't count. COUNT ON SEPT. 18

Workmanship Draws Complaints

MARMORA — Marmora Village Council has sent a three-page listing of streets in Marmora which require upgrading, to R.V. Anderson Associates, the engineering firm in in charge of the Marmora sewage project.

The accompanying letter from council explains the streets have not been brought up to the same condition as they were in at the commencement of the contract.

Council also enclosed a list of complaints from landowners who consider their approaches where laterals were installed have not been finished properly.

Horse Clinic Planned

PICTON — A free clinic titled "Horses — Where Do We Start" will be held at Picton fairgrounds Tuesday, September 23 at 8 p.m., sponsored by the County as a Classroom program.

Tips on grooming, showing and conformation will be offered by Charles Culmer of Picton, Rick Lange, Trenton and Mrs. Ben Prinzen, Bloomfield.

Seniors Resume Meetings

MARMORA — The opening meeting of the new season of Marmora Senior Citizens' Association was held earlier this month. Acting president Ritchie Wells welcomed 54 members and two visitors.

A two minute silence was observed in memory of the late president Eva Post and Lottie Gordanier who died during the summer.

Plans were finalized for a boat trip on Lake Couchiching from Orillia on Sept. 4

Taylor at Town Hall

DEMORESTVILLE — The Sophiasburg Progressive Conservative Association will hold a Meet Your Candidate night for James Taylor MPP Prince Edward—Lennox tonight at the town hall.

Latest Contract Defines Workload Provisions

The Civil Service Association of Ontario (CSAO) has announced other provisions in the new 1975-76 contract with the provincial government ratified by the CSAO's college of applied arts and technology (CAAT) academic division Monday.

Ontario's 22 community colleges approved the agreement by an 85 per cent margin while at Loyalist College, the vote in favor was 85-7.

Other workload provisions show:

— weekly hours computed on a three-month rolling average,

— a bonus for each day over 180 or 190 set at 1-180th or 1-190th of the annual salary per day,

— a college workload committee of three faculty and three administrators to review each college's application of the above numbers,

— a provincial workload committee of three faculty and three administrators to review those assignments which cannot be resolved at the local level and,

— the grievance procedure is open to faculty whose workload claim is not satisfactorily resolved by the provincial committee.

Regarding vacations, librarians and counsellors who currently receive one-month will receive 22 days plus one day for each year of service up to a maximum of 30 days.

Job security — layoffs and recall based on a seniority system for all non-probationary members of the bargaining unit.

Maternity Leave on Adoption — a right to six weeks leave.

Sabbatical Leave — application for and commencement of sabbatical leave may be at any time during the year.

Fringe Benefits — 90 per cent of extended health plan paid by the college.

Mileage — raised by one cent per mile to 19 cents for the first 5,000 miles, 14 cents for 5,001 to 15,000 miles and 12 cents for over 15,000 miles

Personnel Records — employees shall be shown all appraisals and have the right to record their views on the appraisals.

Library Hub Of Activity

Now that school is underway, a busy schedule has been drawn up at Corby Library of interest to all readers.

An exhibition of murals and paintings by Ron Vandervelde and pen and ink sketches by Jerry Stapley are now on display until Sept. 15 in the gallery.

Quinte Secondary School Camera Club will stage a display from Sept. 15 until 29 in the upper lobby and demonstrations by the Weaving Guild will be held from Sept. 22 until Oct. 11 in the gallery. Paintings by Philippa Faulkner of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, will be on display at the same time until the beginning of October.

Also of interest to art enthusiasts is the Eastern Ontario Art Association Juried Exhibition from Oct. 18 until Nov. 1.

Handwriting Tells

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A 75-cent computer analysis of Stephen Lewis's handwriting said Wednesday the NDP leader has "a natural tendency to judge success by wealth."

Re-instate Conviction

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A U.S. federal appeals court Wednesday reinstated the conviction of William Calley Jr. for the murder of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. The ruling dealt only with issues of law left over from the trial of the former lieutenant.

Pays Compensation

CARACAS (Reuter) — Venezuela will pay about $900 million compensation to 22 foreign oil companies it nationalized last month, Mining Minister Valentin Hernandez announced Wednesday.

Sanders Fined

TORONTO (CP) — Sandblasters A. N. Shaw and Sons Ltd. of Toronto were fined $500 Wednesday for showering pedestrians with sand while cleaning a downtown building.

Sign Pact

PERTH, Ont. (CP) — Lanark district secondary school teachers will receive a 28.4-per-cent wage package increase for the coming year under an agreement reached Wednesday.

Holds Draw

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Housing Corporation (OHC) will hold a draw Sept. 19 to decide who will get 15 homes under its Home Ownership Made Easy (HOME) plan, officials said Tuesday.

Women Meet

OTTAWA (CP) — A national conference of trade union women will be held in Quebec City next spring immediately prior to the biennial Canadian Labor Congress convention, the congress reported Wednesday.

Will Order Review

TORONTO (CP)—Liberal Leader Robert Nixon says he will order a review of family welfare services in Ontario if he is elected premier in the Sept. 18 general election.

Upholds Conviction

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal has upheld three convictions of misleading advertising against Bad Boy Appliances and Furniture Ltd. of Kemptville, 35 miles south-west of here.

Strike Continues

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A strike by 316 Lo[illegible] bus drivers, me[illegible] cleaners, employees of the London Tran[illegible]sion, entered its fourth day today with little hope in [illegible] for an early settlement, union and commission spokesmen said.

Hangs Around

OTTAWA (CP) — When Alan Alan hangs around people watch him.

The five-foot English escape artist hung around Wednesday—60 feet above the Rideau Canal.

Chained, handcuffed and suspended by his feet over the canal on a lit, gasoline-soaked rope held by a crane, he managed to writhe free in two minutes, 11 seconds.

Shark Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — The last survivor from a group of three six-gilled sharks brought last month to the Vancouver Public Aquarium died Wednesday, a few hours before it was to be put to death because of its poor condition.

Barrett Cited

VICTORIA (CP) — The Greenpeace Foundation has named Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia the "only major political figure in Canada to have done anything at all to help save the world's whales."

Canada Rejects Beef Proposal

WASHINGT[illegible] ada has rejected as too limited a United [illegible] gin reopening the border [illegible]diately to trade in beef and veal products, U.S. officials say.

A Canadian embassy official here confirmed Wednesday that an offer had been made to Ottawa and that it had been turned down.

The U.S. officials said there have been no subsequent moves by Canada to make a counter-proposal or to hold additional negotiations on the subject.

The situation currently is that both the U.S. and Canada have stringent limits, imposed more than a year ago, on the import of beef and veal from each other. These are generally expected to be removed at the start of 1976 but the trade loss in the meantime is substantial.

The controls, or quotas, were first put into effect by Canada on the import of slaughter cattle, beef and veal on Aug. 12, 1974. The U.S. responded by slapping barriers on the import of Canadian cattle, beef, hogs, pork and veal. Last month Canada told the U.S. it would not renew the cattle quotas beyond their one-year expiry date and the U.S. responded by lifting controls on Canadian cattle, hogs and pork.

Basically, the U.S. proposed that both countries scrap remaining controls immediately, giving U.S. meat exporters full access to the Canadian market, but with Canada limiting its over-all sales in the U.S. market to about 22 million pounds this year, rather than the 17 million permitted under the quotas.

Ordinarily Canada might be expected to sell up to 80 million pounds of beef and veal in the U.S. yearly. Full access would again have been granted to the Canadians next year under the proposal.

U.S. officials say they are concerned that unless there is some assurance of restraint from the Canadians, imports from Canada might shove the total through the ceiling, bringing automatic formal controls into effect.

The import quotas allocated by Canada were based on average shipments from the U.S. in the five years between 1969 and 1973, roughly 20 million pounds. The Americans were allowed to continue shipments at this level but not to exceed it.

But the U.S. has always argued that the base period was unfair because it represented a time when U.S. meat exports to Canada were abnormally low. Officials say the volumes before 1969 were often well above 20 million pounds and would be higher again if the quotas were lifted.

Davis Buying Votes: Nixon

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon accused Premier William Davis Wednesday night of showering voters with $125 million worth of "goodies" to "buy Conservative votes" during the Ontario general election campaign.

Mr. Nixon was addressing more than 800 persons at a Liberal rally here at the end of a long day on the campaign trail which began 15 hours earlier in Northern Ontario. There he offered northerners a $25—million cushion to bring living costs closer in line with those in southern Ontario.

"The Conservatives are running a vote now—pay later campaign," he said. "It's no coincidence that their lawn signs look like Chargex cards.

"It's time for a change in Ontario," he said. "After 32 years in office, the Conservatives have lost respect for the taxpayers' dollars; they have confused their priorities [illegible] power now comes before principle.

Mr. Nixon said chances for a Liberal victory are brighter than they have been since the Conservatives took power in 1943.

Do a little insulating this weekend. You'll see the results on your fuel bills.

The high cost of heating is not a "grin and bear it" situation. You can do something about it. Improve your insulation.

1 Insulation saves fuel–saves money. It's very simple, a house with adequate insulation costs less to heat, because you lose less. And at today's fuel prices, you can't afford to lose very much.

2 You need at least 6″ of insulation in your attic. Even if your house is only 5 years old, you may not have enough insulation. The insulation standards that your builder followed are no longer valid.

Building codes are being changed and 6″ of insulation in the attic will probably be the new minimum for all new construction.

You can bring your home's insulation up to current standards yourself, with a minimum investment of time and money. In the process you'll be saving money on your fuel bill and adding to the real value of your home.

3 What kind of insulation should you get? Fiberglas.* It's easy to install, readily available and inexpensive. It's also extremely efficient, rot and mildew proof, fire retardant and recognized everywhere as the best form of insulation. If you already have some insulation in the attic you'll probably need Fiberglas friction fit batts. They install without so much as a nail. Just stuff them between the joists in the attic, right over the insulation you have.

Measure the insulation you have now, then get Fiberglas friction fit batts thick enough to make 6″. Since you'll be adding to existing insulation, do not use insulation with a backing or a vapour barrier. (You could be creating condensation problems.) All you need is plain, unbacked insulation–Fiberglas friction fit batts.

4 If you have no insulation at all? You need Fiberglas kraft faced batts with a built in vapour barrier. You'll need it 6″ thick (that's called R-20) and you apply it the same way–laying it between the joists in the attic floor. The vapour barrier (the paper side) always goes next to the warm side. So in the attic, it's paper side down.

5 The Fiberglas booklet. It tells all. Your building supply dealer has a free copy of the Fiberglas booklet for you. It's called "HOW TO FIGHT THE RISING COST OF FUEL BY IMPROVING YOUR HOME'S INSULATION".
Ask for it and read it. It'll tell you everything you need to know about insulating your attic, rec room, cottage and give you other tips on conserving energy.

To do the average house should take the weekend. But it's an investment that pays dividends on every fuel bill you'll ever receive.

How Often Do You Follow Impulses?

One pleasant, cool evening recently, just after supper, I looked out the window and thought impulsively," Let's get the bicycles out and go for a spin!"

The impulse lasted about five seconds. During that time, my mind raced from the idea of the wind flying by my face and the blood coursing through my veins, all the way back to the dishes that had to be done, and the old wooden chair set on newspapers in a corner of the kitchen, needing the rest of its varnish removed.

And I told myself,"I'll just get these things done, and then we'll go."

Of course, we never got out of the house that evening. The jobs took longer than I'd expected and almost before I knew it, night had settled down. It was too dark and cold to go for any bike ride.

I spent a good part of that evening cursing my self for not obeying that impulse. I could have returned home fresh from an outing, ready to tackle chores, but instead, here I was, slogging through another tired end to an unexceptional day.

Talking with friends about this realization — that somewhere along the line I've lost my gay abandon — I've learned that it's a more common failing than I'd supposed.

There was the husband who got home from work ahead of his wife and suddenly had an impulse to surprise her with a take-out Chinese dinner.

He was reaching for the phone, already smelling the sweet-and-sour whatever, when a cautioning inner voice said, "Better check the fridge first." And sure enough, there were those bowls of leftovers, and last night's salad that had better be eaten tonight or it would get too soggy.

Well, of course the salad was too soggy anyway, and as the couple struggled bravely through their budget-cutting meal, the wife looked up and said, "You know, this is pretty awful. What I wish we'd done is sent out for Chinese food."

Another couple told about the chance they had to buy a good used pick-up truck for $500. On impulse they said yes, and then got home, and thought it over, and decided it might not be worth it after all. So they phoned back to say no.

Two days later, the husband had to sit through an agonizing lunch listening to a friend at work who'd bought the truck, taken it to a garage for servicing, and been offered $900 for it, on the spot. "Tidy little profit there," gloated the buyer, as the sensible fellow kicked himself under the table.

What is it in us that kills our impulses? The pull of routine and duty? Canadian restraint ? Advancing years? Plain hesitancy? Fear of making mistakes?

Whatever it is, one pattern seems clear: The impulses most of us turn down are the ones we should have followed — and the ones we act on usually turn out awful.

The winding country road you drive down on impulse will lead you to a township dump and on the way ruin your shock absorbers.

The gorgeous dress you buy just because you feel like it will turn out to be the one you never wear because really, your husband says, to be frank, you look like a sack of potatoes in it.

And the house with a swimming pool, that you decide impulsively to buy to satisfy your longing for a private and prestigious backyard, has neighbors on either side whose 11 children have been using the pool since it was built and who aren't going to be deprived of it now, surely?

The solution of course is to reverse things: If you get an impulse to do something, decide not to do it, and then do it, as if it weren't an impulse.

Of course the disadvantage of this method is that the convoluted reasoning will leave you so confused that you'll end up — impulsively — jumping out the window!

The Person Behind the Politician

Sounding board, advisor, confidant and critic. The spouse of a politician must fill all of these roles and supply endless moral support to boot.

What's it like to be married to a person running for provincial office? We interviewed the wives and husband of the Quinte riding candidates recenty and the first interview, with Lindy McLauchlan, appears on this page today.

Discussions with Donna O'Neil and Roy Jeffrey will appear Friday and Saturday.

Lindy McLauchlan

'More Than a Ready Smile'

Being a candidate's wife doesn't only mean shaking hands, smiling into the camera and asking 'how are you?' It's a time of havoc, disruption of familiar routines and regretably, sometimes an invasion of privacy.

But Lindy McLauchlan is taking it all in stride and enjoying it very much.

The wife of the New Democratic Party candidate for Quinte, Carson McLauchlan, Lindy is a necessary part of the campaign machinery. And she fulfills this role with the greatest of ease.

"You have to get involved; there's no way I could keep out of it," she told The Intelligencer. "You have to put aside as much of your personal life as you can."

Besides appearing at meetings and social functions with her husband Lindy works full time at the Bank of Montreal, Quinte Mall, as a utility clerk. The 27-year-old is also in the midst of raising an active 10-year-old, Kim Marie.

"I can see the teenager in her already," she moaned.

"Our marriage is 50-50 but right now I just do everything all alone. I can't expect Carson to come home and cope with things here. Things at home have drastically changed. We used to play tennis all summer," she said.

The McLauchlans married 11 years ago and met over the hospital bed of a mutual friend.

Although she admits campaigning is tiring she's enjoying the opportunity of meeting more people. "People realize you're not being phony if you're just yourself," she said.

Lindy doesn't see a candidates wife as a special breed. "Most of us look the same. We look concerned, usually dress attractively and get our hair done. We just blend into the background really.

Being committed to this campaign hasn't limited her personal freedom, she said. "I have my views on things and I don't think anything would change them."

Born and educated in Belleville Lindy looks forward to fulfilling personal dreams such as a day care centre or becoming a teacher. But right now the campaign is foremost.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Roy Cox

Cox—Evans

August 16 was the date of the afternoon wedding of Susan Jane Evans and Terry Roy Cox, in Westminster United Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans, RR 2, Frankford; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cox, RR 2, Trenton.

Rev. Frank Mitchell officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheer over taffeta gown with high mandarin neckline. The front and back bodice of guipere lace was embellished with seed pearls. Her full length veil was edged with lace trim. The bride carried pink roses, forget-me-nots and white carnations.

Sue Di Illo was matron of honor in a light blue dotted swiss gown; she carried pink carnations, white daisies and blue forget-me-nots.

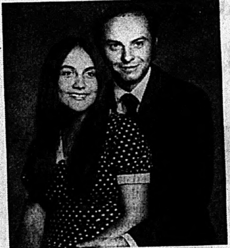
Jane Cox was bridesmaid attired as the matron of honor.

Lisa Ryan was flower girl and carried a basket of similar flowers.

Gary Cox, the groom's brother, was best man assisted by ushers Peter Evans, the bride's brother and Doug Carroll.

A formal reception and dance was held at the Shrine Club.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls the couple took up residence at RR 3, Belleville.



Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Doxtator are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Valerie Jane to Ernest Wayne Wallbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Wallbridge. The wedding will take place Saturday, September 20, at 2 p.m. at Christian Missionary Alliance Church, Belleville.

Social Information For Brides-to-Be

Engagement announcements should be brought to the main desk of The Intelligencer from 8.30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Those without photographs cost $4.50, and those with photographs cost $1 70

Wedding notices should be brought to the women's desk upstairs at The Intelligencer, between 8.30 a.m. and 3 p.m. weekdays, or from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Information about weddings should be set down on wedding forms available from either the main desk or the women's desk. here is no charge for the description of the wedding, but a charge of $4.70 is made for reproduction of a photograph.

Black and white glossy photographs are recommended for the best reproduction in the newspaper. If, however, you have only color photos, bring the negative so that it can be used to make a black and white print.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Dafoe and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Derruich of Belleville, called on them in the afternoon and enjoyed an anniversary cake in honour of the occasion.

They then spent the supper hour at the Stoco Lake Hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morton.

Abortion Issue Splits Women's Status Meeting

SASKATOON (CP) — Dissension on abortion laws appeared Thursday at the meeting of the federal and provincial councils on the status of women.

A split emerged as the Ontario and Quebec councils on the status of women and the Neva Scotia task force on the status of women announced they intend to band together to call for the repeal of abortion laws.

Ontario and Nova Scotia approved a motion Thursday to support a proposal submitted by the Quebec council which recommends abortion laws contained in the Criminal Code be withdrawn and replaced by a law permitting abortion on demand during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy.

But this was opposed by both the Saskatchewan council and the federal body.

A copy of the proposal will be presented to Justice Minister Otto Lang by the three approving councils, although a definite date for submission or a meeting with the minister was not set.

The motion also recommends that abortion not take place after the specified 12 weeks, and interuption of pregnancy not be permitted if it endangers the health and life of the woman.

Massive Kitchen Will Serve Olympic Athletes

Olympic Food

The fussiest eaters among the 10,000 athletes and trainers at the 1976 Olympic Games should be able to find something to his liking on a menu that will feature foods from 131 countries. The central kitchen and dining area will seat 3,600, covers the area of two football fields and will be open around the clock. Members of Canada's Modern Pentathlon team are shown discussing their food preferences with Roger Gagnon (right-centre), food service manager of the Olympic village and George Tavernier (left-center) of La Societe VS Limitee, the company awarded the Olympic Food Service contract.

MONTREAL (CP) — Even the fussiest eaters among the 10,000 athletes and trainers at the 1976 Olympic Games should be able to find something to their liking on a menu that will feature foods from 131 countries.

Each delegation to the Games has modified and approved a menu proposed by the Olympic organizing committee's food services division, headed by veteran caterer Roger Gagnon.

The committee will set a precedent in 1976 by offering one menu, one kitchen and one dining area for all delegations.

The central kitchen and dining room, which will seat 3,600, covers the area of two football fields. Besides athletes and trainers, it will serve 3,000 journalists, 4,000 employees and 500 official visitors during the two weeks of the Games.

In past Olympics, groups of countries have organized different kitchens and menus.

At the 1968 Games in Mexico City, there were six kitchens, each with its own menu—Asian and African, Eastern European, Western European, South American, North American and "international."

Diplomatic problems ensued when the Czechoslovakians said they did not want to eat with the Eastern European bloc and Japan wanted to eat with the North Americans.

To eliminate such problems and still provide for individual tastes, special items have been incorporated in the 1976 menu.

Asians have asked that their rice be cooked in natural or spring water rather than Montreal's chlorinated water. The Soviets have asked that borsch, a highly-seasoned meat-and-vegetable soup, be served at breakfast. The Italian delegation wants to bring its own pasta and cheese, the French their own wine and cheese and the West Germans their own beer.

Mr. Gagnon plans special storage space for delegations wanting to bring their own food, but distribution will be up to the individual country. The Olympic Village, where the athletes will live, has not been granted a liquor licence and any alcoholic beverages will be the responsibility of each country.

Mr. Gagnon said traditional chef-consultants to each delegation will be welcome, "but only if they act as consultants and do not interfere with our head chef."

Quebec specialties featured on the menu will include Oka and cheddar cheese, "tourtiere" meat pies, maple syrup, Gaspe salmon, baked beans, crepes and maple sugar pies.

For religious or medical requirements, dishes will be provided from outside the village.

Mr. Gagnon has 22 years' experience in food management and has been planning for the Games since 1971.

"An athlete eats about eight pounds of food a day," he said, "about three pounds more than the average person."

The shopping list, based on 5,000 calories per athlete per day, includes 65,500 pounds of steak, 285,000 quarts of milk, 624,000 eggs, 58,000 pounds of vegetables, 37,500 gallons of fruit juices and soft drinks, 55,000 gallons of ice cream, 7,500 pounds of coffee beans and 75,000 servings of decaffeinated coffee.

Each person will receive three meal coupons a day, and the kitchen will be open around the clock. The quantity of food that can be eaten at one sitting is theoretically unlimited, "but we will discourage anyone from taking four steaks at a time," Mr. Gagnon said.

He said his major concern is getting top-quality meat "and not skimping on the price" in the wake of a recent scandal involving the sale of tainted meat in Quebec.

Food scientists will inspect equipment, personnel and the food itself. Tight security will be in effect to prevent the addition of drugs to food. A microbiologist has been taking samples of Montreal drinking water since 1971 to test fluctuations in the chemical content and to regulate it.

"It takes a while to get used to different types of water," Mr. Gagnon said. "At first we'll give out bottled spring water so everyone can have a chance to get used to our water slowly."

The kitchen will be open from June 20 to Aug. 3, 1976, but will reach full capacity only on July 10, a week before the Games begin.

Invent Emeralds

YOTO, Japan (RP) — A Japanese company announced the creation of artificial emeralds of the same composition and quality of the natural ones but costing half the price. The production method has been refined in six years of experiments and the company plans to sell rings, pins, bracelets and other accessories.

Not Accepted As Nurse

BEMBRIDGE, Isle of Wight (CP) — Belinda Southcott, 17, has been told that she cannot be accepted as a state registered nurse or for state enrolled nurse training. For Belinda at four feet three inches, is too tiny to qualify.

Ann Landers

Fantasies in the Bedroom

Dear Ann Landers: Something has been bothering me and I need your help. My husband and I have been married for six years. We get along pretty well together—better than most of our married friends.

My problem is in the bedroom. Unless I imagine my husband is someone else (film star, TV personality, political figure) I'm unable to achieve complete sexual satisfaction. This has made me feel terribly guilty. After all, my husband is the one I love. Why must I pretend I'm with another man?

I shared my shameful secret with my husband and he wasn't at all rattled. In fact, he seemed amused and said, "Forget it!" Please give me your views, Ann — Guilt Complex

Dear G. C.: Take your husband's advice. He might be fantasizing, too, for all you know.

A great philosopher once said, "Each and every one of us has secret thought that would shame hell." I believe it's true. And this applies to every living member of the human race—no matter how saintly.

Dear Ann Landers: Last night I went to see a film I won't name. I am 28 years old and it scared the living daylights out of me.

It was a Saturday night and the theatre was filled with children who had been brought by their parents.

In one scene there was a terrible fire. The actors were choking and gasping for breath. A little kid next to me (about 8) began to cry, "Mommy, I'm scared." "Mommy" shouted, "Shut up and let me watch the picture." Across the aisle, two very young children (about 3 and 4) were screaming. Their father slapped them and yelled, "Behave yourselves."

Please say a word to these imbeciles who call themselvs parents.—Disgusted

Dear D.: It wouldn't help—because they're imbeciles. Perhaps there should be more-effective regulation by the industry, such as "no one under 16 admitted."

Dear Ann Landers: When I told my mother I was going to write to you, she said, "Don't bother. Ann receives so many letters, yours will probably never get beyond her fifth secretary." But I'm writing anyway.

My problem is prison. Well, not really. But I feel so shut in it's the same thing. My husband and I are in our early 20s and have a year-old son who is adorable.

When Bob comes home after work he wants to eat dinner right away—no conversation, no playing with the boy, just eat fast and rush to the newspaper and TV.

He doesn't want to go anywhere, won't let me ask people in, refuses to go to church or even to a movie. We do nothing and see no one—just each other.

Wanting a man's point of view, I discussed this with my dad. He said I should make friends on my own and become involved in anything that interests me. But I'm afraid my husband wouldn't like it if I went out in the evening without him.

Please advise me. I'm so bored, I can't see straight.—Prison Without Bars

Dear P. W. B.: Bob sounds like a loner and those types rarely change. But you shouldn't have to live like a hermit just because your husband is anti-social.

Take your dad's advice. But make sure the interests you pursue don't tak you away from home more than two evenings a week. Select activities and friends who are non-threatening to him. Stick with th women and stay away from the men.

And take special note of this new shipment of lamps. You'll be sure to find one to suit your needs.

Be Comfortable This Winter

Whether we like it or not, winter is on the way. You will have noticed lately that your furnace has been coming on more and more often. When it's on frequently during the winter and the humidity is low, your house becomes dry, static electricity builds up and noses become stuffy. In other words, your house becomes uncomfortable to live in. Moira-Schuster Fuels, 17 S. Pinnacle St. have the right answer. They will install a humidifier on your furnace in order that your your house will stay at a comfortable level all winter long. Make inquiries at 962-4504. And while you're talking to them, have them tell you about their money saving Parts Replacement Plan. You'll be glad you did.

A Timely Suggestion

W. Wonnacott and Son Jewellers, 247 Front St., have a collection of beautiful chiming clocks to show you. These clocks must be classified like a fine piece of furniture. They are fairly expensive but are extremely well made and are something you'll cherish in your home for a lifetime. The beautiful wooden cases are all hand polished in either walnut or maple. They are highly decorative with solid brass numerals. And the chimes will really delight you; choose from Normandie or Westminster chimes. Their rich mellow tones will resound throughout your home. W. Wonnacott Jewellers have an especially good selection of these lovely time pieces. You'll find a style to suit any decor.

Enjoy Great Fall Savings

No matter what type of furnishings you have been planning to buy, you'll find everything priced at substantial savings at Wray's Home Furnishers, 306 Front St. Their great September Show and Sale is now on and you will find savings in every department. Wray's are not a cut-rate discount furniture store. They sell nothing but quality furnishings by such well known manufacturers as Deilcraft, Gibbard and Kroehler. You can be assured that when they have a sale, you will be buying nothing but high quality merchandise. See the newest styles and colors in coordinated room groupings for any room in your home. You'll also find great carpeting buys. Purchase your furniture needs during Wray's great September Sale.

Visit a Historical Landmark

Visit a century old house this weekend. Right in Picton is an old house that was built around 1805. It was purchased in 1842 by town of Picton's first mayor. Around 1860 he transformed the rather ordinary farm house into a French Gothic style estate home. Pass through the massive front door into a huge reception hall. Peak into the grand ballroom with its grey marble fireplace. You'll delight in the century old decor. But you'll also delight in the sumptuous meals that are served in the century old Inn onthe Bay Tavern. Make reservations today by calling 1-476-3114. You'll have a delightful evening.

Buy A New Car Now and Save

There is still about a month and a half before the new Datsuns will be on the market. When the 1976 models arrive, there will almost surely be an increase in price. If you have been considering buying a new, small, economy car, now would be a good time to make that purchase. At present there is still a 5% sales tax rebate on all new cars, but that probably won't last long. Vaders Car Sales, 21 College St. W., still have a limited number of 1975 Datsuns left on their lot. They won't be getting any more in stock, but since their selection is less than normal and you may not be able to get your choice of color or options, you probably will get a better deal than ever. Visit Vaders today.

Back By Popular Demand

Gibbs and Son Vacuum Specialists, 37 Albion St., still have the Volta upright on special. Buy this excellent vacuum for the regular price of $184.00 and receive free a hose and accessory kit. This will make a very versatile vacuum for your home. And remember, you can have a free home demonstration. Now here's a bit of news for the housewives in the area. If you missed Gibb's special offer a few weeks ago on the overhaul of your vacuum cleaner or sewing machine, for one week more you can have your machine checked over for just $6.95. Replacement parts are extra. And don't forget there's free pick-up and delivery in the Belleville area.

New Ideas in Window Coverings

Decor Studios in the Belleville Plaza have window coverings for every need. You can choose from a good selection of ready-made draperies or have your draperies custom made. Now, consider window blinds for your windows. As well as being functional blinds can also be very fashionable. They can be custom made to any size and can be laminated with fabric to coordinate with the rest of your decor. Besides being a privacy protector, window blinds help to shut out the heat in summer and hold in the heat in winter. They are certainly versatile. Check with Decor Studios for your needs in window coverings.

Having Trouble Finding Us?

The friendly, helpful staff at Trenton Optical, 54 Bridge St. E., are in despair. The renovations on the outside of their building still haven't been completed. Their sign still isn't up and so they're hoping that you will be able to find them. If you are new in the area, you'll find them located between Front and Pinnacle Streets across from the Intelligencer building. However, the work is nearing completion and very shortly the face-lift will be finished. But don't wait for then to pay them a visit. You'll find a wide selection of all types of optic frames in their store, second to none in the area. And you won't be able to beat their prices.

Lunch at the Four Seasons

The Terrace Dining Room of the Four Seasons Hotel is the ideal place to eat at noon. If you're in a hurry, they have quick efficient service and you can be back at your job before your afternoon appointments begin. The Terrace Dining Room is also a quiet spot for businessmen to exchange ideas over a delicious meal. You'll find it ideal for a leisurely luncheon with friends. You can relax in the restful surroundings and enjoy the lovely view from a window-side table. All ladies will be interested in a Fall Fashion Show that will be put on during lunch time in the not too distant future. Keep your eye on this column for more details.

Have Help With Your Cleaning

ServiceMaster is of particular help to the working woman, but also to the busy mother or harried housewife. ServiceMaster have a housekeeping service where they arrange for reliable women to come into your home to do general housekeeping chores. You can arrange for them to come on a weekly or occasional basis. However, if fall cleaning is looming large, arrange for the professional men from ServiceMaster to come into your home with all their cleaning equipment and clean your house from floor to ceiling. They also clean furniture and carpeting, so that in no time your home wil lbe spotless from top to bottom. Arrange an appointment by calling 967-1572.

Fairground Purchase Mentioned in Talks

Ongoing discussions between city hall and the Belleville Agricultural Society on the future of the Quinte Exhibition have included possible property purchases.

But, Mayor Ben Corke said later, there have been no negotiations for such acquisitions.

The indication came this week as city council discussed its reply to a petition from residents of a senior citizens building on West Bridge St. — across from the exhibition grounds.

The petition had requested a store in the area.

A staff advisement to council noted vacant property between the exhibition park and Palmer Road is zoned commercial — thus permitting a store.

Ald. Paul Russell wondered if the topic should be discussed "elsewhere. He noted council has been having meetings with the agricultural society.

A reply sent the senior citizens may prove incorrect if property was purchased to add to the fairgrounds, be said.

Ald. Stu Meeks said such discussion was a caucus item.

Mayor Ben Corke said the city is not in the business of opening stores.

He then added council should not become involved in a debate on whether it was going to make a land purchase.

During his remarks he mentioned a figure of 750,000.

In an interview later the mayor said discussions this year with the agricultural society had included conjectures about acquiring property.

But, he said, the $750,000 was a figure "that might be placed on a certain acreage, I suppose. But it is nothing concrete."

There are no negotiations for acquisition," he added.

Film Crews Pack Up For Year

PICTON — Project SVAP, the Student Video Action Project, aided by an Opportunities for Youth grant to produce Television programs on Prince Edward County has just ended its second successful year of operation.

Project members, Rick Nelson, Debbie Greer, Bill Maddox, Cindy Hudgin and Randy Wardell had been working out of a portabe classroom at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute using board of education and Quinte Cablevision Audio Visual equipment.

Throughout the summer, Project SVAP produced tapes on the Wellington Midgets trip to Switzerland in January, John Diefenbaker's visit to Picton, recreation in Prince Edward County, OFY projects in the area, an interview with Bobby Hull, a preview of the Gold Cup races and county fair, an interview with photographer Lloyd Thompson, and an organ recital.

These programs will be shown on Channel 3, in Picton, care of Quinte Cablevision at a later date.

Near the middle of the summer, SVAP ran into editing problems due to renovations at the studios of Loyalist College. The delay caused a backlog of unedited tapes which have only recently been edited.

Talking Solutions

Sidney Township clerk Hugh Lyons shows seated Quinte Heights Homeowners Association president Lavern Hatcher lttr outlining builder Noramco Corp. Ltd. position over supply of water to subdivision. At a recent township council meeting, Mr. Hatcher looked for an end to water shortages the 53—home subdivision faced this summer.

Contract Lost Because Of Escalation Clause

City council this week was warned to be wary of scalation clauses inserted in contracts to guard against inflation.

The caution came from city manager Wilbur Purcell as council approved purchase of a new fire truck.

The successful bidder was Pierreville Fire Trucks Ltd. of Quebec which tendered a price of $53,990.

While a bid by King Seagrave of Woodstock was lower, it also contained an escalation clause.

Mr. Purcell said any tender with such a clause is to be avoided "as far as possible". He noted the provincial transportation ministry a year ago would not pay subsidy on bids with such a stipulation.

Council originally had budgeted $50,000 for the fire department purchase.

Money Market Trends Concerns Knudsen

It's not always easy to forecast the future when marketing municipal degenture issues, city treasurer Frank Morrell told council this week.

He made the observation after a city councillor wondered if the city's financial agents had given any advice on money market trends.

Ald. Brian Knudsen noted a recent, sudden rise in interest rates had repercussions in the money markets — including municipal bond issues.

Proper timing — on the advice of financial agents — could save a municipality money in its debenturing issues, he suggested.

Mr. Morrell replied the recent increase was caused by the Bank of Canada's sudden interest rate hike of three-quarters per cent which caught the financial community unawares.

"If someone could foretell the future we'd be glad to hear from them on a regular basis," he said.

Hydro Rate Increase Gets Close Scrutiny

Holding the line on hydro cost increases is a common challenge for all Ontario, city council was told this week.

The suggestion came from Energy Misister Dennis Timbrell.

Mr. Timbrell was replying to council's endorsement some time ago of a protest by the Association of Municipalities of Ontario over proposed hydro increases.

Earlier this year Ontario Hydro requested a 29.7 per cent rate increase.

But, wrote Mr. Timbrell events since then have altered circumstances.

For one thing, Hydro had been asked to trim administration costs and cut capital spending by $1 billion — in line with the province's anti-inflation drive.

Mr. Timbrell said Hydro has "responded positively" to government directives.

It will also submit new figures to the Ontario Energy Board which recommends rate changes to the government.

"I'm confident that these initiatives by the government and by Hydro will result in a moderation of the rate increase to apply in Janwary, 1976," said Mr. Timbell.

But, in the long term, it's equally important that "every possible" effort be made to control the growing demand for electricity.

All agencies and individuals, however, also have a role to play in reducing "to a minimum" the need for future growth in the supply system, wrote Mr. Timbrell.

Moores Now Fighting Two-front Vote War

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Frank Duff Moores carved his niche in Newfoundland history by persuading voters to rid themselves of a Liberal government that had reigned for 23 years under Joseph C. Smallwood.

Now Premier Moores is battling Mr. Smallwood again in the campaign for the Sept. 18 provincial election. His other major opponent is Ed Roberts, eader of the Liberal party.

Mr. Moores, 42, who once left university to work on a fish pier, became premier in January, 1972 after a provincial supreme court ruled his Progressive Conservatives had defeated the Liberals in a close election the previous fall.

Mr. Smallwood resigned ruling and Mr. Roberts succeeded him as Liberal leader.

Mr. Moores called an election for March 24, 1972 when defections and resignations left standings in the 42 seat legislature at PC 20, Liberal 20 and vacant two.

The March election gave Mr. Moores 33 seats, the Liberals eight and the New Labrador party one. Later byelections and resignations left standings at dissolution at PC 32, Liberal eight and vacant two.

Redistribution has increased the number of seats to 51. The New Labrador party is not contesting the election.

The 74-year-old Mr. Smallwood, main archietect of union with Canada in 1949, became leader of the Liberal Reform Party in July. The party was formed by Liberals who said they were dissatisfied with Mr. Roberts' leadership.

Although the Conservative government could have remained in office until March 1977, speculation that an election would be held this year when the province's first $1 billion budget was introduced in the legislature in March.

The speculation was reinforced during the summer as Mr. Moores attended events ranging from garden parties to official openings of new industries. Many cabinet ministers called news conferences to make announcements that normally would have been handled through the government's information service.

By the time the election was announced Aug. 25 the PCs, Liberals and Liberal Reform were well ahead with campaign plans. The New Democratic Party, which has never returned a candidate in Newfoundland, also was ready to go.

Mr. Moores, running in Humber West constituency, says his government needs a new mandate to proceed with plans for the province's economic development.

Some plans, such as the $1.8 billion lower Churchill hydro-electric project in Southern Labrador, already are under construction.

The son of the late Silas W. Moores, a prominent fish merchant in Harbour Grace, he attended high school in Aurora, Ont. Mr. Roberts later attended the sam school.

Mr. Moores' father wanted him to go beyond the fish business and sent him to Boston University.

Mr. Moores attended university for a while, then quit and took a job on a fish pier. He wanted to enter the fish business and eventually his father agreed.

After Mr. Moores took over Northeast Fish Industries Ltd., following his father's death, he expanded the business from an operation that employed less than 200 to an enterprise with 1,800 workers. He later sold the business to a British firm.

In the 1968 federal election Mr. Moores was elected Conservative MP for Bonavista-Trinity-Conception. He was one of six Conservatives elected. The seventh riding was won by Don Jamison, now regional economic expansion minister.

The following year Mr. Moores became the first Newfoundlander to be elected as national president of the PC party.

In 1970 he was chosen as provincial Conservative leader and began to work to improve the party's organization, long eroded by successive Liberal victories. By the time the October, 1971 election was called PC candidates had been nominated in every district for the first time since Confederation.

Davis Woos Farm Vote

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Premier William Davis continued his efforts to woo the farm vote Wednesday as he toured southwestern Ontario by train and road in the campaign for the Sept. 18 provincial general election.

He also kept up his counter-attack against Robert Nixon [illegible] the Liberal leader Progressive Conservative, government education policies.

Mr. Davis, who began the day in the far southwest corner of the province and ended it here told an audience in the food processing centre of Leamington that the government will step in to end labor-management disputes when they threaten Ontario's farm products.

"The harvesting of Ontario food crops must not be jeopardized by protracted labor disputes," he said at a shopping centre in that western Ontario community.

"When all else fails in the bargaining process, I want to make it very plain that I, am prepared to take whatever steps necessary to get the crops off the farm and stored or processed—including the step of calling the legislature into session at any time of the year, including the summer months, to accomplish that purpose," he said.

The premier said he can not see the reason or the logic in the destruction of food crops on the farm because failure of labor-management negotiations in related industries prevent farmers from marketing or getting their crops out of the fields.

"I simply say that we must be able to protect the rights of the employers and the employees to bargain collectively without doing so over fields of rotting food, with the farmer as a hostage and in a hungry world ravaged by inflation," said the premier.

Buchanan Rejects Indian Request

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Indian Affairs Minister Judd Buchanan rejected Wednesday the concept of a separate native government within the Northwest Territories.

He told a news conference "the Dene declaration contains certain statements which I, as a minister of the government of Canada cannot accept."

"I reject the statement that the native people of the Northwest Territories are not represented in the world community by the Canadian government."

The Indian Brotherhood of the Northwest Territories and the Metis Association approved last July 18 a declaration of rights—known as the Dene declaration—at Fort Simpson, N.W.T., which stated they desired self-determination within Canada.

It is this declaration of rights which Mr. Buchanan rejected as a basis for negotiating native land claims in the Mackenzie District of the N.W.T.

He equated the Dene declaration with Quebec-style separatism, and said it is declared government policy that "the concept of two nations is no more acceptable in the N.W.T. than in Quebec."

Mr. Buchanan said the only mandate he has from cabinet is to settle claims on a basis similar to that proposed in the James Bay area of northern Quebec, exchanging Indian land for compensation, including money and certain land rights. The native peoples of the N.W.T. have said they want their rights to the land in perpetuity.

Incentive Loans Fail Says McLauchlan

Interest free and forgiveable loans given to companies by the provincial Progressive Conservative government with the idea of providing jobs are having the opposite effect, says the New Democratic Party candidate in Quinte riding for the Sept. 18 provincial election.

Carson McLauchlan said in a press release this week, "the money then goes for production machinery, which in the end cuts out jobs, instead of increasing them."

"In a number of cases, the companies receiving the subsidies are a giant corporation, who can afford their own expansion, but use taxpayers' money instead," he remarked.

"In some cases, these subsidies go bankrupt and it becomes nothing more than a tax write-off for the parent company."

Mr. McLauchlan charged that this action by legitimate companies "has attracted organized crime to the extent that it is one of the biggest con games now being used in Ontario."

"They launder their money, and in some cases our tax dollars, through their companies," he explained. "Then the phoney companies go bankrupt and rip us all off to the tune of millions of dollars each year."

Thurlow Wants Action On Leaky Moira Dams

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Thurlow Township may be the township first in the province to press enforcement of the Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act against deteriorating private river dams, according to clerk Claire Horton.

"It's a problem all over the province to force private owners to repair dams on the Moira River at Cannifton and Latta.

Reeve Horace Casey said the leaking dams have been causing problems with river water levels for years.

The problem of low water levels is more severe in Latta where expensive homes were built along the riverfront, said Reeve Casey: "They had nice water frontage at the time."

In summer, he said, the river almost dries up leaving a green slime.

"The problem at Cannifton is not so bad," he said as the river is straighter and there are not so many homes.

He said the Moira-River Conservation Authority will also request the ministry of natural resources to take action.

In July, the township council made arrangements with the ministry to have representatives examine ways of raising water levels.

In a meeting with Leo Bernier, natural resources minister, at that time Reeve Casey expressed concern because the conservation authority would not repair or purchase privately owned dams.

An additional problem in getting owners to fix the dams is that the township is unsure of who owns the Latta dam.

Reeve Casey said it appears the dam is owned by two persons: "We're not sure if the dam was sold to either one of them or not."

Students Tour Party Offices

Grades 7 and 8 of King George School observed the organization of candidates headquarters first-hand Wednesday as they toured the Conservative, Liberal and NDP party offices in Belleville.

Teacher Marion Christ-Jones said the course is a way of "trying to get them involved in the community as much as possible."

She said the information they learn here will soon be put to use in a school Student's Administrative Council election.

Tomato Crop Saved

About 20 Grade 7 and 8 students of Belleville and District Christian School picked 47 crates of tomatoes Wednesday in an attempt to help a Bloomfield farmer harvest his crop.

Students decided to give a helping hand when they were notified Marinus Prinzen of RR 2 Bloomfield could not get help to pick 20 acres of tomatoes.

The Campaigners

NDP Realize Race Uphill

Carson McLauchlan is 30. He's married. He has a 10-year-old daughter. He works, and has for 10 years, in the passenger office at the Canadian National Railway station in Belleville.

That's a brief personal fact sheet.

But it doesn't go far in explaining the man who says he now is dedicated to political life. Nor does it explain the man who is trying for a seat at Queen's Park as the NDP member for Quinte riding.

Traditionally, he admits, the riding and the remainder of eastern Ontario has voted Conservative provincially. But he says he sees that party's control crumpling at the edges.

McLauchlan says he is realistic. He recognizes the Tory voting tradition in Quinte, but he says the NDP have a fighting chance here due to an unusual set of circumstances influencing this election.

"If the Liberals take a good percentage of the vote from the Conservatives, then we have a chance of coming up the middle and winning the riding," McLauchlan says.

Again, traditionally, the odds may be against him.

In the last provincial election in 1971, the NDP won only one poll, besting the Liberals in only six of 134, and captured only 13.7 per cent of the popular vote. In 1968, only 13.2 per cent of voters marked their ballots for the NDP.

But McLauchlan says the results may be different this year, despite the lack of a "hard core" local issue to galvanize voters.

McLauchlan says he is banking on a province-wide anti-government swing and, in Quinte riding, an improvement in his party's credibility. That credibility has been improved substantially by radio advertising and official campaign headquarters, both firsts for the NDP here, he says.

Credibility to a man who has committed himself to politics is important. It's one reason he entered the provincial election joust.

He ran for Belleville council in 1974, placing 14th with 1,400 votes, among 22 candidates. His aldermanic race was prompted by the "impossibility" of establishing himself in the community: "I applied to serve on various committees and beards, but I've never been accepted."

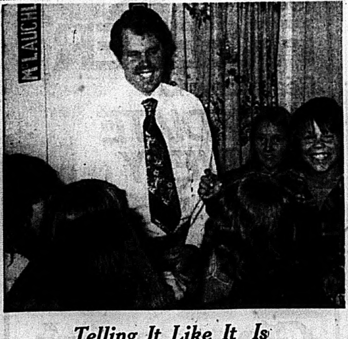
Once he establishes his credibility with voters provincially, he says he'll fight again municipally.

In Quinte riding, he sees only the Belleville-Rossmore bridge as being the contentious issue. But it was swept from under opposition party candidates by retiring Correctional Services Minister Richard Potter. (Dr. Potter announced Aug. 11 that the bridge would be built on the existing site.)

In his approximate $4,500 campaign, strongly oriented to personal contact with voters, he has spoken of his concerns for the riding.

High on his list of priorities is the continued existance of Trenton and Belleville as separate municipalities. Trenton, he sees as expanding west, a direction it now is going in.

He also wants an improvement in the low-cost housing stock and the more equal distribution of industrial development in the riding.



Telling It Like It Is

Quinte riding NDP candidate Carson McLauchlan stands in his committee rooms surrounded by King George School Grade 7 and 8 students and explains his platform and the political process. Students toured committee rooms Wednesday as one part of a language studies class at the school.

Beefing Up The Campaign

Clarke Rollins, Progressive Conservative candidate in Hastings-Peterborough, watches big beef barbecue under preparation at Tweed with wife, Bev. Chef Henry Myrra estimates he cooked about 700 lbs. of meat for the event — among events programmed by Conservatives as provincial election campaign enters its last week.

Rollins 'Roasting' Attracts An Estimated 1,400 Guests

TWEED — A political roasting was staged here Wednesday by area Progressive Conservatives.

But the event was amiably social.

The only item taken over the coals was beef — close to 700 lbs. of it and there were an estimated 1,400 participants.

The meat was the sizzling centrepiece of an outdoor barbecus at the community park orbanized for Clarke Rollins, Conservative incumbent candiate in Hastings-Peterborough riding.

With a week to go before the Sept. 18 provincial election campaign trail ends at the polls, it was among events programmed around the riding to give final impetus to the Rollins re-election bid.

Politically, the event was low-key, in the style of the Rollins 1975 campaign. There were no visiting major party personalities or set speeches. Instead, Mr. Rollins met and talked personally with voters.

Other events, with the emphasis on personal candidate contact are planned for the remainder of the campaign in various communities, Conservative organizers indicated.

To date, there are no plans to bring in any top party politicians on the Rollins election bid, they said.

The barbecue was organized by five local Conservative associations — in Tweed and Stirling villages, and Hungerford, Huntingdon and Rawdown townships.

Cooking for the event started 14 hours before it began, when local chef Henry Hyrra, RR 3 Tweed, hung 10 hips of beef on spits over charcoal.

Voters List Revisions Means 1,000-mile Trek

ACTINOLITE — Revision of the Ontario election voters list meant the end of many a long — and remote — trail for two poll officials here Thursday night.

By the time the revision process across Ontario officially closed, Carol Nirris and Ian Munro were both aware that Hastings-Peterborough riding is the biggest in the southern part of the province. They had travelled close to 1,000 miles.

As special enumerators — appointed by district returning officer Lloyd Brice — their assignment was to contact any voters who complained of being left off the riding voting list.

The list is first drafted on the basis of names collected in each poll by enumerators immediately after an election is called.

It's a task that must be done in every riding. But there were special problems for the officials in the new Hastings — Peterborough constituencies.

The riding lacks population balance with an area — an estimated 5,000 square miles. But it's eligible voters total around 31,000. The constituency is mainly rural — much of it bush country.

The special enumerators said Wednesday they had 160 complaints to investigate. They started Tuesday of last week — and completed their task this past Tuesday.

By then they had clocked 917 driving miles before their task was complete, said Mrs. Norris.

Pet Population Growing Concern

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

Dr. R.W. Burns, veternarian at the Belleville Animal Hospital, said population control for animals has been a problem but owners are "moving into a new era when it comes to responsibility for their pets."

Dr. Burns, who estimated at least 500 operations sterilizing both females and male animals were performed last year at the hospital, said people buying a pet should be "psychologically prepared for them."

He said that at least 90 per cent of the litters bought in for examination in the last year have had homes waiting for the pups.

"Owners should be fully responsible for them. They have to give up some of their freedom in order to have a pet, like you do with children," he said.

The sterilization procedure at the hospital ideally to take place when the animal is five or six months old, costs $25 for a female dog, and $20 for a male with comparable prices for cats. There is also usually a hospitalization charge depending on the condition and age of the animal and complications' if any, encountered during the operation.

The doctor said many people find their dogs stray less after the operation.

"Eventually breeders are going to be the only people raising pups because they're aware of the probems involved in breeding and aren't as emotionally tied to the animals as a single pet owner is," he

Operation Holds Line

The Quinte Information and Assistance Centre is in good shape financially, its board of dirctors was told Wednesday.

Treasurer Helen Muelhardt said it costs about $1200 per month to operate the centre in Belleville while the annual budget is set at $18,372.

"We are keeping well within our budget," she commented.

Bill Hockley, centre staff member, said there is a financial sidelight to the centre cost. "We render about $1,000 worth of assistance to people every day so that's pretty good," he remarked.

Legion Plans Service

MADOC — Sunday, September 14, a Drumhead service will be held at the Cenetoph and Kiwanis Centre here at 1:30 p.m. conducted by the Royal Canadian Legion Zone F3.

Officers of the zone, presidents and Legion members will be in attendance along with bands from Belleville and Port Hope. March pass salute will be taken by Zone Commander, Comrade James Colton, along with other guests.

Howls and Meows All in Day's Work

Just how similar a pet and his master are really remains to be determined but a visit to the Belleville Animal Hospital showed that pets and their human counterparts are treated in surroundings surprisingly similar.

The waiting room is comparable to any doctor's office. Equipped with imitation leather seats, a fireplace, mirrors and fish bowl, the only noticeable difference is that everything is washable — from the floor to the ceiling.

The patients, waiting to be treated for everything from an upset stomach, sore paw or more serious disorders like tumors, wait either calmly like one cocker spaniel, or impatiently like a German Shepherd howling his dismay.

Owners chat about Rover's last visit, his history of colds and his interest in that coy little poodle over there but commotions isn't unusual at this hospital. An array of howls and meows punctuated by owner's commands can be heard daily. But, says veterenarian Dr. Robert Burns, it's all in a day's work.

Centre Trys For Grant

The Quinte Information and Assistance Centre in Belleville will soon discover if it will receive a $38,000 Local Initiatives Project (LIP) grant from the federal manpower and immigration ministry to enable it to become a bonafide information centre.

Bill Hockley, centre staff member, told the centre board of directors Wednesday an application has been sent to the ministry and a project number has been allocated.

He said today is the deadline for all LIP applications which will now receive scrutiny from riding committees and sent to the minister for a final decision.

Mr. Hockley explained the grant would enable the centre to hire a project manager and seven workers to compile a "date bank that reflects those areas that affect us on a day-to-day basis."

The centre has received a reference from a top Hastings County educator to assist it in securing a grant from the federal justice minisrty, directors were told Wednesday.

Mr. Hockley said the reference is from Eric Runacres, director of education for the Hastings County Board of Education and is one of several requested from area officials under the question, "do you think you can recommend our operation?"

He said the references are to be used in an application for funds from the justice ministry which will enable the centre to begin a lay advocacy program.

A top-ranking federal government civil servant has also added his voice behind the Quinte Information and Assistance Centre in its bid to receive funds.

Mr. Hockley, said Vaughn Story, district manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, whose government agency has been involved in past battles with the centre, has submitted a reference for inclusion with a centre application for funds from the ministry.

Mr. Story stated in his letter, "the . . . centre has firmly established itself as a viable community agency over the past three years."

He commented, "this agency has an enviable reputation for commonsense handling of the day-to-day problems that affect many people."

Library Issue Debated

Thurlow Township council Wednesday approved a motion to have representatives meet with Belleville Public Library to discuss service in the township.

Clerk Claire Horton said the township is eligible to receive a provincial grant of about $9,000 for library service, about $1.50 per person.

Reeve Casey said they have no plans as yet how to spend the money.

"If we throw $9,000 into the pot in Belleville we'd hope to get something out of it," he said.

Reeve Casey and Kenneth Yorke will meet with Belleville Public Library officials.

Dog's World

Dr. Robert Burns of Belleville Animal Hospital readies 'Fearless' for an examination. The hospital treats a variety of pets from guinea pigs to calves. Clinics are held weekday evenings from 7:30 p.m. until 8:30.

Stamps Crushed

Reed Powers Rider Attack

REGINA (CP) — An ailing George Reed gave Saskatchewan Roughriders all the scoring they needed Wednesday as the Roughriders scored a 31-17 victory over Calgary Stampeders.

GEORGE REED

Reed, the perennial conference rushing star, shrugged off a painful arm and shoulder injury, to score three touchdowns. His majors, on runs of two, three and six yards, moved the veteran fullback into fourth place in the Western Conference scoring race with 42 points on seven touchdowns.

The victory, Saskatchewan's second over Calgary this season, left the Roughriderrs in a first-place tie with Edmonton Eskimos who were idle Wednesday. Calgary, now with five loses in eight games, shares the conference cellar with British Columbia Lions.

"The name of the game is execution, and we didn't execute on offence," said Calgary coach Jim Woods whose team jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter but began to falter in the second.

Calgary took a 14-10 lead into the second half, but from there it was all downhill as Saskatchewan scored 21 points, 14 of them in the final quarter.

There were three interceptions, two of them off Calgary quarterback Joe Pisarcik. Saskatchewan's Ron Lancaster had one picked off.

Jim Marshall ran back one Pisarcik interception back 57-yards for a touchdown. Other Rougherider scoring was supplied by Jack Abendschan who booted four converts and a 17-yard field goal.

Tom Forzani opened scoring for Calgary on a 25-yard pass from Pisarcik. Larry Cates scored on a 37-yard interception runback and Cyril McFall rounded out Stampeders' scoring with two converts and a 14-yard field goal.

Part of Calgary's trouble in the second half was due to an injury to halfback Willie Burden who suffered a leg cramp late in the third quarter that put him out of the game. He was Calgary's leading rusher with 70 yards on 14 carries.

Albrecht Joins Argo Operation

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonaut owner William Hodgson announced Wednesday that former Montreal Alouette general manager J.I. Albrecht has joined the Eastern Football Conference team as director of player personnel.

Albrecht will work along with managing director John Barrow in finding talent for the team. He will also vork closely with the coaching staff.

Albrecht spent the last two years as assistant personnel director for New England Patriots of the National Football League.

Argos owner Bill Hodgson said the hiring of Albrecht was a move to improve the Argo club this year as well as in future seasons.

"We are 2-6 now but we're going to be in the playoffs, that I promise," said Hodgson.

Albrecht joined the Als in 1970 as assistant general manager and director of player personnel under then general manager Fred O'Quinn. He became general manager after O'Quinn was fired in 1972. Then, Albrecht was fired by the Als after the 1973 season.

Darryl Sittler

Sittler Named Leaf Captain

tler, a five-year veteran, captain of the National Hockey League club Wednesday.

Sittler, who played junior hockey with London Knights of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series, has been one of the Leafs' few bright lights in recent years.

"It was a real tossup between Darryl and Ronnie Ellis," said general manager Jim Gregory. "We (Gregory along with Leaf president Harold Ballard, coach Red Kelly and former coach John McLellan) gave it a lot of consideration before deciding on a new captain."

Sittler becomes the 11th Toronto captain, succeeding Dave Keon who was given his release. Keon recently signed a multi-year contract with Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association.

Sittler, 25, is the second youngest Maple Leaf captain. Ted (Teeder) Kennedy was 23 when appointed captain by then owner Conn Smythe.

"It was a tough decision," Gregory admitted.

"Both players said they were interested in being captain of the Leafs," Gregory said, "but both also said they'd be 100-percent behind whoever was selected."

"It shouldn't make any differences between Ronnie and me," said Sittler of Toronto management's decision to make him captain over Ellis. "We both knew we were being considered and decided to accept whatever management decided."

Sittler, a native of Kitchener, Ont., said he had had ample time to give the captaincy consideration since last spring when Ballard slighted Keon's play and his duties as captain. Keon, 35, had held the position since George Armstrong retired in 1969. Armstrong had been captain 11 years.

Eagleson Says Orr Will Wait

TORONTO (CP) — If defenceman Bobby Orr signs a long-term contract with Boston Bruins it likely won't be until the end of the month, his agent, Alan Eagleson, said Wednesday.

Eagleson said he and tax representatives will meet the new owners of the National Hockey League team in Buffalo on Monday "but we don't anticipate signing any contract."

The Bruins recently were sold to Sportsystems Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., by Storer Broadcasting Corp. for a reported $10 million.

Commenting on a Boston report that Orr would sign a long-term contract Monday or Tuesday with the Bruins, Eagleson said: "All we've indicated is that he isn't going to Minnesota this year."

Eagleson declined to say what Orr would receive under a new contract. His old contract has a year left, and he is earning more than $220,000 a year.

Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association were reported to have offered Orr a $4-million, five-year contract. Earlier this week, Wayne Belisle, president of the Saints, said the Bruins had made Orr a 10-year offer.

Eagleson said the Storer board is expected to meet today regarding the sale of the NHL team to Sportsystems. He added that it could be late in the month before details of the sale are agreed upon, paving the way for Orr to sign.

Gray-Munros in Front

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Coach Dan Mattinson didn't forget a little charity when he criticized the refereeing following his Burnaby, B.C., team's loss to Peterborough Gray-Munros in Wednesday night's Minto Cup lacrosse match.

"They have bad games, too," Mattinson said of the referees. "They hurt us at a key time, though."

Mattinson claimed some questionable calls by referee Jerry Blodgett were at least partly responsible for Peterborough taking a 13-7 victory.

The decision gave Peterborough a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Minto Cup series to determine the Canadian junior lacrosse champion. The series continues with the fourth game Friday night and a fifth game on Sunday.

Fred Gardner, Peterborough's pickup goalie from Mississauga, was again sharp in the nets, stopping 39 of 46 shots while Paul Evans led the Gray-Munros scoring with four goals.

Dan Green added two Peterborough goals and single scores came from Dan Dunn, Ted Floyd, Terry Hughes, Steve Plunkett, Steve Byers, Randy Bryan and captain Bob Wasson.

Bob Cool, Ken Crompton, Dan Wilson, Ray Mattinson, John Krgovich, Derek Dickson and Hartley Olson scored for Burnaby.

Rich Zecchel stopped 41 of the 54 shots fired at the Burnbaby goal.

Wasson's goal which started a strong Peterborough rally in the second period, was the object of some of Mattinson's complaints.

The Burnaby coach said he thought that the holding penalty to Ray Mattinson just before Wasson's power-play goal was a questionable call and then suggested that Wasson missed the goal.

"I thought it went through the net," said Wasson. "It hit low."

Wasson's goal tied the score 4-4 and Peterborough went on to outscore the visitors 5-1 in the second period.

"Maybe we weren't running as hard as we should have been," said coach Mattinson. "Our goal scorers just weren't getting through."

But Mattinson said he was happy with the improvement of his club which lost the second game Tuesday by a score of 2-3.

"Putting so much emphasis on defence hurt our offensive game," he said. "There's another game Friday and we'll be in there as tough as ever."

Out of Soccer

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Soccer Association announced Wednesday that eight-year suspensions have been handed out to three Toronto and District League players who allegedly assaulted referees this year.

Following what it calls a new "get-tough" policy against violence in the sport, the Ontario Association suspended Chris Papadopoulos, Konstantinos Karailias and Cosimo Alessi. The suspensions apply internationally.

DOUGLAS NAMED

BALTIMORE (AP) — Veteran defenceman Kent Douglas, 39, was named Wednesday player-coach of the American Hockey League's Baltimore Clippers. Douglas, a 19-year pro from Cobalt, Ont., played 3½ seasons in Baltimore. He was named the top defenceman in the AHL with Springfield in 1961-62 and the following year was voted top rookie in the National Hockey League, the first defenceman to win the Calder Cup award, while playing for Toronto Maple Leafs.

Record Earnings For Chris

NEW YOR (AP) — Chris Evert has won more money this year than any woman in sports history.

The United States Tennis Association announced Wednesday that Chris's $25,000 first prize in the U.S. Open pushed her official earnings in the U.S. to $261,350.

Counting overseas play, Miss Evert's over-all winnings amount to $280,927, nearly $20,000 above the record she set last year. Her 1974 total was $261,460.

Martina Navratilova, the 18-year-old Czech girl who defected to the U.S. last weekend, is second in the women's money list with $126,263, followed by Virginia Wade of Britain with $110,063.

Evonne Goolagong of Australia has won $86,485. Then follow: Margaret Court, $83,538; Billie Jean ing, $77,640; Olga Morozova, $49,188; Betty Stove, $46,075; Francoise Durr, $43,200; and Julie Heldman, $38,150.

SUFFERS BREAK

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Madlock, the National League batting leader with a .362 average, has suffered an "incomplete fracture" of the right thumb, Chicago Cubs' officials said Wednesday. Madlock may be lost for the Cubs' remaining 16 games. He will be re-examined Monday and a decision on his playing status will be made then.

THE FIAT 128, A CAR THAT'S BECOME SO POPULAR WE DON'T HAVE TO PAY YOU TO BUY IT

While Detroit was busy handing out rebates in an effort to sell their small cars, Fiat sales continued to soar. In fact, 1974 was Fiat's best year ever. Without rebates. And the trend continues.
It's not hard to understand because the Fiat comes with so many things as standard equipment that you have to pay extra for or can't even get in other cars. Front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, 4-wheel independent suspension, 4-speed synchromesh transmission, rear window defrosters, adjustable bucket seats, power assisted front disc brakes and radial-ply tires.
And the 128 handles remarkably well. Differently, in fact, from any other car you've ever driven.
Which makes our car popular to buy. And even more popular after it's been bought

Thurlow Township Teams On Championship Trail

Thurlow Township is at it again.

Long respected as a developer of championship minor baseball teams, the Thurlow gang has two teams well on the way to all-Ontario supremacy.

Sponsored by the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund, Thurlow Midgets are in the all-Ontario finals while the Township's Chisholm's of Roslin Bantams have advanced to the semi-finals.

Both teams see playoff action this weekend.

Manager-coach George Beer's BYBF Midgets open a best of three title set in Waterdown, Saturday with the second game scheduled for Latta, Sunday at 4 p.m.

The Bantams play at home Saturday, meeting Merriton in the opener of 'a best' of three series at Cannifton with game time set for 2 p.m. Sunday, the teams are in Merriton for the second contest.

With Beer and his assistant Bill Palmer at the controls, Thurlow Midgets have swept all opposition aside in straight games on their way to the showdown for Ontario honors.

Their first round opponent, Orono put up a stiff argument, bowing by scores of 3-1 and 9-7. But it has been clear sailing since then.

Lindsay was sidelined by convincing scores of 22-11 and 6-0. And to get to the final, Thurlow took Almonte, the Ottawa Valley representative 15-2 and 9-0 with Barry Beer and Brad Sullivan supplying strong pitching efforts backed by solid support from their mates.

While the Midgets have been busy marching along the playoff trail, it has been a different story for the Bantams.

Managed by Leo Kent with Howie Meeks doing the coaching, the Chisholm's of Roslin squad has been forced to play a waiting game. Except for a nip and tuck series with Prescott, the team has been idle.

The Prescott set came three weeks after the club had completed its Eastern Ontario Baseball Association schedule and Thurlow hasn't tasted playoff action since that showdown which was completed the weekend of August 23.

That Prescott set was a dandy. Thurlow lost 6-5 in Prescott but took the next two games at home by 4-3 and 6-5 scores.

With Belleville Elliott Motors Tykes (coach Jim Crouchman and manager, Debbie Christopher) awaiting word on who they will meet in Ontario finals, it could be a triple championship season for our neck of the woods.

• • • • • • • • •

SLICES — Belleville's Kinsmen Squirts are having a great season, too. The club is in Scarborough, Sunday, for the second game of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association A semi-finals, Sunday. That game is set for Thompson Park at 1 p.m.

• • • • •

With Brantford Foresters out of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series this season because of difficulty in obtaining ice time for home games, it looks like Napane will be back in the fold for the 1975-6 season.

• • • • •

A dockside boat show is on the program is you're in Toronto this week. Opening today, the program closes Sunday.

There will be 200 boats on display in the water and on land, in an area situated between Ontario Place and Lakeshore Boulevard.

The queen of the fleet is 72 ft. Chrisandra aluminum motor yacht of Hargrave and Chrisandra design. It's Canadian made and retails for about $500,000.

Gary Bowerman, formerly of Belleville and now playing out of Toronto, is 12th on the list of money winners on the 1975 Peter Jackson Golf Tour. His winings total $3,700. Tops is Bob Panasiuk of Windsor with $10,205.

Bardon Advances

PICTON (Special) — Bardon Supplies took another step along the trail to the Ontario Amateur Softball Association Intermediate B title here, Wednesday, defeating Markham 5-3 in the third and deciding game of their series.

The Bardon team meets Strathroy in its next test. Opening game in that series is scheduled for Picton, Saturday at 8 p.m.

Earl Foster's five-hit pitching and a clutch home run by Bill Harrison led Bardon past Markham. Foster claimed 10 strikeout victims.

Losing pitcher John Annis allowed only six hits while fanning 11.

Bardon fell behind 2-0 in the first inning but kept pecking away with single counters in the fourth, sixth and seventh before wrapping it up with a two-run eighth.

Harrison had another safety to go with his key homer and Ken DeMille also connected for a pair of base hits. Denis Neron, Foster and Marv Stacey had the other hits for the winners.

Larry Kelson and Howard Burkholder each banged out a pair of safeties for Markham.

BYBF Subdues Purinaettes

Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund's Sue Morton made only one mistake while spinning a three-hitter on the way to a 4-1 win over Madoc Purinaettes in the opener of the Belleville and District Ladies' Softball League final series, Wednesday at Alemite Park. Sue served up a home run pitch to Madoc's Bonnie Jones but all that did was create a temporary tie.

Jones' circuit clout squared things at 1-1 after BYBF had jumped in front 1-0 in the first inning. But the Belleville team more than made up for it by hitting for a three-run rally in the bottom of the sixth to pull out the victory.

Morton struck out none and walked none while spinning her neat three-hitter.

Loser Sandra Fleming, touched for eight hits, fanned three and walked one.

The winning rally was triggered by singles off the bats of Shirley Gulliver, Marj Reid, Sheila Alexander, Pultz and Sheila Alexander and Judy Pultz. Three Madoc errors helped, too.

Gulliver had three singles to lead the atack. Reid checked in with a pair. Alexander, Pultz and Carol McFarlane rounded out the BYBF hitting.

Besides the Jones homer, the losers got only two singles. They were supplied by Penny Graham and Roseanne Chapman.

The championship series resumes tonight in Madoc. Game time is 8 p.m.

Quinte Saints

Culkin Returns At the Control

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

"With last year's quarterback returning and an enthusiastic squad, I think we'll be a top place team this year" commented Quinte Saints coach Paul Paddon when asked about his team's chances for the 1975 season, in the Bay of Quinte Senior High School Football League.

The Saints finished with a 4-2 record last season and lost in their playoff match to league champion Trenton by a 6-0 score.

"We've lost a lot of our first string players from last year, but one who is returning is quarterback Rick Culkin." Culkin was last year's starting QB and has plenty of confidence going into his second year at the spot.

"We also have an excellent running back in Scott Bowes", Paddon added.

The Saints won't be hurting defensively either, as the average weight of their defensive line is 210 pounds. Among the notables on defence are Jeff Hale, Rick Gray, Mike McDonald and Larry Cross.

"Larry Cross is a super ball player", said Paddon.

"The team we really want to play is Moira" said Quinte assistant coach Don Kitchen.

"Moira and Trenton are the teams to beat" added Paddon.

With only about 12 players returning from last year's squad, Paddon has been inserting newcomers into the lineup, and if his practices are any indication of how they will play in real games, Paddon needn't worry too much.

"We'll be concentrating more on defence this year, unlike other years, when I stressed offence" Paddon commented.

"This is a real keen club" added Kitchen. "They really seem enthusiastic about the coming games".

Quinte opens its season against Moira at Moira Secondary School on September 19. The Saints have already voiced their eagerness to play the Trojans. That should be quite a match, since both teams had identical 4-2 records last year.

"This should be an extremely close league" said Paddon.

"This is the first time I've ever had the same quarterback two years in a row, and I'm really happy about that" he said.

The Saints seem to have size, youth, enthusiasm and ability for the coming season. The only thing they have to do is put it all together.

War Won — What of Battles?

By MIKE BRADSHAW
Sports Staff

Minor hockey and minor sports came face to face Wednesday night after weeks of street talk by both bodies. The end result was, at the very least, odd.

Minor hockey was granted special permission through a change in minor sports governing policy, to lend support to its representative teams.

What the new policy states is: "the representative teams of all minor sports be self-supporting with the exception of facility costs."

That was Belleville Minor Hockey Association's (BMHA) big argument. It wanted to stand behind its representative teams financially and Belleville Minor Sports Association (BMSA) through past policy would not allow it to do so.

In effect, BMHA won the war.

However, what was odd about the whole four hour meeting was that while minor hockey won the war — they lost all the battles.

Last year minor hockey had a required assistance of about $20,000. Because minor hockey all-star teams had gate receipts last year, BMHA's required assistance, or deficit, has been set at almost $3,000 less than last year.

At the same time, minor hockey is paying $2 an hour more for ice time and it is paying for more hours of ice time because its budget now covers house league select teams and practice times for OMHA squads.

The new budget doesn't allow for another raise in ice rental fees nor is there any room for inflation hikes in the cost of equipment.

While the budget is tight — it should be close to being right to the proposed figures — it won't come before city council for nearly six months, and during that time it goes through two more steps before being presented to council.

By that time, through inflation and more slicing along the way, its figures may be far outdated.

Girls' Minor Hockey Is Accepted by BMSA

Wednesday night's Belleville Minor Sports Association budget meeting took a little over four hours to complete. Three hours of that time was spent hashing out budget problems of Belleville Minor Hockey Association. The final hour and 15 minutes was devoted to accepting and discussing the budgets of the six other member sports and accepting Girl's Minor Hockey into the association.

While Girl's Minor Hockey was accepted lock, stock and budget into the sports association, it was suggested that weightlifting be eliminated from the budget and the organization.

Officers Elected

As minor sports met downstairs, the Quinte Hockey League did their thing upstairs Wednesday at the Recreation Centre.

The QHL's 1975-76 executive consists of Don Putnam, president, Gord Sine, secretary-treasurer, and Earl Rivers, time keeper-statistician.

"I expect we're going to have a good year," said president Putnam, "if we find a fourth team."

To date the league has only three squads — Devolin Combines, Belvedere Hotel and Reid's Dairy.

Despite lacking a fourth club, the league executive and team representatives went over all vital data.

"I'm sure we'll find a fourth team," said Putnam, "we still have a couple of weeks."

If a fourth club isn't found, the league will be dissolved.

The next meeting of the organization is 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Recreation Centre, on Pinnacle Street.

Black Diamond In Command

Close was the best Bayview Orchards could do while putting up a stiff argument in the second game of the challenge series between the Prince Edward North Shore Softball League champion and Black Diamond, title holder in the Belleville Industrial Softball League.

Picking up a run in the top of the sixth inning, Black Diamond pulled out a 4-3 win, after blowing an early 3-0 lead. The win Wednesday at Alemite Park gives the Industrial League representative a stranglehold on the series. Black Diamond leads 2-0 in the best-of-five set.

Each team collected seven hits with the win going to Ron Bateman who struck out four and walked two. Steve Doxtator and Don Bonter toiled for Bayview. Each picked up one strike out. Doxtator walked five and Bonter, none.

Tim O'Connell tripled and doubled for the winners and Terry Hiddleston had a double and a single. Rounding out the hitting were Gene Francis, Jack Francis and Myles McDonnell.

Doxtator tripled and singled for Bayview while Gary Mason belted a homer and John Allison whacked a triple. Doug Mason supplied three singles.

Black Diamond can wrap up the series when the teams hook up Friday at 7.30 p.m. at Alemite Park.

Kinsmen Squirt Squad Captures City Title

A five-run sixth inning snapped a 2-2 tie and powered Kinsmen Squirts to the championship of the Belleville Minor Softball Association's Peewee Division as the Ontario Amateur Softball Association representative logged a 7-2 win over Malcolm Brothers, Tuesday. Kinsmen took the final 2-1 in games.

Winning pitcher Allan Thompson gave up six hits while striking out seven and walking two. Loser Lloyd Olsen limited the winners to seven hits while fanning seven and walking four.

Thompson helped his own cause with a home run and Billy Curry slammed a triple. Angelo Lentini singled twice with one each for Warren Cavalier, Dennis Tam and Tony Ouderkirk.

Tops for Malcolm Brothers were Doug Pennett with a triple and Mike Dings who doubled. Checking in with a single each were Jimmy Sopha, Olsen, Wayne Swallow and Rick Cook.

Pirates Not Fooled

Seaver Gets a Lesson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You can fool some of the Pittsburgh Pirates some of the time—but you can't fool them all of the time.

Tom Seaver learned this lesson Wednesday night.

The New York Met star pitched a brilliant four-hitter the last time they met on Sept. 1 in New York. But in their most recent meeting in Pittsburgh, Seaver was treated with little respect, getting beaten 8-4.

"We have the capability to light anybody up," said Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh after the victory kept the Pirates' lead at six games in the National League East.

Richie Zisk, who watched from the sidelines last week while Seaver overpowered the Pirates 3-0 with a 10-strikeout performance, knocked in four runs Wednesday night with a homer and single.

"In New York, he was overpowering," said Zisk. "Tonight he had good velocity but he wasn't getting his breaking ball over as much as you'd like to."

The runnerup Philadelphia Phillies kept pace with the Pirates by beating Montreal Expos 5-1. St. Louis Cardinals, meanwhile, dropped further out of the pennant chase by losing a 7-5 decision to Chicago Cubs.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego Padres whipped Atlanta Braves 2-1, Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and Houston Astros defeated San Francisco Giants 6-3.

Dave Kingman's second-inning homer gave New York a 1-0 lead. Pittsburgh tagged Seaver for the tying run in their half of the second and took the lead to stay when Zisk singled home a run in the fourth.

RICHIE ZISK

Art Howe's homer extended the lead to 3-1 in the fifth and Zisk added his three-run homer with two outs in the Pirate sixth.

Greg Luzinski hit his first home run since Aug. 17 to lead Philadelphia over Montreal. Luzinski's homer, his 32nd of the year, came in the first inning after Garry Maddox had singled.

Rookie Joe Wallis hit a pair of triples and Andy Thornton slugged a two-run homer to lead Chicago past St. Louis. The Cubs sprinted into a 6-1 lead in the first three innings before the Cardinals got back into the game with four runs in the top of the fourth—three on a pinch homer by Keith Hernandez. Ken Reitz also homered for the Cardinals.

The loss left the fading Cardinals in third place, 7½ games behind the Pirates.

Randy Jones pitched a two-hitter and San Diego scored two runs in the eighth inning on an infield error to beat Atlanta. Jones, 19-9, had a no-hitter until Dusty Baker opened the Atlanta seventh with a sharp single.

Pinch-hitter Leron Lee hit a run-scoring double with one out in the ninth inning to give Los Angeles and Burt Hooton a close victory over Cincinnati. It was the 10th victory in a row for Hooton, 16-9.

Left-hander Mike Cosgrove, making his second start of the season, pitched a five-hitter to lead Houston past San Francisco. Run-scoring doubles by Milt May and Wilbur Howard were the big blows in a four-run, fifth inning off loser Ed Halicki, 9-13, erasing a 2-0 Giants' lead.

The Long Wait Over

MONTREAL (CP) — For right-hander Wayne Simpson of Philadelphia Phillies, gaining credit for a win over Montreal Expos Wednesday night was the end of a long wait.

Simpson and reliever Gene Garber combined to scatter nine Montreal hits as the Phillies topped the Expos 5-1 for their 10th win in 17 games against the Canadian-based club in National League baseball play this season.

The victory for Simpson was his first in the major leagues since May 17, 1973. That day, he pitched 5 1-3 innings as Kansas City Royals took a 6-1 win over Texas Rangers in an American League contest.

But a sore arm forced him into the minor leagues and for most of 1975, Simpson was with Toledo Mud Hens of the International League.

He was purchased by Philadelphia Sept. 1 and had made two previous starts prior to Wednesday night's win.

Simpson had some trouble spots in the ball game but managed to come through with the clutch pitches he needed.

The Phillies jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Greg Luzinski slugged a two-run homer, his first home run since Aug. 17 and his 32nd of the season.

The Expos, fresh from a three-game sweep of New York Mets, loaded the bases in the third on a single, a fielder's choice, double by Jim Dwyer and a walk to Hal Breeden. But Simpson got Jose Morales to ground into a rally-killing double play.

In the fourth, Larry Bittner led off with a double but was stranded as Larry Parrish and Pete Mackanin grounded to third and Tim Foli flied to centre to end the inning.

A lead-off single by losing pitcher Steve Renko and a double by Jerry White gave Montreal runners at second and third with none out in the fifth, but Dwyer and Breeden fanned and Morales grounded out.

The Expos finally managed to score in the seventh, loading the bases on singles by Foli and White and a walk to Renko. Dwyer forced White at second Scanlon to strike out into a allowing Foli to score and Garber, who came in to pitch to Dwyer, got pinch-hitter Pat double play as pinch-runner Tony Scott was nailed trying to steal home on the play.

Philadelphia then wrapped the game up with a pair of runs in the ninth.

The Expos announced that catcher Barry Foote has a slight tear in his right knee cartilage and will have to undergo surgery.

The two-game series concludes tonight.

Super Bowl Preview?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oakland Raiders and Los Angeles Rams, two of the top-rated clubs in the National Football League, will be able to get on the scoreboard tonight.

A vandal smashed a scoreboard computer mechanism Monday night, but Jim Hardy, general manager of the Coliseum, reported that "the board is operational for time, score and game in progress figures."

Some elements of the $1.6 million scoreboard still need repairs.

Many see the pre-season meeting of the Raiders and Rams as a preview of the Super Bowl game. Oakland is 5-0 in the exhibition season and the Rams 4-1 with the Raiders' main attack through the air and the Rams on the ground.

Friday night, Kansas City Chiefs visit Buffalo Bills and Washington Redskins meet the Colts at Baltimore.

On Saturday, Philadelphia takes on Atlanta, New Orleans is at Cincinnati, Detroit plays at Cleveland, New York Giants travel to Miami, Houston is at Chicago, Pittsburgh meets the Cowboys at Dallas, San Francisco goes to Green Bay and Minnesota meets San Diego.

The final two 1975 NFL exhibition games will pit New York Jets against New England at Foxboro, Mass., while St. Louis is at Denver.

Red Sox Bats Are Hot In Cosy Fenway Park

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fenway Park was just what the doctor ordered. Take one 315-foot wall every inning and the pain in your bats will go away.

So it went for Boston Red Sox, whose hitting attack was feeling mighty low until it got an injection of love from cozy Fenway Park Wednesday night.

"I had a feeling we'd start hitting again," said Boston manager Darrell Johnson. "I felt sure it was only a temporary thing. I think we'll be all right now. They hit the heck out of the ball tonight."

The Red Sox had limped home from a 4-4 road trip and were concerned about an anemic offence. But 21 hits in a doubleheader split with Detroit Tigers had Johnson saying the Red Sox' prognosis was good.

"I'm happy with this split," said Johnson, whose team won the first game 7-5 before losing the second 5-3. "It would have been nice to win two, but I'll take this. As long as we continue to play like this and keep hitting the ball hard we'll be all right."

Baltimore Orioles also had a victory and a loss to show for their work, losing the opener to Cleveland Indians 9-1 but fighting back for a 6-5, 13-inning decision in the second game. The split kept the Orioles five games back of the Red Sox in the American League East, with both teams having 17 games left.

Elsewhere in the AL, New York Yankees beat Milwaukee Brewers 8-2, Oakland A's defeated Kansas City Royals 9-1, Texas Rangers beat Minnesota Twins 9-4 and California Angels beat Chicago White Sox 4-2.

Fred Lynn led a pair of three-run rallies with his 41st and 42nd doubles in Boston's first-game victory. The Tigers took the second as Willie Horton hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Baltimore needed more than a split in its doubleheader but it couldn't be very choosy after dropping the first game to Cleveland, which profited from the combined nine-hit pitching of rookie Dennis Eckersley and reliever Dave LaRoche.

It took 13 innings but the Orioles finally got their split. Bobby Grich's 13th-inning single sent home Ken Singleton, and when Rick Manning threw past third, Don Baylor also raced home. That run made the difference as the Indians, looking to extend their winning streak to a season-high seven games, scored a run in their half of the 13th.

Sandy Alomar hit his first homer of the year for the Yankees and Larry Gura scattered 11 hits for the complete game victory.

Oakland's Sal Bando hit a three-run homer and Gene Teance hit his third homer in three games in support of Vida Blue, who fired a seven-hitter against Kansas City and won his 19th game.

The victory was the sixth straight for the A's, who now lead the Royals in the AL West by eight games with 18 to play.

Gaylord Perry, supported by home runs from Toby Harrah, Jeff Burroughs Tom Grieve and Jim Fregosi, evened his record at 16-16 with a nine-hitter in the Texas win over Minnesota.

California's Frank Tanana pitched a four-hitter for his 15th victory. He has lost seven times. Tanana retired the first 11 Chicago batters he faced until Jorge Orta doubled in the fourth inning.

Dave Chalk lofted his third home run of the season, helping send 20-game winner Jim Kaat to his 12th defeat.

Filion Keeps Rolling Along

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Herve Filion had a sulky full of hopes in 1964 but only 191 winners after four years of harness race driving. Now he is setting records that may be impossible dreams for future drivers.

Last Monday night at Atlantic City, the 35-year-old owner-driver from Angers, Que., won the 5,312th race of his career to become the winningest harness race driver of all time.

The victory pushed Filion ahead of Hans Fromming of West Germany, but its only a matter of time before Filion leaves Fromming far behind.

Filion, who added a winner Tuesday night at Roosevelt Raceway, is 30 years younger than Fromming and, as the West German says, drives more winners in a year than Fromming does races.

In the last five years Filion has won 486, 543, 605, 445 and a world-record 637 winners. He also became the first driver to break the $3-million mark when his horses earned $3,474,315 in 1974 to boost his career total to $15,819,133. Only Billy Haughton and Stanley Dancer rank ahead of him in money winnings, Haughton with $20,735,949 and Dancer with $17,109,646.

Johnny Miller – Flaws Gone

Back in Winning Form

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Johnny Miller was rested and exhibiting more enthusiasm than at any time since his record-setting exploits of the early season going into today's first round of the $200,000 World Open golf tournament.

"I'm playing good enough to win," Miller said. "I'm not saying I will win, but I sure could. I'm playing good and I'm feeling good.

"My swing has gone from straight to fade to straight to hook. Now it's reverted to what it was at the start of the season. I'm hiting it good and I'm hitting it straight.

"There's no reason I shouldn't win."

Miller has been in something of a tailspin since winning three of his first four starts this season.

Much of the trouble, he said, was the change he made in his swing to accomodate the right-to-left demands of Augusta National, the site of the annual Masters tournament. He started hooking the ball and couldn't stop it.

"Now it's kind of reverted back to what it was. I'm hitting it high and soft and straight. My game is more where I want it to be. It's not perfect, but it's a lot better.

Miller numbered this title among his eight victories last season, beating Jack Nicklaus and two others in a dramatic sudden-death playoff. But he hasn't finished ahead of Nicklaus since then.

His renewed rivalry with the Masters and PGA champion is one of the highlights of the tournament.

Among the others in the 156-man field are George Knudson of Toronto; two-time 1975 winners Hale Irwin, Tom Weiskopf and Roger Maltbie; career $1 million winners Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Australian Bruce Crampton; U.S. Open champion Lou Graham and Hubert Green, who ended a long slump with a victory in the Southern Open last week.

Back in 1973 the World Open was golf's richest event ever, a 144-hole affair with a purse of $500,000 and $100,000 going to the winner. Last year the purse dropped to $300,000 and this year has dipped another $100,000.

Stoke City 2-1 Loser

LONDON (Reuter) — Stoke City lost 2-1 to Fourth-Division Lincoln City in the second round of the English League Cup soccer tournament Wednesday in a match packed with drama.

When Dennis Booth headed what proved the winning goal 22 minutes before the end a wall collapsed, throwing some of the 13,472 spectators onto the pitch. Several were carried away on stretchers and it was five minutes before the match could be resumed.

Fine goalkeeping by England's Peter Shilton enabled Stoke to hold its hosts to a 1-1 tie before Booth scored.

Stoke, which also has Scottish, Welsh and Irish internationals on its squad, finished fifth in the First Division last season, only four points behind Derby County, the champions.

Derby was held to 1-1 tie at halftime by Fourth-Division opponents, Huddersfield. But a goal by Charlie George, Derby's summer recruit from Arsenal, finally carried the champions through.

The current championship leaders, Manchester United, struggled at home against Fourth - Division Brentford, which shocked its opponents by taking the lead early, with 17 minutes left Irish international made it 2-1 and Sammy McIlroy spoiled the dreams of Brentford, whose consolation is a share of the gate contributed by a crowd of more than 25,000.

Parting of the Ways For Unser and Gurney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bobby Unser, who won the Indianapolis 500 last May, has broken with car owner Dan Gurney and has contracted to drive the car vacated by Mike Mosley's retirement Tuesday.

Sources said Wednesday that Unser's deal with Jerry O'Connell, owner of the Offenhauser-powered Eagle Mosley drove, and chief mechanic Jud Phillips includes the remaining races this season. However, it was believed Unser's break with Gurney was permanent.

A rift was reported earlier this season between Gurney and Unser, but both denied it. It was reported that Unser was at odds with Gurney's decision to halt his racing activities the remainder of the season to concentrate on development of a new car design for 1976.

WILL ACCEPT ORDERS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds announced Wednesday they will begin accepting mail orders postmarked Friday for a mail sale of $3 reserved seat tickets to the 1975 National League baseball championship games at Riverfront Stadium. Club spokesman Dale Stoeber said there are about 18,000 $3 tickets available for sale for the two games. An over-the-counter sale will be held some time during the week of Sept. 15-20. Fans may order up to four seats for one game only and must specify whether they want tickets for Oct. 4 or Oct. 5.

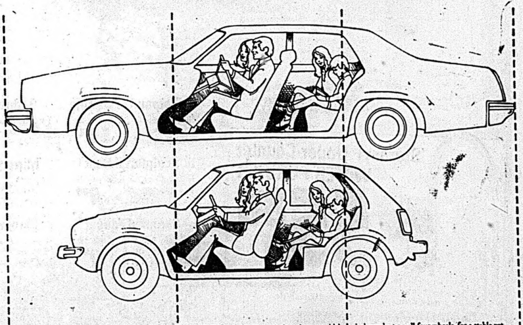
First we built a mid-size car inside. Then we built a sub-compact around it.



Most cars are built the other way around. Body style first; passenger comfort second. Which is why in the back seat of so many cars, your head slants forward. Or your knees meet your chest. Or you shift positions sitting over the hump every time you hit a bump.

At Honda, we've virtually eliminated these problems. Because we designed our car from the inside out. What we ended up with is a sub-compact car with as much room as some mid-size cars. The experts have described our car best.

"Many makes talk about small on the outside, big on the inside, but Honda has done it." (Road and Track).

How'd we do it? Our car's shape is trapezoidal. A rectangle that's wider at the bottom than the top for all kinds of good reasons. For example, we give you more room where you really need it. More leg room on the floor and more seating room.

Another part of our roominess story is also a performance story. We gave our car front-wheel drive, not just to eliminate the hump inside, but for its excellent road-hugging ability.

Then we mounted the engine sideways to provide even more space. This also places the engine weight directly over the drive wheels for better traction. For added comfort, we equipped the Civic with a McPherson strut suspension, independent on all four wheels, for a stable yet cushioning ride.

The Honda Civic is more car than you'd expect. It's fast and yet it's economical to run. In fact, in the 1975 U.S. Environmental Protection Agency gas mileage test, the Honda Civic recorded a remarkable 49.2 miles per gallon for highway driving and 33.6 miles per gallon for in-city driving. Now, just try and find another car that performed as well.

Expect Surplus From '78 Games

EDMONTON (CP) — Dr. Maury Van Vliet, chairman of the Edmonton Commonwealth Games Foundation, said Wednesday he expects a surplus of at least $6 million from the 1978 Commonwealth Games here.

He also said a large share of the revenue will go to the national Commonwealth Games organization in Montreal unless it is used for local facilities or equipment.

K. S. (Sandy) Duncan, honorary secretary of the Commonwealth Games Federation in London, said the international headquarters will receive £2,500, or five per cent of profits, whichever is larger. The remainder, except for fixed equipment and construction costs for venues, will go to the national office.

The local organization has projected operating revenues at $13.9 million and expenditures at $6 million, Dr. Van Vliet said.

In addition, the Edmonton games foundation is committed to $36 million for construction of five sites—a 47,000-seat stadium, cycling track, lawn-bowling area, shooting range and a swimming pool—but federal, provincial and local governments have pledged $31 million.

Van Vliet said there will be no difficulty meeting the projected shortfall.

CANADA BEATS JAMAICA

EDINBURGH (CP) — Canada took a 2-0 decision Wednesday over Jamaica to take 15th place in the women's world field hockey championship. England finished first when it defeated Wales 2-0 in the final. Wales was second and New Zealand third among the 22 countries in the tournament.

Offer Upped

GENEVA (Reuter) — Television companies outside North America have increased their offer for screening rights of next year's Montreal Olympics and a final answer from the Canadian organizers will be given next Monday, a top European Broadcasting Union (EBU) official said Wednesday.

Dr. Georges Straschnov, legal director of the 102-member body, said a Toronto report quoting the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. as saying a compromise of the long-standing dispute had already been reached was not correct, but there now was hope of a solution.

The Canadian Organizing Committee (COJO) and the EBU, representing television companies in 72 countries, have been deadlocked for months on the fees issue. The EBU has offered $9.3 million while COJO has sought $18 million.

Dr. Straschnov said the EBU had stepped up its offer but would not give details.

IN MEMORIAM

EASTON — In loving memory of a dear son, brother, uncle and brother-in-law George Arthur, who passed away September 11, 1970.

Today recalls a memory,
Of our loved one gone to rest.
And those who think of him today,
Are those who loved him best.
The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love for him who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.

—Dearly loved and sadly missed by Dad, brother, sisters and their families.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Mr. B. J. Bennett would like to express their sincere thanks to all of their friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during the loss of their father.

We would like to express sincerest thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbors, Club 674 for their spiritual offerings, flowers, and cards during the recent bereavement of our son and brother Edward Forestell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Forestell and family.

AT HOME

Harold and Eileen Murphy would like friends and relatives to join them in celebrating their 25th anniversary on Friday, September 12, 1975 in Marysville Parish Hall, 9.30 p.m. to 1.30 a.m.

AUCTION SALE

TOOL AUCTION

Due to the ever increasing demand for used tools and the scarcity of these items we have found it necessary to conduct a consignment tool and mechanics auction this month.

SEPT. 24/75, WEDNESDAY

Because the price of new items is soaring more and more every day due to inflation, mechanics, tradesmen and other individuals are forced to pay higher prices for used items but still save money.

Items in great demand which you should sell if you don't need them are: air compressors, welders, grinders, sanders, power saws, socket sets, misc. tools, buffers, small steel and wood lathes, all kinds of measuring tools.

If you have any of these items, call us and find out how to consign them to our sale — (you pay only the commission).

Student Answered School PA To Get Steven Truscott Role

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Andrew Skidd didn't know what he was turning up for when he responded to a school PA announcement advising students to "come up to Room so and so and apply for a summer job."

Andrew, then a Grade 10 student at Guelph Collegiate, went up to the room where he found "there were hundreds of kids, from all the high schools in Guelph."

The job, as explained to the students by Murray Markowitz, a Toronto movie-maker with two feature films to his credit, was a role in a movie Markowitz was going to make in Guelph and environs that summer.

It was a movie based on the 1959 trial of 14-year-old Steven Truscott, accused of raping and slaying 12-year-old Lynne Harper in Clinton, Ont. Truscott, who maintained he had seen the girl drive off with another person, was convicted, sentenced to be hanged, had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment, was later paroled, eventually pardoned and is believed by some to be living under an assumed name in the Guelph area.

(Markowitz, who had been promised he could shoot scenes in various Guelph public buildings and was later refused permission to do his filming in those places, believes it was Truscott's presence in the area which brought about the reneging.)

Andrew recalled in a recent interview here that Markowitz, who calls his movie Recommendation For Mercy, told the students that very few would be chosen for parts in the film.

"I was in about the last dozen people to speak to Mr. Markowitz and I was one of two to be picked to come to Kitchener for another audition."

Markowitz, who co-wrote the script with two others and directed the film, said auditions were combined with rehearsals for a three-month period before he made his final casting decisions.

One of those decisions was to have Andrew play the Truscott character, called John Robinson in the film.

The director added that at first he "wasn't really serious about having Andrew as the lead."

"There was a fellow from Montreal that I was more interested in because he had done a lot of acting and then we had gone to New York and interviewed another actor who had done a lot of work in television and film in the States.

"The thing about Andrew was that he kept improving every week, and I remember he had hair down to his shoulders almost and we had this really vital rehearsal where we were going to make certain decisions and he turned up with all his hair cut off and he read the lines with really a lot of authority."

Andrew, whose only previous acting experience had been in "small plays and fooling around at assemblies" in schools in Guelph and his native city of Moncton, N.B., become a movie star in the summer of 1974.

The picture, completed at a cost of $550,000, opens in 25 Ontario cities Sept. 12 and will have cross-Canada openings in October.

It was premiered at Filmexpo in Ottawa this summer and on the basis of a strongly favorable review in Variety, Markowitz has received a call from Universal Studios in California about handling its American distribution.

Variety described the performance by Andrew, who was 16 at the time of filming, as "extraordinary."

Andrew is definite about what he wants to do with his life.

Acting is more important to him than schooling. Principal parts in two television dramas and an Ontario government film about the effects of alcohol seriously disrupted his last school year, but despite missing "about half of each term," he succeeded in getting all his Grade 11 credits and is taking Grade 12 this year.

He doesn't know about Grade 13 or just where he will seek out "proper training in theatre."

He has been lucky in adding to his professional experience even before his performance in Recommendation For Mercy has been widely

A chance meeting with a casting agent, who told him to show up the next day for a walk-on part in the TV series Police Surgeon resulted in his being cast for one of last year's CBC Performance dramas, The Betrayal, and later in another network play, to be telecast later this season, with renowned British actor Donald Pleasence.

At school, where it was widely known he had played the lead in a movie, Andrew found some of the reactions of fellow-students a bit upsetting.

"They didn't realize how much concentration went into acting before a camera. They figured you just memorized two or three lines, did a scene and you were finished with it and then memorized two or three more lines, and so on."

Markowitz tells of Andrew's ability to concentrate in connection with a highly emotional courtroom scene in Recommendation For Mercy.

"The character had to break down and cry, and normally when you film something like that you use drops to produce the tears, but as we began shooting the scene he just started to cry naturally."

Andrew doesn't think he will become another runaway star to the United States.

"A fellow told me once, 'Oh, you'll probably never get out of Toronto,' and I didn't see any sense in that at all. I'd be happy just acting in Toronto."

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Friday, Sept. 12

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll discover early today that being too forceful is non-productive. Fortunately, your good judgement and sense of humor will aid you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It will appear that you're getting the short end of a deal today. Don't do anything hasty. Everything will eventually even-out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Domestic pressures may be a bit trying early today. They'll pass. Don't let them rattle you. The rest of the day will be a breeze.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be willing to go a few steps further than the boss expects of you today. Later, he'll do the same for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're lucky with just about everything today except finances, so don't do anything foolish in that area.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Good things happen if you let events run their course today. Trying to force issues will only complicate matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your first impulse is to look at the darker side of things today. After a hard second look you'll see you have much to be grateful for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're under very good financial aspects now, but be careful not to earmark what's coming in for some extravagant whim.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could take unfair advantage of a situation today, but you won't. Your unselfish decision will prove to be a lucky one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be wary today that a dominant personality doesn't force his ideas upon you. The course of action you've selected is the better one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Enjoy yourself with friends today but don't try to mix business with pleasure. That could cause some headaches.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lady Luck is still in your corner. She'll do all she can to help you realize your desires. Be sure you're doing all you can to help her.

To Your Good Health

Prominent Veins Not Repulsive

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 20-year-old female. I weigh 113 pounds and am 5 feet, 7 inches tall. For as long as I can remember veins have appeared on my arms and legs from the time I get up until I go to bed, especially in warm weather. In cold weather they don't show as bad.

I was wondering if you could tell me what the cause of this is, and what can do to be rid of them.—E. C. J.

You have a lean build, which I suspect contributes to the vein problem. Here's the way it works.

The veins are most likely superficial ones lying just under the skin. They are not concealed in layers of fat as they would be in some of your more chubby friends.

Veins tend to dilate (get larger) in hot weather, thus becoming mor prominent at those times. There is nothing I can suggest to "get rid" of them. They are not abnormal, and they most likely are not as unattractive as you have told yourself they are. I doubt that they detract from your femininity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 48-year-old woman going through menopause. I have not suffered any great discomforts like hot flashes or extreme nervousness. I did go to my doctor because I could not seem to lose weight, even though I was dieting.

I was sent to a hospital laboratory for thyroid profiles, then was put on thyroid medicine. There have been no results in two weeks. I'm also taking medicine for fluid retention.

What are the causes of fluid retention during menopause? Will it let up after menopause? If anyone has low blood pressure will water retention reverse this and cause high blood pressure? — Mrs. J. R. M.

You can't be sure that your water retention is related to your going through menopause. Weight problems occurring during this event are often related to lessening of physical activity which tends to occur among women of your age. With less activity, less nourishment is required.

Yet most of us (men and women) tend to continue satisfying our palates at the same rate as we did in our younger, more active years.

Your profile apparently revealed a lowered thyroid activity, which means a lower rate of metabolism. This may or may not be related to the menopause. Dosages of thyroid medicine are measured out very sparingly, especially at the beginning of therapy. Overdosing can lead to dramatic symptoms of hyperthyroidism, and you don't want that. Overnight miracles are not to be sought.

You don't tell me how low your blood pressure is, so it is difficult to comment. Generally, though, low blood pressure within limits is not bad in itself, and you may be worrying unnecessarily about that as a factor. Temporary fluid retention can be expected at the time of your normal periods.

With thyroid therapy and a reasonable exercise program, and perhaps some adjustment in your eating habits, you should emerge from your menopause in good shape.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you please print a list of foods that have potassium?—B. L.

No need for a list. Most foods contain it, and in sufficient volume to satisfy normal human needs.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have recently heard of a procedure in which chymopapain is injected with a needle to dissolve the material of a spinal disc that has ruptured into the spinal canal.

Is this treatment still experimental? How successful is it? I have a herniated disc. I am 73. — C.C.G.

The procedure is called "chemonucleolysis," and it was originated several years ago by an Illinois surgeon. My surgical consultant informs me that it is still classified as experimental and restricted to certain designated centers.

The chymopapain injected locally is an enzyme substance extracted from the papaya plant. It has the ability to dissolve the extruded material from a herniated disc without affecting the surrounding tissue. The advantage of this procedure is that it eliminates the need for laminectomy, which is surgical excision of the material, often a delicate matter. Frequently it is this extruded material which presses upon the spinal nerves, causing the pain associated with herniated disc.

Conservative measures are usually tried to avoid either procedure.

A report as recent as February of this year indicates good to excellent results in 70 to 80 per cent of patients on which chemonucleolysis has been tried. The main complication, but a rather infrequent one, is an allergic reaction to the enzyme.

Other advantages over the laminectomy include briefer hospital stays, a faster rate of recovery and an earlier return to work for the patient.

Your physician can advise you about its feasibility in your case, and whether there are any medical centers in your area where this experimental work is going on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am getting married soon and donot plan to use any artificial means of birth control. My questions are: Can impregnation occur if during intercourse the male is not brought to full orgasm? Is there sperm in the pre-seminal flow?—D.P.G.

I'm not sure I understand your phrase "pre-seminal flow." But the answer to your question is that, yes, sperm can be present in a premature release of seminal fluid prior to full ejaculation. "Coitus interruptus," is the method you are speaking of. You should not depend on this as a birth control procedure.

If you are intent on avoiding artificial methods, the "rhythm method" is available. It requires painstaking precaution on your wife's part.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Both East players in an IMP match elected to open with three spades, both Souths overcalled with four diamonds in preference to a takeout double, both Wests raised to four spades and both North's tried five diamonds.

At both tables this was passed around to West. One West player decided to pass on the theory that his partner just wasn't going to have any play for five spades and that, maybe, the five - diamond contract would not be made.

The other West reasoned that while five spades would surely wind up in the soup the five-diamond contract would make and that a sacrifice bid was indicated.

It was an unfortunate decision, since South had to lose three tricks in his diamond contract. However, change the North - South cards a trifle and the decision would have been a mighty good one.

The really good bid with the hand was North's five diamonds. He saved a lot of points, because had he passed East would wrap up the four-spade contract and take it home.

Ask the Jacobys

A letter from Alaska asks what dealer should do with 11 clubs headed by the jack and the ace-queen of spades.

This is one of the oldest joke problems in bridge. As far as we know it was first devised by the late Joseph B. Lee of Brooklyn as an auction bridge question. The catch is that they ask, "What should dealer do? "The answer is, "Get a new pack of cards." In order to have 11 clubs headed by the jack you have to have two that are the same.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in the column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Private Hawaiian Island Is Cut Off from World

HONOLULU (AP) — At the northwest end of Hawaii lie 70 square miles of mystery, a privately-owned island deliberately cut off from the modern world.

Bought from a Hawaiian king for $10,000 more than a century ago, Niihau Island still is run with a firm, paternalistic hand.

Nobody is allowed there without the owner's permission, and permission is given only to state health and education inspectors, former residents and sometimes former residents' friends.

The only inhabitants are about 235 employees of the owners, most of them pure-blooded Hawaiians whose families have lived there for generations. Niihau ("Nee-ee-how") is the last island where Hawaiian is the standard spoken and written language.

There are no doctors. No telephones. No television. No jails. There is almost no contact with the outside world. Residents who move away are not allowed to live there again.

Niihau is owned by Helen Robinson and her two sons, descendants of the original owners. They don't discuss why they carry on the family tradition of separation from a changing world. But the Robinsons are known to be authorities on Hawaiian culture, and people who know them say the family wants to perpetuate a way of life that is rapidly disappearing on other islands.

The Robinsons never speak with reporters and few former residents will discuss the Niihau way of life because they are afraid they won't be allowed back to visit friends and relatives. The only recent photographs of the island were taken from a plane.

"The Robinsons don't want us to bring Western ideas back to the island," says one former resident, "We may go back to visit, but we must have permission from the Robinsons and cannot stay longer than one month."

This and other former residents agreed to talk about Niihau only on condition that they not be identified. From these accounts, a picture emerges of an isolated, spartan, almost feudal culture clinging to vanishing rural ways.

The only way to get to Niihau—with the Robinson's permission—is on an 11-passenger Second World War landing craft that makes a weekly trip from Kauai Island, 17 miles away.

The residents live in old wood frame houses provided by the owners and draw a small salary. Records show that a handful—a smaller percentage than in Hawaii as a whole — receive welfare assistance.

There is little plumbing and no electricity in the houses. Those who want regular contact with the outside world listen to battery-powered radios.

For emergencies, there is a radio transmitter to call Kauai, where the Robinsons live and manage other extensive agricultural holdings. For first aid and minor illnesses there is a makeshift infirmary housing the island's only electric generator.

The islanders tend the Robinson's cattle and sheep herds on the dry, windswept land, make commercial charcoal and collect wild honey. There is just enough water for the people to grow their own vegetables.

"There are no artesian wells and very little rainfall, so even drinking water is scarce," a former resident says. "Rainwater is caught in tanks and rationed."

Some of the islanders collect tiny seashells and string them into leis that sell for as much as $2,000 on other islands. But output is low. Islanders who have visited other islands to display or sell the leis have refused to talk about anything else with strangers.

Guns are forbidden. Like their ancestors, islanders hunt wild pigs with ropes and traps, and fish with nets and spears.

Liquor also is forbidden, and religion encouraged. Islanders are expected to attend services at the only church, which is Congregational—the denomination that early missionaries brought to Hawaii.

The Robinsons are descendants of New Zealand immigrants and have been steeped in Hawaiian life for generations. Many family members have spoken Hawaiian fluently.

Eliza Sinclair, a widow who came to Hawaii from New Zealand after her husband's death, bought Niihau from King Kamehameha IV in 1864. Ownership eventually passed to her grandsons, Aylmer and Lester Robinson.

Aylmer was manager of Niihau Ranch for more than 50 years before his death in 1967 and was the patriarch who established the isolation of the island.

Shoe Shine 'Boy' Is Active at 79

MONTREAL (CP) — Joe Rizzo has been shining shoes at Phillip's Square Barber Shop for 53 years and never has taken a vacation longer than an extended weekend.

Rizzo, 79, is finally calling it quits. But he says he's not retiring. He is being forced out because the barber shop is closing to allow building alterations.

"Maybe I'll only take a couple of weeks off," he said, "and then I'll look for another job."

Rizzo came to Montreal with his father from Italy in 1912 and spent the next 10 years working for CPR at Smiths Falls, Ont., before returning to work in Montreal as a shoe-shiner.

"I've shined a lot of shoes since 1922. . . . Everybody from bums to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Rizzo used to put in up to 16 hours a day when he first started shining shoes and has put his son through medical school where the youth earned a PhD in biochemistry.

"I used to charge 10 cents a shine when I started but now I charge 40 cents. I charge more for platforms.

"I like my job," Rizzo said recently, pausing as he worked on a customer's shoe. "I've met a lot of people and we've talked a lot. They taught me almost all I know."

Hovercraft Link Britain and France

RAMSGATE, England (CP) — The company which uses hovercraft for voyages between this southeast England port and Calais in France carried its four millionth cross - Channel passenger this summer. Now it has plans for expanding the service.

The company is Hoverlloyd which operates three of the five largest hovercraft so far built in the Channel service.

The service linking Britain and France started with two craft in April, 1969, and before the end of that year Hoverlloyd had carried 300,000 passengers plus 40,000 cars in and out of its special hovercraft terminal at Ramsgate. This represented a five-per-cent share of the market for what were then 254-seater craft. By 1972, when a third machine was added to the service, the company had notched up its two millionth passenger and begun to make a profit.

Recently the Hoverlloyd craft have been widened to increase their capacity to 282 passengers and 37 cars. Last year they made a total of more than 5,000 cross-channel flights.

Assures Olympic Security Will Be Visible, Efficient

MONTREAL (CP) — Security measures for the 1976 summer Olympic Games will be "visible and efficient," says Guy Toupin, co-ordinator of the chief committee on public safety for the Olympics.

"We're preparing for the worst, but hoping for the best," Mr. Toupin said in an interview Wednesday while outlining security precautions that will be taken to protect the athletes.

However, those responsible for security will escape criticism no matter what they do. "It's going to be a case of too little or too much," he said.

Centrepiece will be a security operations room capable of establishing an immediate link with government officials to cut red tape quickly if a political solution is necessary in the event of a terrorist attack.

Once an alert is given, seven tactical groups will swing into action, backed up by six, eight man teams of sharpshooters.

The Olympic Village housing the athletes will be surrounded by a 10-foot wire fence and guarded on round the clock by more than 700 police and armed forces units.

The MUC technical section will handle any bomb calls and will rely on a back-up team of Canadian Forces explosives disposal experts.

Special detectors will be used to process mail in an attempt to guard against letter bombs and security personnel in civilian dress will mingle with the crowds during the day while soldiers in full battle gear will patrol at night.

Lewis Says No Funds For Increased Pensions

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said Wednesday night that the Ontario government has not budgeted for an increase of $8.02 a month it has promised in payments to 300,000 needy pensioners.

Mr. Lewis, campaigning for the Sept. 18 provincial general election, said at a news conference the increase announced by Premier William Davis on Monday would cost between $10 million and $12 million for the remainder of the fiscal year "but there is no money in the budget."

"That just confirms what we originally thought," said the NDP leader, who earlier Wednesday accused Mr. Davis of misleading the public.

He had said that most of the money would be covered by a $5.99 increase in federal pensoin payments under cost-of-living adjustments Oct. 1, leaving only three cents to be met from the prrovincial treasury.

But Mr. Davis in reply to this said pensioners would get the provincial $6.02 and anything additional the federal government tacked on.

"On Monday they were giving you three cents, today they are giving you $6.02, and who knows what they'll do tomorrow?" Mr. Lewis said to a group of London senior citizens Wednesday night.

Mr. Lewis also attacked Conservative energy policies and said an NDP government would establish a special cabinet committee to hold public hearings on proposed Hydro increases.

A cabinet committee of the premier, treasurer, resources ministers and energy minister "would determine the rate of growth for Ontario Hydro in his province," he said in a speech to the London and district labor council.

The Ontario energy board recently ruled that Ontario Hydro has a case for a 25 per cent rate increase this year and a final decision is expected soon.

However, an NDP government would hold open rate increase hearings and Hydro would have to justify the need for increases. The Ontario energy board hearings were closed.

Mr. Lewis told the London senior citizens that oil and gas companies also should justify their applications for price increases.

"Until I see what the oil companies are hiding in their balance sheets, I don't believe a thing that they say."

He also renewed his criticism of a decision by the royal commission on petroleum product prices to let companies testify in private.

"Until this is public knowledge, I don't trust a thing that comes out of that commission."

Premier Davis established the commission when he imposed a freeze on gasoline and oil prices July 1.

Deadline Set For Workers

OTTAWA (CP) — The conciliation board dealing with the postal workers' contract dispute has been given until Oct. 3 to prepare a report for submission to the public service staff relations board.

The extension brought an angry response Wednesday from Jean-Claude Parrot, chief negotiator for the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, who said he deplored the length of time given the board.

A legal strike by the 22,000 workers cannot begin until seven days after the conciliation report goes to the staff relations board and, if the full time is taken to write the report, a walkout cannot legally begin before Oct. 11.

The union, which has at least some locals who have voted to strike at the earliest possible opportunity, had opposed the extension. Postal clerks and mail sorters are members of the union.

CHARGED MANIPULATION

Mr. Parrot said the government had manipulated the conciliation process, referring to Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey's Monday prediction that a strike would not take place for a month. He said Mr. Mackasey had been hoping to provoke an illegal strike and then fire postal workers in large numbers.

Mr. Parrot has said a postal strike is inevitable and there have been other predictions of a long walkout.

The union wants the right to negotiate technological change and job classification, a 30-hour work week without reduction in pay, and a wage increase totalling $3.26 an hour over a one-year contract.

Average hourly wages for the postal workers now are $4.59. The employees have not had a pay increase for more than a year.

The government has offered raises totalling $1.15 an hour in four stages over 32 months.

Davis Promises

$25-Million Tax Cushion

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Premier William Davis said Thursday night that Ontario home owners will receive a new tax credit of up to $500 if their mortgate interest rates are above 10¼ per cent and the federal government does not act to help offset mortgage costs.

The premier said the credit would "offset three-quarters of the mortgate interest costs which are above 10¼ per cent" and would apply only to principal residences. The action would be taken if the federal government does not act within 30 days to exempt residential mortgage interest rates from the effect of federally-directed higher interest rates.

Meanwhile, NDP Leader Stephen Lewis was belting the Davis Conservative government's housing policy, saying it deserves defeat "because it has betrayed the confidence of the people."

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon accused Mr. Davis of undermining Ontario's relationship with the federal government "merely to serve his own political ends."

As the leaders campaigned in widely-separated areas in search of a win Sept. 18, the premier made the most striking news Thursday with his announcement at Waterloo that—barring fast federal action—home owners will get an Ontario tax credit of up to $500 a year to cushion them against high mortgage interest rates.

Mr. Davis said mortgage interest will be forced up to 12¼ per cent as the result of the Bank of Canada's Oct. 2 decision to raise its lending rate to chartered banks by .75 per cent to nine per cent.

To counteract this, he said, his government will give homebuyers a credit against their provincial income tax amounting to three-fourths of mortgage interest above 10¼ per cent up to $500, applicable to both present and prospective homeowners on their principal dwelling.

He said later the tax credit would be fully refundable, even if it exceeded the amount of provincial income tax payable by a home-owner.

The premier said the federal action was "short-sighted" and that his government would not give up its housing objectives, jobs and homes "to a federal policy which gives in to both increased unemployment and inflation."

He noted he had asked last week that residential mortgages be insulated from the federal tight-money policy but, "as is so often the case, there has been no response."

Mr. Davis also took several belts at Liberal Leader Nixon, deriding Mr. Nixon's idea of easing up on the Conservative new land transactions tax aimed at speculators.

"Remember that a vote for Nixon is a vote for the land speculators."

He also took an indirect jab at the Liberal leader by announcing a freeze of at least two years on the salaries of members of the legislature.

Earlier in the campaign, when questioned about this at a public meeting, Mr. Nixon said he could not give such an assurance in the event of being elected premier.

Troops Man Buffer Area

BEIRUT (AP) — Army troops manned three buffer zones between warring Christians and Moslems in northern Lebanon today. There was no resistance to their deployment.

About 2,000 troops took up positions between the Moslem city of Tripoli and the Christian town of Zagharta five miles to the east, and on the northern and southern outskirts of Tripoli.

Army patrols also joined police security units in the streets of Tripoli, Lebanon's second largest city 5 miles north of Beirut.

Troops were dispatched to the Christian village of Beit Mallat, 18 miles northeast of Tripoli, where three persons were reported killed and six wounded in a Moslem attack Thursday.

The fighting was reported intensifying as the troops moved to the scene.

Sporadic shooting and explosions were reported between Tripoli and Zagharta Thursday, but Tripoli was calm.

A traffic accident nine days ago touched off clashes between the two religious communities in the Tripoli area, and there was hard fighting for three days after Christians killed 12 Moslems in a bus ambush last Sunday. More than 100 persons have been killed and 250 wounded.

Although more than 2,000 persons were killed in Christian-Moslem fighting in Beirut and eastern Lebanon earlier this year, the army was not previously ordered to intervene because the Moslems contended the officer corps was pro-Christian.

Regional Government Needs Study: Lewis

TORONTO CP) — An NDP government would try to make the regional government system work, Ontario NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said today.

"I think that every single regional government must be stopped in its tracks and a complete and thorough examination should be made," he said during a telephone interview broadcast on a Hamilton radio station.

"Before we dismantle it, we will try to make it work."

Mr. Lewis said his party supported the concept of regional governments when it was first proposed by the Progressive Conservative government of Premier William Davis.

"But in the process of implementino regional governments, the Tories fouled everything up," he said.

"What regional government means now is very high costs and . . . an incredible bureaucracy."

However, he said he does not agree with Liberal leader Robert Nixon's proposal to dismantle regional governments.

New Egg Association Formed

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A group of dissatisfied egg producers have laid the groundwork for a new egg producers association separate from the Ontario Egg Marketing Board, a spokesman for the group said Thursday.

Purvis Littlejohn, a Highgate, Ont., egg producer, said the new group will be called the Ontario Egg Producers Association and has the support of more than 100 producers.

Mr. Littlejohn said the decision to form an independent group was made Wednesday at a meeting in Toronto and plans were drafted to seek the membership of every egg producer in the province.

The group, in a statement prepared at the meeting, said it wants to create its own industry because the marketing board and the provincial government "have sold out the Ontario producer's interests at the national level" by denying producers "a fair share of the national market."

Since Sept. 1, the marketing board has expected Ontario producers to operate at 62 per cent of basic quota in an attempt to maintain national production controls.

The Campaign Trail

Ontario Liberal leader Robert Nixon was back briefly Thursday . . . the second time in eight days. His visit was brief, a swift handshaking tour of the Quinte Mall where he stopped after visit to Peterborough-Marmora area. He was met by supporters led by Quinte riding Liberal candidate Hugh O'Neil, standing beside Mayor Ben Corke who formally welcomes the Liberal leader to the city.

Turner Sparks Cabinet Exodus

OTTAWA (CP) — John Turner's unexpected resignation as finance minister has left Prime Minister Trudeau facing an unexpected cabinet shuffle of major proportions.

Both Energy Minister Donald Macdonald, 43, another cabinet stalwart, and ailing Transport Minister Jean Marchand, 56, also spoke Thursday of leaving the cabinet.

A fourth departure might be Works Minister C. M. (Bud) Drury, 63, also in poor health. The Turner departure makes Mr. Drury acting finance minister until the shuffle takes place. He also is acting science minister.

Mr. Turner, 46, whose decision to return to private life was conveyed to Mr Trudeau Wednesday and accepted "with deep regret" Thursday, remained uncommunicative.

His single contact with reporters, late Thursday outside his home, drew only: "Gentlemen—I said I wasn't going to talk—and I'm sorry you had to wait here so long."

Aides said he has no definite plans but has had many offers of jobs. However they ruled out speculation that he would go with the World Bank or International Monetary Fund.

Mr. Turner's silence led Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield to speculate that the cause was a dispute over how to cope with the economy.

However, Mr. Trudeau's, flattering letter to Mr. Turner emphasized that the departure wasn't based on a policy disagreement. The prime minister said that as a result, he would continue to seek Mr. Turner's advice.

"The economy is still the problem that looms largest in my mind and the government must continue its efforts to fight inflation and unemployment," Mr. Trudeau said.

Early speculation about Mr. Turner's successor pointed to Jean Chretien, 41, the tough treasury board president now at work chopping departmental spending budgets, and Health Minister Marc Lalonde, 46, whose campaign—unpopular with business because of its cost—for a guaranteed annual income to replace scattered welfare programs was fought off last year by Mr. Turner.

Century Fountain Will Snub Winter

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Fountains — particularly water fountains — have a way of freezing up during Canadian winters.

But chilly climes have not deterred Century Place builders from including a " 12-month-a-year" fountain in the plans of the project's front courtyard.

"We'll just be using a little antifreeze," says Brian Holmes of Cornerstone Construction. "I wouldn't have a fountain that had to be turned off four months of the year. They always look terribles."

Mr. Holmes also announced that Bell Canada and Guaranty Trust Co. Ltd. would become the $5 million project's first tenants, both scheduled to move in April 1, 1976.

Both tenants will begin personal rennovations and decorating in their respective areas by January.

Century Place completion date has been set for next July and according to Mr. Holmes, the building is progressing on schedule.

Mr. Holmes said "we'll be topping the building's fifth and final floor in three weeks." Barricades protecting pedestrain traffic along Front St. will be removed by the first week of October "allowing a better view of the building Bridge St. barricades will be removed by November and members of the general public will be allowed to tour the building under supervision."

Mr. Holmes said the building has sufficiently progressed that a leasing agent and secretary will be moving into the project within three weeks to handle enquiries.

Transit Workers Remain At Job

MONTREAL (CP) — Union officals said Thursday Montreal's transit workers will remain on the job despite a published report saying the 1,700 maintenance and office workers will go on strike today to protest deadlocked contract negotiations with the city.

However, an information officer at the Montreal Urban Community Transit Commission (MUCTC) headquarters said early today the workers threaten to strike Monday pending the outcome of today's meeting of city and union officials before a national assembly parliamentary committee on labor.

Lawrence Hanigan, MUCTC chairman, said earlier this week that if the garage and maintenance workers go on strike, all bus and subway services will be shut down for the second time in less than a month.

The transit system was closed down for 12 days during August when bus and subway operators went on strike. Services resumed Aug. 31 after an agreement was reached in their contract dispute.

Jacques Thibault, treasurer of the Montreal Transport Union, said the workers intend to wait and see if progress is made at the meeting in Quebec City, which Premier Robert Bourassa also will be attending.

Strike Threat Monday

MONTREAL (CP) — City buses and subway trains are rolling today as contract negotiations continued in an effort to bring a settlement in a dispute involving 1,700 maintenance and office workers.

But a spokesman at the Montreal Urban Community Transit Commission (MUCTC) headquarters said the workers threaten to strike Monday if they are not satisfied with the outcome of today's meeting of city and union officials in Quebec City before a legislative committee on labor.

Two Senior ID Cards Now Valid

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville transit commissioners agreed Thursday to accept both their own senior citizen identification cards and those issued by the federal government for 10 — cent fare discounts for the elderly.

The commission's move marks an end to a program in which senior citizens paid 25 — cents for an identity card issued originally by city hall, and then the commission.

Previously, the elderly would buy cards with proof they were 65 years or over. In the four years of the program over 1,000 cards were issued.

Commission manager Lewis McMullin said the move is being made because about 90 per cent of the elderly now have federal government cards.

Drivers on buses will be instructed to accept both cards. With cards, senior citizens qualify for 20-cent fares.

Both residents and visitors to Belleville will qualify for the fare discount.

TURNER RESIGNS POST

PCs Look To Turner

OTTAWA (CP) — John Turner may be the only influential Liberal at John Diefenbaker's 80th birthday party in Saskatchewan next week but it doesn't meann the former finance minister is going to run for the Progressive Conservative leadership.

Unconfirmed reports Thursday said Mr. Turner, who resigned Thursday from the Liberal cabinet after 10 years, had already been asked to run for the leadership being vacated by Robert Stanfield. But an assistant said he won't run.

"He's going to the birthday party because he and Mr. Diefenbaker are old friends," said John Swift, Mr. Turner's executive assistant.

That friendship is part of Mr. Turner's rapport with the Commons opposition, and with conservative Liberals and the business community. His resignation thus leaves a political gap in the cabinet.

Although his cabinet record was regarded by many as progressive, he seemed to embody a style most Conservatives trusted. An earthy, eyeball-to-eyeball type who works out physically every day, his rapport with the Conservative Opposition was set in the 1960 in friendly roughouse in the Commons steam room with, among others, a couple of big western Conservative members.

The name may be inadvertently altered but the candidate is the same. Progressive Conservative headquarters in Trenton has been displaying signs with different spellings of its candidate's name in Quinte riding. The contesting Conservative is Robin Jeffrey — that's J-E-F-F-R-E-Y.

Seniors Express Housing Concern

Belleville area pensioners have warned local provincial election candidates that shortage of subsidized housing for senior citizens in Ontario could be critical by next year.

It is among issues on which the Belleville district chapter of Pensioners Concerned is seeking answer in a letter to the three provincial election candidates in Quinte riding.

The group also wants answers on education tax and health care.

The pensioners say housing is in a critical stage with older people sometimes paying 50-75 per cent of their household budgets for accommodations. It says a rent review board is essential for the province.

A crisis in subsidized apartment space for senior citizens could spell "disaster" by next year they say. Despite government promises to step up such accommodation it still takes two years to build a dwelling unit.

It is not fair that elderly people should pay the same education taxes as people now entering the workforce — whose schooling was paid by today's senior citizens, say the pensioners.

Woman Charged

A 28 - year - old Peterborough woman has been charged with theft over $200 in connection with a stolen car reported in July.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today the woman is identified as Nancy Elizabeth Clarke of the Wenona Motel near Peterborough.

He said a person rented a car from a local Budget Rent—A—Car July 27 but it was not returned the following day as contracted.

Police received information the car was in Peterborough, an arrest was made and the car recovered with its engine seized.

Welcoming Dinner

Col. J. Wahlstorm, chief secretary of the Salvation Army of Canada (centre) welcomed Major and Mrs. Browning, (left), and Capt. and Mrs. John Carew to the Belleville Corps Thursday at a banquet. Major Browning, from Saint John N.B. is the new divisional commander. Capt. Carew from Oakville, Ont. is the new divisional youth secretary.

Stewart Says B.C. Approach To Farmers 'Unrealistic'

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Ontario agriculture minister William Stewart said Thursday implementation in Ontario of the income assurance program now being promoted among the province's farmer by B.C. Agriculture Minister David Stupich is unrealistic with also setting up production controls.

He said the B.C. minister is not telling farmers production controls in the beef industry would have to be imposed.

The minister accused Mr. Stupich of being in Ontario to embarrass the provincial government into supporting his plan.

Mr. Stupich is "in financial trouble" said Mr. Stewart. His program is "too expensive" and he wants the federal government to "bail him out of the costs."

"He wants Ontario to put the heat on the feds," charged Mr. Stewart.

The B.C. plan would not work in Ontario, where the government supports a beef-calf price stabilization program.

"There's a vast difference between Ontario agriculture and British Columbia agriculture," he said.

Ontario possess 10 times the number of steers and 4.3 times the B.C. total in all cattle.

"If we're to put Stupich's plan into affect, where he says that he guarantees 77—cents a pound for calves this fall, and 64—cents a pound for yearlings there aren't enough bulls...to cover all the females in this province that would be used to produce calves at a 77—cent incentive price for next year." Mr. Stewart said.

He emphasized that there "was no possible way you can have those kind of prices for farm products and not have production controls on every commodity."

The Ontario government is "serious" in the concept of complete stabilization in the agricuture industry, he said.

"We believe it's a must," he said. "And we're willing to put dollars on the line, to stabilize one of Ontario's key industries."

In the provincial beef-calf industry stabilization program the government is providing money "over and above the original $20—million that we announced for stabilization programs in Darcy McKeough's budget of April 7."

Farmers in Ontario will be guaranteed a 70 per cent subsidy on labor, management and investment costs, as well as addition assistance in spring cash costs. Cow—calf farmers will get a 50—cent a pound subsidy this fall, according to a ministry spokesman.

The Ontario agricultural minister was in Trenton Thursday to officially open the $2.5—million Produce Processors Ltd. plant, a partly financed by $680,000 in loans and grants from the provincial and federal governments.

The plant, begun in 1972, will employ 125 people at its peak in harvest season. It has the capability to provide an outlet for the Quinte area's 120 farmers using it, for 4,600 acres of corn and 2,020 acres of peas annually.

It generates about $4—million in sales of frozen produce yearly.

Consumer Seminars Planned

The Quinte Information and Assistance Centre will not take a back seat in a series of consumer seminars to be held during the next several months in Belleville, the centre board of directors was told this week.

Board director Leona Walford, member of an ad hoc committee which includes Hastings County educators, said the committee will meet next Thursday at the Education Centre (starting time to be announced later) to further discuss the seminars in an open session.

Mrs. Walford related the centre board, which devised the scheme, had earlier stated it was "to play a low profile" due to lack of sufficient funds and manpower to hold the seminars on its own and had approached other concerns including the Hastings County Board of Education.

However, organizers now want the centre "to come with bells on" and contribute and participate in a large way, she said.

Mrs. Walford said the first seminar, tentatively scheduled for the third week of October at Quinte Secondary School, will concern consumer law and will be handled by a Belleville lawyer.

Following a presentation portion, those present will break up into separate groups at individual table with each group to include a person knowledgeable on consumer law, she outlined.

Bill Hockley, centre staff member, said each group will have a separate problem case to study — to be read to the entire audience — and will present its views on how the problem should be solved.

He said lawyer will give his interpretation of the case and there will also be a question-and-answer period.

Mrs. Walford, who noted the seminars are free and open to the general public, commented, "the format sounds like it will work. We want to make sure the evenings are interesting enough to bring people back."

Program Attacked

William Stewart, provincial agricultural minister, seated told Quinte farmers and food processors Thursday the income assurance program now in practice in British Columbia would be of little benefit to Ontario farmers. Mr. Stewart was in Trenton to open the new $2.5—million Produce Processors Ltd. plant. Introducing him is Eben James, the firm's president.

Buttons, Signs and Balloons All Part of Campaign '75

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — With 8000 newsletters mailed, 3500 lawn signs posted and one airplane flying the candidates in Prince Edward—Lennox riding are campaigning for a seat at Queen's Park.

Manager of the Picton committee rooms of James Taylor, NDP Progressive Conservative candidate for Prince Edward—Lennox, Mrs. George Pitt says more than 8000 newsletters from Mr. Taylor to his constituents are in the mails this week.

In addition, 160 billboard signs have been posted throughout the area.

Mrs. Pitt said no count is available on the number of lawn signs and mini—posters distributed but both are in steady demand in the riding.

The Young Progressive Conservatives here are distributing youth stickers in the new Tory colors of blue and gold that replace the old red, white and blue colors.

The YPC's also offer special posters stressing the support of high school students, college and university students and young workers in cities and on farms.

Another popular handout at the Taylor committee rooms here is a brochure titled Decision 75, featuring William Davis in color on the front page. On the back is a photo of Prince Edward—Lennox MLA James Taylor

In addition to the Davis brochures the committee rooms offer numerous leaflets and lapel stickers emblazoned with the Tory colors.

Mr. Taylor's supporters also are sporting party pins in blue and gold.

Liberal candidate for Prince Edward—Lennox riding Keith MacDonald last weekend saw his name written against the sky as a chartered plane flew over the Picton area towing a banner with the wordss "Vote Keith MacDonald."

The Liberal committee rooms here already have distributed over 2000 lawn signs and 1000 bumper stickers in addition to 250 Gay Nineties hats designed for party workers' identification.

Campaign manager Roy Wight said there was a shower of MacDonald balloons during the Prince Edward County fair and a new batch of MacDonald lapel buttons is expected shortly.

The committee rooms offer a selection of pamphlets and leaflets to all visitors.

Mr. Wight said the Liberal candidate has purchased 120 radio spots with station CJBQ and 108 spots with Kingston's CKWS. He has also bought 24 television spots.

Manager of the Picton committee rooms of New Democratic Party candidate Jan Nichol, Mrs. Richard Lunn says 1500 lawn signs and placards have been distributed in the riding.

Pamphlets have been mailed to householders and a door—to—door canvass to distribute brochures is in progress.

The campaign does not include bumper stickers, lapel pins, buttons or radio and television advertisements.

"We've made a point of being solvent. It is not as important to be showy as it is to be solvent," commented Mrs. Lunn.

Air Acrobatics Tests All Skills of Pilots

By TERRY SPRAGUE
Staff Correspondent

PICTON — "If done properly, you can hold a cup of tea throughout the entire manoever," said Prince Edward Flying Club's chief areobatic instructor, David Pole to the somewhat apprehensive Intelligencer staff correspondent he had invited along.

Actually it was a movel way to spend a Sunday afternoon, observing East Lake through the roof of an airplane as he demonstrated the "hammer-head turn". Then came the G-force, doubling the weight of the plane and the passenger. Inside of 20 minutes, most of the dozen or so basic areobatic manoevers had been demonstrated at an altitude of 4,000 feet, high above the light clouds.

The Prince Edward Flying Club is one of few clubs in Ontario that teaches aerobatics, says Mr. Pile. The club has two instructors, David Pile and Peter Wilson, and currently has four pilots enrolled in the 12-hour course. The requirements differ little from those involved in taking a regular flying lessons, but being in physically good condition is mandatory, Mr. Pile stressed.

Why do people choose to learn areobatics? According to Mr. Pile, the majority do it because of the challenge. He believes all pilots should take the course as a precautionary measure against unexpected occurrences.

"It prepares one for emergencies such as wake turbulance or thunderstorms. And it increases a person's general proficiancy in the handling of an aircraft."

The flying club has three areas in Prince Edward County allocated for aerobatic instruction, said Mr. Pile. Manoevers are executed at higher altitude than mormal flying with the requirement that pilots be recovered from all manoevers at 2,000 feet.

The club's aerobatic training plane, the Citabria (airbatic spelled backwards) has a heavier construction and more power than other small aircraft and is thoroughly checked after every 50 hours of flying time.

Horse Changes Colors

NORTHPORT — A Northport resident recognized by his neighbors as a strong Tory supporter last week apparently changed horses in mid—stream.

The switch occurred when pranksters caught his Standardbred mare who was pastured in a field near the road and covered her with a blanket in brand new colors.

When the Tory teamster arrived in the field his horse was sporting a cooler that carried the message "Vote Liberal" in large letters.

Fashion Gallery First Try at Apparel Trade

PICTON — There's a new window on Main Street this week following the Thursday opening of the Fashion Gallery, an apparel shop owned by Betty and Herman Zwilling of RR 4, Picton.

Mr. Zwilling, a resident of Prince Edward County for five years says the Fashion Gallery is his first venture in the clothing business.

The store will carry a large selection of top line clothes and familiar fashion labels.

Mr. Zwilling commented on his opening day that the largest part of his stock will be sportswear. Dresses and evening gowns also will be carried.

To celebrate their Picton opening the Zwillings are offering a special draw with a first prize of $200 in merchandise. Second prize is $100 in clothing a third prize a $50 value.

Grier At Seminar

PICTON — Dr. David Grier of the Picton Animal Hospital has returned from a Nutritional Seminar conducted by Animal Nutrition Inc. in Belleville, Illinois.

The seminar, attended by 32 veterinarians from across Canada and the United States dealt with the application of nutritional fundamentals to improve herd health programs.

Dr. Grier, upon his return to Picton, commented that today's animal practitioner no longer is called only when livestock is sick or injured.

He is interested in applied nutrition in efforts to improve productive efficiency.

Driver Charged

MARMORA — A 1974 compact car skidded 540 feet after leaving the pavement causing $3,000 damage in an accident Thursday.

Driver Syde Ashan Raza, 32, of Ottawa, was charged with careless driving by Const. Bill Reid, Madoc O.P.P. following the 5:05 a.m. accident on Fursythe Street.

Raza was taken to Belleville General Hospital where he was treated and released for leg injuries.

Americans Could Learn from Toronto

Extravagant Urban Theorizing of Past Comes Home to Roost in New York City

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Any Canadian who still uses the word "Hogtown" in referring to contemporary and dynamic Toronto needs only look at the fiscal and managerial shambles of New York City to see how well we Torontonians have done in building a modern, highly-livable city.

As this column is being written, New York remains close to bankruptcy, its many essential bills for salaries, paying interest on its huge loans, outlays for capital expenditures, coming due.

In the same city, North America's largest urban school system of about 1,000 schools and about one million students is closed down in this second week of school because the city's 65,000 teachers are out on strike.

And this has happened in a city which says it will have to reduce its staggeringly high municipal work force of 150,000 by about half.

No one should ever call New York by such an opprobium as "Hogtown," that city of sophistication, the theatre and the arts.

But then Toronto has never produced either the crime rate or the urban administrative chaos of New York City.

Perhaps "Disaster City" would be a more accurate expression of New York City these days if it is still in order to identify cities and towns by such epithets.

My Canadian candidate fo the title would be Montreal, seat of the costly and gaudy Olympics. It is a metropolis replete with bad housing, severe pollution problems, begging attention, incipient social unrest while its mayor plays at being a modern circus-building Caesar.

But back to New York City.

To Canada from this city had come the best and brightest of visiting American experts with their packaged seminars on how to manage and how to organize.

During the '50s and '60s Canadian businessmen paid their money and flocked to these New-York based seminars on how to organize business and institutions better.

Peter Drucker the New York journalist who intellectualized management method, was often the resident guru of such conferences when held on both sides of the border.

Meanwhile back in New York, renowned American economist John . Galbraith, (Ontario-born, but who does not come north without the prospect of a very large fee), calmly prognosticated that what New York needed to modernize was large injections of public funds.

The arrogant Galbraith riding on the success of his best-seller The Affluent Society was very confident during the '60s that major allocation of America's financial resources had to be made from selling products he said people were being made to buy, to services he said they truly need.

Well, New York City got that infusion of money, partly from the huge city's tax base, but more so from its huge borrowings in the U.S. money markets which the city cannot for the moment pay back.

Where did a lot of it go? Into the kind of global subsidies and inflated municipal employee salaries not even New York, it would seem, could afford. Tuition at New York University for city residents of a certain date was made free to all.

New York policemen, on admittedly very dangerous personal beats, were earning close to $20,000 with bonuses of $1,000 a year for a second language, Spanish being by far the preferred one.

And civic employees could retire early, even at age 40-45 to be borne at public expense for the rest of what could be long lives.

Where urban government is concerned Americans have a good deal to learn from us. Maybe the time has come to package Canadian urban administrative expertise and send a few seminars of our own down south?

Too Good to Be True

The Liberal party, as it did last time around, has a program of "priorities" for government in the event it is returned.

They are set forth in a 15-page booklet and if every facet of it were implemented, it would make this province a sort of Shangri-la, a veritable paradise of political perfection and good government.

That's just the trouble. For, like all flights of idealism, there is a yawning gap between what is on paper and the reality — between the willingness of the political spirit and the weakness of the party flesh. And let's not forget the bureaucrats who, come wind and tide, government fortune or disaster, stay right there and are said to be the real policy-makers.

Then again, consider the times. The most prosperous this province and its people have known. As was indicated in a Labor Day article by The Globe and Mail's Wilfred List. He noted how employees of a city steel plant would be celebrating the steady improvement in living standards and work conditions during the past 25 years . . . the 13 weeks of vacation every five years (on top of regular holidays in the intervening years) for those with 15 or more years of service . . . wages that have quadrupled in a quarter of a century — an increase that represents almost double the 1950 purchasing power . . . and in addition a vast array of fringe benefits. And there's a picture of one employee who had retired at 47 after 32 years service and with a pension of $457 a month.

This in the province in which working people according to the Liberals' election booklet, "can barely afford to own a house." This in one of the richest regions in the world where a good many working men — and women — are commanding anything from $15,000 to $25,000 and more. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians among them. Under a system which, as one citizen noted wryly has witnessed the "disappearance of merit (for skills acquired, or work done) in terms of training, discipline, and education." But then, that's another story. In any event, "if I were getting $15,000," says the same observer, "I would not want anyone to change it."

All this under existing governments, provincial and federal. And while no one questions the province needs fresh ideas and new thrust it also will benefit from continuity and the experience that the present government can bring to affairs.

The people of Ontario deserve better than to be told the Government should go because it has been in power too long, or that they cannot afford it, or for any of the other spurious reasons that one hears noised abroad in these times.

Something else to bear in mind when considering the claims of the other opposition party, led by a young man whose Scarborough luxury home reportedly was sold not too long ago for somewhere around $150,000. And that is, British Columbia, which has an NDP government, has replaced Ontario as the most expensive housing market in Canada.

Sales figures for the first six months of 1975 show that the average house price in B.C. rose 18 per cent to $49,445 from $41,973. In Ontario, by comparison, the average sale price rose only four per cent in the latest period to $49,060 from $47,032 in 1974.

British Columbia also heads the country in weekly earnings. This suggests two things: the working man in B.C. is doing all right, but then too, so too is inflation climbing — in one of our socialist paradises!

As for those "priorities," aren't they just too good to be true? Set this against a proven record in government, affirmed at the polls, and the need for continuity and stability.

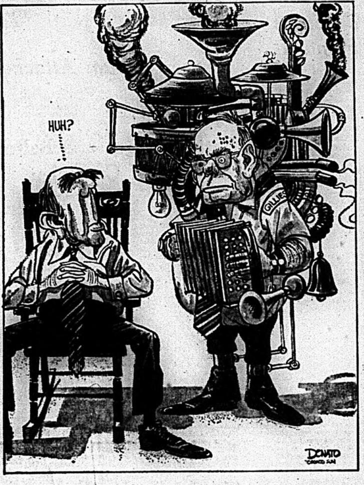
Their 'Waterloo!'

Remember Bobby Riggs and how he met his Waterloo against Billie Jean King.

Riggs, twice U.S. champion (in 1939 and 1941) had claimed that at 55 he could beat the best of today's crop of women players. Margaret Court of Australia accepted the challenge and was promptly beaten. Against Billie Jean though it was a different story and the rest is tennis history.

As someone had observed, Riggs — a master of the baseline game — was planning to "slowball Billie Jean to death," as he had done with Mrs. Court, knowing both women liked lots of pace. Of course it didn't work.

Where this tactic did work though in regulation men's play recently was in Manuel Orantes' stunning win over Jimmy Connors. Deceptive, floating, shots with spin to the baseline and corners kept Connors off balance.



Strain Tells as Voting Day Nears

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Election notes; PC: The government has been showing signs of running scared. The premier's attempted sleight-of-hand in reduction of public debt has already been mentioned here.

Further evidence of straining is in use on free-time telecasts of an alleged Nixon remark that the federal government has bigger things to worry about than the provinces.

One newspaperman put this interpretation on the Liberal leader's remarks. Other reporters present had a different impression of them. The Conservatives know this but nevertheless still use the item.

And it was Premier Davis who was highly critical of Bob Nixon early in the campaign for basing accusations against John Yaremko on newspaper stories.

An annoying habit of Davis and his cabinet ministers is to say that "Ontario has the best education system in Canada" or "The best health care program in the country."

They don't say how it has.

Even cigarette advertising does better than that.

There will have to be a quick session after the election if one election pledge is to be honored in time to do some good.

The pledge is that by the premier to give rent review boards power to take gouging landlords to court under the Unconscionable Transactions Act.

The Act will have to be amended. It now only applies to usurious loans.

Is the party TV style going across? It's good old drum-beating. Putting the hurrah of other days on the tube.

Does the public want this or does it want sound argument?

Along with this it's hard to tell if the premier is scoring in his campaigning. He himself says he is getting a warmer, and generally better, reception than in 1971. But one still hears those growls against him.

Finally the premier says he isn't in the game for its power or glory but to serve the people. Surely he gets something personally out of holding high office. He is human isn't he?

Productivity and Demand Key to Recession's End

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Some people say that it's always darkest before the dawn.

If that's true, the disturbing data on the current economy may signal that the recession has touched bottom and will turn upwards.

That view may be overly optimistic, but there's at least some historical justification for it.

September always marks the beginning of a new cycle in business activity. It's new-car introduction time, a season when retail sales start to rise, a turning-point in steel and other major industries.

This year, however, some economists have serious doubts about the strength of demand in the economy—demand that would have to be present to support an economic recovery.

One key factor is business inventories. When inventories are being cut back, the result is a reduction in demand and, therefore, in output.

Figures for second-quarter 1975 show a decline in the level of inventories in Canadian business. That contrasts with the increases that were recorded in the first three months of this year and the last quarter of 1974.

Quick review of other recently issued indicators of our basic economic condition:

—Unemployment rose in August by one-tenth of a percentage point. Out of every 1,000 people in the Canadian labor force, 73 were jobless last month compared with 53 in August, 1974.

—Foreign trade in merchandise improved considerably in August, although it was still slightly in deficit on an annual basis. But the reason for improvement was not that our exports grew (they continued to decline) but rather that the demand for imports was curtailed sharply by the recession.

—Housing starts rose to an annual rate of 226,100 units in July, the highest level reached in the recovery from the 1974 slump. But the current uptrend in interest rates could make mortgages too expensive and thus squelch the housing recovery.

—Inflation hit a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 13 per cent in July (calculated on the latest three-month period) even before the recent increases in energy prices went into effect. Today's inflation, clearly, is not to be cured by the traditional medicine of recession.

Why has inflation become so stubborn?

Plenty of reasons come readily to mind, but one that is often neglected is the long-term decline in productivity—and corresponding rise in unit labor costs—during the past 30 years.

The trend toward lower output per man-hour is the result, to a considerable extent, of the growth of public-sector employment relative to the Canadian labor force.

There are many notable exceptions, of course, but on the whole the productivity of government labor is low—in part, a consequence of government rules and regulations.

Still, every recession has to have a bottom. Even some of the figures now in for early 1975 may mean that a turning point has already been reached—to be confirmed later by data on today's economic activity.

Productivity, for example, showed some improvement during the first half. Merchandise exports rose slightly in the second quarter. Inflation in the United States, as measured by the August wholesale index, seems to be moderating—and that could help us.

The road to recovery will be bumpy—and its starting point is still shrouded in fog.

LETTERS

The Provincial Hustings

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

A September Santa has appeared in the hustings. Premier Bill Davis, showing signs of panic opted to delve into his blue promise bag and come up with a few more election goodies.

Bill and his Tories have not been under such pressure for many a long day. At last a fed-up public is asking the questions and not getting the answers. A few years ago the Tories strolled through elections making suitable noises here and there. But then the ravages of inflation had not shredded their campaign of credibility.

Today a hard-pressed public cannot understand, nor are likely to put up with a debt that is costing them $2,000,000 a day in interest.

The Davis government, adept at the very thing it accuses the federal government of, irresponsible spending, is apt to be hoist with its own petard.

The old Tory Goodie Bag approach is running into bad times — people are no longer as gullible as they used to be. Locally, Mrs. Jeffrey is carefully staying away from the real "issues" — preferring to stick with such staples as the Bay Bridge and the family farm. But then, she would hardly have much to say on such things as a $2 million dollar a day interest millstone.

Federal PCs in Disarray Espousing Both the Political Left and Right

By RICHARD JACKSON

Ottawa - Strange thing that Toronto Tory MP James Gillies made such a front page splash and prime time air blast simply saying what any number of Conservative parliamentarians have known for a long time.

And that is the total lack of organization and the utter vacuum of leadership in the party.

The Conservatives, lamented James Gillies, not only don't know what they stand for, but don't even know where they are going or what they're trying to achieve.

And as every Conservative in Parliament has known ever since Robert Stanfield took over the leadership the party no longer is conservative in the small "c" sense.

The sense, that is, of encouraging initiative, enterprise, thrift, self-reliance, and of preserving and protecting the values and virtues increasingly scorned as "old," of honesty, integrity and decency.

Instead, reports James Gillies, Conservatives now are nothing more than merely anti-Liberals.

They have no sense of political direction, he goes on, because anyone can be a so-called Conservative these days.

Robert Stanfield has run such a free and open shop that among the Conservatives in the Commons sit a few members who are well to the left of most New Democrats.

And some on the extreme right would feel comfortable with the wing-collared, morning-coated, silk-hatted Richard Bedford Bennett type of old-time Tories.

So nobody— least of all the voters – during the Stanfield years has known where the Conservatives stood.

Except that the left wing of the party, with the organizational support of Conservative headquarters and the "Toronto Connection" of the backroom boys, has been the most vocal.

The result through three elections has been that the Conservatives have campaigned with the image of Tory socialists.

The majority of them — those on the right and those occupying the middle ground—have been unable to change it.

They could oppose Mr. Stanfield only up to a point without open revolt, and they were unable to smash the control the "Toronto Connection" maintained through party headquarters.

This majority of the elected Conservatives campaigned and won, not so much as representatives of the party, but as individual candidates.

In their case it was the man who got the vote, not the party political label.

Confirming the complaints of Conservative James Gillies, not so oddly is Liberal Senator George McIlraith.

But first, who is George McIlraith to be talking ? ?

Well, he has been in Parliament as long as the Dean of the House of Commons, John Diefenbaker. Since 1940

He was C. D. Howe's Parliamentary Secretary.

He served in the cabinet 10 years, first for Prime Minster Pearson, then Pierre Trudeau, before going to the Senate.

And he was, like Dief, a consistent, never—miss winner.

Eleven straight elections.

He looked over James Gillies' lamentations of a Consrvative and said: "The man's right"

"People don't know any longer what a Conservative is – and I don't think the Conservatives know themselves.

"That election last year — we didn't win it — the Conservatives lost it.

"You knew it at the time, you could feel it during the campaign. The voters didn't really want Pierre Trudeau again. But they wanted Robert Stanfield even less. They would have voted for him, and elected the Conservatives if they could have been sure what they were voting for."

So they played it safe, with reluctance, preferring the devil they knew to the devil they couldn't be sure of.

Boundary Shuffle Creates Race in Northumberland

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

BRIGHTON — More than 40,000 people are eligible to vote in the recently restructured provincial electoral district of Northumberland and all the candidates agree, the incumbent, Speaker of the House, and Progressive Conservative, Russell Rowe, has a tough battle to retain his seat in this perennial Tory riding.

With the addition of Port Hope to the riding there are about 3,500 voters whom none of the parties can accurately say are committed to their candidates.

Isobel Kirkpatrick, the Liberal candidate, and John Taylor, the New Democratic party's standard-bearer, are attempting to oust Mr. Rowe from the riding which is bordered by Hastings County on the East, Peterborough County on the North, Durham East on the west and Lake Ontario on the south.

Northumberland is a cross section of the economy with new industrial areas acquired when Port Hope joined the riding. The original agricultural portion still present and the tourist industry attracted by the waterways and rivers.

"It's no longer the old rural riding," said Mr. Rowe, speaking in an interview. "The elected member has to be able to serve the needs of a diverse group of individuals if he is going to do a proper job."

All three of the candidates agree the most recurring issue presented to them during the campaign has been inflation.

Mr. Rowe said the leadership must come from Ottawa in the battle of keeping down the rising cost of living.

"The provinces are not equipped individually to handle the problem that is currently affecting not only Canada and North America but the rest of the world as well," Mr. Rowe said.

He said the PCs have been effectively working to combat inflation by keeping a tight rein on expenditures, restricting the growth of the civil service, and extending the provincial price freeze of oil.

Liberal candidate Isobel Kirkpatrick said she believes the Tories have been spending too much money in the wrong areas.

"People have been complaining to me about the education system saying the large regional school boards are impersonal and not responsive to individuals," Mrs. Kirkpatrick said.

"They have been telling me there is a definite lack of quality in the current system, it is not structured enough, there are too many vague options, and the students are not being prepared to face the realities of life when they leave school."

John Taylor, the NDP contestant, is concerned about the lack of availability of new homes for families in the under $8,000 income bracket.

"Most of the home programs are geared for people earning more than $14,000 per year and this makes it totally irrelevant for Northumberland where the highest industrial salary is about $11,500," Mr. Taylor said.

All three of the candidates voiced opinions on the handling of the recent fishing controversy between the ministry of environment and Brighton fishermen.

The two groups are currently embroiled in a net-size argument with the ministry, which says the bay will soon be depleted of perch if the fishermen keep using the smaller nets. The fishermen claim they can't make enough money with the larger net.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mr. Taylor have both lambasted —what they term is — the province's insensitive handling of the situation.

"The ministry did not make any arrangements to supplement the fishermen's incomes when they were no longer able to earn a living with the larger nets and the men should not have been subjected to having to apply for welfare,' Mr. Taylor said.

"In addition, local businessmen have told me they lost about $3,000 per week during the dispute when the fishermen did not have enough money to spend in town," Mr. Taylor said.

While she said she also did not like the way the fishing dispute was handled Mrs. Kirkpatrick said she is more concerned about the provinces handling of the connecting link through Brighton with the Highway No 2.

"It was supposed to be done this fall but now the ministry is putting in a temporary surface for the winter and will spend a lot of the taxpayers money in the spring re-doing the job," Mrs. Kirkpatrick said.

Russel Rowe said he thinks he will hold on to his seat while Isobel Kirkpatrick hopes the people are ready for a housecleaning. John Taylor said he thinks it's important for the NDP to take any opportunity to talk with the people and said he would not be very disappointed if he lost the election as long as his party's share of the vote increased.

Riding Size Challenge to Price

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

ACTINOLITE — The rural northern townships of Quinte country have always been a challenge to the electoral process.

But the demands of organizing remote communities for election day haven't daunted Lloyd Price, returning officer here since 1971.

It's just as well. For in this provincial election the problems remain the same. They're just more numerous.

The reason: This year Mr. Price suddenly found himself in charge of the biggest electoral territory in southern Ontario — the riding of Hastings-Peterborough.

It sprawls over 5,000 square miles from Deseronto to northwest of Peterborough, from the Bay of Quinte almost to Algonquin Park.

The kingsize constituency was created earlier this year when redistribution grafted 10 townships in Peterborough riding onto adjoining Hastings.

"It's a heck of a big area — and communications were the first problem to solve," says Mr. Price.

The population of the new riding is not relative to its size — there are an estimated 31,000 eligible voters, Mr. Price estimates.

This means voters often have to be contacted in near-isolated areas by Mr. Price's enumerators who compile the voting list.

In recent years, the picturesque parts of the riding has drawn people seeking the peaceful life. More older citizens are retiring even onto islands on the lakes that dot the region.

To get them officially registered, Mr. Price has two enumerators in each poll.

But there is much more. The ballot which the voter casts is only the tip of the paperwork iceberg involved in assembling the official election mechanism in a riding. There are a variety of forms and instructions to be despatched to the polls. Enumerators and polling officers have to be called in to be acquainted with the procedures and rules of the entire election process.

As a postal area, Hastings-Peterborough laps over into several post office administrative jurisdictions. Sometimes it takes days for instructions to be mailed, replies to be received.

In one distant poll at the northeast end of the constituency mail has to go through Belleville, on to Pembroke, back to Renfrew and finally on to Combermere for rural delivery.

As a result telephone contact has been stepped up.

"We've made a tremendous number of calls — and we've a lot of calls coming in," says Mr. Price.

Timing of the election also created some problems. It was called when many people were on holiday. It's a short campaign, and electoral organization has been "compressed" into fewer available work days.

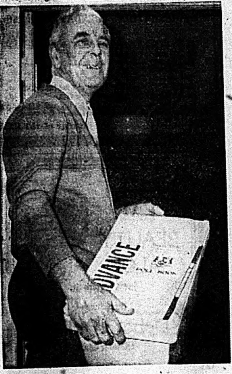
But Mr. Price has a veteran's experience of the election process from both political and impartial views. He served as reeve of Grimsthorpe and Elzivir Township, was Hastings County warden in 1958 and East Hastings MPP in 1958-59. Later he became township clerk-treasurer.

Free Rides to Polls

If transportation is a problem on Election Day — Sept. 18, all committee rooms for candidates in Quinte, Hastings, Peterborough and Prince Edward-Lennox County have car services readily available by just a telephone call to their head-quarters.

The transportation to the poll and home is provided free of charge and at least two cars are available at every poll station for this service.

The Liberal headquarters in Quinte with candidate Hugh O'Neil is also offering baby-sitting.



Guiding the Riding

As district returning officer Lloyd Price of Actinolite has the responsibility of guiding the electoral process for the Sept. 18 provincial elections in Hastings—Peterborough. As such he also has charge of the most widely scattered constituency in southern Ontario — — a fact that causes some communication problems.

Nine Get Medallions

Examinations for Bronze Medallions were held recently at Quinte Kiwanis Pool and nine candidates between the ages of 14 - 37 passed the final three-hour examination. The course involved five hours of practice every week for two months.

The final examination was given by Michael Pollock, a Royal Life Saving Society Canada Examiner.

The bronze medallion qualifies swimmers as lifeguards when they reach the age of 17.

Medallion holders are Ross Rae, Leslie Howard, Tom Bailey, Michael P. Papper, Steve Garrow, Brian Ormond, Jill McCreary, Ericka Burrows and Carolyn Fisher.

The course will be offered again this fall. Registration at the pool will be held Sept. 20 from 10 a.m. until 2. Cost is $7 plus textbook and some previous swimming experience is essential.

STAFF CUTS HURT EVERYBODY

If you have a relative, friend or neighbor in a hospital, nursing home, or other health care institution, then there's something you should know. Staff cuts hurt everybody. They place a heavier burden on nursing staff, technologists, dietary and housekeeping staff. This hurts you. But most of all, staff cuts hurt your loved ones who need the best possible health care.
Expenses should be reduced. But let's cut out needless frills, not vital services.
The Service Employees International Union realizes that staff cuts hurt everybody. That's why we need your help. Write to your newspaper. Write to your Member of Parliament. Insist on legislation against hospital staff cuts. Remember, the S.E.I.U. needs your help for better health care.

Veteran Political Organizer, Roy Jeffrey Likes Campaigning

Roy Jeffrey, who is married to Progressive Conservative candidate Robin Jeffrey, has a very helpful attitude towards his wife's bid for a seat in the provincial legislature.

"I think campaigning is fun!" he says enthusiastically.

"My job is selling (Roy is eastern and northern Ontario manager for a pharmeceutical firm) and it's almost the same sort of thing.

"Politicians have to sell themselves to the public."

A veteran political organizer, Roy has managed Robin Jeffrey's last three campaigns but the pressures of business and extra demands of a provincial election have kept him from acting as manager in this campaign.

"I've attended a number of evening functions and appeared with Robin on the week-ends but the economy isn't what it should be and its been a tough year generally. I have to look after my business and Robin needs a full-time manager."

In spite of that, Roy Jeffrey admits to being "caught up" in the campaign.

"It's inevitable even though this isn't a new experience for me.

"I don't know that I could keep up the pace my wife goes at, though. You have to be really strong to do that."

Born and raised near Wallbridge, Roy Jeffrey attended SS 23 and Belleville Collegiate Institute followed by Guelph University where he graduated in honors science.

As a senior he met Robin who was then a freshman.

"We had a long drawn-out romance," he says.

Robin worked as a county home economist until Roy's business brought him back to Belleville where the Jeffreys and later daughter Alison settled into a Dufferin Street bungalow which, ironically, belonged to a man who was once a New Democratic Party candidate in the area.

A Sunday School teacher for 16 years, Roy is also interested in golf, swimming and, with Robin, bridge.

The Jeffreys share garden work — "Robin's main hobby" — where she looks after flowers and vegetables and he prunes and cuts the grass.

"We're basically a very close family," Roy says, adding that closeness has probably been a boon to Robin in this pressured period.

"I think it would be an impossible situation if we both weren't deeply involved in politics," he says, adding that he's held every office in the local Progressive Conservative Association.

"We discussed this move well — it has to be the sort of thing everyone agrees on. A candidate needs moral support."

Roy believes that since Robin has been a full-time mayor, "the family is well prepared for the future."

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Swan

Swan — Moore

Calvary Baptist Church in Oshawa was the setting for the August 9 wedding uniting Gloria Moore and Bruce Harry Swan in marriage. Rev. A.H. Larson officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore of Oshawa and the groom is the son of Gerald Swan of Plainfield and the late Keitha May Swan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a semi empire-waisted gown with a mandarin neckline, and a front and back bodice featuring lace and seed pearls.The full skirt with unattached train was accented with appliqued lace on the ruffled hemline. A two-tiered veil was caught by a crown of lace and seed pearls, and the bouquet was a nosegay of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Eleanor Thiessen of Winnipeg, Manitoba, was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Barb Nelson of St. Catharines, Audrey Bulmer of Oshawa, the sister of the groom and Gayle Wires of West Hill, the cousin of the bride. Flower girl was Susan Moore, the bride's niece.

The groom's best man was Terry Cretney, and the ushers were Gordon Wires, Roland Moore, the bride's brother, and Donald Clare, the groom's nephew.

After a reception at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, the bride and groom travelled to Quebec. They now live in Scarborough.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Blaind, R. R. 2, Consecon are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Janice Rose to Kenneth Mikel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Mikel, of R. R. 2, Consecon. The wedding will take place Saturday, October 18 at 2 p.m. in Holy Rosary Church, Belleville.

Engagement

Mr .and Mrs. Jack Finkle wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Sally to Bernard Coughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coughlin. The marriage will take place on Saturday, September 20, at 1:00 p.m. at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel.

50th Wedding Anniversary

"Canada is God's country," say two United States citizens who spend the greater part of every year at Crowe Lake near Marmora and who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary there Wednesday.

"We have been coming here for 47 years and just love it. We have more friends here than at home," Perrow and Helen Harvey said Sunday as they prepared to welcome their neighbors on the lake and friends from a distance to Open House at their cottage.

Joining with them for the celebration is their daughter Betty of Chicago. Another daughter, Maria Artwell of Oakdale, Connecticut, was unable to be present, but two friends whom the Harveys regard as family, Ruth Nightingale of Canandagua, N.Y. and Natalie Ross of Chicago, were on hand. There are three grandchildren.

The Harveys generally leave for their other home in Largo, Florida, early in October. "We follow the geese south" Perrow Harvey says. "The only reason we didn't retire in Canada is the cold winters. But apart from that, we think Canada is a great country".

Before he retired, Perrow Harvey was in charge of electrical maintenance at Oberlein College for 21 years and 23 years on the Oberlein police force before that. His hobby is fishing and his prize catch, a 30-pound muskie which he caught in Crowe Lake, is mounted and on display in their cottage living room.

Helen Harvey (nee Williams) was teaching school in Durham, Carolina, when the two met. They moved to Ohio to live, after their marriage at his home on September 10, 1925.

Mrs. Harvey was born in China, daughter of Congregationalist missionaries. She was three years old when her father was killed there during the Boxer rebellion. Mrs. Williams brought their three children home to the U.S.A but later she and the oldest girl returned to China as missionaries.

Helen Harvey enjoys painting, all kinds of handiwork and putting models together. One of her best models, a replica of the U.S. Constitution, took her three years to complete.

"I can't believe 50 years have gone by," Mrs. Harvey said as they recalled their years together. "Of course we have had our ups and downs like everyone else, but on the whole we got along very well together and enjoy doing the same things," she added.

Bring on the Dancing Girls!

SALT LAKE CITY — Bud Slagle of Salt Lake City enjoys bedside manner of "Aspasia" an amateur belly dancer whose real name is Sue Sainsbury. Slagle's wife Colleen arranged the entertainment for her husband who has been confined to a hospital bed since July 24 with plebitis condition. "Every time we came for a visit and asked if there was anything we could bring him he would say 'Just bring me some dancing girls,' so we decided to comply," said his wife. Slagle, 52, father of five daughters, one of whom works as a nurse on his floor, and a son, reacted to the gyrations of the 25-year-old secretary-dancer with "Whoo Whoo". Aspasia performed for 10 minutes in a surprise visit to LDS Hospital Tuesday night. (AP Wirephoto)

Better Business Bureau Advises Choose Freezer Plan Carefully

TORONTO (CP) — Freezer-food plans will provide a saving to the consumer only over a period of years and if instructions are followed to the letter warns the Better Business Bureau of Canada (BBB).

The bureau, in issuing a new consumer information folder, explains what to look for in a freezer-food combination plan. It covers such topics as the necessity of identifying consumers' requirements; membership fees in a freezer food plan; the freezer unit; financing the plan and the necessity of understanding the contracts before signing up.

The brochure also suggests the type and amount of meat the consumer should receive for his investment and a 13-point checklist to consider before signing a contract.

The BBB suggests that a family investing in such a plan know the future prices of purchases in advance to help budget planning.

"But," said a bureau spokesman, "do not expect to save hundreds of dollars within a few months.

"Savings can only be realized if you are in a position to use all items provided under the plan. In some cases, this involves all grocery items—complete from meat to detergent products."

The bureau also noted that buying a freezer under a plan is no different from buying a freezer from a regular retail outlet.

A plan provides a service policy for the frezer and employs trained personnel to do any necessary repairs," the be."

"As with any warranty, read the small print carefully and find out what the limitations of the coverage may be."

The brochure says the price per pound of meat is based on the purchase of a side, half or quarter of beef.

This bulk purchase means that the price per pound is the same for less desirable cuts as it is for the better cuts, BBB reports. "Meat is sold by its hanging weight—the weight of the dressed carcass—but there is a certain amount of loss after the carcass is trimmed and boned for home use."

Tel Difference

TORONTO (CP) — Infants are born with the skill to recognize the difference in sounds of vowels and consonants, psychologist Sandra Trehub says. However, this skill deteriorates by the time children reached kindergarten.

Keep Maiden Name

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba Human Rights Commissioner Harry Moats said the practice of a woman adopting her husband's surname after marriage is "purely a matter of custom" and is not required by provincial law. A wife's maiden name remained her legal name if she continued to use it.

Ann Landers

Capital K for Class

Dear Ann Landers: You say "love the Boston accent"—that it "has class with a capital K." Tell me please, exactly what IS a Boston accent?

Do you mean the way Elliot Richardson talks, or Ted Kennedy? They don't sound in the least alike. Have you actually listened to the typical man on the street in Boston? I doubt it. It's revolting. Worse than Brooklyn or the Bronx.

Your humble stance gets to me. Surely you don't believe you must look to Boston for superb education! The late Adlai Stevenson was in a class with Sir Winston Churchill. Moreover, your own two senators, Charles Percy and Adlai III, speak very well indeed. Please, Ann, open your ears and LISTEN.—Beantown, Bah!

Dear Bah: I agree there ain't no flies on Sens. Percy or Stevenson but I'm hopelessly hooked on the Boston sound—whatever it is. I happen to like the way Elliot Richardson speaks and also Ted Kennedy. (He sounds like Jack.) Mayor Kevin White's way with the language sends me into orbit. So do me something—that's MY hang-up.

Dear Ann Landers: After many years of marriage I find I can't live with my husband any longer. He was picked up by the police for indecent exposure shortly after we returned from our honeymoon. I nearly died of shock. Couldn't believe it. The judge let him off with a fine and ordered him to get psychiatric treatment.

He went to a psychiatrist twice and quit.

It seems the laws are very lax when it comes to this sort of thing. My husband has been arrested as a Peeping Tom, for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, exposing himself in a public park—just name it and he's done it. Of course all these arrests have appeared in the papers and I have been humiliated so many times I can't count them.

His family is mad at me because they say he is sick (which he is) and it's partly my fault for not getting him to a doctor. How can you make a person go to a doctor if he doesn't want to?

I'll be 50 next month and I want to live my remaining years in peace. I'm not thinking of remarriage, Ann, just a life free from the agony that has plagued me. Even our priest says I should get a legal separation. What do you say?—Pensacola Woman.

Dear Woman: Listen to your priest. Maybe when you leave your husband he'll get the help he so desperately needs. Let's hope so.

Dear Ann Landers: I recently married a divorced man who has three young children. He tried to get custody but his wife fought it in court and won. The divorce laws in this country are a disgrace. Unless a woman is a prostitute or a dope addict she can keep her children even though the father is the superior parent.

My problem is this: What should his children call me? The oldest one is 10, the youngest five. I prefer my first name. My husband says it's not respectful and has suggested "Aunt May" or "Mama May." What's your preference?—Stumped

Dear Stumped: You aren't their aunt, so scratch that one. "Mama May" is all right if they want to, so why not leave it to them? I'd opt for May if I were you.

No Parole for Morgentaler

OTTAWA (CP) — The national parole board has refused a request for parole from Dr. Henry Morgentaler who is serving an 18-month sentence for performing an illegal abortion, a spokesman confirmed today.

A five-man board rejected the request because " Dr. Morgentaler is also facing several other charges and because of his performance while he has been in the institution," the spokesman said.

The 53-year-old Montreal doctor entered jail March 26 and was eligible for parole Sept. 29.

"The board refused parole after carefully analysing the case and concluding his performance during incarceration did not meet accepted criteria," board vice-chairman Claude Bouchard said Monday in a prepared statement.

Five parole board commissioners judged Dr. Morgentaler's application although two commissioners usually do the job. But the procedure is not uncommon, the spokesman said.

Mr. Bouchard said the decision follows a 'detailed investigation with the people responsible in the institution where he is incarcerated." Details of parole investigations are not made public.

Dr. Morgentaler was taken to hospital from the Waterloo, Que., detention centre on June 15, three hours after he had been placed naked in an isolation cell. He was put in the cell after six to eight guards ordered him to strip.

A statement from the Quebec justice department alleged the doctor insulted supervisors at the minimum security detention centre by "throwing his underwear" in the face of a prison official. Dr. Morgantaler received treatment for a mild heart attack and then entered a convalescent home in suburban Montreal where he is still serving his sentence.

He is eligible to apply for a review of his parole application in six months, the parole board spokesman said. In July Dr. Morgentaler asked Prime Minister Trudeau in a letter for an unconditional pardon.

The doctor began his jail sentence after the Quebec Appeal Court and the Supreme Court of Canada reversed a jury acquittal in an abortion trial. He has been acquitted by a jury on a second illegal abortion charge. The Crown has indicated it will again appeal.

The Quebec justice department has several other charges of illegal abortion pending against Dr. Morgentaler.

Men Get Elegant Offices, Women Executives Make Do

TORONTO (CP) — A male boss is more likely to give an elegant office to his private secretary than to a woman executive, says a Toronto office furniture dealer.

Harvey Meighen, sales manager of Leif Jacobson Ltd., said: "The men have the budgets so they do their own offices, then their secretaries' offices—because that's an extension of their own status and ego."

Dianne Shore, president of her own industrial designing company, agrees.

After 13 years in the business, she now is doing her first office for a woman executive. She's Josephine Kotliar, vice-president of Gendron Inc., makers of baby carriages and other equipment for children.

"Offices are games,' Mrs. Kotliar said. "It's time women learned what men have known instinctively—if you don't look successful people worry about your product."

A young male executive with a glass and chrome office in the Toronto-Dominion Centre admitted that his female assistant didn't do well for office space.

"I had the budget, so I spent it all on my space," he said.

Dianne Shore has an impressive office for herself.

"I need a good environment to instill pride in my job and staff," she said.

"But almost as important is the old status thing. If my office looks great, clients feel I must be doing well, and if I'm doing well, it follows I can produce.

"It also works from a psychological point of view. My clients are nearly always male. They walk in here and see my rosewood credenza and desk, and office suite which cost around $10,000 to install properly, and they just say, 'That's what I want for my place.' "

She said she can offer an office fo rabout $3,000 with hanging plants and a leather covered desk.

"Just give me a telephone; I could work in a hovel," said Laura Sabia, chairman of the Ontario Advisory Council on the Status of Women.

"I couldn't care less about my surroundings. I just told my assistant that I wanted one strong color. We decided on rosy pink so I got it."

Shake-splitting Widow Runs Own Mill

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — The 52-year-old widow who runs a shake mill took another slug from her bottle of beer.

"I had a heck of a time getting into the country. Immigration said it was very irregular for a woman to run a mill. They thought I'd be a welfare case."

March Morris laughed. It was hot. She was wearing what she usually wears in summer—a bra and short pants. She pulled back the bra strap to show off her tan.

"There's an old saying, if you get a brown back in the summer, you don't get a cold in the winter. In the winter I wear long johns and coveralls and eight-inch boots. I just wear old clothes—and keep putting them on. I like summer; you don't take as long to dress in the morning."

She took a long drag on her cigarette and butted it.

"My body's strong. My mother's 81 and she still spades her own garden every year."

Shaker March came to this community in the Stillwater district 100 miles northwest of Vancouver three years ago with her partner, Jim Hill, and her nephew. She owns the company, employs six men and a woman.

The mill, with its rusty beehive burner and cluster of old cars, trailers and trucks, looks out on the sprawling fingers of Lois Lake that is thrust against the backdrop of the Malaspina Mountains.

The bunkhouse was skidded down the road from an old construction site and it lost a few boards in the process. They haven't been replaced.

It has two apartments inside, a propane stove, a refrigerator and a converted oil drum for winter heating.

"If someone paid for my apartment in town and bought my groceries, I wouldn't change," said March, whose specialty is to make ridge cap shakes which are joined and overlapped alternately to make a leak-proof seal for the roof ridge.

"I split shakes and run the ridge saw. I used to go out in the woods and make blocks. I can be mighty tired at night but I'm still up at daybreak."

She has been in the shake business 20 years. She and her husband split shakes together in a mill until he died. March continued to work as a shake cutter but cedar became harder to get in Washington State and their buyer suggested emigrating to Canada.

She picks up the froe and maul used to split shakes and flexes her biceps. March grew up on a farm and there were no brothers to do the heavy work.

"I had to learn to split wood and haul hay. I can still pick up 100 pounds and walk away with it. I used to have to fight to keep my weight down. Now I work it off."

PROCLAMATION

ARTHRITIS MONTH

WHEREAS the Ontario Division of The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is campaigning through its various branches and committees to extend its program of research and to develop a comprehensive arthritis control program; and WHEREAS arthritis is anybody's illness and a root cause of poverty, and

WHEREAS the suffering of those afflicted in our community contributes to the loss of livelihood and thus weighs heavily upon our local business and industry through lost production, wages and a loss of purchasing power;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, J. Ben Corke, Mayor of Belleville, do hereby proclaim September to be "Arthritis Month". I urge our citizens to co-operate whole-heartedly with the Ontario Division of The Arthritis Society in learning more about arthritis and the objectives of the Society.

Given under my hand and seal this 10th day of September, 1975.

Romanian Province Still Source of Soviet Critics

BUCHAREST (Reuter) — Romanian and Soviet critics have clashed in a literary row over Romanian attempts to refurbish national images from the Second World War.

At issue is a "non-hero," Marshal Ion Antonescu, Romania's wartime dictator, and a "non-subject," Bessarabia, a long-disputed province which Romania was forced to cede to the Soviet Union in 1947.

Both subjects have been sensitive for years. Marshal Antonescu rarely was mentioned after his execution as a traitor in 1946, and Bessarabia, still an angry memory with Romanians, is an issue the Soviet Union prefers to have forgotten.

The subjects have meshed in an unusual Romanian novel which has stirred attention because of its sympathetic treatment of Marshal Antonescu and quickly become a best-seller.

The novel,, Delirium (Delirul), by Martin Preda, a prominent Romanian establishment writer, falls short of rehabilitating Marshal Antonescu. But it shows him as a strong personality who tried to serve his country, and was caught up by forces and events beyond his control.

The book immediately was pounced on by Literaturnaya Gazeta, the authoritative Soviet literary newspaper, which called it "contradictory" and "idealistic," and accused Preda of trying to whitewash Marshal Antonescu's guilt.

"By presenting Antonescu as a tragic figure, Preda makes all his lawless acts seem tragic accidents, or necessary acts, thus falsifying the true character of one of the Fascist chiefs, who was hanged as a war criminal," the Soviet paper said.

The Russian attack quickly was challenged by Literaturnaya Gazeta's Romanian counterpart, Romania Literara.

The Romanian weekly hit out at the Russians for "didactic and omniscient superiority" and said they were attempting to teach Preda how to write.

Alluding to other examples of Soviet interference, the magazine asked how Literaturnaya Gazeta could engage in such "unacceptable intervention."

Although Delirium has been criticized in Romania also—one local critic called it "naive and dilettantish'—the book could not have been published in Bucharest without high-level approval. Bucharest reviews praised the author for his courage.

is in line with Romanian Communist party policy, which stresses nationalism, Romanian history, and national rather than international Communist interests.

The policy is designed to raise patriotic feelings and to assert Romanian independence from the Soviet Union. President Nicolae Ceausescu has followed a highly individualistic course within the Soviet bloc for 10 years, often ranging himself against Kremlin policies.

Peace River Area Is Good for Corn

BROOKS, Alta. (CP) — Steve Molnar has been working mostly on potatoes lately, but he knows a lot about corn too.

Mr. Molnar is an 18-year veteran in charge of vegetables and special crops at the Alberta horticultural research station in this community 110 miles southeast of Calgary. Research conducted at the station has helped expand the area where corn can be grown in Alberta.

Mr. Molnar said that where various crops can be grown depends on what the experts call heat units—derived from a complicated formula taking into account such factors as day and night temperatures and the length of the crop year.

Heat units dictate that the Medicine Hat area of southeastern Alberta is best for growing corn, cucumbers, tomatoes, onions, peppers and muskmelons. The Strathmore area, 30 miles east of Calgary, is better for leaf crops such as lettuce, celery, spinach, cabbage and cauliflower.

With carrots, parsnips and rutabaga it doesn't much matter. They grow practically anywhere.

The best bets for good corn are the Peace River Valley in northwestern Alberta, where the heat units are high, or the Mdicine Hat district.

Mr. Molnar said there are two things to look for when looking for good eating corn.

The corn has to be picked at the ideal stage of ripening, when the kernels are full but still tender.

"Try to force your fingernail in. If you can do it easily and still have a flexible product the kernel hasn't hardened."

If possible, the corn should be harvested early in the morning. In the heat of the day the sugar in a kernel turns into starch and you don't have sweet corn anymore.

Once harvested, corn should be cooked quickly. It should be blanched in boiling water because cool water will turn sugar into starch.

But Mr. Molnar is more concerned with the recent development of something called silage corn.

"On our native prairie grasses you need 40 or 45 acres to run one head of grown cattle. With silage corn, which is a result of our studies and promotion, you can produce enough feed on two to 2½ acres to feed the same cattle for a full year."

HOW YOUR COOLING SYSTEM CAN AFFECT THE PERFORMANCE OF YOUR ENGINE.

First the bad news.

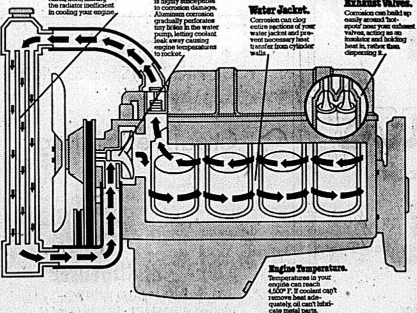
Depending on the size of your engine, there are between 5,000 and 7,000 square inches of bare metal inside your cooling system—metals like steel, cast iron, copper, brass and solder—even aluminum, which is being used increasingly in cooling systems, especially in imported cars.

All of these metals are susceptible to corrosion.

This type of corrosion can easily build up without your even knowing. So it could be affecting the performance of your engine, right now.

It can build up near your exhaust valves, clog your water jacket, plug your radiator and even eat holes in your aluminum water pump or your aluminum cylinder heads.

Any of these corrosion build-ups can cause dangerous engine over-heating and lead to costly repairs.



Radiator. Corrosive sediment can plug tiny radiator tubes, here, making the radiator inefficient in cooling your engine.

Water Pump. Many people don't know it, but aluminum is highly susceptible to corrosion damage. Aluminum corrosion gradually perforates tiny holes in the water pump, letting coolant leak away causing engine temperatures to rocket.

Water Jacket. Corrosion can clog entire sections of your water jacket and prevent necessary heat transfer from cylinder walls.

Exhaust Valves. Corrosion can build up easily around 'hot-spots' near your exhaust valves, acting as an insulator and holding heat in, rather than dispersing it.

Engine Temperature. Temperatures in your engine can reach 4,500° F. If coolant can't remove heat adequately, oil can't lubricate metal parts. Engine can suffer serious damage.

Now the good news.

PRESTONE II prevents cooling system corrosion. In fact, PRESTONE II is the only anti-freeze and summer coolant which contains the patented Silicone/Silicate formula to protect against this corrosion.

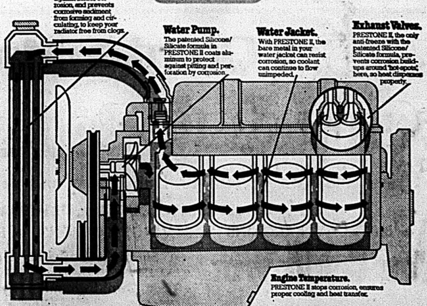
This unique Silicone/Silicate formula actually bonds itself to every square inch of bare metal inside your cooling system.

It forms a tough protective film over the metal which effectively resists corrosion all year round, to help maintain maximum engine performance.

To ensure the fullest possible protection against corrosion and the expensive damage it can cause, install a fresh fill of PRESTONE II every year.

FLUSH & FILL KIT

To back flush your cooling system at home, quickly and professionally, look for the economical Prestone Flush & Fill Kit, wherever PRESTONE II is displayed.



Radiator. PRESTONE II protects against solder corrosion, and prevents corrosive sediment from forming and circulating, to keep your radiator free from clogs.

Water Pump. The patented Silicone/Silicate formula in PRESTONE II coats aluminum to protect against pitting and perforation by corrosion.

Water Jacket. With PRESTONE II, the bare metal in your water jacket can resist corrosion, so coolant can continue to flow unimpeded.

Exhaust Valves. PRESTONE II, the only anti-freeze with the patented Silicone/Silicate formula, prevents corrosion build-ups around 'hot-spots', here, so heat disperses properly.

Engine Temperature. PRESTONE II stops corrosion, ensures proper cooling and heat transfer.

PRESTONE II's unique Silicone/Silicate formula protects every square inch of metal inside your cooling system.

Workers Strike Today

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) — Officials of Spruce Falls Power and Paper Co. said Thursday the company has been informed that 1,400 workers plan to go on strike at 3 p.m. today following the breakdown of negotiations Thursday.

However, union negotiators refused to comment Thursday on possible strike action. The negotiators plan to hold a news conference today to discuss negotiations.

Locals 89 and 256, Canadian Paperworkers Union (CPU), and Local 1149, International Brotherhoood of Electrical Workers, are involved.

The workers, whose contract expired April 30, have been in a legal position to strike since Aug. 30 in this community 80 miles northwest of Timmins.

A strike at the plant would close the second largest paper mill in Canada and the single biggest employer in Kapuskasing.

Kemptville Woman Acquitted

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Marjorie Graham, 38, of Kemptville, Ont., was acquitted on a charge of murder at a trial in Ontario Supreme Court Thursday by a jury of seven men and five women which deliberated about three hours.

Mrs. Graham had been charged with murder punishable by life imprisonment in the shot-gun slaying of Norman Hart, 36, also of Kemptville, last July 30.

Mrs. Graham had testified that Hart, with whom she had lived for three years, had beaten her many times and on the evening of his death had pounded her head against a wall.

She said she did not recall shooting Hart nor how she came into possession of the gun.

She testified that all she remembered was standing in the living room of the Hart residence with a shotgun in her hands and hearing "a loud bang."

THE WORRY WART

Thatcher Seeks Wider Approval

LONDON (CP) — Opposition Leader Margaret Thatcher leaves Saturday for the United States and Canada, her most ambitious venture so far to establish her credentials in international circles.

When she became Conservative party leader six months ago, in an upset victory that ousted former prime minister Edward Heath, even supporters expressed skepticism over her awareness of world issues.

Since then she has worked hard to dispel such misgivings, making separate trips to Luxembourg, France and West Germany.

Aides say she is aware that, aside from the burst of publicity that surrounded the novelty of a woman being chosen as a possible British prime minister, she is not well known in North America.

Thus she has set for herself a gruelling round of talks with U.S. and Canadian leaders, a series of major speeches and television and press interviews.

In her first visit to Canada she will confer Sept. 23 with Prime Minister Trudeau, whom she met here last March during his London visit.

A spokesman said the two will discuss a wide range of world issues, dwelling particularly on economic affairs.

The following day she will record a television news conference, meet Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield and then depart for Toronto where she addresses an Empire Club luncheon Sept. 25. She returns home that evening after meetings with Lieutenant-Governor Pauline McGibbon and Premier Davis of Ontario.

In the U.S., during Sept. 13-22, she will meet President Ford, State Secretarry Kissinger, United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, and deliver speeches at the Pilgrim Club, New York, and the National Press Club, Washington.

Mrs. Thatcher, 49, is the daughter of a Lincolnshire grocer who dabbed in local politics. A bright student, she got most of her education through scholarships, becoming a research chemist and then, studying at night, a lawyer.

Critics chide her for dropping her country accent in favor of more fashionable tones acquired at Oxford University, but she makes no apology for her right-leaning position toward middle-class values. She supports "workers, not shirkers," and bitterly attacks the present Labor government's policies toward what she terms state control of every aspect of British life.

Province to Award $500 Tax Rebates

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — Ontario will provide tax rebates of up to $500 for home purchasers if the federal government does not act within 30 days to exempt residential mortgage interest rates from the effect of federally-directed higher interest rates, Premier William Davis pledged Thursday night.

The Progressive Conservative leader made the promise in a speech to about 1,000 persons at a rally here as he campaigned toward the Sept. 18 provincial election.

In his hardest-hitting speach of the campaign so far, the premier also announced a two-year moratorium on salary increases for members of the legislature, restated the party's 1971 position that there would be no further government aid for separate and private schools beyond Grade 10 and said the government's land speculation tax would be kept intact.

". . . Remember that a vote for (Opposition Leader Robert) Nixon is a vote for the land speculators," Mr. Davis said.

The premier said the action of the Bank of Canada Sept. 2 in boosting its lending rate to the chartered banks to nine per cent from 8¼ per cent will result in forcing mortgage interest rates up to 12 per cent.

He called on the federal government last week to insulate home mortgages from this effect but said Thursday night he had received no response.

"As I said at the time, this was a severe blow to our housing industry, and one that would cost jobs and force more people out of the housing market," he said here.

Under the new provincial tax rebate scheme for home purchasers, Mr. Davis estimated that the program would encourage the construction and sale of 10,000 additional homes next year at a cost to the Ontario treasury of 25 million in a full year.

He said the proposal, "if we are forced to act," is to extend tax relief to present and prospective home owners through a credit which would offset three-quarters of the mortgage interest costs which are above 10¼ per cent.

"Such tax relief would be allowed to a maximum $500 annually and would apply only to principal residences," Mr. Davis said.

He gave some examples:

A person paying 11.5 per cent on a $20,000 mortgage would get $187 a year in tax rebates and for a person with a $30,000 mortgage at an interest rate of 12¼ per cent a credit of $460 would be claimed.

The premier charged that the housing market in the province would be unduly influenced "by a deliberate federal policy of withdrawing support from the housing industry and pushing up mortgage rates."

Border Burglar Alarm Will Not Stop Terror

WASHINGTON (CP) — A noted U.S. criminologist said Thursday that no "450-mile-long burglar alarm" is going to stop a dedicated terrorist from crossing the Canadian border in either direction.

Arnold Trebach of American University said in an interview: "If a man wants to take the risks, there is almost no border he cannot cross."

He was commenting on reports that the U.S. plans to use an array of space-age devices to form a 450-mile-long security screen stretching from Buffalo, N.Y., to Derby Line, Vt., next summer.

Part of the screen is reported to be an increased number of electronic sensors buried in the undergrowth to detect movement in remote areas.

The U.S. and Canada are co-operating on security measures in connection with the Montreal Olympic Games next July and the upsurge of cross-border traffic expected in conjunction with the height of U.S. bicentennial celebrations.

Trebach is program chairman for the annual meeting of the American Society of Criminologists, scheduled for Toronto next month. One subject on the agenda is the changing face of international terrorism.

Trebach said that since terrorists seldom move around in platoon strength, the sensors would have to be designed to detect individual movement to be effective. Those assigned to monitor such devices would be kept busy chasing down herds of deer or families of skunks and porcupines.

It would make more sense, he said, to gather inside information of terrorist movement and intentions with the use of computers.

Gillespie Untangles Aircraft Problems

OTTAWA (CP) — Another step has been taken in the tangled billion-dollar job of providing needed aircraft for the military in a manner that best boosts Canadian industry.

Industry Minister Alastair Gillespie said this week that a committee investigating Canadian industrial in proposed defence purchases has finished its work.

He said the cabinet will be studying some recommendations that will deal with the need for a new long-range patrol aircraft (LRPA), a new interceptor and the government desire to redesign the aircraft industry.

The committee was created after cabinet decided this summer it could make no decision on the multi-million dollar LRPA replacement without more information on possible industrial benefits.

The proposals of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and The Boeing Co. to provide LRPA replacements were due to expire Aug. 2 but now have been extended to Dec. 2. Industry sources say that the Lockheed price tag has increased from about $700 million as a result of the extension.

The cabinet narrowed its LRPA selection down to one of three submitted by Lockheed and the Boeing proposal. It rejected the so-called Phoenix proposal under which the DHC-7 short takeoff and landing (STOL) aircraft of the government-owned de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. would be used in conjunction with a reduced number of LRPA's for coastal patrol.

Mr. Gillespie said in an interview the interdepartmental committee headed by an official of his department received Canadian-benefit submissions from U.S. companies which want to supply either LRPA or interceptors to the military.

GET PERMANENT PROTECTION WITH AN ANNUAL CHANGE.

Many people think a modern coolant can stay in the cooling system permanently– or at least two or three years.
It's true that a coolant will give you anti-freeze protection year after year, as long as it isn't diluted, and your cooling system doesn't leak.
But it won't protect against corrosion that long.
Exhaust gases can escape through a leaky cylinder-head gasket into the cooling system. When that happens, the gases turn to acids, which weaken rust inhibitors and hasten corrosion of metal parts.
For this reason, you should never leave your coolant in the cooling system too long–even when it's PRESTONE II.
How often should you change?
Recommendations in car owners' manuals may vary.
We say once a year.
Some of you may think we say that just to sell more coolant. Others may think we're being perfectionists.
But we've been working with coolants and engine cooling systems since 1927. And our experience says that the way to avoid corrosion and the expensive damage it can cause is to invest in two gallons of PRESTONE II every year.

Prices to Rise

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said Thursday prices on its 1976-model cars in the United States will be increased by an average $247, or 4.7 per cent, over comparable 1975 models.

Propose Treaty

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed on Thursday a treaty barring underground as well as all other atomic weapons tests. The proposed pact would consolidate, supplement and enlarge the 1963 Moscow treaty banning nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water, and the 1974 U.S.-Soviet pact limiting underground nuclear tests.

Receives Grant

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario ministry of culture and recreation has granted the Sault Finnish Club $100,000 from Wintario lottery earnings to assist funding of chalet construction here. The public will have limited access to the new chalet facilities, located in an area used frequently by hikers and cross-country skiers.

Investigates Death

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — Police are investigating the death of Carl Tingren, 48, a Gananoque automobile dealer whose body was found at his cottage on the St. Lawrence River early Wednesday. Police said an autopsy was completed Wednesday but the cause of death has not been released.

Pay Less for Beef

EDMONTON (CP) — Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan says consumers in central Canada pay less for beef than their Western counterparts because the retail industry in the East is probably "more competitive."

Turkey Aid

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society announced Thursday it has contributed $7,500 to aid victims of the recent Turkish earthquake which destroyed the town of Lice and a number of surrounding villages.

Rents Rise

TORONTO (CP) — Rents in Metropolitan Toronto have risen more than 18 per cent this year and might rise by as much as 32 per cent next year, says a 58-apartment survey released Thursday.

Signs Pork Pact

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Pork Producers Marketing bboard has signed a contract to sell Japan 300 hogs a week for the next 30 months.

Rub Parlor Crackdown

TORONTO (CP) — A special Metropolitan Toronto police vice-squad started a Metro-wide crackdown, on body rub parlors this week and has arrested three customers and 20 operators or employees, police said Thursday.

Bravery Awards

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario plans to institute bravery awards for firefighters. The provincial solicitor-general's office said the medals, which may go to professional or volunteer firefighters, will be presented for bravery and outstanding performance.

Agreement Reached

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiators for the Metropolitan Toronto school board and its 10,800 elementary teachers said Thursday a tentative agreement has been reached on a new two-year contract which will provide an average 40-per-cent pay increase.

Convention Held

OTTAWA CP) — Ottawa was chosen as the site for a conference this weekend of blind people who use guide-dogs because it was the first city to pass a bylaw making it illegal to bar seeing-eye dogs from restaurants.

Nixon Has Butterflies

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Thursday he has a "few butterflies in my tummy" in anticipation of Saturday's debate with Premier Davis.

Mr. Nixon will prepare for the face-to-face meeting with Premier Davis by taking Friday night off from a busy campaign schedule.

Complicated Divorces Should Be Simplified

OTTAWA (CP) — Divorce is a complicated, confusing and expensive legal process that should be simplified by making marriage breakdown the sole grounds, the Law Reform Commission of Canada says.

However Claire Barrette-Joncas, the only woman on the five-member commission, disagreed with this conclusion of a working paper on divorce released today.

Mme. Barrette-Joncas, a Montreal lawyer, said broadening the divorce laws would mean a considerable increase in divorce. A society that wanted "emotionally sound children" could not make divorce an easy matter.

The rest of the commissioners disagreed. They said that divorce statistics since 1969, when the broadened Divorce Act came into effect, "do not support any assumption that liberalized divorce laws foster a divorce-minded public that rushes into divorce on the slightest provocation and at the first sign of marital conflict."

A high number of divorces occurred in marriages that had lasted 10 years or more. Almost half the divorces in the 1969-72 period involved couples who were either childless or no longer had dependent children.

More than 90 per cent of divorces were uncontested and the couples had agreed privately on settlement of property and maintenance of children, if any. Nevertheless, a legal process that was "far too costly" ensued automatically, the report says.

Currently Canadian law allows divorce on grounds of fault—adultery, homosexuality, bigamy, or cruelty—and marriage breakdown which occurs when the couple has been separated for three years, or five years if the one seeking the divorce was the one who left.

The commission said the fault system creates hostilities that make reconciliation impossible and the enforced separation period under the marriage breakdown clause tends to do the same.

Ontario People Lost Confidence

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Thursday night that the people of Ontario have lost confidence in Premier Williams Davis's ability to govern "fairly or responsibly."

It was a message similar to that Mr. Nixon carried when he received a warm welcome in the traditionally Conservative ridings of Victoria-Haliburton and Hastings-Peterborough.

'He has shown repeatedly that he cannot provide the leadership that Ontario needs," Mr. Nixon said of the premier.

Mr. Nixon said Mr. Davis is spending tax dollars "to buy Conservative votes" because he had become "obsessed with keeping power at almost any cost."

He also accused Mr. Davis of criticizing the federal government "merely to serve his own political ends" and of taking a complacent and aloof attitude to serious problems facing Ontario.

Mr. Nixon said a Liberal government would be accountable, affordable and accessible.

"I'm determined to form a new government—a government that cares, a government that will face its responsibilities, a government that will find solutions to Ontario's problems instead of passing the buck, or denying that the problems exist."

Scuffle At Mall

A 19 - year - old Belleville man has been charged with two counts of common assault following an incident at the Quinte Mall at about 9 p.m. Thursday.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie identified the man today as Michael R Stephani of 60 West Bridge St.

Chief Crosbie said mall custodian Steven Terefenko observed a man damaging flowers and asked him to leave. However, the man threw a bottle cap at Terefenko who then asked him to step into the mall administrative office and give his name.

The man grabbed Terefenko's shirt and swung his fist at him, both men went into the office and a fight broke out, Chief Crosbie said.

Security guard Desmond McCrystal was summoned and told police the man bit him on the back of his right hand and hit him in the groin with his knee.

Constable James Smith arrested the man at 9:10 p.m. at the mall.

Top Liberal Pays Brief Mall Visit

For the second time in eight days Ontario Liberal Leader Robert Nixon was in Belleville Thursday.

The visit was brief and came as his campaign bus headed to meet a plane at CFB Trenton after swinging through the Peterborough—Marmora area.

Mr. Nixon stopped over at the Quinte Mall where his bus was met by local supporters led by Hugh O'Neil, Liberal candidate in Quinte.

Mayor Ben Corke was also present to welcome the Liberal leader to the city.

Mr. Nixon and Mr. O'Neil made a whirlwind tour of the mall, shaking hands and pausing briefly to chat with shoppers and store staff.

In all, the party leader's visit lasted about 15 minutes before he headed for Trenton from where he was scheduled to fly to Ottawa.

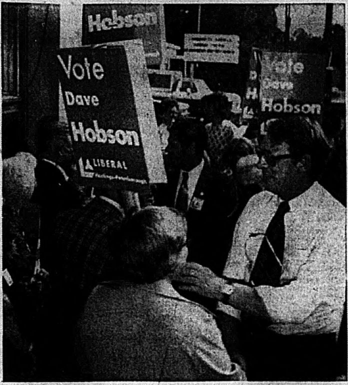
Two Budgies Kidnapped

It seems this city has its own Birdman of Belleville.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today someone broke into a residence at 28 Charles St. sometime between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Thursday and stole two budgie birds valued at $10 apiece.

He said a mirror on a portable chest was broken but there was no sign of the glass.

The door to the premises was not locked, he added.



Politics on Main Street

Politics came to Marmora main street Thursday as Ontario Liberal leader Robert Nixon and local candidate Dave Hobson (rear) went campaigning. The leader's visit was a highlight of the Liberal bid to win over Hastings - Peterborough riding in Sept. 18 election.

Nixon Bolsters Hobson's Campaign

MARMORA — Ontario Liberal leader Robert Nixon swept into this area of traditional Tory support Thursday — and accused the progressive Conservatives of taking the local electorate's loyalty for granted.

And he singled out Premier William Davis as the cause of voter disenchantment.

Mr. Nixon's swing into Hastings — Peterborough — to boost the election bid of Liberal candidate Dave Hobson — saw him visit several small communities as his campaign bus rolled east.

In the second visit in eight days to historically Conservative Quinte district constituencies Mr. Nixon:

— Mainstreeted in Havelock and Norwood.

— Dropped in for a surprise visit on senior citizens in Stirling.

With one week to go before voting Sept. 18, the Nixon visit was a keypoint in the Hobson campaign to woo voters and the main stopover came in this village chosen as central campaign headquarters by both liberals and Conservatives.

Bagpipers led the Liberal progress up the village's main street as Mr. Nixon and Mr. Hobson handshook with bystanders and storekeepers.

A brass band — from Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc — played as the procession entered the Royal Hotel, where both politicians addressed party supporters.

Both men were mindful of the area's long tradition of Conservative loyalty.

"Every day we have ex-Conservatives helping us because they want to turf Davis out," claimed Mr. Hobson. "This is an example of what can happen in the heart of Tory country."

"But they're not satisfied now and they're looking for alternatives," said Mr. Nixon.

Such issues as Regional development, need for industry and farm incomes are as much local as provincial issues, said Mr. Nixon.

The Liberal party would recognize the community responsibility of local reeves and county government.

"There's no doubt in my mind that the people at Queen's Park — when they interfere — simply add to the costs of local government and interfere with the development that you yourselves are trying to achieve," said Mr. Nixon.

Bata, Union at Odds Over Theft Controls

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Batawa — A Bata Footwear plan to "voice print" its staff to curb inventory thefts was postponed by the company Thursday following a promise by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union that the Canadian Civil Liberties Association would be called in if such action was taken.

According to a number of spokesmen from the union and the company, stock has been dissappearing from the Bata plant, 10 miles north of Trenton for several months. Boot and Shoe union representative Ian Reilly said he has heard figures as high as $200,000 in stock losses.

Earlier this week the company informed staff that a security firm will be coming into the plant to conduct an "amnesty program." The plan was for each employee in the warehouse and trucking sections to submit to a voice print adminstered by the security firm. Similar to the polygraph or lie detector test, the employee's voice patterns can indicate guilt or innocence.

The announcement was answered by a number of staff who said they would resign before submitting to such a test.

Vojpech Lipner, acting plant manager, refused to give details fo the situation.

He would not disclose the amount stolen from the plant and would not comment on reports that the thefts have been occurring over a number of months.

Union and company officials spent Thursday negotiating the situation.

"All I can say is we have postponed taking any action on the voice printing," said Mr. Lipner.

Mr. Reilly said Thursday, "if the company decides to carry on with the scheme the union will take the matter to the Civil Liberties Association."

"Any such action on the company's part would constitute a violation of basic human rights," said Mr. Reilly in a letter to Bata.

A bulletin to be placed on the shop notice board, Boot and Shoe union officials state the unions in the plant agree with the company that they must find out who has been pilfering shoes.

"The company has agreed that no one will be required to take the test," the letter to members states.

Loyalist Students Will Quiz Transit Passengers

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Loyalist College students will be polling Belleville transit bus passengers in either October or November to discover attitudes to BTC service in the city.

Passengers will be questioned on driver countesy, route and schedules, and the frequency with which they use the transit system.

A postage — paid questionaire may also be given passengers to allow for more thoughful responses to key questions.

Survey details have yet to be worked out by Belleville transit commissioners who discussed the survey Thursday. Compiling and analysizing survey results will be done by Loyalist students in one of the college's programs.

Commission chairman Marylea Burtt said most commissions that undertake surveys do so by hiring consultants at high costs.

By using Loyalist students, Mrs. Burtt said, costs will be kept down.

Manager Lewis McMullin estimated costs between $10,000 and $15,000 for a professionally — done transit survey.

Any polls taken among passengers will be by properly identified students, say commissioners.

The survey, although discussed in February this year, was most recently prompted by the BTC's move earlier this year to curtail bus runs after 10 p.m.

The action prompted a strong wave of public criticism. Bus drivers came out in opposition to the move and petitions from angered citizens were filed with city hall.

A month after the cost-cutting policy was instituted, it was with drawn.

Discussion with Loyalist teachers will be unertaken shortly to define survey limits.

Transit Contract Talks Near

Belleville transit commissioners moved into caucus Thursday to plot the BTC negotiating stance in upcoming contract talks with the 23—member local of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Tranport and General Workers.

Talks are expected to begin shortly after union proposals are in commission hands Oct. 1.

In an agreement reached last April after a two—week strike by bus drivers, workers received a 21.2 per cent wage increase over a one—year contract.

The raise meant drivers' salaries increased from $4.45 to $5.40 an hour. Mechanics earn an average of 20—cents more an hour.

No Lack of Local Issues Says Liberal Hugh O'Neil

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Quinte Liberal candidate Hugh O'Neil is not one to allow local issues to lay low for very long.

All three candidates in Quinte riding have been criticized for and have admitted to neglecting local issues in favor of uplifting their provincial party leaders and espousing Ontario—wide party policies.

But the 39—year—old president of Fraser and O'Neil Real Estate sounded forth on Quinte concerns this eeek.

And he has an idea where some of that financial saving the Liberals say they will make if they win could go.

Cuts in government spending on areas which do not benefit Ontario residents can go towards quick action on important Quinte needs.

Take the Bay Bridge for example. It will remain at its present location and "we won't hedge on it for three or four years. I'm getting it started," said Mr. O'Neil.

As for all those proposed surveys on bridge traffic, he charged they are big business "stalling tactics." He said reconstruction of the bridge should begin within a year after the election.

A director of the Quinte and District Real Estate Board, Mr. O'Neil said the proposed Belleville Yardmen sports complex "would be one of my top priorities. It would be the most wonderful thing that ever happened to this area. I will do everything in my ability to see it got as much aid as possible both federally and provincially."

A member of the Quinte Homebuilders, Mr. O'Neil said more provincial assistance should be given to alleviate 2 of Belleville's prime traffic problems at a quicker pace than they now are being solved —— the Pinnacle St. extension and new bridge over the Moira River and the completion of East Dundas St. to four lanes

On the preservation of Belleville's downtown core, Mr. O'Neil, a former elementary school teacher for six years, commented, "it's very important. To be vitalized and to make it attractive for shoppers, it needs assistance."

Trenton issues include bussing to Trenton high School. Mr. O'Neil said there is currently a charge for students who live a great distance away. "We'd like to see a free bussing system set up for students who live more than a mile from the school," he said.

Mr. O'Neil, a Trenton resident along with his wife Donna, daughter Kathy and son David, said there should be further provincial assistance for a new treatment plant on Bay St. in Trenton "so recently released increases in water rates can be brought down and not be such a burden on the residents."

Other Trenton issues are the replacement of the old bridge which crosses the Trenton River and the need for federal and provincial assistance for a study or establishment of a marina at the mouth of the Trent River.

In Frankford, Mr. O'Neil said he would like to see a study undertaken for the improvement of the highway between Trenton and Frankford on the west side of the Trent River.

For Sidney Township residents, Mr. O'Neil commented, "I realize there is a problem in some of the area between Trenton and Belleville where there is a shortage of water and I feel that something has to be done to make sure these people have an adequate water supply."

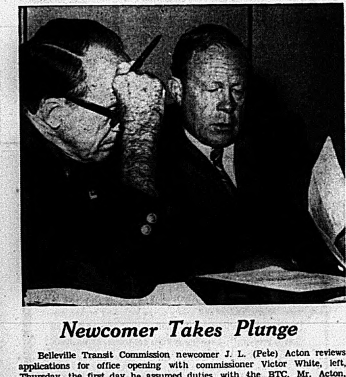
Two Hurt In Crash

A 21 - year - old Belleville resident has been charged with careless driving in connection with a three—car collision late Thursday in front of 24 West Dundas St. in Belleville, which sent two people to Belleville General Hospital.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today the person charged is identified as Anno Geertsma of 175 Bleecker Ave.

A BGH spokesman said Ann Dembimski, 45, of RR 7, Belleville, driver of a 1973 Toyota station wagon which was a write-off, is listed in serious condition in the intensive care unit with multiple fractures.

A passenger in the 1968 Mustang, also written off, driven by Anno Geertsma. Jake Geertsma of 25 Pearl St. —— was treated and released for a forehead laceration.



Newcomer Takes Plunge

Belleville Transit Commission newcomer J. L. (Pete) Acton reviews applications for office opening with commissioner Victor White, left, Thursday, the first day he assumed duties with the BTC. Mr. Acton, masonry division manager at Stanley Structures Ltd., fills the shoes of Frank Seemungal who retired recently to take up duties as a city alderman in a council reshuffling.

Return to the Past

Quinte Liberal candidate Hugh O'Neil's canvass of Foster Ward in Belleville this week carried a touch of nostalgia wth it. He returned to the area where his mother, Lena, lived about 40 years ago. Here, Mr. O'Neil (second from right) stands in front of his mother's former home at 94 John Street with, from left, campaign worker Frank Geerkens, current house resident Marilyn Haines and Bill Yeotes, another party worker.

Three Parties Plan No Major Effort to Attract Youth Vote

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

The youth vote, encompassing the ages of 18 to 30, is around, but it doesn't exist as a predictable block of votes.

It can be identified as an age group, but not as a group with common concerns separate from those of voters of all ages.

A survey by The Intelligencer this week of Liberal, Conservative, and NDP committee rooms revealed the concensus among party workers.

It's "volatile" existence doesn't greatly influence the policy statements of the three Quinte riding candidates. Specific, and special, planks in platforms are not aimed at the youthful vote.

It's voting patterns cannot be isolated. Only tendencies can be guessed at or assumed, candidates agree.

Only one party in the riding, the NDP, has taken political stance geared to consumption by younger voters. The party is using radio advertising to tell young voters privately-run automobile insurance in Ontario is high ($450 says NDP campaign manager Ian Reilly) for its age bracket as opposed to the $150 for the same age group under NDP government run programs in provinces in western Canada.

NDP policy committee chairman Chuck MacWhirter says the party is not slanting its platform in a systematic way to garner the youth vote. But "we have taken care to emphasize some things."

Ian Reilly says youth tends to vote for his party for two reasons.

One is the predominance of young party workers, a situation he says tends to reflect into the community and draw similiarly-aged voters. Secondly, the NDP as a party, is willing to change with the times. Youth associates the party with that "chance for change."

In NDP committee rooms, says Mr. Reilly, most workers are under 30 and in responsible posts. Young workers are involved in the NDP in decision-making, a situation different from "the old parties where you get the old backroom crowd (aged 40 to 50)."

But Conservative campaign manager for Robin Jeffrey, Fred Deacon argues against the NDP generated "fallicy" that the NDP attracts a higher proportion of the youth vote. Analysis of voting would show the claim is false, Deacon says.

"I don't know how you can pull out (and analyze) youth vote in Belleville." Mr. Deacon says. He is definite about the lack of block voting for any one particular party among the youthful vote.

Today, better education has enabled voters to better assess candidates. They can arrive at their own decisions.

But Conservative campaigning strategy is formulated by "only a handful of people" (about 10) of the up to 600 that will work in the campaign prior to the Sept. 18 election. About 90 per cent of workers, says Mr. Deacon, do the necessary telephone canvassing and sign erecting, jobs in which younger workers work side-by-side with over 30 workers.

Liberal Hugh O'Neil's campaign manager Lyn Harrington, who is 26, discounts block voting, but notes a tendency for suburban areas to be occupied by younger, homeowning families.

But their vote isn't consistant. In the last federal election, voters tended to go Liberal, whereas in the 1971 provincial election, they went Conservative, in line with the entire riding, Mr. Harrington says.

In Quinte riding, that 20-30-year-old vote is concentrated along Highway 2 between Trenton and Belleville, says Mr. Harrington, but local Liberals have not specifically concentrated canvassing in the area to capture that segment of the vote.

Inadvertantly, the party directs its policies more towards the younger voter because they "can be more in touch with the issues." But Mr. Harrington said he's "not saying our policies are strictly directed toward youth."

In the party organization, he estimated that 90 of the 400 to 500 riding workers fall into the 20 to 30 age bracket. But there is not "deliberate policy to attract these people."

Phillies Gain On the Bucs

MONTREAL (CP) — The outlook for the Phillies was sunnier after a rain-shortened 5-0 win over Montreal Expos in National League baseball action Thursday night, but Philadelphia manager Danny Ozark had trouble looking on the bright side.

The win, coupled with a 7-0 loss dealt Pittsburgh by New York Mets, cut the Pirates' edge over Philadelphia in the East Division title chase to five games.

"We're five games behind with five games to go with Pittsburgh," grumbled Ozark, "but I can't say I'm happy about it.

Righthander Larry Christenson held the Expos to three hits in the game, called after the Phillies batted in the seventh.

Christenson, 10-5, pitched perfect ball until Jose Morales led off the fifth with a single to right. Larry Parrish struck out before Hal Breeden forced Morales and Ellis Valentine slammed a ground-rule double. Christenson got Jim Cox to ground out to end Montreal's only threat.

HITS NO. 34

Mike Schmidt slugged his 34th home run of the year leading off the fourth, but the Phillies already had a 3-0 lead. They scored two runs against an erratic Steve Rogers, 10-11, in the first as Dave Cash and Larry Bowa singled before Rogers pushed one run across with two consecutive wild pitches and Greg Luzinski contributed an RBI single.

LARRY CHRISTENSON

Bowa reached base on a passed ball in the third, took third on a wild pickoff attempt by Rogers and scored on a hit by Garry Maddox. Bowa scored his third run in the seventh after drawing a walk from reliever Don DeMola, stealing second and moving to third on a hit. He raced home when into service with injuries to Barry Foote and Gary Carter—was charged with another passed ball.

Tiant, Palmer Come Through

Aces Produce in the Clutch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitchers Luis Tiant and Jim Palmer seem to thrive on the pressure of a baseball pennant race.

Tiant, of Boston Red Sox, and Palmer, of Baltimore Orioles, each gave their teams strong shots in the arm Thursday to keep the American League East race interesting.

The Red Sox, behind Tiant's three-hitter, defeated Detroit Tigers 3-1 to stay five games in front of the Orioles. Baltimore kept up by beating Cleveland Indians 10-2 as Palmer scattered nine hits for his 21st victory.

Tiant, especially, was impressive. He had a no-hitter for 7 2-3 innings before Aurelio Rodriguez lined a 3-2 pitch through the middle for a single.

"After going that far, you want a no-hitter, but there's nothing you can do about it," said Tiant after winning his 16th game. "The main thing was to win."

In the only other American League game, New York Yankees beat Milwaukee Brewers 10-2.

the Fenway Park crowd of 9,508 gave him a standing ovation. Then Tom Veryzer followed with a double, but Tiant struck out pinch-hitter Gate Brown to end the inning. It was Tiant's ninth strikeout of the game. He finished with 10.

LUIS TIANT

After Tiant lost his no-hitter, In the ninth, rookie Bob Baldwin tagged his third home run of the season, accounting for Detroit's run.

Baltimore first baseman Lee May hit his 20th home run to make it easy for Palmer to beat Cleveland. The right-hander was a success despite the fact he didn't have his best stuff.

"His fastball wasn't right and he threw some change-ups and curveballs in some bad spots," Baltimore manager Earl Weaver said of Palmer, 21-10. "It was a well-pitched game, but not among his best this year."

The game was spiced by a bench-clearing incident in the eighth inning. Baltimore's Ken Singleton took a few menacing steps toward rookie Larry Andersen on the mound after the youngster let go with a wild pitch inside with the score 10-1.

Graig Nettles drove in four runs with two homers to help pitcher Catfish Hunter and New York past Milwaukee. Nettles hit a two-run shot to cap a three-run rally in the first inning, then hit a two-run homer, his 21st, in the third to give Hunter, 21-13, a 5-0 lead.

The star Yankee right-hander also supported by Ed Herrmann's three-run homer in the seventh, coasted to his fifth straight victory and 28th complete game of the season with a six-hitter.

Pirates Baffled by Koosman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Jerry Koosman pitched to me better tonight than any pitcher ever in the major leagues," said Pittsburgh's Al Oliver, who had one of those nights: three strikeouts and a double play in four trips to the plate.

Koosman, who had lost four of his last five decisions, stifled the Pirates on six hits Thursday night, pitching New York Mets to a 7-0 win that cut Pittsburgh's lead over Philadelphia Phillies in the National League's East Division to five games.

"He kept me off-stride all night," added Oliver. "Give credit where credit is due."

Koosman started a game against the Pirates 10 days ago and was ineffective. He was belted around for seven runs and eight hits and was knocked out in the fourth inning.

"My stuff was about the same tonight as last week," said Koosman, "but I guess I just stayed a step ahead of them tonight."

The Phillies, meanwhile, moved to within five games of the Pirates by beating Montreal Expos 5-0 in a game halted by rain in the seventh inning.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago Cubs beat St. Louis Cardinals 12-6, Houston Astros edged San Francisco Giants 4-3 in 12 innings, San Diego Padres beat Atlanta Braves 4-3 and Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Cincinnati Reds 5-2.

Dave Kingman, purchased by the Mets from San Francisco in February, tied a club record when he hit his 34th home run of the season in the fifth inning. It equalled the most ever hit by a Mets player in one season, a mark set by Frank Thomas in 1962, the team's first year.

It also kept Kingman tied for the major-league lead with Mike Schmidt, who hit his 34th homer for the Phils Thursday night.

Koosman's six-hit, seven-strikeout performance raised his record to 12-13. He did not allow an extra-base hit, walked only one and only let two men reach second base.

Larry Christenson, 10-5, limited Montreal to three hits in the game which was halted by rain in the seventh.

The Expos got two runs in the first inning, helped by a pair of wild pitches by Montreal starter Steve Rogers, 10-11. Garry Maddox had a run-scoring single in the third, Schmidt hit a solo homer leading off the fourth and Larry Bowa scored his third run of the game in the seventh.

Steve Garvey's 15th homer backed the seven-hit pitching of rookie Rick Rhoden and allowed the Dodgers to win their season series from Cincinnati 10-8.

But that was small consolation for Los Angeles, which was expected to battle for the pennant in the NL West but instead finds itself 17½ games behind the Reds, who clinched first place last week.

Two-run singles by Manny Trillo and pitcher Rick Reuschel highlighted a six-run first inning for the Cubs, and St. Louis never caught up. It was the 11th loss in the last 15 games for the slumping Cards, who got home runs from Lou Brock and Keith Hernandez.

Rob Andrews' tie-breaking single in the 12th inning drove in pinch-hitter Roger Metzger with the winning run for Houston.

Berth in Finals Expected For 5 Canadian Athletes

OTTAWA (CP) — At least five Canadian student athletes are expected to make it to the finals in international track and field competition in Rome next week, Lynn Davies, technical director of the Canadian Track and Field Association, said Thursday.

Athletes from eastern and western Europe, North and South American and Japan will compete.

He made his comment after issuing the names of 24 Canadians, who leave Sunday afternoon for the five-day international student games beginning next Wednesday.

His prediction of likely medal-winners included two Vancouver athletes—Thelma Wright, who took the national championship in the 1,605 metre event this summer, and Rick Cuttell, whose latest high-jump record puts him among the world's top 10.

Two other high-jump competitors, Debbie Brill of Victoria and Louise Walker of Toronto, are also expected to do well. Brill stands fifth internationally and Walker, sixth.

Sue Summers of Toronto will compete in the five-event pentathlon that includes the high jump, long jump, shotput, 100-metre and 200-metre hurdles.

One pole-vaulter, Bruce Simpson of Ottawa, will compete for the Canadian team and Boris Chambul of Seattle and Bishop Dolegiewicz of Montreal are entered in the discus event. Dolegiewicz will also compete in the shotput.

Louis Groarke of Calgary enters the longest race, the 5,000 metres, and Joe Sax of Toronto will compete in a 3,000-metre steeplechase.

Vancouver entries include Patty Loverock in the 100-and 200-metre hurdles, and the four-by-100 relay, Maureen Crowley in the 800 and 1,500 metres, Wright in the 1,500 and 3,000 metres, Albin Dukowski in 200-metre hurdles Cuttell in high jump and long jump and Peter Stir in the 800 and 1,500 metres.

Joanne McTaggart of Saskatoon is entered in the 100-and 200-metre hurdles and the four-by-100 relay. Claude Ferragne of Montreal is in the high jump.

Toronto athletes include Margaret McGowan in the 400-metre hurdles and four-by-100 relay, Eric Chapman in the 800 and 1,500 metres, Dave Watt in the triple jump and Marvin Nash in the 100-metre hurdles.

Elizabeth Damman of Kitchener-Waterloo is in the 100-metre hurdles and Dave Jarvis of Grimsby is in the 400-metre hurdles.

4 Rowing Crews To Pan-Am Games

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Canada will be represented by four rowing crews at next month's Pan-American Games in Mexico City.

They are a four, a cox pair and a pair from Burnaby, B.C., and a cox four from St. Catharines.

The 12-country regatta is scheduled for Oct. 15-19. The Games begin Oct. 12.

John Cartmell of Vancouver, a former university of British Columbia oarsman, will manage the 19-man squad. Alan Roaf of Burnaby and Bill Dick of St. Catharines are the coaches.

The Burnaby pair of Sandy Manson and Bob Bergen won the final at the Canadian Henley here this summer, then went on to finish eight over-all at the recent world rowing championships in Nottingham, England.

The cox pair of Rich Crowley, Gord Hood and Cox Glen Battersby did not go to the worlds after winning the Canadian trials for Burnaby. The Burnaby four of Mike Neary, Al Morrow, Jim Henninger and Ian Gordon rowed in th Ridley, St. Catharines, Boat Club eight at Nottingham, but finished eighth over-all in the 1974 worlds in Lucerne.

The St. Catharines' Rowing Club cox four, Henley winners and ninth at Nottingham, has replaced No. 3 man Bruce Carpenter with Phil Monckton out of the Ridley eight. The others are Brian Dick, Ron Burak, Andy Vanruyven and cox Bob Choquette.

Brian Love of the Ridley BC and Mike Moran of Burnaby have been named team spares.

Burrards Romp To Mann Cup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors had to figure they were in for a long night early in Thursday's second game of the Mann Cup senior lacrosse final.

Vancouver Burrards scored on their first three shots on goal, then rolled on to a 16-8 win over the Ontario Lacrosse Association representatives to win the best-of-three series in straight games.

The championship was Vancouver's fifth in 15 years and first since 1967. Vancouver finished third in the regular Western Lacrosse Association season and defeated both defending Mann Cup champion New Westminster Salmonbellies and Victoria Shamrocks in the WLA playoffs.

Burrards took only a minute and 49 seconds to jump into the 3-0 lead. Sloppy defensive work enabled Mike Smith, Dick Crompton and Gord Frederickson to score on Brampton goaltender Harry Woods, the first of three Excelsior netminders used in the game.

Excelsiors, meanwhile, didn't score until their 10th shot on goal at 12:20 of the opening period. Brian Robinson's goal was

The Burrards, however, continued to dominate the period and grabbed a 7-2 lead after 20 minutes. They continued their fine play in the second to take a 13-4 lead into the final period.

Two rival team officials saw the turning point of the game differently.

Vancouver coach Ross McDonald thought the game was won early.

"They just didn't seem to be in the game after those first three goals," said McDonald, a former Burrard player.

Brampton general manager Jim Nesbitt said he thought the turning point "came Tuesday when we lost in overtime."

"The guys were really down after that game," he said, "and never really were up for this one at the start."

Vancouver won the opening game 11-10 on Frederickson's overtime goal.

Bill Rawson and Bob Salt paced Burrards Thursday night by scoring three goals each before 4,023 fans.

Ron Pinder, later named the series' most valuable player, Mel Brown, Smith and Frederickson, each scored twice. Rico Bellusci scored the other Vancouver goal.

Robinson provided almost all of the Brampton offence. He also assisted on two goals for a six-point performance.

Michael O'Brien, Charles Williams, Bob Burke and goaltender Bill Moreau scored the other Brampton goals.

Moreau, Woods and Gary Drysdale combined to stop 30 shots in the Brampton net. Pat Safianuk, who was particularly effective during the second period when Vancouver ran into a string of penalties, and Don Hamilton stopped 35 shots in the Vancouver goal.

Jets Earn a Draw

TAMPERE, Finland (AP) — Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association rallied to tie Finnish champions Tappara 3-3 in an exhibition game before 8,695 fans Thursday night.

Tappara, which has played a number of exhibition games already this season, led 2-0 and 3-1 but wilted under pressure in the last period.

The Jets, who opened their pre-season schedule Tuesday with a 7-5 triumph over the Finnish IFK team at Helsinki, trailed 2-1 after the first period and 3-2 at the end of the second.

Veli Pekka Ketola, one of Winnipeg's Finnish players, erased a 2-0 deficit with a goal at 18:19 of the first period. Mike Ford got another goal for Winnipeg mid-way through the second period.

Bobby Hull's line, which includes Anders Hedberg and Ulf Nilsson, was outstanding throughout the game but only Nilsson connected—in the third period.

The Jets will play one more game in Finland, at Turku today, then go to Sweden for a training camp and more exhibition games.

Good Shot At a Win

TORONTO (CP)—Canada may survive its first Davis Cup around since 1970 when it begins play for the 1976 championships at Montreal Oct. 17.

Canada will be host to Colombia in first-round play at the Rockland Tennis Centre, Oct. 17-19, and the visitors will likely be without their one-two punch, Ivan Molina and Jairo Velasco.

"From what we gather," says Bob Bedard, chairman of Canada's five-man Cup selection committee, "both requested certain conditions the Colombian federation was just not able to comply with."

Molina and Velasco gained international recognition by upsetting the United States in Davis Cup play last year.

Named to the Canadian Davis Cup team are Canadian champion Tony Bardsley, 28, of Vancouver, Dale Power, 25, Toronto; Rejean Genois, 22, Quebec City and Jim Boyce, 24, Toronto. Don Fontana of Toronto was chosen team captain Wednesday night.

Four other players-Bill Rennie 18, Cambridge, Ont.; John Picken, 18, Vancouver; glen Booth, 21, Canadian under-21 champion from Vancouver, and Peter Pospisil, 23, of Troonto have also been named to the Davis Cup squad.

SHACK SIGNS

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — Former National Hockey League player Eddie Shack has signed a contract to play senior hockey with Orillia Terriers. Club president George MacOnachie said the Ontario Hockey Association team has signed Shack to a one-game contract as the playing-coach for an exhibition contest Sept. 27 against Oklahoma Blazers of the Central Hockey League.

At Hamilton

Two More Years For Head Coach

HAMILTON (CP) — It has been learned that Jerry Williams is secure in his position as coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats for at least another two years, at the end of which time he'll probably offer his resignation to retire.

The pact between the 51-year-old Williams and the Canadian Football League team, which extends through the 1976 season, was signed in April but for reasons best known to the team were not disclosed.

"We just don't make a big deal of these thing," said general manager Ralph Sazio.

Williams said this year he wants to coach just two more seasons before scrapping his football career, retiring to a cattle ranch in northern Arizona.

The quiet-spoken native of Spokane, Wash., who played in the National Football League with Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles, later coached the Eagles before moving to Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference.

After four years in Calgary, he rejoined the Eagles as head coach, getting sacked there in 1971 and joining Hamilton in 1972. The Ticats won the Grey Cup his first year but have come upon hard times in recent years, scrapping to keep in the playoff picture.

Pickett's Eligibility Still Question Mark

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Universities Athletic Association (OUAA) failed Thursday to resolve its conflict of rules which affect the eligibility of University of Windsor quarterback Dave Pickett.

Pickett is eligible to play under OUAA regulations but not under the rules of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAU), of which the OUAA is a member.

The OUAA board of governors held an emergency meeting Thursday to consider ammending their rules to conform to those of the national body, which would have put Pickett out of action. But the OUAA governors found they are unable to change their constitution in time for this season because of a notice-of-change clause.

Following Thursday's meeting, Windsor officials said they plan to put Pickett in their football lineup, thus creating a likely CIAU—OUAA clash over the eligibility rule.

OUAA rules permit a student to play up to five years in one sport. Pickett, who played three years of football at University of Saskatchewan before moving to Windsor this year, thus is eligible to play another two years of football in the OUAA.

But CIAU rules limit a student to five years competition in all sports. Pickett also played two years of basketball at Saskatchewan and thus, under the CIAU rule, has used up his five years of eligibility.

The CIAU was expected to announce today whether it might ban from the national playoffs any team that employs an ineligible player or any team that plays against another team employing an ineligible player.

Richard Moriarty, director of sports at Windsor, said following the meeting that he will not drop Pickett.

"I'll sign his eligibility slip," said Moriarty. "It's a matter of principle. I met with all our coaches . . . and we decided to go ahead even if we face suspension.

"Pickett wasn't recruited. He came here on his own on the understanding he was eligible to play in the OUAA."

Pickett was voted the outstanding college football player in the country in 1973. He failed in an attempt last year to win a position with the Canadian Roughriders and this year decided to resume his studies at Windsor.

Chile Out ?

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile may be disqualified in its Davis Cup semi-final against Sweden next week because no action is expected on the Chileans' urgent request that the tennis match be shifted to a neutral site.

The match has been scheduled for Sept. 19-21 in Baastad, Sweden, but Chile's top player, Jaime Fillol, has refused to compete because of a death threat. Two other team members, Patricio Cornejo and Belus Prajoux, may follow suit.

The Chilean Tennis Federation asked the International Lawn Tennis Federation for a change of site Thursday. But a spokesman for the Swedish federation said no meeting was planned with ILTF officials in London.

The death threat—believed to have come from persons opposed to Chile's ruling military junta—was disclosed about a month ago. An anonymous letter warned that Fillol would be killed if he took the court in Sweden.

If Chile is disqualified, Sweden would go automatically into the Davis Cup final against the winner of the match Sept. 26-28 between Australia and Czechoslovakia in Prague.

MOSLEY RETIRES

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mike Mosley, who started racing championship cars t the age of 20 and later survived two serious crashes at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, announced Tuesday he is retiring. Mosley, now 28, appeared in eight Indy races and his best finish was eighth in 1968, his rookie year.

More Bad News For the Argos

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts, who have lost their last four Canadian Football League games, ran into more disappointment Thursday when one player had to go back on the injury list and another disappeared.

A team doctor ruled that all-star defensive tackle Jim Stillwagon, out with a knee injury since before the start of the season, was still unfit to play and will remain on the injured list.

Edwards, who signed Monday with the Argos after leaving the training camp of the National Football League New England Patriots, was hailed as a speedster who might provide the explosive running element the Argos have lacked this year.

Stillwagon participated in a heavy workout with the Argos on Wednesday and it was anticipated he might join the club for its game Saturday against British Columbia Lions in Vancouver.

Golden Dazy Needs Just One More Win

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — The American yacht Golden Dazy needs only a victory today over Canadian challenger Marauder in a 188-mile race on Lake Huron to win the Canada's Cup.

The cup, which is decided in a series of races on Lakes St. Clair and Huron, goes to the first yacht that wins four points.

Golden Dazy won the first three races on Lake St. Clair. The race over Lake Huron, which began Thursday, is worth two points.

Officials said two more runs are scheduled for Sunday and Monday, back on Lake St. Clair, if the Toronto challenger should win today.

Nicklaus Passes on Thailand Trip

Jack Nicklaus

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus said Thursday he will not play on the United States World Cup golf team in Bangkok, Thailand, because of the hazardous political situation in that country.

Asked if he feared for his life, Nicklaus replied:

"That's it. That's the reason I'm not going. It's that simple.

Earlier in the week the International Golf Association, sponsor of the 50-country World Cup competition to be played Dec. 3-6, announced that Nicklaus had withdrawn from the two-man U.S. team because of previous commitments.

But Nicklaus told a news conference the turbulent political situation in Thailand was his real reason for declining a spot on the team.

"I'd prefer that the story not be written, but I won't lie. The state department has been involved. I just don't want to make relations more strained than they are."

Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., and Bill Tape of Woodbridge, Ont., will represent Canada in the competition.

Nicklaus, a seven-time representative of the U.S. on the World Cup teams, gained an automatic spot this year when he won the Professonal Golfers' Association national championship.

Lou Graham, the U.S. Open champion, is the other automatic choice. Johnny Miller, the 1974 player of the year and the 1973 individual winner in the World Cup, was named to replace Nicklaus.

Is the Paring Process Not a Little Premature?

Who is Belleville Minor Sports Association (BMSA) really working for? After attending the budget meeting Wednesday night one might wonder.

The executive of minor sports took every minor organization's budget and sliced them to the bare necessities knowing full well that it would be further knifed on its way to city council as part of recreation's total figure.

With this in mind, minor sports president Floyd Armstrong most optimistically declared that minor sports shouldn't expect any more money in grants this year than it had recieved from the city in the past three years.

"We're not going to get any more than $18,000 in grants," stated the president, "we have to assume that's all we're going to get because that's all we've gotten in the past."

While Armstrong was spreading his sunshine across the budget table, he and his executive were whacking hell out of each budget.

The total deficit figure goes from BMSA to the Recreation-Arena Commission, to the city manager to city council. Then our learned aldermen cut numbers here and numbers there and send back a total which is always much less than requested to the Recreation — Arena program.

Then the Recreation — Arena program makes cuts wherever it feels it can afford to. Minor sports then takes what it can get.

Why then, knowing that the budget is going to be chopped down eventually, does minor sports cut it to minimum figures in the first place? It's nice to do your job well, but there's really no point in defeating your own purpose — is there?

SLICES — Girl's minor hockey, a program made possible through the grants of the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund both this year and last, was accepted into the Belleville Minor Sports Association Wednesday night bringing the total number of minor sports to eight.

The program will replace weightlifting as a member sport of the parent body.

Two sports, archery and soccer, reported balanced budgets for the upcoming year. Floyd Armstrong, president of minor archery, and Doctor T.I. Woodley, president minor soccer, requested no financial assistance in 1976.

Last Sunday at the Quinte Umpire's Association — Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund Benefit Game, 29 numbers were drawn for various prizes ranging from a car wash to meals at area restaurants.

Numbers were printed on tickets for the game. Those winning numbers are: 525, 523, 299, 38, 328, 150, 524, 123, 88, 520, 28, 686, 178, 297, 620, 216, 632, 445, 39, 204, 155, 608, 633, 32, 41, 526, 592, 83, 35.

Prizes may be claimed by bringing ticket stubs to Tebby's Texaco 496 Dundas Street, West.

Kevin Kirby

Players Missing, CFB Bows 5-2

Soccer is one sport which usually goes on in spite of the rain. And Thursday night was no exception to the general rule.

Battling a heavy ball and mud, four teams saw action in the Bay of Quinte Soccer Association with Billeville Olympics whipping a short-handed Canadian Forces Base Trenton team 5—2 at Sir James Whitney School while Trenton Citizens Finance and Belleville Parsons battled to a scoreless draw at Trenton.

Service teams have to live with the fact that they'll be caught short, player—wise, sometime during the season.

And although CFB was able to dress only eight men for the match with Olympics, the squad managed to open the scoring

But by half time, it was 2-1 for Olympics, thanks to Zdravko Fundic who potted his 25th goal of the season, and Bob Watson.

Kevin Kirby upped the count to 3—1 after the interval and after CFB trimmed the deficit to one, Watson and then Kirby fired their second goals of the game to wrap it up.

At Trenton, Parsons' goalie Roger Sprague saved the split in points for the Belleville squad. With the heavy ball keeping scoring chances to a minimum, Sprague nevertheless had to be sharp on two great opportunities by the Citizens Finance squad.

Wednesday, Brighton picked up a win the easy way, taking a 2-0 decision when Warkworth was forced to forfeit the league match.

In the other game, Quinte Hellenic had to settle for a 1—1 draw with Quinte Italo—Canadians at Trenton.

Hellenic got off to a good start and took the lead on Dave Langman's goal with 15 minutes played.

About 30 minutes remained in the game when Italo—Canadian's Larry Woodley fired the equalizer.

BQSA Cup games get started Saturday when Olympics visit Warkworth in the opener of the Belleville Charity Cup round.

Coach Predicts

Trenton Tigers Will Be There

The Trenton Tigers, of the Bay of Quinte High School Football league had quite a Senior year in 1974. They took the league championship with a 7-0 record and advanced to the COSSA playoffs. There they were defeated by a strong Lindsay team.

Things aren't quite as optimistic for 1975 though, as the team has been hard hit by graduations.

"Almost our entire offensive backfield was lost, as well as a lot of other important players" said Trenton coach Tom Nigro.

"Our strong point is the fact that Dave Lewis, our quarterback, is returning", he said.

"He's had three years of football experience, and should do a lot of throwing this year.

"Bob Thompson looks good on the offence too" stated Nigro.

Other bright spots are safety Bob Patterson and Doug Sheridan, who will go both ways. Bill Kirk is expected to help steady the defence, which Nigro sees as being very good.

"We're young, but we'll work hard " stated Nigro, when asked about all the rookies he would be using.

A number of first year football players are out with the Tigers this year, which has meant plenty of work for Nigro and his assistants, Vince Steiner and Dave Hulser.

"The league is going to be tough this year, and Moira will be one of the teams to beat. Madoc and Quinte are two more fine teams. Quinte seems to have a tradition for good football teams" stated Nigro, when queried about his opposition.

The Trenton team had no injuries last year, and will be hoping for the same good fortune this season.

"In high school football one injury to a top player can finish you" commented the coach.

"We're ready, and we won't just be going through the motions, it'll be our aim to overcome problems".

The first game for the Tigers will be Wednesday, against Center Hastings (Madoc), with the game being played in Trenton. The game will probably be an indication of the trend of the entire season.

It's No Longer Minor Baseball Now the Term Is 'Amateur'

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

The Belleville Minor Baseball Association is no more, but, before youngsters hang up their gloves for good, there is still a baseball organization in Belleville.

The loop simply decided at their annual meeting Thursday night at Parkdale Community Centre, that the league would be known as the Belleville Amateur Baseball Association. The motion was passed and the league will be known by that heading in the 1976 season. The reason for changing the word minor to amateur was explained by Vi Christopher, a member of the leagues executive.

"We've incorporated the word amateur into our title so that, in the event of a Senior or Junior team coming to Belleville, we would have the right to bring them into our fold. With the word "minor" in our title it made ineligible for our organization."

Election of a new executive took place, with Jim Crouchman voted in as BABA president. Past president Cy Bochnek declined a nomination to run again, but a new amendment makes him a part of the 1976 executive.

First vice president will be returning Vi Christopher, an old standby in minor baseball.

Leo Bradley was put in as second vice president by acclamation while Jean Reid was named vice president.

The job of secretary went to John Truaish while equipment manager for the league will be Bill Anderson. Umpire in chief will be Ed Christopher.

Before the elections took place Cy Bochnek brought out a number of facts in his closing speech.

"We seem to see the same people every year. Those are the backbone of baseball in Belleville." Bochnek was referring to the 20 people who attended the meetings.

"It seems that the people that stand back and throw out suggestions or criticism never seem to show up at these meeting" Bochnek added.

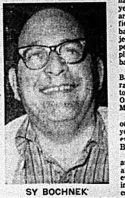
The over-all picture for baseball in 1975 was a good one, as the league came out ahead with $1,111.81 being made over the year.

"We've had a good year financially" said treasurer Carolyn Moynes.

One of the changes made at the meeting was that all player allocations will be final in 1976.

"It seems some players think they can jump around from team to team" said Bill Anderson.

None of the teams representing Belleville as All Star teams went in the red this year, as all ended with their heads above water.



SY BOCHNEK

"We're very happy with the play of the Elliot Motors Tykes and their advancement to the Ontario Finals" said Mrs. Chistopher.

One complaint at the meeting was an old one, familiar to many baseball fans in this city. The association has no park supplied with lights to play on, making night games impossible.

It seems the baseball people have been put off for another year though, as improvements are made at the Alemite ball field, but not at any of the baseball diamonds. It is a subject which irks many baseball people, who feel they are playing second fiddle to softball in this city.

The Golden Bat Bantam Baseball Tournament has been rated the number one bantam tournament in Ontario by the Ontario Baseball Association, Mrs. Christopher announced.

"We were very happy with our over-all production this year, and we feel we can do even better in 1976" said Bochnek.

Closing cermeonies for the association will be this Sunday at Parkdale. The time for the event is 1 p.m. and all those involved in baseball are welcome.

Now at Mosport, It's 'Grand Free'

Thousands of spectators are expected at Mosport on the weekend of September 19, 20 and 21, fr th Canadian Grand Free, a unique motor racing package that is being offered at no charge to the public.

"This is our traditional Grand Prix weekend," said Mosport President, Harvey Hudes.

"But when the Formula One Constructors' Association decided to boycott the Canadian Grand Prix, we decided that rather than cancel the weekend altogether, we would go ahead with all of the other activities that were scheduled as part of the Grand Prix weekend."

These other activities include the only Canadian race in the Robert Bosch VW Gold Cup Super-Vee Series, and the seventh and final races in the 1975 Bulova Championship, as well as daily performances by the Canadian Forces' spectacular aerobatic team, The Snowbirds, and the draw for the Mosport Pace Car, a 1975 Porsche valued at nearly $8,000.

"Although we would of course have preferred to present these various events as part of a Grand Prix weekend, we felt that we had a definite obligation to our spectators, sponsors and advertisers to go ahead with what was left of the weekend. We're saying thank you to our spectators for their past support by allowing them to come into the track, even the paddock and grandstands, at no charge whatsoever. It's also an excellent opportunity for those people who have never been to Mosport or to a motor race to do so without spending a lot of money. The only things they'll be asked to pay for will be programs, food and souvenirs."

The Canadian Grand Free will get underway on Friday, September 19, with unofficial practice for the cars and drivers competing in the Robert Bosch VW Gold Cup Series, North America's most competitive professional racing series. Official practice and qualifying begins on Saturday, September 20, for both the Super-Vees and the Formula 100 and Sedan classes of the Bulova Championship. Tow Formula 100 heats, and a performance by The Snowbirds will conclude the day.

The program for Sunday, September 21, includes the Bulova Championship Formula 100 and Sedan finals, and the 25-lap Robert Bosch VW Gold Cup race. The Snowbirds will be back, and the draw for the Porsche Pace Car will also be made.

"It's a busy and varied weekend," said Hudes. "And will feature some of the brightest young drivers in the world today." He mentioned such Super-Vee stars as Eddie Miller, who is currently leading the 11-race series; runner-up Tom Bagley; Howdy Holmes and Bobby Rahal, two of the stars of this year's Player's Challenge Series.

Takes Lead in World Open

Elder's Game Comes Around

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — "My game has kind of come around," Lee Elder said, paused, considered and then offered a wry smile.

"It'd better come around or I'll be seeing all those smiling faces on those Monday mornings."

Elder, in a slump since his heralded appearance at the Masters this spring and facing the possibility—even probability—of dropping back into the ranks of the Monday qualifiers next year, fired six-under-par 65 Thursday for the first-round lead in the $200,000 World open golf tournament.

"I'm putting better," Elder said. "That's been the trouble all year."

Elder, now 83rd on the season's money-winning list—he needs to advance to 60th or better to escape the Monday morning qualifying rounds next year—had missed the cut in three of his last four starts before making a change in his putting stance.

"I'd been too close," said the 41-year-old Elder who this spring became the first black to play in the famed Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga. "I opened up my stance a little and now I can accelerate through the ball better."

And that, he said, was the key to his best round of the season, a 28-putt, six-birdie effort that lifted him two strokes clear of one of the strongest fields of the year.

Tom Weiskopf, Rod Funseth, Pat Fitzsimons and rookie Danny Edwards shared second with 67s on the 7,007-yard, par-71 No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

Ed Sneed, Jim Dent, Rod Curl and John Schlee were at 68. Lee Trevino birdied his last hole for a 69.

Jack Nicklaus birdied all the par-five holes on the course he ranks among the world's half-dozen best, dropped another 25-foot putt but bogeyed three of four holes at one stretch and settled for a 70.

George Knudson of Toronto, Arnold Palmer and defending champion Johnny Miller had 73s.

Dempsey Puts Boot to Raiders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tom Dempsey booted field goals of 26 and 32 yards Thursday night to bring Los Angeles Rams a 6-0 pre-season National Football League victory over Oakland Raiders, who were shut out for the first time in their last 173 games.

The last time the Raiders were blanked was in a pre-season game on Aug. 19, 1967, when Kansas City Chiefs whipped them 48-0 at Portland, Ore.

The Rams finished the exhibition slate with a 5-1 record and handed Oakland its first defeat in six pre-season games and ruined the Raiders hopes for their first undefeated pre-season record.

A crowd of 68,630 watched the battle in Memorial Coliseum between the two clubs which are so highly rated in the NFL that many expected it to be a preview of the post-season Super Bowl.

The Rams were at the Oakland eight when the game ended, somewhat to the surprise of the crowd since the scoreboard had been inoperative after the first three minutes of the game. Vandals had wrecked the computer system operating the board early in the week and emergency repairs proved inadequate.

Both Dempsey field goals came in the second quarter and both followed Ram interceptions of Ken Stabler passes. The first came 10 plays after Eddie McMillan grabbed off a throw at the Los Angeles five and returned to the 12.

The second came seven plays after Dave Elmendorf intercepted Stabler on the sideline at the Oakland 44.

The shut out was the second in a row for the Rams, who had blanked Philadelphia Eagles 35-0 five days ago on this same field.

BIRTHS

PAUL — Paul and Linda are pleased to announce the safe arrival of their first child, a daughter, Corrina Lynn, on August 31, 1975. Weight 8 lbs., ½ oz., born at Belleville General Hospital. Special thanks to Doctor Fry and Doctor McSherry and the nurses of 5th floor.

IN MEMORIAM

DEGENOVA — In loving memory of a friend Anthony Degenova who passed away Sept. 12, 1974.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.
—With love always Audrey.

DEGENOVA — In loving memory of my dear son Tony, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 12th, 1974.
I think of him in silence,
No eyes can see me weep,
But still within my aching heart,
His memory I'll always keep.
—Always remembered, Dad.

DEGENOVA — In loving memory of a dear brother, Tony, who passed away Sept. 12th, 1974.
There is a sad but sweet remembrance,
There is a memory fond and true,
There is a token of affection,
And fond memories of you.
—Sister Kay, Ray and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to thank our relatives, friends and Cannifton Senior Citizens Club, for cards and gifts for our 50th wedding anniversary, Plainfield W.I. for the lovely dinner they served and for everyone that made our occasion a happy one.
Florence and Clarence Marshall.

AT HOME

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Badgley, 34 Main Street, Foxboro, wish to invite relatives, friends and neighbors to an afternoon tea on the occasion of their parents' 50th wedding anniversary, to be held on Sunday, September 28th from 2 - 5 p.m. at the Emmanuel United Church, Foxboro. NOTICE

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF THURLOW
NOTICE OF PROPOSED BY-LAW

Take notice that the Corporation of the Township of Thurlow proposes to pass a by-law which will stop up and close a section of road allowance in Lot 8, Concession 4, of the said Township of Thurlow which said parcel is described as follows:

All and singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying, and being in the Township of Thurlow in the County of Hastings and being composed of Part of Lot 8, in Concession 4, of the said Township of Thurlow and being designated as Part 2 on Plan 21R 1642 deposited in the Land Registry Office for the said County and allow the Township of Thurlow to sell the said road allowance so stopped up.

And further take notice that before passing the said by-law at its meeting to be held at the Township Hall in the Village of Cannifton, on the 16th day of September, 1975 at the hour of 8:00 p.m. the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Thurlow shall then and there hear in person or by his Council, Solicitor or Agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

Notice of this proposed by-law is being published pursuant to Section 446 of The Municipal Act R.S.O. 1970 and amendments thereto.

Dated at Cannifton, Ontario this 21st day of August, 1975.

AUCTION SALE

TOOL AUCTION

Due to the ever increasing demand for used tools and the scarcity of these items we have found it necessary to conduct a consignment tool and mechanics auction this month.

SEPT. 24/75, WEDNESDAY

Because the price of new items is soaring more and more every day due to inflation, mechanics, handimen and other individuals are forced to pay higher prices for used items but still save money.

Items in great demand which you should sell if you don't need them are: air compressors, welders, grinders, sanders, power saws, socket sets, misc. tools, buffers, small steel and wood lathes, all kinds of measuring tools.

If you have any of these items, call us and find out how to consign them to our sale — (you pay only the commission).

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Saturday Sept. 13

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a lot of little bright ideas today, but it isn't likely you'll take the necessary steps to turn them into reality.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't try to save a few pennies while letting dollars slip away. Analyze what that "bargain" will cost in the long run.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be anxious to get everyone together today, but after the crowd has gathered you'll wonder why you went to all the wonder why you went to all the trouble.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In debate you tend to talk yourself out too early. Try saving some of your strongest points for the proper opening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Seek out a co-worker who is persistent today. Unless you do, you'll leave a lot of projects half-finished.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You are susceptible to fast-talking salesman types today. Don't make any deals until you sleep on them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're very good at giving family members orders today, but you lack lustre when it comes to setting an example.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're carrying a grudge,, but you won't unload it when you have a chance though you're usually not timid by nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't assume everyone will share expenses equally if you're out with friends today. You could get the heavy end of the tab.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your course of action is clear-cut today. Unfortunately, too many will interfere and keep you from reaching your goals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Though you know exactly what you'd prefer to do, a stronger personality will override you if you don't have the guts to speak up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It would be a mistake to rely too heavily upon others today. Even if they were to help their efforts would be half-hearted.

Here is a really tough hand from an all expert game. South plays a low spade from dummy. If East fails to overtake his partner's queen and shift to a diamond, declarer will romp home. At least declarer will work out a winning line of play. If the spade is ducked he wins the next spade, ruffs out the last two spades, runs off all his trumps and works the proper end play against West.

If East hops up with the king as he should, but shifts to a club, South rises with the ace, ruffs out spades, draws two rounds of trumps, leads his queen of clubs and West is caught in an early end play.

In the actual play East did put up his king of spades, did shift to a diamond and was rewarded by scoring 100 well-earned points.

Why did he lead the diamond? He explained at length that it was the presence of the four clubs to the 10 in the dummy.

He pointed out that there were so many combinations where that 10 of clubs could develop into a trick that he just had to lead the diamond.

The answer is that the correct response is one spade. With two five-card suits that can be bid at the same level, bid the higher one first. Remember that your ace-queen of hearts will be valuable at a spade contract.

Infection Speeds Sedimentation

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told I have a high blood sedimentation rate. Could you please discuss causes and cure for this condition?—H. M. C.

A high blood sedimentation rate is a symptom of some inflammation or infection in the body, and thus "curing it" is not the proper term.

The sedimentation rate refers to the rate at which the heavier red blood cells settle toward the bottom of a container of whole blood, leaving the blood plasma at the top.

It's based on the fact that in an inflammation certain proteins appear in grater quantity in the blood. This causes an increased aggregating among the red blood cells, which become heavier and settle more quickly than normally to the bottom.

One sedimentation test involves measuring the amount of settling that occurs in an hour. It is, incidentally, normally higher for women than for men. The test is a handy measurement of the progress of a disease over a long period.

Correction is, of course, a matter of treating the disorder causing the high rate.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am concerned about a family member, a male, age 64, weighing 250 pounds. He's 6 feet tall, and he has an enlarged heart. His blood pressure is perfectly normal, and his lungs are clear. His kidneys are good.

He had swollen ankles—for which a diuretic was prescharacterized by a heart rate of approximately 100. What causes this, and what is the treatment? Should he establish a new way of daily living from his present pattern? Should he continue to drive his car?—Mrs. A. L.

Your question is a complicated one. It is further complicated by the absence of a description of his present lifestyle.

The impulse for the heart beat originates in a node (a collection of special tissue) in the auricle (upper chamber) of the heart. This impulse travels down fibers to the lower chambers (ventricles) and a beat occurs. Normally, this is a one-to-one proposition (one impulse—one beat).

In auricular fibrillation the impulse is erratic, and thus the beat is also erratic. This can result from almost any type of heart disease—rheumatic fever, coronary artery disorder, hypertension, arteriosclerosis, or overactive thyroid gland.

The fibrillation is a sign of an abnormal heart rhythm, but this can be chronic, and some patients may adjust to it for many years.

Your relative reports all those nice readings on his organs (kidneys, etc.) but he should not allow these to lull him into complacency, especially with his weight problem. High blood pressure thrives on obesity. Obesity is also a burden on the heart, so one of his first steps should be to lose some of his excess poundage.

He has an edema problem for which diuretics were prescribed. If this helped, he should continue with it. He undoubtedly has been ordered to take some medication to stabilize the heart beat.

As to driving automobiles and the rest, this is a matter for his physician to decide based on knowledge of this individual situation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that honey is all right for a diabetic to eat. Is this true?—W. W. L.

Rumor persists on this matter. Diabetics cannot use honey. It is a concentrated sugar and to be avoided by them.

Depressed Canso Has Long History

CANSO, N.S. (CP)—Mention of this fishing village conjures up in most minds visions of a depressed and dying community.

But like Troy, Canso had her days of glory and the place of Canso in history may not be forgotten.

Canso, on the rocky, spruce-forested northeast corner of mainland Nova Scotia, is the closest unfrozen corner of the North American mainland to Europe. Its history predates not only Halifax but also the more famous ancient settlements of Port Royal, N.S. and Jamestown, Va.

French fishermen are said to have visited the coast of Acadia, now Nova Scotia as early as 1504. In 1518, the Baron deLery landed at Canso and at Sable Island, left some cattle and returned to France. The weather in both places had been so cold nobody wanted to stay.

During the next century, French fishermen came annually to fish the waters along Canada's continental shelf. During that time, Canso became a favorite landing site, where fish could be dried and fresh stores of water and wood found.

The permanent history of Acadia begins with the efforts of Sieur de Monts in 1604. De Monts and his famous navigator, Samuel de Champlain, agreed that the rendezvous for the two ships in the expedition should be Canso. The ship occupied by de Monts and Champlain actually landed considerably west of Canso, although the other ship did reach Canso. However, the rendezvous ended up on the south shore of Nova Scotia, a considerable distance from Canso.

Canso was inhabited off and on throughout the 17th century, and enjoyed as much permanency as any other Acadian community of the time.

In 1770, an expert sent by Louis XIV to examine and report on the defences of Acadia described Canso as "a place esteemed by many as of greater commercial and military importance than Port Royal."

By the end of the 17th century, the French attached as much importance to Canso as to any port in Acadia—which, however, was not much.

In 1710 Acadia fell to the English but Cape Breton Island, then known as Isle Royale, remained French.

During the first 36 years the English exhibited no more interest in Acadia—now renamed Nova Scotia—than had the French. Nevertheless, Canso was the nearest port to Isle Royale, and a garrison of foot soldiers was therefore stationed there, that represented half the English forces in Nova Scotia, the other half being at Annapolis Royal, near the other end of Nova Scotia.

Canso became the principal haven and service port for hundreds of New England fishermen who worked the waters off the Nova Scotia coast. It was also the first line of defence against the resurgent French power now manifesting itself in the building of Louisbourg, the most extravagent fortress France had ever built.

However, Canso's success as a port was retarded by Indian raids. The French had treated the Indians so well that from time to time they descended on the town, plundering, burning and scalping.

In 1744 war was again declared between Britain and France. By this time, Louisbourg was virtually complete.

Rent Restraints Will Not Stop Some Increases: Davis

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Premier William Davis said Thursday his Ontario government's newly-announced rent restraint program will not bar landlords from raising rents between the time a tenant moves out and a new one moves in.

Mr. Davis, campaigning for the Sept. 18 provincial general election, was explaining the operation of proposed rent review boards, which would have power to hold back increases wanted by landlords until they could be reviewed by the county court.

The case of new tenants, he said, is different from those already leasing.

"In the case of new leasing, tenants have a free choice," he said. "It's up to them whether they move in or not. There is nothing for the boards to review because it is a new lease."

The premier said he thought that his coming new legislation would discourage most landlords from unjustly raising rents between old leases and new ones but promised a strengthening of the Landlord and Tenant Act to assure security of tenure.

Canada Savings Bonds Will Yield 9.38 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — This year's Canada savings bonds will yield an annual average of 9.38 per cent interest if held for nine years to maturity, the finance department announced Thursday.

Cash purchases begin Oct. 14. The 1975-76 bonds will carry interest rates of 8¾ per cent for the first year and 9½ per cent for the remaining eight years. The interest will not be compounded.

This compares with a record 9¾ per cent annual interest rate for the nine-year issue brought out last November.

The bonds start bearing interest Nov. 1 and will be av for cash purchase through banks and investment outlets at least until Nov. 7. The finance department may terminate sales at any time after that date without advance notice.

Purchases of bonds through payroll deduction will be guaranteed until Nov. 14. The payroll sales campaign will begin within a few days through participating corporations.

The department said in a statement that this year's bonds will be acceptable as an investment in a registered retirement savings plans and similar trusts.

Fromme Trial Reminiscent Of Charles Manson Case

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette (Squeaky) Fromme's bizarre arraignment suggests her eventual trial on a charge of trying to kill President Ford may feature scenes reminiscent of the 1970 Charles Manson mass murder trial.

Miss Fromme, a Manson follower, appeared in court Thursday in a red hooded costume and demanded justice for redwood trees.

Sandra Good, another Manson disciple, attended the proceedings also clad in a matching red robe and hood. Outside court, she made dire predictions for enemies of the environment.

Ford Limits Committee Access to Secret U. S. Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has cut off the House of Representatives intelligence committee's access to United States secrets because of the committee's four-word disclosure of American monitoring of communications in the Middle East.

A committee source said the four words that irked Ford and the U.S. intelligence community was a phrase showing that Egyptian communications were monitored before the 1973 Middle East war.

The phrase was in one of five excerpts from top-secret intelligence assessments released by the committee Thursday.

Several words were blocked out at the request of intelligence officials but the committee refused by a 6-to-3 vote to delete four words that met with objections.

The committee source said the phrase is in a Defence Intelligence Agency summary the day of Egypt's invasion of the Sinai. The summary said that despite "mobilization of some personnel, increased readiness of isolated units and greater communications security" by Egypt, there were no indications that Egypt planned a war with Israel.

Asked if the phrase "and greater communications security" was the one the officials wanted kept secret, the committee source said: "I can't say you're wrong."

Ford sent word to the committee Friday that the disclosure would cause "serious and irreparable harm," and he asked for the immediate return of all secret material that had been turned over to it.

The message was delivered by Assistant Attorney-General Rex Lee, who said Ford also had directed that no more secret material be furnished to the committee until it agreed not to disclose anything over intelligence officials' objections.

Chairman Otis Pike (Dem. N.R.) said Ford's action would close down the committee's investigations temporarily. He said the committee will meet next week to decide what action to take, but he doubted it would return the secret information it already has.

Central Intelligence Director William Colby told reporters that the disclosure that the U.S. monitors communications caused no problem, but a reference to a specific operation did.

Colby refused to identify the four words but said he was sure the press would publish them soon.

A constitutional confrontation was shaping up over Congress' and Ford's control of U.S. secrets, but Colby said the four words were worth fighting the battle.

Colby said "we're going to stop" the House investigation until an arrangement is worked out so secrets will not be released over intelligence officials' objections, but he said he will try to negotiate with the committee to work out a solution.

Under the president's directive, he said, no intelligence witnesses or secret information will be supplied to the committee so long as there is a risk of disclosure despite objections.

$150,000 Frees Kingston Woman

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville, Brighton and Picton provincial police threw up roadblocks on main thoroughfares in the Quinte area Friday after the $150,000 kidnapping of the wife of a Kingston bank manager yesterday.

Bank of Montreal manager Paul Krafchik paid kidnappers $150,000 for the safe release of his wife, Teresa, around 2 p.m. on a rural road in Kingston township.

Two men have been charged with conspiracy in connection with the $150,000 kidnapping of a bank manager's wife Friday.

Kingston police said today that Brian Roger Meikel, 32, and Peter Arthur Joly, 29, both of Ottawa, will appear in provincial court Monday.

Kingston Police Chief Roland Smith said Mr. Krafchik paid $150,000 in ransom for his wife's return. The money had not been recovered.

Provincial police officers sealed off all roads and bridges crossing the Trent River. The Bay bridge in Belleville, the Deseronto bridge and the Murray canal bridge were blocked to traffic for most of Friday.

Kingston police have two men in custody and say a news conference will be held today to explain details of the kidnapping.

Police said kidnappers abducted Teresa Krafchik around 8 a.m. Friday after her husband went to work at a Bank of Montreal branch in downtown Kingston.

Neither Mrs. Krafchik or her husband were harmed during the incident. Both said Friday they had been instructed by the bank head office not to discuss the kidnapping.

It is not known whether the ransom has been recovered.

A Belleville OPP spokesman said today all available officers in the detachment were called out Friday for roadblock duty.

The spokesman would not reveal where roadblocks were thrown up, but said access to points west of the Trent River and south into Prince Edward County were closed off.

A police spokesman said officers found "nothing that I'm aware of pertaining to the situation."

Traffic behind roadblocks on the Bay bridge and on Highway 401 on the Trent River bridge, where police checked vehicles for about 10 hours Friday, was backed up for miles.

Highway 401 traffic was backed up in the westbound lanes to Aitken Rd., a distance of four miles.

Roadblocks here were set by police in eastern Ontario, as far north as Ottawa. OPP officers concentrated their search of vehicles between Kingston and Cornwall.

Special Mediator Delays Montreal Transit Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — A threatened strike by Montreal transit workers appears to have been averted—at least temporarily—following the appointment of a special government mediator in the dispute Friday.

The mediator, Roger Pilote, who took part in negotiations which ended a strike by bus and subway drivers two weeks ago, is to present a report on the situation to Labor Minister Gerald Harvey by next Thursday, the date on which the parliamentary labor committee is to resume hearings on the matter.

Representatives of the Montreal Urban Community Transit Commission (MUCTC) and union officials appeared before the committee in Quebec City on Friday in an attempt to resolve about 150 issues in the dispute.

The committee proposed a moratorium on a strike or lock-out until Mr. Pilote's report is received. MUCTC Chairman Lawrence Hanigan agreed but Marcel Pepin, president of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, with which the transit workers are affiliated, said he could not agree without consultation with the union membership.

But earlier Friday, a spokesman for the Montreal Transport Union (MTU), which represents the 2,150 maintenance and office workers, said members of his union intend to await the outcome of the labor committee hearings before deciding whether or not to strike.

This week, the workers gave their union executive a mandate to call a strike "at any time" and union officials had said they would strike if the labor committee hearings ended in a deadlock.

Meanwhile, Premier Robert Bourassa warned the transit workers Friday not to abuse their right to strike.

Police Strike Averted

MONTREAL (CP) — A threatened strike by the 5,200 members of the Montreal Urban Community (MUC) police force was averted early today when city representatives made a new offer, Gilbert Custeau, president of the policemen's brotherhood, said.

Mr. Custeau said talks between himself and Paul-Emile L'Ecuyer of the MUC Public Security Council ended at 1 a.m. EDT. These were followed by a meeting of union representatives.

He did not say what the new offer was, but said it will be communicated to brotherhood members at a meeting Sunday.

Reports Ignored

OTTAWA (CP) — An external affairs department official says no new precautions are being taken following press reports that the Canadian embassy in Tokyo has been named as a potential target for terrorist activities of the Japanese Red Army.

"We do not consider this a specific threat," R. L. Rogers, director of the department's bureau of Asian and Pacific affairs, said. "Rather, it's a general risk and we're not going to do anything special about it.

"Nobody knows whether or not it's true. We can only assess what we have heard."

However, embassy officials in Tokyo have alerted police and are talking to Japanese government officials.

Management by Crisis

OTTAWA (CP) — An Ottawa doctor says Ontario Health Minister Frank Miller's decision Friday to provide funding for up to 300 additional chronic-care beds in the Ottawa area is management by crisis. "What the health minister is doing is providing a short-term solution to an immediate crisis," said Dr. George Walker, chief of staff at Ottawa General Hospital. "By next year he is going to be right back where he is at the moment."

Jobs Increase 11 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — An average of 62,500 full-time jobs went begging during the second quarter of the year, Statistics Canada has reported. This was an increase of 11 per cent from the 56,300 jobs unfilled during the first three months of the year, but a drop of 37 per cent from the 98,700 full-time jobs available during the second quarter of 1974.

Policeman Smokes Grass

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The head of a police academy in North Florida says he smokes marijuana and would like it made legal for home use. But he admits his stand may cost him his job. "It's just a pleasurable experience that I and everybody else ought to be able to enjoy if they want to," said Bob Phillips, co-ordinator of Sante Fe community college's police academy.

Ford Jumps Prices Another 5 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP) — Ford Motor Co. announced last week its new cars will cost about five per cent more than a 1975 model, similarly equipped.

But the country's No. 2 automaker announced the increases in a complex package that will cost a consumer $78 more, on average, if he wants a stripped-down model.

The over-all increase is in line with one previously announced by General Motors Corp., but contains cost increases on extras that an auto buyer might decide he could do without.

By reclassifying such things as tinted windows and white-wall tires as extras, Ford's base sticker price is up $78, but the average prices rises by $216—or five per cent—for a car equipped with the same features as a 1975 model.

Automobile sales have been in a slump since the fourfold price increases in crude oil following the 1973 Arab oil embargo. More information surfaced last week about an upcoming meeting of the oil cartel, which is to consider further oil price increases. This, of course, will lead to higher gasoline prices for consumers.

The Shah of Iran said his country will push for unspecified, but "sizeable" increases in crude prices at the Sept. 24 meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

He did indicate, though, that Iran wants less of an increase than the 35 per cent sought by some OPEC members.

Doubts Turner Will Join PCs

TRENTON — In response to questions about John Turner's resignation, Flora MacDonald, MP for Kingston and the Island, said it is unlikely he would join the Conservative party.

"He's stepping outside to get out of the line of fire for awhilee," she said. She addtd he would probably return to politics.

Miss MacDonald, a candidate for the conservative party leadership, spent Friday touring Trenton with Quinte conservative candidate Robin Jeffrey.

Cannifton Couple Seek Legal Aid in Moira Dam Problem

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Stephanie and Frank Sterba of Cannifton are "dam" fed up.

They went to a lawyer this week to find out what to do about a dam they own on the Moira River.

"We've had a lot of trouble since we've owned it — eight years," Mrs. Sterba said in an interview Friday.

The problem with the dam is that it leaks and Thurlow Township wants it fixed.

Township council approved a motion earlier this week to ask the province to enforce the Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act amd make owners fix two private dams in the township.

Mrs. Sterba said the dam leaks because of holes made by vandals, mainly local teenagers.

"It's just trouble," said Mrs. Sterba.

Teenagers, she said, not only remove rocks from the dam but they smash windows in the nearby, and now unused, mill.

"We have trouble every day."

Belleville OPP officers have been called to the dam a number of times during the past summer.

They've put up no trespassing signs on both sides of the river and they've been stolen.

Vandals have thrown rocks at her husband when he's tried to get them to leave the property, she said.

Reeve Horace Casey said Wednesday the leaking dams have been causing problems with water levels for years.

Mrs. Sterba said she refuses to work all year to pay to repair a dam that is of no use to them.

The mill has been closed since last year.

Mrs. Sterba said she didn't mind the local children fishing from the dam but "some don't behave so all have to suffer."

She said residents up the river are "always crying for water but won't offer a cent to help pay to repair the dam".

Township clerk Claire Horton said Friday he was aware police had been to the dam to get rid of trespassers.

He said damage had been done by vandals but the dam is also old and in poor shape.

"If it was good concrete they wouldn't be taking it away," said Mr. Horton.

Mrs. Sterba said she has appealed to the township and the Moira River Conservation Authority for help.

"It's private property so none of us have authority," said Mr. Horton.

Repairs were last made to the dam in about 1962 by the previous owner who paid $4,000 to fix one side, said Mrs. Sterba.

"It's very unfair for the person stuck with the dam," said Mr. Horton.

"The government's (provincial) got to take action somehow," said Mr. Horton.

Needy Get Crumbs Say NDP

Disadvantaged families seeking financial assistance in Ontario receive only "a few crumbs from the government and a slap in the face by society," says Carson McLauchlan, New Democratic Party candidate in Quinte riding for the Sept. 18 provincial election.

In a news release issued this week, Mr. McLauchlan stated, "we are talking about the elderly, the low income family, the deserted mothers, the disabled and injured, the pensioners, the children of the disadvantaged and the people who are unable to help themselves."

"The biggest welfare rip-off is not by these people, but the companies and organized crime who are living off the backs of the taxpayers in the province," he said.

Education Beat

Basic Skills Low on List

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The dogs bark but the caravan moves on.

An old gypsy proverb that somehow applies to the current controversy in schools over the teaching of the basics.

While the media, parents and politicians continue to wail over claims that our graduates can't spell or perform the other basic functions of language it is encouraging to see that a Belleville survey gives a slightly different interpretation of the problem.

Last May Centennial Secondary School conducted a survey of attitudes among teachers, parents and students to determine just what people expect from a high school graduate in Ontario.

Of the eighteen objectives listed in the questionnaire, six could be classified as objectives pertaining to attitude and values, four applied to objectives in basic skills and the eight remaining objectives pertained to knowledge.

Now with the current emphasis on basic skills both in the home and in the political world one would imagine that the objectives dealing with basic skills would take priority over value and knowledge objectives.

It wasn't that way. The results, which may have even surprised some educators, placed the value and attitude objectives on top of the list.

Although opinions varied in each group questioned, there was surprising agreement among each group surveyed.

The highest ranking objective was that those surveyed felt a graduate should exhibit a positive and realistic self-image. The second highest objective said that a student should display socially acceptable attitudes and behavior including punctuality, respect for others, honesty and responsibility — the true basics of life.

Finally, in sixth spot, concern for the basics of language skills appeared but only behind a long list of objectives related to attitudes and values.

However, some parents did reply that they felt that attitudes and values should be taught in the home and not at school. A very naive response in view of the total impact of a society on the development of a child.

Yet in the final analysis the pendulum will swing back to where there is an overemphasis on the basics and people will begin to ask again whether we are teaching our children how to think for themselves or be puppets of the system.

Bugs May Cause Lawn Damage

By ROSS HAWTHORNE

It was a long hot summer. As a result, lawns, among other things suffered accordingly and where the water supply was limited, submerged into an early state of dry-brown dormancy. And so, if your lawn is still showing dry-brown patches, it could be natural to assume that it simply hasn't bounced back yet.

But I'm sorry to state that something else might have happened. Your lawn might have been invaded by chinch bugs or white grubs.

The latter are predominant in the Belleville area right now and are causing a lot of damage. But that damage is mild compared to the havoc that can be wrought by the chinch bug, such as that being created in the city of Toronto right now.

It seems the city of the big smoke has been invaded — literally; by hordes of the tiny insects called chinch bugs. And from Mississauga to Oshawa they're converting what were lush green lawns into brown, lifeless wastelands. But before we get too complacent, it's wise to remember that the chinch bug is a flying insect and at lost reports the Toronto plague was spreading eastward. And it appears, from local reports that the vanguard has reached Trenton, at least in certain scattered aresa.

But Belleville, it appears, has its own problems originating with the June bug, rose chafer or Japanese beatle larvae, all commonly called white grubs. I have an infested area in one part of my lawn. And I know of at least three other bad attacks that have killed large sized patches of lawn in the Belleville area.

So today we're going to spend some time on these two creeple-crawlies — the chinch bug and the June bug larvae — how to spot them, how to eliminate them and how to repair the damage.

The chinch bug is so small as to be almost unnoticeable. The winged adult is quite colorful with black body, white wings and red legs, but is only one-sixteen of an inch long. The brick red nymphs do most of the damage but are small as to be almost microscopic But what they lack in size, they make up for in weight of numbers and voraciousness.

Throughout their lives, chinch bugs attack grasses and can render whole lawns dead dry brown in a matter of days. As nymphs, they begin sucking juices early in the year and don't let up until frost. And since they breed twice in the season, their numbers increase at a staggering rate.

The best way to spot chinch bugs is in the evening when the sun is at an angle. Then walk your lawn and look for clouds of tiny flying insects. Chances are, those are chinch bugs and that means trouble. If you do spot them, be prepared to spray instantly with a product containing diazinon. It should be readily available here in the area, although in Toronto, because of the plague, it's hard to find.

The second pest that is causing problems is the larvae of the June bug, rose chafter or Japanese beetle. And they can really chew things up. Unfortunately these pests cannot be spotted. But the damage they create is abvious. Again look for dead patches of grass. And I mean really dead.

Scrape the toe of your shoe across the patch or pull it with your hand and the brown sod lifts off like it had been scalped. Which is exactly what has happened. Because these grubs have been travelling, like local politicians, at the grass roots level, eating their way horizontally under your lawn. And so, your lawn is literally rootless.

For these underground operators, you have to soak rather than spray the lawn with a product called chlordane. I recommend a good watering. And then a soaking with a hose end sprayer containing chlordane. And then a lighter watering to carry the chlordane below the surface.

Unfortunately, the only answer after chinch bugs or white grub damage is reseeding or sodding. If the damage from chinch bugs is not heavy, the lawn may come back, but if white grubs are your problem, the damage is permanent.

Sign Destruction May Backfire

By MARG HAYLOCK

PICTON — Misdirected and dubious support of provincial election candidates in Prince Edward-Lennox riding recently has resulted in kindergarten campaign tactics for destruction of lawn signs and posters.

The Picton committee rooms of James Taylor, Progressive Conservative MPP here, this week reported several signs posted on private property had been pulled down.

A Main Street East home owner who erected a Taylor lawn sign said that a trespasser removed it and replaced it with a placard for the opposition.

In Cherry Valley a Progressive Conservative supporter surprised two youths who had stopped their car near his front lawn and were preparing to rip down a poster he had nailed to a tree on his property.

Near Northport a small colony of Liberal party signs was wiped out in a single nocturnal raid.

Since much of the vandalism reported occurred late at night and apparently involved cars it is highly unlikely that the posters and signs were destroyed by children.

These campaign capers obviously originate with the grown-ups who think it is adult and amusing to trespass to commit acts of petty vandalism.

Balloons, bumper stickers, posters and lapel pins all contribute to the color and excitement of elections here. More important they underline the individual's right to support the candidate of his choice and emphasize the fact that there is a choice.

The mini-minds that plan night raids on placards and posters for "the oppositicn" should stop to realize that their tactics may have side effects.

The very candidate that they appear to be "helping" undoubtedly is completely unaware of their infantile behavior. His platform could only be weakened if it were suspected that his supporters stooped to this type of campaigning.

Unfortunately, it is the candidate who may become the target of criticism for the homeowner who finds that his lawn sign has been torn down and replaced by a placard of a different color.

Carlisle Takes Top Field Plowing Honors

Ross Carlisle of RR 3, Stirling took first place in three classes Wednesday at Hastings County Plowing Match held at Glenn Morrow's Farm south of Stirling.

Mr. Carlisle won in the general purpose utility class, the open class and took the Esso championship special. He is to compete later this month at the International Canadian and World Plowing Match to be held in Oshawa.

Despite fewer entries than in last year's competition judge Alvin Marks of Cameron said the quality of plowing at Wednesday's match was better than in previous years.

Wayne Martin, match secretary and associate agricultural representative for Hastings County said the Morrow farm was one of the best sites used for the competition.

John McDonnell of RR 3, Stirling took first place in the clas open to those under 16. Second went to Charles Doornbros of RR 1, Foxboro and third to Peter Jongenotter of RR 1, Foxboro.

Doug Desjardins of RR 1, Stirling took first in the class for those between age 16 and 21, followed by Kevin Goodkey of RR 1, Stirling in second. Mr. Goodkey also won the Eaton's Junior Championship Trophy using a mounted plow with two or more furrows.

Mr. Desjardins took second in the general purpose utility class, first in the class for semi-mounted plows and won the International Harvester Company Special.

Richard Dracup of RR 1, Stirling took third in the general purpose utility class.

Mr. Carlisle was second in the semi-mounted class.

R. DOUGLAS RUSHNELL

QUESTION?

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR PUTTING THE FUNERAL NOTICES IN THE PAPER?

ANSWER!

This again is another service performed by your funeral director when he meets with the family to discuss funeral arrangements. Once the family has determined the time and place of service and provided the funeral director with all the necessary family information he then in turn must varify the time of service with the clergyman before having the completed notice inserted in your local paper.

A death notice is meant to be inserted in the newspaper prior to the service not after the funeral has been held. As this can be misleading. The purpose of a death notice is to inform friends of the time and place the service is to be conducted not when and where it was held.

Post-mortems Open on Why John Turner Quit His Thankless Cabinet Job

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The end of John Turner's 42-month term as finance minister finds the Canadian economy in deep, continuing trouble.

His resignation brings out into the open the question of whether the responsibility for that trouble rests with him or with the only federal politician who out-ranked him, Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

As anyone who has met Mr. Turner from time to time will confirm, he's loaded with charisma like Mother used to make. On that score, he makes even Mr. Trudeau seem like a Mackenzie King or an R. B. Bennett.

That's one reason why it will be so easy to cast Mr. Turner in the role of the enlightened and understanding minister who would have set the economy on the right track if it were not for the resistance of his obtuse cabinet colleagues.

Could be. But Mr. Turner spent more than seven years as a senior member of a government that has increasingly been tending to rule rather than represent.

For the last several years, he was the senior cabinet member, apart from Mr. Trudeau himself — a leader with scant interest in the economy.

Mr. Turner's years as the man in charge of the economic administration of the federal government have brought the economy to today's predicament:

—Inflation is rising almost out of control, reaching a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 13.9 per cent in the June-August period.

—Unemployment is at its highest level in 14 years, 7.3 per cent of the labor force.

—Economic growth stopped altogether during much of 1974 and early 1975, although latest figures suggest a modest pick-up.

—Federal government spending, on everything from redundant airports to expansion of a bloated civil service, has been soaring regardless of reason or consequences.

As finance minister, Mr. Turner's tendency at first was, in effect, to do nothing because things were tough all over. Inflation was a worldwide curse, wasn't it?

With the passage of time and the worsening of inflation, he twice asked industry and labor to agree to ceilings on incomes.

Organized labor flatly rejected the concept, even though on his second attempt, this spring, he proposed a wage-increase ceiling of a generous 12 per cent.

John Turner himself had rejected the only other anti-inflation "options" that he deemed worthy of mention.

One was controls on prices and incomes, which the Conservative opposition had proposed in 1973 and during the 1974 election campaign.

Re-defining the Tories' proposal as wage controls, the Liberals — especially Mr. Turner — railed against such a policy and Canadian voters rejected it.

The other option, as seen by Mr. Turner, was to let recession run its course in the hope that high unemployment would bring prices down, as happened in the Great Depression.

He described that as inhuman and unacceptable. And yet that non-policy seems very close to the hands-off economic approach that has characterized the later Trudeau-Turner years.

It's possible that even a hands-on policy would not have succeeded these past two years, with recession and inflation running rampant worldwide.

But Canada's reliance on nothing more than occasional bank-rate changes and the Band-Aid of "indexing" was hopeless from the start.

Top Pay in B.C.

British Columbia continues to head the country in weekly earnings, according to the latest bulletin of Statistics Canada.

The average weekly earnings in that province in June stood at $231.65, followed by Alberta, $205,47, Ontario, $203.59, and on down the list to Prince Edward Island at $147.35.

Earnings by industry in the same month were as follows: construction $282.80, mining $274.16, forestry $249.08, transportation, communication and other utilities $229.01, manufacturing $212.46, finance, insurance and real estate $189.94, trade $162.69, and service $142.81.

Reflecting the inflationary trend, average hourly earnings were up 19.6 per cent in mining compared with June 1974, in manufacturing they increased by 18.4 per cent, and in construction by 16.4 per cent.

Also in this vein, total labor income was estimated at $7.38 billion, or 15 per cent more than a year earlier.

Short-term fluctuations in trading balances also are shown by the fact that on a balance-of-payments basis, Canada's seasonally-adjusted trade balance turned from a $213 million deficit in June to a $111 million surplus in July.

Imports showed a sharp 13 per cent decrease while exports declined two per cent. While the fall in exports was spread over a large number of commodities, including, wheat, metallic ores, pulp, non-ferrous metals, newsprint and motor vehicle parts, exports of motor vehicles — mostly cars — increased by more than $100 million. This and crude oil exports were largely responsible for accelerated exports to the United States — that is, a seven per cent increase to $1.84 billion.

Where food consumption is concerned, a survey of private households in 14 cities shows average weekly expenditure on food per family in 1974 was $40.70 for all families and unattached individuals, and $45.75 for families of two or more persons.

Still another pointer: department store sales rose by 5.4 per cent to $436.6 million, with Ontario leading the way at $162.6 million (increase of 2.4 per cent), almost double Quebec's $83.3 million (4.4 per cent increase).

Thus we have a glimpse at earnings and spending patterns in these inflationary times — and shown with even greater emphasis by the upward trend of a consumer credit graph. This latter figure exceeds $16 billion in outstanding credit, compared with a little over $8 billion in 1971.

Sign Those Letters

The attention of readers is drawn once again to the fact letters must be signed in their own hand. And this, even if a pseudonym is requested. The letter should also bear the address of the sender.

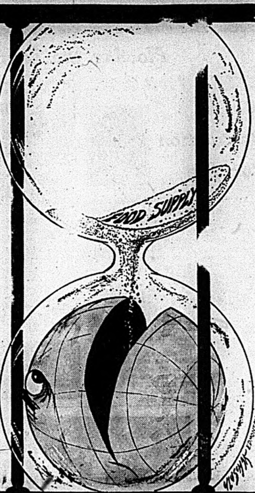
Letters should be as brief as possible, preferably no more than 500 words, and in any event are subject to editing.

Not all letters submitted are published, and the newspaper is the final arbiter. Some letters tend to be abusive in tone, repetitive or otherwise unsuitable for publication. Readers are reminded of the law of libel.

One just received deplores vandalism. It is from a reader living in "what is supposed to be one of the better areas of Belleville's west end."

In the evening neighborhood teens are out in force and the reader, whose letter unfortunately is not signed, complains that they play baseball, hockey or golf, not on their own lawns but on other people's.

Since the letter bears no signature it cannot be published, but if the allegations are true then this brief mention may have some influence in restraining such cavalier disrespect for other people's property.



Tennis: New Blood and Strategy

Montreal Gazette

Jimmy Connors, as is his style, was playing like a bull. Orantes, who lives in Barcelona, was playing with the finesse of a matador. As is usual in Spain, if not on Long Island, the matador won.

Taking a tip from Arthur Ashe, who had bested Connors in the Wimbledon finals, Orantes fed his bull garbage. But what beautiful garbage it was — soft returns when Connors was geared for speed, long, marvelously accurate lobs mixed with swift passing shots when Connors came to the net.

It could not have happened to a nicer guy. At a time when tennis has broken free of its upper middle class world of beautifully manicured lawns and similarly manicured people into the larger, rougher world of big business, when there are probably a hundred players for every one at the end of the Second World War, when the crowd at Forest Hills is as informal and comfortable, as outspoken and querulous as that at Shea Stadium, Manuel Orantes is as gentlemanly as any of the old school — a latter—day Baron von Cramm.

At a time when too many others are given to protests, racket throwing, and similar adolescent court theatrics, Orantes comes to play. He does not argue points. If he believes his opponent the victim of bad calls, he gives them back, as he did to Nastase in the quarter-finals. In craven, contemporary sports, he is a refreshing athlete who actually believes there is something more important than winning, yet who wins just the same.

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I am a firm believer in democracy which is government of the people, by the people, for the people.

I am not a believer in government of the people, by the people, for a few friends of our elected representatives and their leader.

It is the apathy and ignorance of the electorate of this province, and this riding, that is allowing this condition to exist.

I will cite but one example; there may be others. This one is costing us millions now, and will continue to cost our children, and their children.

We are paying for the new Hydro building in Toronto, and paying dearly. We are paying for the carrying charges on the money to build it as taxpayers. We are paying through the increases in our hydro bills, as individuals. We are paying in perpetuity.

The contract for this building was given to one of Mr. Davis' friends, without tender. Mr. Davis has been cleared of personal involvement it seems. But can there be any doubt that their personal friendship was considered?

Have you, Mr. Taylor, questioned the letting of contracts without tender? Have you questioned where the materials for this building were bought?

Have you questioned if any money has been transferred to Europe in the past five years by the contractor of this building? Have you searched your soul and can say you believe in democracy?

Have you, the electorate of Prince Edward-Lennox, questioned whether you want to vote as your grandfathers voted, or whether you are prepared to assume your responsibility to uphold democracy.

In this election there is only one alternative to another Davis Government, and that is to vote for the Liberal candidate in this riding — Mr. Keith MacDonald.

The Hustings

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Your issue of Sept. 9 was especially interesting. There on page 4 was one of William C. Hockley's letters concerning provincial politics and directly opposite on page 5 was a large "blurb" expounding Bill Davis' objections to the proposed removal of the political "gag" from provincial civil servants.

Could it be that Premier Davis is fearful that lurking there in the provincial bureacratic maze are, perhaps, a few dozen or more knowledgeable, articulate, Wm. Hockleys?

There is, of course, no way of measuring Mr. Hockley's influence but one receives the impression that it must be growing judging by recent snarly letters to the editor in opposition to his views.

Facets of Leadership and the Choice Faced by Voters in Ontario

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

Next Thursday will be a big day in the lives of William Davis, Robert Nixon and Stephen Lewis.

By the end of the evening one of these three, a 46-year-old lawyer, 52-year-old teacher-farmer and 38-year-old former teacher but mainly politician will have the top job in the province and the second biggest in Canada. He will be premier of Ontario. And the other two will be licking their wounds.

Just what is the public choice? What about these three men?

Davis we know the most about. There has been a chance to judge him in four years in office.

Out of this experience the outstanding impression is that in the present premier we are dealing with a complex man.

Bill Davis is an innate politician but also a dedicated servant of the public. He has been mixed up in politics since his early teens and knows all the old-time tricks, yet at the same time he says his big attraction in public life is to serve people, and there is good reason to believe this.

The problem is to know when he is being the politician and when the dedicated public servant.

As a premier Davis has shown some boldness. His land speculation tax was an innovative and somewhat daring step, as one example.

He also has been able to choose men well. His cabinets have been better than average.

And he has shown some imagination. The Krauss-Maffei rapid transit scheme was imaginative even if it didn't work.

But then there must be the question of his capacity as an administrator. His government has always seemed to be catching up to problems. Meeting them at the last moment. It was not at all alert to industrial pollution, for example, until forced into it by the Opposition.

He has shown a lack of foresight. Again, Krauss-Maffie can be cited. The evidence would indicate not enough early investigation and thought was given to this.

Or there is the case of Toronto's Spadina expressway which he cancelled on the eve of the 1971 election and reinstated on the eve of this one.

While he has picked good men for his cabinet (And with a number of them he has been instrumental in having them run in the first place) there is some question about his choice of other advisers. He seems to be impressed by labels and perhaps influenced more by who a man is than what he is.

Finally there is the question of money. When he was education minister you had to feel he was not overly money-conscious. He pushed through most expensive programs (community colleges for one) wihtout apparent regard for spending. And he still carried this stamp in his early days as premier. (His trips on government planes to Vermont and to his cottage).

There have been indications that he now is more conscious of this. But still spending is one of the major criticisms of his government.

Bob Nixon also is complex, or perhaps it might be better to class him as a contradiction.

He also grew up in politics, his father, eventually premier for a short term, having held a record of over 40 years in the legislature, the second longest span in history.

Just what his main drive is in aiming for top office has never been too clear. He has shown various zeals but no over-riding cause for his ambition to lead the province. It could be to fulfil a fate which he feels has been ordained for him.

Nixon is more down-to-earth than Davis, and he has other strong points.

He is economy-minded. He does believe in the legislature. He would make it a stronger representative body. And he would curb the mandarism in the civil service, which sees the top echelon having much too much of a say in running the province and the lower levels more conscious of the fact that their job is to serve the public.

His beliefs are strong. He genuinely is convinced that Ontario is not getting good government. And he wouldn't back down or delay before tough decisions.

But then he is quick on the trigger. He came out against the land speculation tax when asked a question by a developer. And this program is good policy, even if the legislation is not perfect.

And there is evidence he doesn't think through to consequences. He would go overboard in giving autonomy to municipal councils.

Yet he also wants housing, and local councils have been the biggest block in getting quick housing. Also he reversed himself, when he came out in favor of Toronto Island residents which was directly against the policy of Metro Toronto Council.

Then there are a couple of personal characteristics. One is that he is a stubborn man, to the point of obstinacy. Some of his own party are afraid that if he were premier he would be tempted to run a one-man show. Also he has left suspicion that he wants office so much he is resorting to opportunism.

Finally there is the question of money. With him, as with Davis, there wouldn't be the question of extravagance. But there is the question, abetted by various mis-statements he has made in the campaign, of his capacity to analyze finance and spending.

With Stephen Lewis there is not the question of complexity. It is not a characteristic of the NDP in Ontario to consider all sides of a question. It essentially only considers "doing good."

Particularly it doesn't give much thought to the business and economic aspects of society, even though they provide the fuel which makes it run. It plans a trip without worrying where the gas is going to come from.

This leads to simplicity of decision which, of course, leads to simplicity of thought and motivation as against complexity.

Which makes life easier for Lewis. He is a man of causes, and though these are undoubtedly good overall, the perspective of he and his party on them is one-sided.

In other words he is prejudiced, and being so how can one in seriousness grant him an assessment as a leader of the province.

He is a man of tremendous ability. As premier he would be very forceful in getting done those things that he wanted to get done. But on the way what would he do to the economy and the province?

In his election campaign he has made some overtures to consideration of business. But on his record and from what one knows of him as premier such consideration would be definitely secondary. And with such an attitude could we have a healthy province?

He is a brilliant man. The pity is that he isn't a rounded one.

So that, in capsule form, is your choice for Thursday, at least as seen through one set of eyes.

Much of it is negative? Well, as it happens there is much of the negative in these three men who are running for our top office. Which could be one reason why polls show such an extremely large undecided vote in this election.

THE UNEXPLAINED by Allen Spraggett

Uri Geller and Magicians

By ALLEN SPRAGGETT
Copyright 1975, Toronto Sun Syndicate

Is Uri Geller, the Israeli psychic wonder who bends forks with his eyes merely another magician? Cleverer and richer than most, perhaps, but still a trickster?

Some professional magicians claim this. Geller, they say, is just one of themselves — a charlatan. His strange feats, such as mangling metal and stopping cablecars in mid-air and seeing hidden drawings on a "television in my head," are all tricks.

Well, Uri Geller admitted to me in the presence of two witnesses that in his days as a gently stroked the handle. The had cheated. But the question is: Does he cheat all the time?

His critics say, of course. Uri says, no.

One of Geller's most obstreperious critics is James Randall Zwinge, alias the Amazing Randi, a little, bearded, bald-headed man who says anything Geller can do, he can do. And Randi Cheerfully admits he's a fake.

On a television show which I was host in November 1974, Randi-Dandy had a chance to prove his claim.

I brought into the stuio a collection of knives and spoons. Randi took a spoon, had me hold one end, and gently strked the handle. The handle bent. In fact, it broke in two pieces.

I was not impressed.

There were several ways Randi might have done it. He could have gotten hold of the spoon earlier and pre-bent it (that is, worked the metal back and forth at a certain spot until it was so weakened that, at the right moment, the merest pressure caused it to separate). The spoon had been out of my sight before the show.

Now, what Uri Geller had done was quite different. He bent a two-inch steel nail which I produced from my pocket (and which had never been out of my pocket) while I held it between my thumb and forefinger. Producing such a nail from my pocket, I challenged Randi to cause it to bend while I held it.

He asked to take it in his hand for a moment but I refused. Magicians have numerous tiny devices by which they can bend an object in the twinkling of an eye. Randi declined to bend the nail even a teensy-weensy bit while I held on to it.

So I related how Geller also had reproduced a drawing which I sketched in another room and sealed inside an opaque envelope. I invited Randi to duplicate this feat.

With obvious, and rather surprising, nervousness (Randi is a pro who's been on scores of television shows) he took a sketch pad and quickly drew something which I couldn't see. When he showed me his drawing, I was impressed. It was a virtual duplicate of mine — a sketch of a ship complete with smoke pouring from the smokestack.

Surprised? Yes, I was. But I was as much puzzled by Randi's extreme nervousness as by how he had pulled off his stunt. (He was so visibly nervous that he tried to walk off the set with his lapel mike still attached.)

How did Randi perform his wonder? A one-in-a-zillion lucky guess? Or the law of averages? (A boat, I discovered, is one of the five on six most common objects people d.aw in such tests.)

No, I didn't think it was luck or averages. aRndi good naturedly chided me that I just wasn't prepared to deal with a "chiseler" (as he put it) like him. On reflection, I began to wonder about the role of a young Puerto Rican, Moses Figueroa, who is Randi's apparently constant companion.

Where was Moses, the invisible man, before the television show? Did he unnoticed slip into my unlocked dressing room, tamper with the spoon and use a flashlight to peek at my drawing inside the sealed envelope?

As Randi left the studio, I said: "Well, you scored 50 per cent. When you can bend the nail like Geller, come back and we'll do another show."

The offer stands.

Donna O'Neil, wife of Liberal candidate Hugh O'Neil

Donna O'Neil

Not a Speech-maker, But She'll Knock on Doors

"I don't make speeches," says Donna O'Neil, wife of Liberal candidate Hugh O'Neil. "After all, I'm not the one people want to hear.

"I'm not vocal except at home. But we've always talked about politics there, especially during dinner. And the children (David, 14, and Kathy, 13) have always been part of that."

However, Mrs. O'Neil is not sitting back from the action of her husband's campaign, and is accompanying him to the various evening functions at which he speaks. She is also planning to try her hand at door-to-door campaigning, something she's never done before.

"But I really like meeting new people," she says, "so I expect to enjoy it."

Mrs. O'Neil has made a career of dealing with people. She's a teacher, currently working half-days at V. P. Carswell Public School, as a librarian and a music teacher.

"This suits me very well, working in the afternoons," she says. "And I find I'm better organized when I'm teaching than when I'm not, even though I'm busier."

In her years as an educator — music supervisor for the Trenton school board, classroom teacher at Breadner Public School, and supply teacher — Donna O'Neil has formed her own opinions about the direction that education is going.

"When Bob Nixon talks about going back to the Three Rs, some people misinterpret that to mean a backward step. It's not at all. I can see a real need for an emphasis on these basics, and think many teachers themselves recognize the importance of this kind of education," she says.

"The system has swung too far from the old, too-structured way it was. There hasn't been enough direction given to teachers, and although some of the new ideas are terrific — like the new math, for instance — the pendulum has to swing in again. We need a better balance."

Donna O'Neil's own education was "ideal", she says. She grew up on a farm outside Wooler, where she went to school until Grade 12. "Small classes and teachers who really knew us" more than compensated for any disadvantages.

She finished her Grade 13 at Brighton High School before going on to Teachers' College, and then began teaching in Trenton. She met Hugh O'Neil at a teachers' bowling party. They've been married for 17 years now, living all that time in the Quinte area.

"I feel such a part of this community I don't have to worry about anything like keeping my identity as a politician's wife," says Mr. O'Neil.

Since her parents, Henry and Gertrude McColl, still live in Wooler, Mrs. O'Neil has kept her roots there as well as establishing herself in Trenton. She sings in the St. Peter's Church choir, and as she says, has "known most of the Kiwanis club members for 19 years!"

For relazation, Donna O'Neil likes to sew clothes for herself and her daughter, but hasn't yet tackled outfits for the male O'Neils. She also likes to cook, and has recently taken up tennis.

"I used to love riding horses when I lived on the farm," she says. "Just the kind of riding where you climb up bareback on a workhorse, of course. But now our daughter has her own horse that we keep over on the Rednersville Road, and I'm hoping I'll get a chance to learn how to really ride."

However, during these last days of the election campaign, Mrs. O'Neil finds herself steadily busier with no spare time. And although she says she'd never be a politician herself — "I'm not competitive enough, I'll go to any lengths to keep things copasetic" — she's getting more involved as each day passes.

Storms — Bissonette

The morning wedding of Christine Marie Bissonette and Joseph Henry Storms took place in Belleville on August 5.

The bride's parents are deceased. The groom's mother is Mrs. Nora Archer.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe, with a lace bodice and sleeves, and white daisy applique on the sleeves and waist. A short train was held by a satin bow. Her shoulder-length veil with scalloped edges and small daisies as trim, was held by a flowered headpiece covered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of three red roses, baby's breath and fern.

The marriage ceremony was witnessed by Teresa and Wes Gardiner. Teresa Gardiner wore a mauve gown with puffed sleeves, white daisy applique on the neck, sleeves and waist. She carried a small nosegay.

A reception at the home of the newly-married couple took place in the evening.

Not All Homebuyers Are Eligible for Grant

Sue Smith, a divorced woman with two children, finally put together enough money to make a down payment on a small home for herself and her children.

She felt particularly confident that she could handle the transaction since she would be eligible for the provincial grant to first-time home buyers. The immediate $1,000 — and subsequent $500 — would come in very handy.

Then Sue found out something many divorced women — and probably men, too — are sadly learning. If you bought a house previously as part of a different family unit, you aren't eligible for the grant. Sue signed her name to a deed and mortgage years ago and although the economic unit (Sue and her ex-husband) which purchased the house no longer exists, Sue is out of luck.

While the province's grant system has undisputedly stimulated the economy by encouraging more people to buy homes, it's apparent from Sue's story that in spite of its across-the-board straightforward nature, it hasn't been useful to every new homebuyer.

When someone tells you to save your receipt, believe them.

A couple of weeks ago I purchased a $25 item from Simpson Sears with the understanding that I could bring it back if it wasn't suitable (which the salesman and I both suspected.)

"Save your receipt" said the salesman and I said I would but I didn't. I tried but somehow it got lost.

I went back to the store with the item but no receipt. I will get my money back — a cheque is mailed when there is no receipt, apparently — but in the process I talked to seven different individuals. All polite and all helpful but it took an hour of my and their time and was a general pain in the neck.

Next time, I'll tape the receipt to the item or the dashboard of the car or myself — but I won't lose it, I hope.

Pretend that in 1971 you bought a carload of food worth $100. If you had gone back to the store in August of last year that same load of food would have cost you $146.70. Last month it would have cost $167.80

If nothing else that ought to tell you that you must shop much more wisely than you did in 1971, you probably ought to give up convenience foods at least partially and begin trying to raise part of your own food. If nothing else, sprout soy beans in the closet!

Experienced gardeners will tell you what a savings you can make. Be wary of some "experts" who will tell you it costs as much to raise vegetables as it does to buy them.

A couple of dollars worth of seed and a hoe are really all you need. (Forget all the expensive fertilizers — you can start saving kitchen scraps now for spring — and rotary tillers. You'll do better without them.

Suggestions Needed For 'Quinte Women'

If you know a woman, of any age or occupation, who is outstanding in some way, send her name to "Quinte Women", a column that profiles the interesting women of our community. She may be a store clerk or a teacher, a homemaker or a volunteer, a hobbyist or a construction worker. But whatever her job is, she'll be totally involved, happy and successful at what she does.

Readers who have suggestions for the Quinte Women' column, should phone the Women's Desk at 962-9171, Extension 55, or write to the Women's Desk, The Intelligencer, 45 Bridge Street East.

Books By And About Women

MARY CASSATT

By Nancy Hale

Mary Cassat was the only American painter to take part in the French Impressionist movement. She exhibited in four of their five group presentations. Born and raised in Pennsylvania, she studied and lived most of her life in France.

A pupil of Degas, her struggle for recognition was long and hard but by the end of her life her work was widely acclaimed both in Europe and in America. Of her work, Degas remarked, "I will not admit that a woman can draw that well."

Nancy Hale, the author of this book, is herself the daughter of painters and portrays the emotions of Mary Cassatt with unusual sympathy and insight.

Ann Landers

'Embarrassment of Riches' Plagues Teen-aged Girl

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl in my early teens. This is not an easy letter to write.

Every now and then somebody complains about being flat as a board. When they ask about exercises or creams to enlarge their bustlines I get green with envy. Don't the "Flat Florences" of this world know they can buy padded bras?

What help is there for us "Busty Barbaras?" I'm only 16, weigh 110 lbs, and already I'm a 40-D cup.

Normally I would wear a size 10 dress, but I must buy a 12 because anything smaller is too tight across the bust.

My shoulders are always sore from the bra straps digging in. It's too heavy a load for those one-inch straps. Please help me—and others who are—Over-Endowed

Dear O. E.: An embarrassment of riches, one might say—but fret not. You can be helped. Please note: This advice is NOT for women who are simply full-busted. It's for those who have a tremendous excess. Plastic surgery can relieve you of the burden. But 16 is quite young for this operation. Check with two good doctors, then get a third opinion to be on the safe side.

Dear Ann Landers: We bought a turtle from a pet store last week for our son, age 7. Bill had been wanting a turtle for a year but we wanted to make sure he was old enough to take care of it properly.

The man who sold us "blue Eyes" said he could eat anything and suggested we keep him in a cool place.

At 7 this morning Billy came racing into our bedroom screaming, "Blue Eyes is dead."

We rushed the turtle to the small-animal hospital. He wasn't dead but he had a bad case of pneumonia. We were told turtles should be kept in temperatures between 75 and 80 degrees. "Blue Eyes" died that afternoon.

Tell your readers that just because a person works in a pet store doesn't mean he knows much about animals. The man who sold us the turtle was obviously a nincompoop.

All libraries have excellent information on how to care for pets. Warn your readers not to take the word of employees, but to read up on the subject themselves.—Learned The Hard Way

Dear Learned: Thanks for the tip-off. I hope you returned to the pet store and gave the nincompoop a good what-for to listen to.

Dear Ann Landers: It's amazing how many people think real estate agents draw a salary, drive company cars with paid-for gas and make a load of money. The truth is, we are self-employed and work strictly on commission.

First we must study for the real estate board, pass tests, buy our own licences and pay fees to local, state and national boards so we can legally act as real estate agents.

"You wouldn't believe the tricks people play to gyp us out of our commissions. It's maddening to spend hours with prospects, show them house after house, drive their friends and relatives back time after time to see the places, and then discover we've been cut out altogether.

A word from you would help educate the public. Thanks, friend—Tired And Mad

Dear T and M: You don't need a word from me. You said it loud and clear. I hope your letter helps the hard-working agents get a better shake.

Immigrant Women Deserve Better Working Conditions

OTTAWA (CP) — Women attending a seminar on female ethnic minority groups were urged Wednesday to lobby the government for improved labor education.

"Employers and government officials often don't take the time to explain to ethnic women just what privileges and benefits they're entitled to and what working conditions they are expected to work under," Vancouver delegate Monica Mui told 23 other women.

"Immigrant women sometimes can't tell you what their employer's name is, what overtime or fringe benefits they're supposed to receive or even what hourly wage they're entitled to," added another Vancouver delegate, Michiko Sakata.

Sheila Lachtman of Montreal said women are not given the same consideration as men who must leave their jobs temporarily due to illness.

A man can receive full sick benefits under the government unemployment insurance scheme regardless of the length of time he worked before his illness, she said.

"But a woman must have worked a full year prior to the delivery date of her baby and then when she has to leave work she is only entitled to two-thirds of her salary while she's on pregnancy leave," Ms. Lachtman said.

Jacqueline Guillet of Nova Scotia told the seminar that minority women in eastern Canada also face the consequences of regional wage disparity.

"Women in the Maritimes receive considerably less pay than women doing the same job in central Canada," she said.

Community Sched Involves the Whole Family

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (P) — A school used to be a building that was restricted to use by young people climbing the grade-system ladder.

But at Gilbert Paterson school here parents may spend an evening watching slide presentations in the film room or creating their own woodwork or pottery while son and daughter are involved with stamp collecting or baking.

It's all part of principal Ivan Millar's community school dream. He sees Gilbert Paterson as the community centre for southwestern Lethbridge, a place where the family can participate as a unit in educational and recreational activities.

"Parents are not where youngsters are in this city. Most activities in the city are cenralized in the downtown core and there are few facilities within the various neighborhoods to keep families together near home," Mr. Millar said.

However, the community school concept is not going to be easily sold to a public that views the school as the sacred ground of teachers and pupils between the ages of six and 18.

"We must convince them that it belongs to them. People don't seem to believe it."

He expressed hope that once community residents see the school's many meeting rooms and special activity areas, they will make plans to utilize the facilities next fall.

The community school facilities include a darkroom, film room, home economics area, study area, wood, metal and electronic shops, a spacious lounge and two gymnasiums.

The few groups that are using the school or other schools in the city pay between $2.25 and $3.75 an hour for caretaker service, regardless of the number of participants. There are no other charges for the facilities and in many cases the equipment is provided free.

This year, Gilbert Paterson had a group working in the shop restoring antiques, an adult group working in the home economics area and some adults working with problem youths once a week.

It's just beginning, but the city and administration of Gilbert Paterson hope the community school concept will allow neighbors and families to get to know each other, maybe for the first time, while participating in educational and recreational activities.

'Only Massive Dose Causes Cancer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada Council Thursday issued a hazard warning about the cancer-causing potential of a chemical called trichloroethylene, but federal government officials don't feel it is a hazard to consumers.

The chemical is commonly used in metal degreasing; dry cleaning; as a solvent for oils, fats, waxes and dyes; and as an anaesthetic, insect fumigant.

"The thing with this chemical is that it would take such massive doses of it to cause cancer that I can't see it as a problem for consumers," said J. W. Black, head of the federal consumers department's product safety branch.

The council said in a news release that recent studies by the United States National Cancer Institute raise the possibility the chemical may cause cancer.

The insitute found trichloroethylene induced cancer in test mice but there are no proven cases of human cancer caused by the chemical.

'Marketplace' Producer Had Long Road to Success

TORONTO (CP) — She's the producer of Marketplace, the CBC's big-audience Sunday night hit, but her credits stretch back to the dawn of television in Canada.

For 10 years, Dodi Robb headed all daytime shows on both radio and television for the CBC and invented many of the best ones. There was another six years before that when she wrote and directed all women's programs for CFTO-TV.

The decade before that she was the creative mind behind the giant strides that MacLaren's Advertising made in television's infancy, when programs were designed and packaged by advertising agencies.

A recent article in Chatelaine magazine described her in one place as "the excellent and prolific Dodi Robb" and in another as "CBC's top woman executive producer."

But she has a few stories to tell about how working women suffer from discrimination. At MacLaren's she counted eight young men trained by her and then promoted to be her bosses, some of whom became vice-presidents and millionaires; then she stopped counting.

And she waited 15 years, discovering talent and putting together quality programs, before the CBC moved her from daytime television to prime time.

She blames herself. Her tactic was to remain cheerful, never complain, and when she could no longer bear it, quit. She grins.

"Women today won't put up with that, and isn't that great! I should have just marched right in and demanded a piece of the action, but I never did."

She was born the middle of three daughters to near-penniless immigrants from Scotland, proud, private and affectionate people who had a twin reverence for education and the ability to stand alone.

"Show your Scotch independence," her father used to instruct her—it was fixed in her mind that she would always be self-supporting in every sense.

There are two sorrows in her life. One is that her younger sister was born with cerebral palsy, a tragedy that shaped her attitudes lastingly. "I understood from the time I was four," she says, "that you don't turn away when someone needs you."

The second happened to her. She was a passenger in a car, driven by her mother, that was in an accident. Dodi's face and one eye were badly cut. She was only 16. While she was recuperating in hospital a nurse found her weeping and snapped, "Think how your mother is feeling!" And, being Dodi, she did.

"How do you say it?" she asks. "You grow up overnight."

Humor is her style. She communicates and draws a sense of oneness with others through laughter. She finds all human solemnity a hilarious target and herself most ludicrous of all.

Wins At Scrabble

TORONTO (CP) — Michael Shulman, 35, of Toronto became the first scrabble champion at the Canadian National Exhibition last month after beating 86 competitors. Mr. Shulman scored a three-game total of 1,598 points and used up all his letters in all three games.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

South looked over dummy and applied to the C of ARCH. He counted his winners and saw that, while there were 12 in theory, he ought to be satisfied with 11.

Eight trumps and three diamonds would come to 11 and he decided the way to go about this would be to attempt a sort of dummy reversal.

He rose with dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a heart, entered dummy with the queen of trumps, ruffed another heart, entered dummy by ruffing a spade, used his last trump to ruff a third heart, got back to dummy by ruffing another spade, cashed dummy's last two trumps and the last two diamonds while conceding his last two hearts as losers.

The hand is worthy of considerable study. Note that if declarer goes after 12 tricks, he will have to lead a second diamond early. It will be ruffed by East, whereupon a trump lead will reduce South's winners from 12 to 10.

Ask the Jacobys

An Alberta reader wants to know what he should bid with:
♠ K 9 7 ♥ K J 2 ♦ A Q 7 6 ♣ K Q 10
after the player to his right dealt and opened three hearts.

The answer is that he should bid three notrump. No guarantee goes with this, but if partner can produce just a few cards the contract should wheel in. Of course, a business double would be nice, but in this case the double would be for takeout.

Nixon Predicts Liberal Win

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Friday Ontario voters will decide Sept. 18 to dump the province's 32 year-old Conservative regime despite a daily diet of election "goodies" served up by Premier William Davis.

That approach is going to cost him the election," Mr. Nixon said in a radio interview.

Mr. Nixon cut his day short to gather his thoughts in preparation for a television debate over the CTV Ontario network today with Mr. Davis, an event he termed "the most important occasion of the whole campaign."

Mr. Nixon met commuters at Union Station here and then taped a series of radio and television interviews in which he criticized the government for spending too much and offered Liberal alternatives to government policies.

Integrity in government is still one of the major campaign issues, he said.

"It's got nothing to do with dishonesty in the sense of corruption but rather the style of government which Ontario has had during the last four years," he said.

"A last-minute surge of goodies," and expensive government advertising during the campaign typify this "style of government" he said.

"A promise a day—that's an approach I personally do not feel is healthy."

Mr. Nixon said that, on the day the election was called, Mr. Davis promised not to offer "cheap promises" during the campaign.

A Liberal government would tighten the purse strings, he said.

First, $40 million would be lopped off government administive costs, he said.

Regional education offices would be eliminated and the Judy LaMarsh commission on television violence would cease to exist.

NDP Promises Mortgage Funds

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — An NDP government would force private lending institutions to direct more money into the residential mortgage market if they refused to do so voluntarily, NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said Friday.

"The NDP would bring in the banks, insurance companies, lending and trust companies," he told party workers at this Niagara Peninsula city as he campaigned for the Sept. 18 provincial general election.

If negotiations failed, the NDP "would pass a law directing them to put a percentage of their investment income into residential mortgages until this housing crisis is over."

Mr. Lewis said in Toronto earlier Friday that interest rates on mortgage loans are not likely to drop substantially until the supply of mortgage money and housing is increased.

He criticized Premier William Davis' campaign pledge to assist home buyers through a tax credit of up to $500 if the federal government does not act within 30 days to exempt residential mortgage rates from the effect of federally-directed higher interest rates. The Bank of Canada raised its lending rate Sept. 2 to nine from 8¼ per cent.

"We would like to do something that has never occured to the Tories," Mr. Lewis said at a Toronto news conference. "We would like to build houses."

The NDP leader said his party is committed to building 116,000 new housing units a year for the next 10 years.

At a campaign stop in Windsor, he lashed into the provincial government's Ontario Housing Corp. (OHC).

Leaders Agree

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon and NDP Leader Stephen Lewis agree on several points in their replies to a questionnaire sent out by the Ontario Federation of Labor in connection with issues in the Sept. 18 general election campaign.

Both favor a dental-care scheme for the province, higher taxation of the mining industry and a guaranteed annual income.

Other points of agreement are that public servants should be given the right to participate in the political process and that industrial workers should have greater protection against job-related health hazards.

Paul Forder, the Federation official responsible for the questionnaire, said Friday Conservative Premier William Davis did not reply.

EDMONTON CP) — Attempts by the federal government to stabilize the beef industry must include the cow-calf sector of the industry if further deterioration is to be avoided, Unifarm president Dobson Lea said Friday

Clement Urges Bail Changes

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Attorney-General John Clement called Friday night for changes in the legal system to curb bail for persons charged with violent crime.

In a campaign speech for the Sept. 18 provincial general election, he said the Western world's experiments in the rehabilitation of prisoners have been "largely a social failure."

"There is more to reconditioning human brings than the social scientists anticipated," he said.

Mr. Clement said the public and the government now should begin to concern themselves about the plight of the victims of crime rather than the welfare of the criminal."

Oil and Fishing Issues Occupy Newfoundland Race

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Oil and the fishing industry stayed high on the list of topics Friday in the campaign for the Sept. 16 Newfoundland election as Premier Frank Moores welcomed the announcement that financial arrangements have been completed for a major expansion to an oil refinery at Come By Chance.

The news on the refinery expansion came from the New York office of Shaheen Natural Resources Inc., owners of the plant.

It said the $187-million expansion will mean an additional 120 permanent employees nd a peak work force of 900 during construction. The refinery currently employs about 500.

Part of the financing for the expansion will come from the Shaheen company and the provincial government. The rest will be guaranteed by the Export Credit Agency of the French government.

A French company, Technip, is to be the prime contractor for the next plant, which will produce such oil derivatives as benzene, toluene, xylene, chemical naptha and synthetic natural gas.

Only a "small amount" will be sold in Canada, however, a Shaheen spokesman said. Most would go to the U.S. or Europe.

On the fishery front, meanwhile, Fisheries Minister John Crosbie objected to the movement of the industrial services branch of the federal fisheries department from Ottawa to Halifax.

He said the branch should have been moved to St. John's and wired federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc to express disappointment over the relocation plan.

"In any event we are disappointed at the cutback in federal expenditures in marine facilities and public works generally at this time of unemployment in Newfoundland and should certainly consider any movement of the department to Halifax as a movement not acceptable to this province."

He urged Mr. LeBlanc not to make a final decision on the matter "until we have had a chance to meet with you. . ."

United Church Ousts Cigar-smoking Minister

SPIRIT RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Like the man smoking it, the cigar is short and stubby.

Every five minutes it goes out, and Rev. Michael Zuk relights the two-inch butt.

Punching the air with his hands as he recounts the stormy seven years he has spent in the northern Alberta town of 1,100, Mr. Zuk is too busy to remember to puff on his stogie to keep it going.

The word controversial seems to follow the 49-year-old minister wherever he goes. For years he has waged a war with the United Church—his own church—because of his flamboyant political activities, including three years as Spirit River's mayor.

In its latest move, the United Church has placed Mr. Zuk's name on its supplementary list, which means he is not available for appointment and no longer is minister of that church.

Mr. Zuk isn't worried.

He now is setting up his own denomination, the Free Congregational Church, and is going through the steps to have it legally recognized.

"We are emphasizing the ministry as a calling. According to the books I'm no longer a minister, but that's a lot of crap. We feel our prayers and worship services are just as valid before God."

Throughout the dispute, Mr. Zuk says he has maintained a steady congregation of 25 or 30.

The church no longer supports him, so he has been forced to take other jobs. His involvement in Alberta's provincial election campaign this March cost him his job as a cook in a local gas station restaurant, he said.

Now' to support his wife and four children, he is working as a timekeeper for the provincial highways department.

Whatever some of Spirit River's residents may say about Mr. Zuk, no one could accuse him of being dull.

Born in Montreal of Ukrainian parents, he remembers living in that city's Ukrainian ghetto and having to fight his way to school.

"The French children called us Polacks," he said.

At the age of 12 he went to work in the infamous Montreal sweatshops, while taking night classes.

After a BA from Sir George Williams College and a theology degree from McGill, Mr. Zuk became a minister to a Ukrainian settlement at Dauphin, Man.

His first scrape with organized religion came in 1960, when he was assistant minister in a Dutch Reformed Church in New York City.

The church was attempting to integrate a group of Ukrainians into the congregation, he says, and his job was to oversee the move.

The administrative side of the merger was made but the Ukrainians wanted to pray in their own language while the church wanted English used.

Mr. Zuk backed the Ukrainians and one day they all got up in the middle of the service and marched down the street together to another church, he recalled.

Mr. Zuk was fired as a result.

For the next four years, he worked as a researcher for Time magazine during the day and took post-graduate studies in psychotherapy and dream analysis.

"The teachers in New York preached involvement," he said.

But when he returned to Canada to take on the Spirit River ministry for the United Church, involvement didn't score any points.

"The Alberta conference (of the United Church) is a bunch of goodie goodies," said Mr. Zuk. "They're still sleeping.

"They say a minister should be involved in all walks of life and then they slap him down."

Spirit River certainly didn't know what to make of their new man.

He ran in every election—local, provincial and federal and in 1971 won the mayor's chair.

"To me, you cannot be a religious person without a political element," he said.

Members of his congregation took steps to have him ousted in 1972 and in 1973 on Good Friday he sent in his own resignation, then promptly moved his congregation under the name United Church in Exile.

Promise of Lord Preserves Church

By Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

In his book, "Recovery of Belief", the late C.E.M. Joad, militant agnostic turned Christian, tells the story of a man who, discontented with his ancestral religion, went in search of a different one.

Having tried and rejected many, he came at length to Rome, then in the heyday of its Renaissance wickedness. In due course, the man joined the Roman Catholic Church. When asked why, he replied, "Only a religion that is true could survive such behavior on the part of its exponents."

"The same argument", Dr. Joad hastens to add, "may be applied in a different form today. The Church, we know, is in a poor way, and its influence, compared with what it has been, is small. Nevertheless, people attend, it has influence. Regarded objectively, the circumstances cannot fail to arouse surprise."

What has kept the Christian religion going, through its ups and downs for almost twenty centuries? The fulfilment of the promise of our Lord (John 14:16-17). The Holy Spirit is God dwelling in men and women in a new and different way. While Jesus was with people in the flesh, he was God with them. He could not be God in them until by his death and resurrection he was glorified.

We face something mysterious here. We always face mystery when we deal with life on its higher side. For instance, how do the genes in a fertilized ovum reproduce certain traits of both parents? We have to stand before such a question in silent awe.

"The wind blows where it wills", Jesus taught, "and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know whence it comes or whither it goes, so it is with everyone who is born of the spirit" (John 3:8).

An impressive case in point is Malcolm Muggeridge. Addressing students at the University of Toronto, he said. "I can't claim any sudden Damascus Road realization of truth. For me, it's been more like the incomparable picture given by Bunyan in a book I love very much, his 'Pilgrim's Progress'."

Muggeridge continued, "The picture of a pilgrim stumbling off, losing his way, following false guides . . . yet never quite losing sight of the celestial city, never quite without that light which has to be, as Evangelist told the Pilgrim, not just shed from without, but actually in the eye, in the the Pilgrim's eye."

You and I cannot command the Holy Spirit. But we can do more than wait. We can strive to put ourselves in line with the spirit's operation. We are like sailors. They cannot raise the wind, nor direct its course. But they can put themselves in the way of the great regular winds.

So, look for signs in the sky of your own life, in the lives of loved ones, in the life of the world. Be alert. Learn how to raise or lower your sails, as circumstances indicate. Yes, put yourself in the way of the great regular winds. Watch, worship and pray. What a thrilling experience Christ's promise of the Holy Spirit leads to!

City Hall Seeking Two Local Initiative Grants to Create Winter Work

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City hall has submitted a request for a Local Initiative Program grant to help spruce appearances of the Moira River.

The application — proposed in city council Monday — was despatched in time to meet Friday's deadline for this year's request for federal LIP funds.

The Belleville application emphasizes the environmental need and esthetic benefits to both visitors and residents of a program that includes repairs to retaining walls and general cleanup of the river.

City manager Wilbur Purcell said if approved, the request — for $9,000 — would create 15 jobs.

Meantime the Belleville Economic Development Commission — the city agency for assisting industrial development — also is seeking a LIP grant.

Fred Bemis, development commissioner, said his office had applied for $25,000 to improve the city's two industrial parks.

If approved the program would put six men to work clearing underbrush and cutting trees to make both east and west industrial parks more presentable to business prospects.

It was not locally know by federal officials how many applications had been filed for LIP funds from the Quinte district.

Jim White, manager of the Canada Manpower office in Belleville — which services most of Hastings County — said applicants send their request directly to federal regional offices in Toronto.

Last year about $140,000 was granted 10 projects in Belleville and the Hastings County 10 rural townships making up the federal riding of Hastings. This was more than double the $60,000 awarded in 1973.

The schemes approved for last winter, employed close to 50 people in jobs that included school enrichment work, recreation, and maintenance along the Quinte-Hastings Trail.

Applications are first scrutinized by district citizen advisory committee — appointments to which are proposed by local MPs.

This year LIP got off to an early start — the deadline was a month earlier than 1974. With higher unemployment feared more money was made available — $150 million, compared to $90 million last winter.

More work weeks are permitted. This winter LIP projects can run as long as 30 weeks — against last year's maximum of 26 weeks — and work can start by Nov. 11, a month earlier.

Maximum funding for any one program is $100,000 and $150,000 for municipalities.

Gryba Says Federal Government Has 'Naive' Approach to Defence

By SUSAN McCONNELL
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Walter Gryba, national president of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association (RCAF) told members of Trenton 413 Wing, Friday the reductions in size and operational capabilities of the Canadian Armed Forces are "inappropriate and unacceptable."

Mr. Gryba was guest speaker at a banquet and dance held for the presentation of the club charter to 413 Wing.

In what he termed "unrealistic and naive" he condemned the Canadian government for failing to treat defence "appropriately.

"The Canadian military presence is at best a token show of the flag — both across the seas and within our boundaries," he said.

Mr. Gryba said existing equipment and facilities have been allowed to "run down. On the national level of priorities we (armed forces) occupy a low space," he said.

He said there is a tendency for Canadians to rely on their neighbors to the south for defence.

"We cut our NATO commitment in half and nobody is happy with that," he added.

Mr. Gryba urged members of the association to focus efforts towards promoting and supporting air carriers in Canada. He also asked their support in a RCAF Association sponsored National Aviation Week scheduled from Sept. 15 to 21.

The week will mark the contributions of airmen to Canada.

Foxboro Cheese Sold For 2nd Time in Year

The biggest — and one of the longest-established — cheese producers in the Belleville area is under new corporate ownership for the second time in a year.

Foxboro Cheese Factory has been purchased by Ault Foods of Winchester, Ont. — part of a big corporate purchase from Cow and Gate.

Cow and Gate — a British-owned enterprise — ended the factory's long record as an independently-owned enterprise when it took over operation Jan. 1.

Ault Foods is a Canadian corporation and the deal involves purchase of all Cow and Gate milk processing and dairy business in eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Included are cheese factories at Napanee, Gananoque and Brockville.

The Foxboro factory, which now employs 40 regular workers, is likely the biggest cheese producer in east-central Ontario, believes manager Ted Foley.

It tripled its production to about three million pounds this year, he said.

Mr. Foley, 12 years with the Foxboro company and himself a prize-winning cheesemaker, manages an operation that is one of the few cheese factories left in Hastings County.

Only six plants now remain in a county where cheese production once saw factories in many communities. Cheddar cheese was long a symbol of traditional county industry. Amalgamations reduced the number of factories in the past two decades, but increased the operations of the remainder.

The Foxboro factory no longer exists in the hamlet north of Belleville from which the operation took its name.

It moved to new quarters 11 years ago on Harmony Road, about a half-mile west of Highway 37 on Thurlow Township's fifth concession.

Additional production equipment was installed after its purchase by Cow and Gate.

Nine Candidates to Debate Issues at Loyalist Monday

Nine area candidates in the Sept. 18 provincial election representing four political parties from three ridings will have just one hour to speak and 30 minutes to answer questions during a "meet the candidates bear—pit session" at Loyalist College, Monday.

The event will take place from 1—2:30 p.m. at the student lounge in Kente Building.

The candidates include:

Hastings—Peterborough — Nancy Arnold (Social Credit), Dave Hobson (Liberal) and Bob Thompson (New Democratic).

Prince Edward—Lennox — — Keith MacDonald (Liberal), Jan Nicol (New Democratic) and James Taylor (Progressive Conservative).

Quinte — Robin Jeffrey (Progressive Conservative), Carson McLauchlan (New Democratic) and Hugh O'Neil (Liberal).

In announcing the event this week, Herb Young, college president, said, "as we have done on all previous elections at the request of political candidates, we again this year invite the entire student body and staff to hear those candidates who are interested in speaking to them."

A spokesman for Ernst Kneisel, director of public relations, said Friday the question period will be on a rotating basis with each candidate being given equal time.

In the 30 minute period, that would give each of the nine candidates a little over three minutes to field queries.

One Dead in Mishap

DESERONTO — A Shannonville man was crushed to death after being thrown from a half-ton truck in a single-vehicle collision on Highway 2, just west of here early today.

Dead is David Arnold Bardy, 23, of Shannonville.

He was one of four occupants of a vehicle driven by Laverne Glenn Maracle, 35, of RR 2, Shannonville.

Belleville provincial police said today Bardy was killed when crushed between the truck and a tree.

A Belleville hospital spokesman said driver Maracle was "shaken up" when brought to hospital. Maracle, along with passenger Diana Maracle, 29, of RR 2, Shannonville, were both treated and released from hospital.

Passenger Caroline Howard, 27, of Shannonville, was treated for bruises on her right arm and leg and released today.

Belleville OPP have charged Maracle with impaired driving.

The Campaigners

Messages Vary But Method Same

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

There is nothing unusual surrounding the paraphenalia usually evident during provincial election campaigns in Quinte riding this time around.

The usual campaign advertising — literature in the form of pamphlets, brochures, single sheets, buttons, stickers, posters and balloons — abound.

The usual vandals are active with their usual defacing, demolishing and thefts of signs — showing no preference for any political parties.

And the usual school projects are being undertaken at both the primary and secondary levels with visits to committee rooms, audiences with candidates and mock elections.

Gloria Jones, office manager for Hugh O'Neil's Liberal headquarters, says the Grits have concentrated their efforts into balloons, buttons, pamphlets and signs.

They were hit with a blatant form of vandalism on East Bridge St. when someone snatched their lawn signs along the entire route.

She adds much literature has been requested by teachers for political science purposes. "I get a lot of calls from the schools."

Carson McLauchlan, New Democratic Party candidate, says his campaign has put its resources into bumper stickers, lawn signs, "four—by—eight signs in strategic locations throughout the riding", pamphlets and one billboard.

"We've been losing our fair share," he says of vandalism to his signs. In fact, someone made a point of burning one, he adds.

Answering to many school requests, he said has even made a personal visit to one.

MORE

Message 3

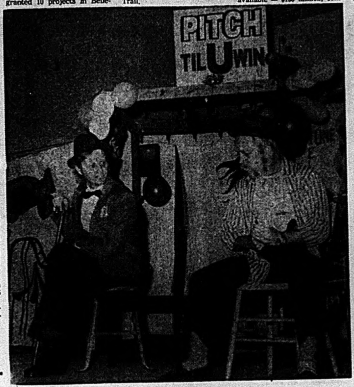
Marg Orr, committee room chairman for Progressive Conservative Robin Jeffrey, cites her riding party's list of matchbooks, buttons, various pamphlets, lawn signs, tree signs and four—by—eight signs.

The Tories found a unique location for one sign — the sides of the towering Cornerstone crane overtop Century Place in downtown Belleville.

"We've had a lot of sign being torn up," she reports but like the others, she says she thinks young vandals are responsible, not rival party workers.

On school participation, she comments, "I'm glad to see children taught a little more interest in politics."

Spokesmen for all thrree candidates say they each will have over 1,000 signs erected throughout Quinte riding by the end of the campaign.



Pitch Till U Win

"Carny," a two-act play tracing the fortunes of a man who lands in jail and the judge who sends him there, opened to the public Friday night at Warkworth Institution. The play, written, acted and produced by Warkworth inmates in conjunction with playwright Don Bailey, takes place in a sideshow atmosphere. Shown are Danny Hamilton (right) and Jim Benke.

Flora Pays Brief Visit

TRENTON — Flora MacDonald, MP for Kingston and the Islands was on the provincial campaign trail Friday touring Trenton with Quinte progressive conservative candidate Robin Jeffrey.

They visited the Senior Citizens Centre, toured downtown Trenton and wrapped the day up at Trenton Royal Canadian Air Force Association banquet and dance.

In a move to "lend support" Miss MacDonald has spent the last few days visiting Conservative candidates in their ridings.

She said she considers the real issues in this election to be housing and inflation.

"One of the staggering moves in this campaign was the Bank of Canada increasing their interest rate," she said.

"This will raise mortgages . . . the First Home Buyers Plan was completely alleviated in this single move by the Bank of Canada. That infuriates me."

Miss MacDonald, said she has been a close friend of Robin Jeffrey's for many years.

Voting Means Long Drive

AMELIASBURG — Before voters go to the polls the next time, Queens Park can expect local demands for more convenience for residents finding it necessary to use advance polling privileges.

In the current election, in order to vote at the advance poll, in the Prince Edward—Lennox Riding Ameliasburg residents have to drive to Picton and, for some living along the south shore of the Bay of Quinte, the return trip is more than 50 miles.

District returning officer Mrs. Mary Grimmon, said there is only one advance poll site for Prince Edward County.

On the other hand, she said, Lennox County residents living in the other half of the riding are provided with two advance polls—one at Amherstview, near Kingston and the other in Napanee.

New Regulations Limit Hunting of Water Fowl

Conservation officers at Camden Lake Wildlife Management Area will be on the prowl for hunters who do not adhere to new regulations.

In previous years, said conservation officer Mike MacDonald, hunters followed regulations set down by the management but now they are backed up by the Game and Fish Act.

Hunting will be allowed only on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Last year hunting was for the full week except Sundays.

"It gives the wildlife a chance to come in without being disturbed."

The new regulation will also cut down man hours spent at the area by conservation officers.

Hunters will be required to erect blinds no more than 25 feet from pre—assigned numbered stakes. There are 40 stakes in the approximately 1,400 acre area.

The new regulations, said Mr. MacDonald will make everything run a lot smoother.

Open season on waterfowl begins Sept. 27.

Strike Has Little Effect

Officials at Stanley Structures Ltd., Friday denied rumors they are experiencing difficulties as a result of a strike at their cement supplier, Canada Cement, in Bath.

The Union of Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers of American have been on strike at Canada Cement for about six weeks.

A spokesman at Stanley Structures Ltd., said they are getting cement from other suppliers. He said they anticipate no problems and the plant will remain fully operational.

Stolen Car Recovered

Paul John Dixon, 19, of 412 Victoria Ave., has been charged with automobile theft and was brought back to Belleville from Toronto today by city police.

Dixon was arrested by Toronto police Friday after recovery of a car owned by William Boyd of 22 Edgehill Rd.

City police said the vehicle was stolen from Mr. Boyd's driveway.

In another incident, police said plate glass windows in Wonnacott Jewellers at 278 Front St. were damaged by what appeared to be a pellet gun. Damage was estimated at $300.

District at a Glance

Farmer Fined

BALTIMORE, Ont. — An area farmer of this hamlet was fined $1,000 or six months in jail in provincial court at Port Hope Thursday following his conviction on income tax evasion charges.

Gerben De Jong of RR 2 Baltimore was convicted on a charge under the Income Tax Act of evading payment of federal taxes of $3,300 on unreported income of about $25,000.

Baltimore is located about 45 miles west of Belleville.

Hospital to Expand

KINGSTON — The provincial ministry of health has approved contract awards for construction of a new cancer clinic and regional rehabilitation unit at Kingston General Hospital at a cost of about $4.8 million.

The announcement was made Friday afternoon by health minister Frank Miller who said the ministry will contribute two-thirds to the clinic building cost while the remainder will be financed by the Ontario Cancer Treatment Research Foundation.

Signs of the Times

Examples of each Quinte riding political party's advertising shows a wide and varied assortment of campaign literature and other items designed to whet the voters' appetites. Each party seems to have something the other two do not. Among the personal printed self-plaudits are the usual praises of provincial party leaders and provincial policy.

TIM FOLI

Fiery Foli Flips

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tim Foli of Montreal Expos, upset by his ejection from play, angrily confronted umpires off the field after Friday night's game against the Pirates.

Second base umpire Paul Runge ejected Foli after the fiery infielder contested a sixth-inning play at second during Montreal's 6-3 loss to the Pirates.

"After the game, Foli waited out back in the area we have to go by to get off the field, and he challenged Runge in street clothes," said umpire Bruce Froemming, the crew chief.

"Runge told him to back off, and he started a barrage of cussing which was the worst I have heard from a professional athlete in all my years of umpiring," Froemming said. "He had to be restrained by coach Dave Bristol, and at that time he also laid his barrage of profanity on me.

Cards Keep Hopes Alive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Are the Redbirds dead birds?

In other words, do St. Louis Cardinals have a chance to catch the high-flying Pittsburgh Pirates in National League baseball's East Division?

"We've got a chance," says positive-thinking Mike Tyson. "If we can just get within four games of Pittsburgh by the time we start a series with the Pirates, we've got a chance."

The Cardinals, who face the Pirates in a three-game series at the end of the season in St. Louis, kept their fading hopes alive Friday night with a 5-1 victory over New York Mets.

It kept the third-place Cardinals 7½ games back of the Pirates. The Pirates whipped Montreal Expos 6-3 to increase their lead to 5½ games over second - place Philadelphia Phillies.

"If people want to keep their championship hopes up, we can't afford to lose—period," noted St. Louis catcher Ted Simmons, pointing out the obvious. "Time is running out."

In other National League games Friday night, San Diego Padres stopped Houston Astros 1-0; Atlanta Braves turned back Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 and Cincinnati Reds defeated San Francisco Giants 6-3.

Luis Melendez singled twice and scored two runs and Tyson cracked a two-run double, leading St. Louis past New York. All St. Louis runs came during two-out rallies as the Cardinals snaped a four-game losing streak behind Lynn McGlothen, 15-11, who scattered seven hits.

One of them was by Mike Vail, New York's sensational rookie who hit in his 20th consecutive game, a National League record for this season.

Dave Parker hit a trhee-run homer and Bob Moose pitched 7 1-3 innings of shutout relief to rally Pittsburgh over Montreal.

Tito Fuentes' sacrifice fly in the ninth inning gave San Diego its victory over Houston. Bobby Tolan led off the ninth with a single, moved to second on a balk and advanced to third on a sacrifice before scoring on Fuentes' fly ball.

The victory went to Dave Tomlin, 3-2, who recorded just one out after Dan Spillner loaded the bases in the top of the ninth after pitching shutout ball for 8 2-3 innings.

Dusty Baker slugged his 17th home run of the season and rapped a run-scoring single to back the four-hit pitching of Phil Niekro and lead Atlanta past Los Angeles.

Baker's homer staked the Braves to a 1-0 lead in the second inning. They made it 2-0 with an unearned run in the third, the result of an error by Dodgers' first baseman Steve Garvey and Baker's RBI single. Niekro, 15-12, lost his shutout in the seventh on Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly. An error by Darrell Evans led to the run.

Pete Rose singled and scored on an error in the first inning and belted a run-scoring single in the second, helping Cincinnati beat San Francisco. Left-hander Fred Norman, 10-4, posted the victory over San Francisco's rookie sensation John Montefusco, 13-9. Montefusco struck out 12 Reds for a season total of 203, most by a rookie since Gary Nolan's 206 for Cincinnati in 1967.

New Life for Orioles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore Orioles won't go down without ruffling a few feathers.

All but counted out when they dropped two games to the first-place Boston Red Sox in Baltimore last week and fell eight games off the pace in baseball's American League East Division, manager Earl Weaver has his Orioles on the wing again

The Orioles have taken to the road and won seven of nine to soar right back into the thick of things.

"We've proven we're not quitting," declared Weaver after his club beat Detroit Tigers 6-4 in 11 innings Friday night to pull within 4½ games of the Red Sox, whose game against Milwaukee was rained out.

"We'll fight," vowed Weaver, 'We'll argue with umpires. It's going right down to the wire. We're not quitting no matter what happens."

Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago beat Texas 5-2, Kansas City swept two from California 10-2 and 7-2 and Oakland won the opener of its doubleheader with Minnesota 11-4 before losing 7-6. Cleveland at New York was rained out.

When it comes to arguing with umpires, Weaver talks from experience. The Baltimore skipper was not around to see the conclusion of his team's latest victory, having been ejected by home plate umpire Joe Brinkman for arguing a strike call in the 10th inning.

Ellie Hendricks' three-run homer capped a four-run second inning that staked winner Mike Torrez to an early lead, but the Tigers tied the score on two-run homers by Tom Veryzer in the fifth inning and Ben Oglivie in the eighth. Then a trio of pinch-hitters won it in the 11th.

Al Bumbry drew a leadoff walk, moved to third on Tony Muser's hit-and-run single and scored on ex-Tiger Jim Northrup's double. Ken Singleton added a sacrifice fly for the final run.

The victory at Tiger Stadium was especially sweet for Northrup.

"It's a particularly good feeling getting a hit like this against Detroit, because the fans really wanted me out of here," said Northrup, sold by the Tigers in 1974 after nearly 10 full years in Detroit.

'That makes it extra-special. The night before I left, they booed the heck out of me. Let's say I'm not unhappy I left."

Peterborough Takes Charge

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Peterborough coach Ben Floyd won't be all that surprised Sunday night if his Gray-Munros beat Burnaby, B.C., and win the Minto Cup, emblematic of Canadian junior A lacrosse supremacy.

Floyd was even less surprised Friday night when his team defeated Burnaby 17-9 for its third consecutive win in the best-of-seven series.

"We just handle the ball so much better than they do," Floyd said after his team outshot the visitors 73-37 and controlled play for most of the game.

After an loss last Sunday night in the first game of the series, the Peterborough defence has backed a high-scoring offence that's forced the western representatives into a do-or-die situation.

Paul Evans scored four Peterborough goals while Bob Wasson and Randy Bryan added three each. Dan Green and Ken Byers had two and Steve Plunkett, Gord Duncan and Mark Vitarelli had single goals.

Kelly McLenaghen had three goals for Burnaby, and Bob Cool added two. Dan Perrault, Mike McLenaghen, Hartley Olson and Kevin Alexander closed out the Burnaby scoring.

Burnaby coach Dan Mattinson wasn't looking for excuses after Friday's game, but pointed to Peterborough's goaltending change in the second period as his team's downfall.

Floyd took out Mike Legrow and replaced him with Fred Gardner mid-way through the period. Peterborough broke a 2-2 first-period tie with five unanswered goals at the beginning of the second, but penalty trouble and a defensive lapse had Burnaby within range halfway through the period.

Floyd took out Legrow and Peterborough responded with four goals in one surge and took a 12-6 lead into the final period.

"It was a game until he (Legrow) went out," said Mattinson.

Burnaby goalie John Lewis stopped 28 shots in the first period and played a strong game throughout.

Mattinson said a combination of youth and Peterborough toughness was taking its toll on his team.

"Our young ones are getting burned on the one-on-one," Mattinson said. 'Peterborough just muscles their way in."

The Peterborough defence turned in another strong performance.

Important Games On Tap in CFL

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tight conference races make all three Canadian Football League contests this weekend must-win situations.

Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes, tied for first place in the Eastern Conference with 10 points apiece, meet today in Montreal.

Toronto Argonauts, tied for third place with Hamilton Tiger-Cats with four points each, visit Vancouver tonight to meet the rejuvenated British Columbia Lions of the Western Conference.

Edmonton Eskimos, tied with Saskatchewan Roughriders for the Western Conference's top spot, will visit Hamilton Sunday.

When the Eskimos arrive in Hamilton they will be meeting a newly-returned Andy Hopkins, a star running back for the Ticats who was out for four games with a broken arm.

Meanwhile, there was bad news for Toronto coach Russ Jackson who learned Thursday that all-star defensive tackle Jim Stillwagon will remain on the injured list with a damaged knee.

The Lions, who rebounded with two consecutive victories after spending the early part of the season on the skids, feel they have the momentum to continue their winning ways.

"If we stay healthy, we've got a good chance at the playoffs," says rookie lineback Larry Cameron. "We've got good personnel."

One change in the B.C. lineup will see backup quarterback Eric Guthrie handling place-kicking duties in addition to his chores as a punter. Rookie was released earlier this week.

Edmonton will be pinning its hopes on receivers John Konihowski and all-star George McGowan, who is returning to form after suffering a series of injuries last year.

Konihowski, 25, a hurdler with hopes for the 1976 Montreal Olympics before opting for professional football after a sensational career with the University of Saskatchewan Huskies, has caught 11 passes this season for 320 yards and three touchdowns.

"I got it into my head that if the linemen were all doing their jobs blocking and the quarterback was getting his throw on target, then I was letting them down if I dropped the pass," says Konihowski. "So I made up my mind not to drop any."

Agreement Reached

MONTREAL (CP) — An agreement has been reached between the Olympic Games organizing committee and the European Broadcasting Union (EBU) for television coverage of the 1976 Summer Olympics for a price of "slightly over $10 million," it was learned Friday.

A spokesman for the organizing committee said the 14 members of the committee's board of directors had been consulted before the agreement was concluded.

He said the EBU had been informed and replied that the terms of the agreement were acceptable. Formal signing of the contract will take place later.

The agreement will provide television coverage for all nations outside North America except Taiwa and the Caribbean. Rights for these countries have yet to be negotiated.

United States rights were awarded last year for $25 million.

Leader Pointing to Third Round

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Pat Fitzsimons has the lead, but the key to his chances for victory in the $200,000 World Open golf tournament is today's third round.

"The third round is the really important one in winning," the red-haired, 24-year-old Fitzsimons said Friday. "You have to get yourself in position to win in the third round then just gut it in on the last day."

Fitzsimons followed that formula early this year when he emerged from the ranks of the tour's faceless plodders with an upset triumph in the Los Angeles Open. He bolted into the lead in the third round with a brilliant 64, then brought it home with a solid 70 on the last day.

He won't have to be that good this time, Jack Nicklaus said.

"He's in position so that two rounds of par would give him a very, very good chance of winning," Nicklaus analyzed.

Fitzsimons' score is 136. That's six under the demanding par on the double-tough No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club course. And it's the best 36-hole total Fitzsimons has had in his three years as a touring pro. He achieved it with a scrambling second-round 69 in warm, breezy weather Friday.

Fitzsimons forged a one-stroke lead over Rod Funseth and rookie Howard Twitty halfway through the chase for a $40,000 first prize.

They're tied at 137. The veteran Funseth made eagle-three on the 16th hole for the second day in a row and shot a 70. Twitty had a 68.

Tom Weiskopf, with a 71, and Ed Sneed, with a 70, were next at 138. Lee Elder, the firstround leader, went to a 74 and was tied at 139 with Tom Kite and Danny Edwards. Kite had a 66, Edwards a 72.

Nicklaus shot a 71 and was five strokes off the pace at 141.

Lee Trevino had a 73-142 and defending champion Johnny Miller 71-144. Arnold Palmer, now 46, struggled to a 74 and failed to qualify for the final two rounds with a 147 total. It was the fourth time in 19 starts this season he'd missed the cut.

Drennan Power

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Pitcher Bill Drennan hit a game-winning home run Friday to give Burlington Provisioners a 3-2 victory over Hamilton Waxman Scrappers in the first game of their Ontario Fastball League semi-finals.

Burlington led 2-0 until the top of the ninth inning when Hamilton got two runs on a hit and two Burlington errors.

Hal Kemp scored for Burlington in the fourth inning on a wild pitch. Pete Giacinti tripled in the seventh inning and got home on a hit by Dave Bourne.

Drennan, who pitched a five-hitter and struck out 10 batters, got a 250-foot home run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

In the top of the ninth, Ted Deruiter hit a single for Hamilton and went to third on an error by Giacinti on Fran Stuart's grounder. When Deruiter sacrificed home, Stuart went to second, stole third base and scored on a throwing error by Giacinti.

Officials' Backs Up

TORONTO (CP) — The National Hockey League Officials Association has asked league president Clarence Campbell to curb players and team management from questioning and criticizing in public calls made by officials during hockey games.

Bruce Hood, senior referee of the association, said Friday that unless the situation is rectified, officials will have no choice but to publicly defend their decisions.

"Players and coaches have been running off at the mouth and if the league doesn't do something to curb continuation of the situation, we'll have no recourse but to defence ourselves publicly," he said.

The National Basketball Association has a new ruling preventing players and team officials from commenting publicly on officiating.

This season, only captains will be permitted to question the officials during a game. If any penalized player protests or questions a call, he will be assessed an extra two minutes for abuse of an official.

Hood made the comment as NHL officials reached the midway point in their 10-day training camp at a local arena.

High School Football Ready and Raring to Go

It's leather popping time again at high schools in the Bay of Quinte area.

And the preparations for football season openers have moved into high gear this week as coaches put their charges through the tough practice grinds.

It's work, work, work and more work for the young footballers and their teacher-coaches with the schedule opening next week.

Yes, the serious head knocking begins Tuesday with a junior match at Bayside Secondary School with Quinte Saints the visitors. Action in junior and senior divisions continues Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons as play gets under way in earnest.

Thanks to Joe Dicresce, convenor for the Bay of Quinte League, we have a complete schedule of games on hand. Watch the sports calendar. Joe is a coach of the junior team at Trenton High School.

The junior section has grown to eight teams this season with the inclusion of squads from Napanee and District Secondary School and Prince Edward Collegiate Institute. Back from last year are Centennial, Moira, Quinte, Bayside, and Centre Hastings Secondary Schools and Trenton High School.

The six-team senior grouping has Centennial, Moira, Quinte, Centre Hastings, Bayside and Trenton ready to go.

Defending Bay of Quinte champion Trenton Tigers make their first start, Wednesday, with Centre Hastings the visiting team. The same day, Centennial is at Napanee.

Many of the squads are forced to rebuild this time around. Graduating players cut into the ranks of the senior teams and there are always those who do not turn out with the teams because they wish to concentrate on their studies in the higher grades.

But one can always be assured that there will be plenty of entertaining football served up by the schools in this area. Junior or senior, the competition is keen and school spirit is usually at a very high level during the football season.

This time around should be no different.

SLICES— Gary Goyer's Bayview Golfing Centre, now in its second year of operation just west of the city on the north side of Highway 2, gave up its second hole in one, Thursday.

The first ace of this year was scored by Ron LaFrance of Trenton, reports Goyer.

LaFrance, golfing with Craig Woo and Ed Jones aced the 135-yard seventh hole. He was using a nin iron.

The Gas House Hockey League has set Tuesday, September 16 as its deadline for entries. Entry fees are due and payable at a meeting set for Sir James Whitney School at 7 p.m.

Heading up the league this season is newly elected president Art Buller with Barry Brown the vice-president; Steve Miller, secretary and Jim Parker, treasurer.

The loop already lists nine definite starters. They are Belleville Generals, Constellation Carpets, Art's Esso, Chuckwagon Foods, Belleville Yardmen, Bob's Sports (Formerly Stanley Structures) and three new arrivals, Proctor and Gamble, Independents, and Bel-Con Engineering, Ltd.

Thurlow girls' softball leagues held their closing day recently. Plainfield Metals took the junior title and the Harold Griffin Plumbing Trophy; Lou Williams was tops in intermediate ranks and received the Joe Laton Grading Trophy, and in senior, it was Plainfield Metals again, taking the Bob's Sports Trophy.

Conveners are Gord Gregory and Harold Griffin.

Glen Reid Plumbing donated prizes for the closing field day.

Thanks to Nick Markanastasakis (just call me Nick Mark) we've been able to keep up with happenings in the Bay of Quinte Soccer Association.

Nick, of Front Barber Salon, passes along the roundup every Friday morning.

The soccer association owes this enthusiast a vote of thanks. I know this department is grateful for his efforts.

World Record Catch

PETIT de GRAT, N.S. (CP) — Jay Hawley of Deseronto, Ont., has established a world record for the largest blue shark ever caught with a rod and reel, it was announced here Friday.

Hawley caught the 10-foot, one-inch blue shark which weighed 350 pounds in waters off this eastern Nova Scotia port. The catch has been recognized by the International Game Fish Association as a world record.

The previous record was 10 feet, one inch with a weight of 341 pounds.

BIRTHS

BRANT — Elton and Sheryle (nee Cretney) are pleased to announce the birth of their daughter, Laura Ruth, weight 8 lbs., 5½ ozs. on Saturday, September 6th, 1975 at the Belleville General Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Allore and nurses.

IN MEMORIAM

FRIZZONE — In loving memory of a dear wife Emily Cordellia Penny Viola Frizzone who passed away September 14th, 1962.
Nothing can ever take away,
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps her near.
—Always remembered by husband Charles Nelson Frizzone.

JORDAN, Margaret — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away Sept. 13, 1974.
In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay,
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain,
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.
—Sadly missed by daughter Betty, son-in-law Wayne, granddaughters Kim, Kelly and Kristina.

LLOYD Vivienne Mildred (Fina), — Our loving Mom who passed away Friday, September 13th, 1974.
A page in the book of memories,
Is gently turned today,
We are thinking of you, Mom,
But then that's nothing new;
We thought about you yesterday,
And the day before that, too,
To some you may be forgotten,
To others part of the past,
To those who loved you and lost you,
Your memory will always last.
We will always remember the way you looked,
The way you walked and smiled,
The things you always said and did,
Are with us all the while,
So many things have happened, Mom,
Since you were called away,
So many thoughts to share with you,
Had you been left to stay,
We cannot bring the old days back,
Your hand we cannot touch,
But we still have our memories,
Of the one we loved so much,
But looking back with memories,
Upon the path you trod,
We bless the years we had with you,
And leave the rest to God,
And to you children who have a Mom,
Cherish her with care,
For you'll never know the heartache,
Till you see her vacant chair.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by daughter Marilyn, son-in-law Gary and grandson Kim Stewart.

RENOUF — In memory of my very dear friend, Margaret "Jane" R.N. of Kingston General Hospital, who died on Sept. 14, 1971 from the result of an accident, in her 25th year.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear "Jane,"
That I do not think of you.
—Treasured memories — Luella Hannah (nee Kilpatrick), London Ont.

BELCH — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather George E. Belch who passed away Sept. 14, 1971.
The joys we shared together,
The memories we hold dear,
The love and happiness you gave,
Will always keep you near,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Jean, son-in-law Allan and granddaughter Cathy.

JORDAN — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Margaret Murray who passed away Sept. 13, 1974.
We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you,
Are very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see the face of mother, dear,
Come smiling through the door.
—Ever remembered by daughter Frances and son-in-law George and granddaughters Lisa and Lori.

JORDAN — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Margaret Murray, who passed away Sept. 13, 1974.
In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay,
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain,
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.
—Ever remembered, Bill, Doreen, David, Denise and Tim.

BELCH — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather George Belch who passed away Sept. 14, 1971.
God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed his weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine,"
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by son George and daughter-in-law Joanne, grandchildren Carla Jean and Georgia Lynn.

IN MEMORIAM

JORDAN, Margaret M. (Delg) — Dear mother and grandmother.
Let's light the lamp of memory,
And feel its glow so warm,
We'll dream awhile of yesterday,
And childhood on the farm,
Memory is the golden bridge,
That keeps our hearts in touch,
With all the long-past yesterdays,
And things we loved so much.
—Sadly missed by Bob, Elaine and the grandchildren.

CROUTER —
Memory drifts to scenes long past,
Time rolls on, but memories last,
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all.
—Remembered by daughter, son and family.

BELCH — In loving memory of my dear husband, George E. Belch who passed away Sept. 14, 1971.
It is sad to walk the road alone,
Instead of side by side,
But to all there comes a moment,
When the ways of life divide,
You gave me years of happiness,
Then came sorrow and tears,
But you left me beautiful memories,
I will treasure through the years.
Though absent you are very near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.
—Lovingly remembered by wife Margaret.

GODFREY — In memory of our dear mother, Catherine Morris Godfrey who passed away Sept. 13, 1974.
Treasured thoughts of one so dear,
Often bring a silent tear,
Thoughts return to scenes long past,
Time rolls on but memories last.
—Lovingly remembered by the family.

CENTURY OLD STONE HOUSE

Less than a mile north of the city. On a large lot 195 ft. by 150 ft. This home would make a nice big, one family home, or leave it as it is and the rent from the upstairs apartments will help pay the mortgage.

THE IDEAL OPPORTUNITY

Live in the 3 bedroom area of this large east hill home and be the landlord of the two, two bedroom apartments. This is one way to fight the high cost of living accomodation. The complete residence is in excellent condition. Have a look at this arrangement this weekend. Give us a call!

BELLEVILLE AREA

Two separate businesses, one owner. Gas bar 300,000 gallons per year, sports equipment, bait and licenses. Restaurant (good truck stop business), over 1200 sq. ft. modern living accommodation. Financial statement available to serious client. Asking $215,000.00 half down and owner will take back at current rates. One of the best locations in the Belleville area. Approximately 240 ft. highway frontage and river frontage

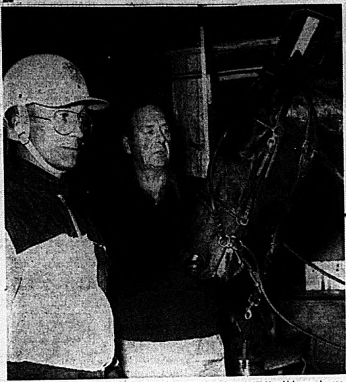
Speedy Deacon, Happy Cindy Stakes Winners



Clure Archdekin and Earnest Spurr happily congratulate Speedy Deacon, winner of the Ontario Sires Stakes feature in the Quinte Exhibition Raceways' second race of the night, Friday. Archdekin drove the horse to victory in 2:16.4 to pick up a purse of $4,973.64, which may be one of the reasons Spurr, the horse's owner and trainer, is smiling

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

Things didn't exactly get off to a great start Friday night at the Quinte Exhibition Raceway, as, in the first race two horses did not finish.

What happened was that Boycelands' Magic and Northwood Hazy were both coming around the far turn, when their hooves seemed to become entangled.

Northwood Hazy went out of control and slammed into the guard rails, taking driver Russ McQuaid right along. Luckily neither was injured and the race was not affected.

Winner was Miss Taraway, driven by Brian Minifie, in a time of 2:16.

With the win went a cooler, presented by Liberal candidate for the Quinte Riding, Hugh O'Neil.

In the second race the winnings went up a little, with an Ontario Sires Stakes being run for two year old fillies. The purse was $4,973.64 and was taken by Speedy Deacon in 2:16.4. The winner was driven by Clure Archdeacon.

In the ninth race another Ontario Sires Stakes was run.

Winner was Happy Cindy, with Scott Rowe at the reins, in a time of 2:14.

The eighth race saw a $600.00 purse and a Ziebart Rustproofing cooler (blanket) go to winner Rob Ron Roddie. The mile was run in 2:09.3 with Brian Bellamy driving.

It seemed to be a bad night for horses, as three did not finish over the night because of various mishaps.

Winning drivers for the night were, Brian Minifie, Clure Archdekin, Anthony Kerwood, David Irwin, Glenn Tennant, Jack Williams, Randy Bird, Brian Bellamy, Scott Rowe and Guy LaRush.

With his win in the 10th race, at the reins of Paddy O'Hara, LaRush put a stronger hold on first place in the driver standings, with 21 wins. Second is Pat Hunt with 17 victories and then Brian Bellamy at the 15 win mark. Larry Zebedee has 14 wins under his belt while Jack Harry can claim eight winning drives so far.

In the percentages ReJean Boily has moved into the lead, with a .480 average, second is Pat Hunt at .472. LaRush has dropped to third, with a .471 average while Brian Bellamy is fourth at .457. In the fifth spot is Ross Ray at .434.

With the racing season very close to an end all of the drivers are still close in both categories.

SOVIETS WIN AGAIN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The Soviet Union's volleyball team displayed outstanding teamwork and technique and easily defeated a young United States team 15-6, 15-9, 15-12 Friday night. The victory raised the Soviet's record to 22-1 against the American team over the seven-stop tour.

FOYT WINS POLE

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — A. J. Foyt shattered the 200-mile-an-hour barrier Friday to win the pole position for the 150-mile Indianapolis portion of today's Michigan Grand Prix auto race. He covered the two-mile course in 201.177 m.p.h. Second-fastest among the early qualifiers was Johnny Rutherford at 198.829 m.p.h.

Cablevue Team Tops In Peewee Division

Cablevue players obviously saved their best shot for the win that gave them the peewee championship in the Belleville Minor Baseball Association. Hooked up in a close duel with H and M Variety for the honors, Cablevue broke things wide open in the fifth game of the final, taking the series 3-2 in games with a convincing 13-3 win.

Scores leading up to game four were much closer.

In the deciding match, Robbie Revoy picked up the win, allowing seven hits while striking out three and walking four.

Sharing the pitching for H and M were Kevin Jones and Al Carlington who were touched for 11 hits while fanning two and issuing six free tickets to first base.

Jim Cook had a triple and single for the winners and Bill Harvey connected for a pair of singles. Rounding out the hit parade were Sean Boomhower, Revoy, Bradley Gray, Robert Boomhower, Dave Coughlan and Andy Balyx.

Jeff Hannah pounded a home run for H and M. Checking in with a triple was Carlington while Jeff Ricketts doubled and Kris Kults supplied two singles. Jones and John Ricketts each singled once.

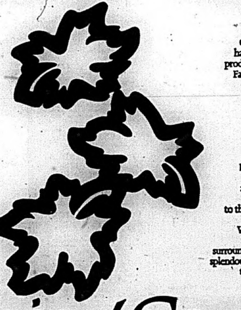
The Reds are Coming and so are the golds to highlight Ontario's splendid autumn festival of colour. Join with nature in celebrating our harvest season.



With markets, fairs, and festivals, Ontario salutes the coming of the harvest season. Open markets offer produce fresh from field and orchard. Fall fairs carry the day's excitement into the cool autumn evenings. Most vacation resorts are open so you can swim, fish, golf, or just relax under warm skies, surrounded by some of the most beautiful fall scenery in the world.

From September 18 to October 5, enjoy the Algoma Fall Festival, a two-week celebration of all the arts—from craft and film displays to the painting of Ken Danby and the piano stylings of Oscar Peterson. What better location for a festival of the arts than Sault Ste. Marie, surrounded by the breathtaking autumn splendour of Algoma country, inspiration to generations of Canadian artists.

Weekend Horoscopes

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
Sunday, Sept. 14

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll try to use cute little ploys to pass off things you should be doing. Your subterfuges won't work.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to take strong positions on issues on which you are not fully informed. A sharp opponent will tear your arguments to shreds.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are overly defensive today regarding one of the family. A friend's innocent remarks will be misinterpreted, causing hard feelings.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Follow your instincts in making an important decision. Try to placate everyone and you'll wind up pleasing no one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your judgment in materialistic pursuits is razor-sharp today. It's in contrast to your insensitivity to more aesthetic values.

VIRGO (Agu. 23-Sept. 22) Don't come on too strong today with people of lesser means, unless you want to be embarrassed into sharing when you don't want to.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can attain what you seek today, but you must know when to stop talking. Otherwise you'll make far-out concessions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you've accomplished is worth bragging about, but in low-key terms or a friend will feel you're talking down to him.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're more interested in a good time today than in responsibilities. Accordingly, you'll use a mild feint where a knockout punch is needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Concern with making a favorable impression will lead you to follow a vacillating course detrimental to your own cause.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 29) Don't let anyone unfamiliar with your business give you advice off the top of their head. There's danger if you're tempted to follow it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're a prime target for a hard-luck story today. It won't make you any less a humanitarian to make sure you're not being put on.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL
Monday, Sept. 15

Aries (March 21-April 19) Don't take things for granted today, careerwise or in dealings with friends. You're on very slippery ground.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) You're not likely to have your priorities in proper perspective today. A matter of importance will be neglected.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Be extra careful how you handle financial affairs today, or you may make some irrational moves, hoping to save money. They'll cost you instead.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) It will cause severe repercussions today if you poke your nose into another's confidential affairs. Keep your comments to yourself.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be saddled with obligations today not of your making. Though you're aware of this, they'll still not be easy to dodge.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take no risk while working that would violate safety procedures today. Be patient. Don't let your attention wander.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is definitely not the day to try to keep up with the Joneses. Don't overspend to try to impress someone.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not apt to be as patient and tolerant as you should be in order to maintain tranquility at home today.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could further complicate a friend's serious problem by offering advice today without having full knowledge of the facts.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Treat warily any business tips you're let in on today by insiders. Be sure you have the complete picture before acting.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll do a lot of ineffective dumping around unless you organize your time and set specific goals.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) You have a tendency today to turn things that should be pleasurable into chores. Look for the brighter side.

To Your Good Health

Watch Pounds And Not Calories

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I will soon be done with my diet. I want to know whether, if my daily caloric intake is 2,500 calories, that means my body can keep 2,500 calories, or does it mean I must burn up these calories to maintain my desired weight?

Say I burn off 1,000 of those calories each day. Does this mean I can have 1,000 more that day and keep my weight?

I hope you can understand my question. I guess what I'm asking is whether, once I quit my diet, I can start eating normally again right away.

I'm a healthy girl—M. M.

I sometimes wish the word calories had never been coined. One can visualize you and others like you sitting there with slide rules trying to work out caloric equations that might puzzle a chemical engineer.

Let's just say you will never be "done with" your diet. This is one of the "lost secrets" I often speak about.

I think you would do better thinking in terms of pounds that register on your bathroom scale than in things as sophisticated as calories. But I can answer your question.

If you take in 2,500 calories, then, of course, you must "burn up" 2,500 calories to stay even. That is elemental. If you use only 1000 of those calories, then the remaining 1,500 will turn up as extra tissue somewhere in your body.

You apparently have lost weight with your restricted food intake. You don't give me your statistics (before or after your dieting) nor do you give your height.

But let's say that you now are a lithesome young lady, and that you turn eyes at the beach. Great. But remember. You had a weight problem, and you still have it to some extent.

The first order of business is to get a reliable scale, keep it adjusted, and use it frequently—at last a couple of times a week. If you detect a gain of a pound or two, you know what must be done. Reduce consumption of weight-building items such as desserts, fatty foods and sugars (pastries and candy).

It is easier to lose two or three pounds now than to try to lose eight or 10 pounds later. You know that from experience.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to have your advice regarding a skin problem on my feet. I have severe itching on the top of both feet, at the base of my heels beginning just below the ankle and running around to the opposite ankle bone. There is nothing between the toes or on the bottom of my feet. It usually starts with blisters.

I am 62 years old and in generally good health. Medication hasn't helped.—E. R. K.

Because of the uniform appearance of the itching, I would suspect a shoe dermatitis, a fancy way of saying you may be sensitive to a shoe dye or some other material used in manufacturing shoes.

There are special shoes available that minimize such sensitizing materials. Sometimes, a pair of cotton slip-on foot coverings will do the trick.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Today at lunch, a young man with whom I work stated that he wasn't eating lunch because he was fasting all day. He said he has read that people should fast a day a week to cleanse the body so it can function normally.

Is there any basis for this statement? He says many doctors do this.—Miss J. W.

Not true. But if he persists, suggest he contribute the money he saves to agencies providing foods for less-fortunate people.

AUCTION SALE

TOOL AUCTION
Due to the ever increasing demand for used tools and the scarcity of these items we have found it necessary to conduct a consignment tool and mechanics auction this month.
SEPT. 24/75, WEDNESDAY
Because the price of new items is soaring more and more every day due to inflation, mechanics, handimen and other individuals are forced to pay higher prices for used items but still save money.
Items in great demand which you should sell if you don't need them are: air compressors, welders, grinders, sanders, power saws, socket sets, misc. tools, buffers, small steel and wood lathes, all kinds of measuring tools.
If you have any of these items, call us and find out how to consign them to our sale — (you pay only the commission).

Rebels Capture Egypt's Embassy

MADRID (Reuter) — A group of armed Palestinians seized the Egyptian embassy in the Spanish capital today, threatening to blow it up and kill the ambassador if Egypt did not denounce its interim peace agreement with Israel.

Later, a spokesman for the group telephoned Reuters news agency and said the building would be blown up at 6 p.m. EDT if the Egyptian government did not denounce the agreement.

He also said the Egyptian government would answer with the lives of the ambassador and two other hostages if it did not meet the Palestinian demands.

A Spanish girl secretary at the embassy told Reuters she saw four Palestinians—earlier reports said there were five—enter the embassy.

The men, one of them carrying a briefcase, said they were a Palestinian commission and wanted to see the ambassador. They were told the ambassador was not immediately available.

The secretary, Mercedes Eizaguirre, 22, said the men, aged between 28 and 30, then entered a bathroom and emerged each armed with a pistol. They told the entire embassy staff of about 20 diplomats, five secretaries and two porters to assemble in the hall.

The apparent leader of the group, who spoke good Spanish, ordered Ambassador Abdel Gaffar, Press Attache Mohammed el-Afifi and Consul Mohammed Mekky into a room. The rest were told to leave the building quickly, she said.

In Cairo, the Middle East news agency said Egypt holds Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat and all Palestinians responsible for the occupation of the embassy.

A Spanish journalist allowed up to the first floor of the building said the ambassadors of Iraq, Algeria, Kuwait and Jordan, who had wanted to negotiate with the Palestinians, were not allowed into the embassy. He said the Iraqi ambassador was talking to the commandos over a megaphone.

The journalist said two of the Palestinians had told the ambassador they were members of Al Fatah, the largest of the Palestinian guerrilla groups and headed by Arafat.

Police occupied a small apartment immediately next door to the embassy entrance but were keeping out of sight.

Christian-Moslem Fighting Spreads

BEIRUT (AP) — Palestinian mediation averted a potentially explosive anti-government strike planned by leftist Moslems today, but Christian-Moslem fighting spread to Beirut.

At least 20 more persons were reported killed in machine-gun battles Saturday night and Sunday in the northern city of Tripoli, the hills around it and several Beirut suburbs. This increased the casualty toll since Sept. 3 to nearly 150 killed and twice that many wounded.

Moslem leftists had called a countrywide general strike to protest the use of the army as a buffer force between warring Christians and Moslems in northern Lebanon. Premier Rashid Karami, a Moslem, asked Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat to intercede with the leftists, and he arranged a meeting between Karami and Socialist bloc leader Kamal Jumblatt.

Jumblatt agreed to call off the strike "to avoid having the fighting move to Beirut." Karami said he had established a new dialogue with the left which would pave the way to "national reconciliation." Palestinian guerrillas of the Syrian-backed Saiqa group passed the word that any shopkeeper who did not open for business faced guerrilla reprisals, and most Beirut shops were open today.

However, fighting broke out Sunday in four suburbs of Beirut, and witnesses said Palestinian guerrillas were among the Moslem forces battling Christian militiamen of the conservative Phalangist party. Seven persons were reported killed.

Army troops near Tripoli opened fire for the first time since they established buffer zones last week between the warring Christians and Moslems.

Postal Union Head Criticizes Mackasey

HALIFAX (CP) —Joe Davidson, national president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, said Sunday he feels Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey is sorry he said he will shut down the post office in the event of a national postal strike.

He said following a closed meeting with his Nova Scotia membership he feels the statement is "very irresponsible."

Mr. Mackasey said last week he would consider shutting down the post office for two or three months if a national strike occurs.

Mr. Davidson said in an interview he does not know if the postmaster-general will follow through on his threat.

The union leader said Nova Scotia postal workers are behind the national office policies.

He felt the postal workers had been able to substantiate their demands for a 71-per-cent increase over one year which would bring them into the $14,000 to $15,000 wage bracket.

Luder May Okay Cabinet Changes

BUENOS AIRES (Reuter) — Political sources predict acting-President Italo Luder will approve cabinet changes and tough army action against left-wing guerrillas.

The interim leader of the country was sworn in Saturday as a stand-in for ailing President Isabel Peron, 44, who flew Sunday night to the air force-owned Escochinga Country Club in the Cordoba Hills 375 miles northwest of Buenos Aires for a vacation at least a month.

When Luder, the 58-year-old Senate Speaker, was sworn in, Mrs. Peron said: "This is nothing more than a temporary farewell." Officials reported she would return in time for celebrations of the Peronist "Loyalty Day" Oct. 17.

But speculation continued she might decide to quit her position, and observers rated three statements as significant:

—Foreign Minister Angel Robledo, a confidante of the president, said Friday night that "if she does decide to resign it will be her own decision, based on advice from her doctors."

—Mrs. Peron said Saturday that any action taken by Luder would have her full support.

—Luder said he would call a news conference soon to discuss his plans.

Political sources say the armed forces were ready to step up action against both the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) and the dissident Peronist Montoneros if they received permission from the political rulers.

They said Mrs. Peron, recalling the view of her late husband, Juan Peron, that guerrillas were a police problem, might have been reluctant to use the army more.

Police Accept Contract

MONTREAL (CP) — A strike by Montreal policemen was averted Sunday after they narrowly accepted the city's final contract proposals by a 260-vote margin during two boisterous meetings.

Boos mingled with cheers as Gilbert Custeau, president of the Montreal Policemen's Brotherhood, announced that the proposals, which include an improved offer on the crucial issue of work schedules, had been accepted.

Little more than half the Montreal Urban Community's (MUC) 5,200 police force turned out for the secret ballot voting. The official count showed 1,611 in favor, 1,151 against and nine abstentions.

Union spokesmen attributed the closeness of the vote to dissatisfaction among the force's 3,200 constables who will work under the proposed schedule, to be employed on an experimental basis for nine weeks.

Olympic TV Rights Finalized

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The European Broadcasting Union (EBU) formally announced today a final agreement with Montreal organizers on television coverage of the 1976 Summer Olympics outside North America.

The EBU said five regional TV groups from East and West Europe, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East will together pay the Montreal organizing committee $9.4 million for television rights.

The amount is $100,000 above EBU's last "final" offer, which was rejected by the Montreal group which had originally demanded $18 million.

Teachers' Strike May End Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — A a ratification vote on a new contract to end the week-long teachers' strike in New York City may come as early as Tuesday, say representatives of the teachers' union and the board of education.

But the walkout by teachers in Chicago enters its 13th day today with no end in sight.

"We are near a conclusion, closer than we ever were," said Albert Shanker, president of bnew York's United Federation of Teachers (UFT). The UFT's 65,000 members went on strike against the 1.1 million-student school system on Tuesday.

Shanker and Robert Christen, the school board's chief negotiator, said at a news conference Sunday that negotiations had been recessed until Monday because of Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement.

New York teachers, who made from $9,700 to $20,350 under the old contract, have reduced their original demand for a 25-per-cent wage increase, in light of the city's fiscal problems. Besides class sizes, issues include school board attempts to reduce teacher preparation time and to eliminate sabbaticals.

In Chicago, where 530,000 students and 27,000 teachers have been out of school since Sept. 3, the board of education and the city's teachers' union remained far apart in their differences over a cost-of-living salary proposal.

Chicago teachers made from $10,400 to $20,996 under the old contract.

Police May Keep Low-mileage Cars

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville Police Chief Douglas Crosbie will study the possibility of keeping some of the department's eight cruisers, a departure from the normal policy of replacing all vehicles annually.

The move is being made in line with city police attempts to hold down the cost of replacing the cruiser fleet.

Replacement costs this year were $24,000 for the eight cruisers.

The study was sparked Saturday by a report from Chief Crosbie to the commission that two of the department's eight cars were low-mileage vehicles.

He said the two cruisers, each ith about 30,000 miles on the dometer, have travelled about alf the miles most cruisers do t the time they are replaced.

Chief Crosbie said he will like-'y recommend keeping the two vehicles for another year.

Seven of the eight vehicles recently passed provincial environment ministry (MOE) exhaust emission control tests.

Emission of exhaust fumes from the eighth cruiser was below MOE standards and was subsequently corrected, said the chief.

All police department vehicles will now be monthly examined for pollutant emission.

Nixon Reduces Spending, Davis Pledges More

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said during the weekend he will reduce government spending if he becomes premier of Ontario Sept. 18 but Premier William Davis said his campaign promises would cost the province $1 billion.

NDP Leader Stephen Lewis attacked them both for campaigning on the basis of "confusion and personal attacks" and said his party is the only one that has kept its eye on the main issues, which he described as housing, energy, land and people.

With the election just four days off, the premier's generally low-key performance heated up. He called Mr. Nixon a "reactionary" and accused him of using Liberal campaign material that was the "grossest deliberate falsehood" in claiming that Ontario's deficits during the last five years were 2½ times those of the federal Liberal government.

While the goverment party came out with no new policies in weekend campaigning, Mr. Nixon rounded up some programs into what he described as an anti-inflation package that would be coupled with the key move of reducing government spending.

He promised a Liberal administration would bring in a new budget by Christmas in an attempt to balance the province's books.

A price review committee f the legislature would be set up to examine proposed price changes in areas of provincial jurisdiction, he said, and the Ontario Food Council would be strengthened to act as a con sumer watchdog.

Mr. Nixon also said he woul have legislation passed to em power the Ontario Energ Board to review gasoline an oil prices. The Davis govern ment's price freeze on gasolin and home heating oil—whicl runs until Nov. 15—would be e tended until the legislation wa passed.

Mr. Lewis, on his second flying trip to northwestern Ontario as many days, said Sunday NDP government would bar igh-income earners from the overnment's $1,500 grant for rst-home buyers. He said it is little use now to low-and oderate-income families.

The splashiest event of the eekend was a Saturday TV deate between the premier and r. Nixon, which produced enty of acrimony but shed ittle light on campaign issues.

"Your campaign and the campaign of the Liberal party in this province has been one of the worst I have seen in my history in politics," Mr. Davis told the opposition leader.

Mr. Nixon told the premier that "since the campaign started and you realized people are moving away from Conservative support, you've been going out with financial goodies to every community that you've visited."

In a speech later Saturday, Mr. Davis said Mr. Nixon's promises would add $1 billion to the provincial budget.

Socred-Tory Alliance Unlikely Says Official

Social Credit national vice-president James McGillivray told federal party convention delegates from Ontario here Saturday the Socreds would only co-operate or form an alliance with Conservatives if they adopted key Social Credit policies, among them monetary reform.

Dr. McGillivray, a Collingwood, Ont. surgeon, also said Tories might gain Social Credit co-operation if the party did not run "spoiler" candidates in Quebec ridings.

He said Socred candidates ran second in 43 of 73 Quebec ridings in the last federal election.

Conservatives running in the same riding were "spoiler" candidates and "had the effect of taking votes from our party," he said.

Socreds, under leader Real Caouette, hold 11 seats on Parliament Hill. All members are from Quebec.

Dr. McGillivray told 25 convention delegates from Ontario the party would "co-operate before we disbanded ourselves".

He said he was interpreting comments from national president Martin Hattersley of Edmonton, who was quoted in press reports saying the Socreds would co-operate with Conservatives under certain conditions.

Mr. Hattersleys statements prompted the Ontario branch of the federal party to move its disapproval of any co-operation between the two parties.

The action was the first official act by the provincial arm since 1972, when it was disbanded and held in trusteeship by the national executive after elements of the Western Guard broke up an annual convention in Barrie.

Dr. McGillivray said Saturday the election of an Ontario branch president and two vice-presidents was sanctioned by the national executive.

Elected as president is Bruce Arnold, former Penticostal evangelist and secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Social Credit League. Mr. Arnold lives in Wasaga Beach and is a reporter with the Oshawa Times.

Cyril Gauthier of Ottawa and George Racicot of Timmins were elected vice-presidents. Other executive members are appointed by the elected members.

In an interview, Mr. Arnold said Socreds federally in Ontario face extensive work in bringing to the people the party philosophy.

"The interest is there," he said, "But people don't know that their interest has a political label."

He promised convention delegates he will visit personally Ontario's 88 federal ridings during his two-year term.

Damage Extensive

TWEED—Two Thomasburg area men and an unidentified passenger escaped injury in a two-truck collision caused by a blown tire Saturday on Concession 3-6 in Hungerford Township, one mile south of County Rd. 13 (Stoco Rd.).

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc said David Maines, 24, of RR 1, Thomasburg was northbound in his 1969 Ford pickup truck when a tire blew, forcing him into the path of a 1974 Dodge pick-up truck driven by Joseph Cassibo, 30, of RR 1, Thomasburg.

Police said the road is only 18 feet wide at the site of the accident. The passenger was in the Maines' vehicle.

Constable Al Borger estimated $1,000 damage to the Maines truck and $300 to the Cassibo vehicle in the 5:15 p.m. head-on mishap.

DEATHS

LEVESQUE, Joseph Edmund — Passed away at his residence, 19 Elgin St., Belleville on Saturday, September 13, 1975, Joseph Edmund Levesque, in his 61st year. Dear son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Levesque. Dear friend of Miss Irena Puschkin, Picton. Father of Barry Parsons, Belleville and Mrs. Donald Webb (Mary Ann), Montreal. Also survived by 4 grandchildren.

Resting at the O'Brien-Steele Funeral Home, 30 Moira Street, West. Funeral Mass will be held on Tuesday, September 16 at 10 a.m. in St. Michael's Church.

Interment St. James Cemetery.

MCDONALD — At Trenton Memorial Hospital on Saturday, September 13, 1975, Mrs Malda, McDonald, (Trent Valley Lodge), in her 81st year. Wife of the late Daniel A. McDonald. Dear mother of Madelon (Mrs. Allen Kettlehut), Trenton. Grandmother of John, Gary and Melody Kettlehut, Trenton.

Friends are invited to call at the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton. Service will be held in the Funeral Home Tuesday, September 16 at 1.30 p.m. Reverend Frank Hobbs officiating.

Interment in White's Cemetery.

NELSON, Donald David — Suddenly as the result of an accident at Picton on Saturday, September 13th, 1975, Donald David Nelson, R.R. 9, Picton, in his 28th year. Beloved son of Rolland and Georgina Nelson. Dear brother of Shirley, Ronald and Jamie, all of R.R. 9, Picton and Douglas of Picton.

Resting at the Hicks Funeral Home, 2 Centre St., Picton. Funeral service Tuesday, Sept. 16th at 2 p.m. Captain Collin Lewery officiating.

Interment Cherry Valley Cemetery.

Pedestrians Injured

A Belleville couple were sent to Belleville General Hospital Saturday after they were struck by a car at the intersection of Sidney and West Moira Streets.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said today Henry and Irene Knowlton of 22 Bettes St. were crossing Sidney St. from west to east at the south side of the intersection when they were struck by a southbound car driven by Donna Marie White of 65 Tracy St. in Belleville.

A BGH spokesman said Mr. Knowlton is listed in satisfactory condition under observation and Mrs. Knowlton was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Stolen Car Wrecked

MARMORA — Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc are investigating the wreck of a stolen car early Saturday.

Police said Douglas Rothermel, 20 of 56 Forsythe St. in Marmora had parked his 1970 Mustang in a garage at a residence at RR 2, Marmora at about 3 a.m.

They said when he checked at 7:30 a.m., it was missing. Rothermel is reported to have searched for his car by motorcycle and discovered it overturned in a field, a wreck, about ½ mile south of the residence.

Police said they surmise someone had taken the car for a drive and was returning to the garage when the accident occurred. They said they know the driver was injured and that the keys were taken from inside the residence.

Constable Walter Sawkins estimated value of the car at $1,600.

Some Prefer Daylight Time Year-round

JOHN NAIRIN

John Nairin, a supervisor with Weston's, says he will be glad to see a return to standard time.

He and co-workers are on the job by 6.30 a.m. and shorter evenings are welcomed.

When daylight time is in effect it is difficult to try for an early night's sleep when it isn't dark outside.

ADA WILKINSON

Mrs. Ada Wilkinson of Wellington says she would prefer to remain on Daylight Time all year long.

Co-owner of the County Book and Craft Shop in Picton, she says she feels that an extra hour of daylight in the winter months encourages shoppers on Main Street.

DOUGLAS REYNOLDS

Douglas Reynolds of The Mr. and Mrs. Shop says he is not concerned by the impending switch to standard time.

The Picton merchant observed that he enjoys daylight time but finds standard time just as convenient.

MARILYN ST. DENIS

Marilyn St. Denis, a clerk employed by Barber s of Picton is looking forward to the return to standard time.

"I am a Gemini and we like variety," she said.

Mrs. St. Denis observed that the change from daylight to standard time does introduce variety and added that people who travel already are adjusted to time changes.

MARY GRIMMON

Mary Grimmon of Black Creek, a bookkeeper, would like to see a modified daylight time of 30 minutes instead of 60 minutes all year long.

Mrs. Grimmon, who is working as the returning officer in Prince Edward-Lennox riding this month said the time change is confusing.

CAROL TOLLEY

Mrs. Robert Tolley, a Picton housewife says she would like to remain on daylight time throughout the year.

She said she enjoys outdoor sports and feels that an extra hour of daylight in the fall and winter months allows more time to get out in the fresh air.

Sills Defends Reptile Decision

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

ATHOL — Athol Township deputy-reeve Harold Sills says council is powerless to stop location of a reptile research farm near Cherry Valley and has been "greatly offended" by accusations of receiving bribes to permit the centre.

The deputy-reeve observed council has been a target for harsh remarks from township residents since it was learned a reptile conservation project would be located in Athol.

"A representaive of the provincial government has stated that we can prevent this firm from building in this township but when all areas were completely investigated it was proven that what we have done is the proper and necessary procedure," said the deputy-reeve.

"We', as a council, under the advice of our solicitor and according to the bylaws of our township did what was merely a legal step in granting this permit, commented deputy-reeve Sills.

He said council had no other choice and remarked that much of the criticism of the project has come from residents outside Athol Township with "only a small group" locally voicing opposition.

Deputy-reeve Sills said council has no power to prevent any property owner from buying a building permit as long as he complies with township bylaws.

Since township residents have learned of the centre, one Cherry Valley area family has decided to sell out and another is considering a move.

Both home owners live near the site of the reptile centre where construction work now is in progress.

Persons living near the project's location have expressed concern that the non-poisonous snakes that will be kept at the reptile farm may escape.

Also, home owners have stated that their property will be de-valued by the conservation project's proximity.

About 100 Athol township residents signed a petition opposing the reptile centre and it was presented to council soon after it was learned a building permit had been granted for the project.

Voters Treated to Food and Music

WELLINGTON, Ontario — Wellington village was a hub of pre—election activities this weekend as candidates met with electors on an informal basis.

Liberal candidate for the Prince Edward—Lennox riding Keith MacDonald Saturday night attended a dance at the Wellington District Community Centre where more than 1,200 turned out. Admission was free for this gala event with music provided by The Shilohs of Napanee.

Sunday, an old - fashioned afternoon in the park was staged in Wellington by the Prince Edward—Lennox Progressive Conservative Association.

Hundreds flocked to the village green for an afternoon of music by The Commodores and songs by special guest Wally Williamson known professionally as Julian Gallo.

A total of 1,200 ears of hot buttered corn and 900 hot dogs were distributed free in addition to coffee and soft drinks.

Guests were welcomed to the picnic in the park by James Taylor MPP, Prince Edward—Lennox.

In Picton Sunday evening, New Democratic Party candidate for the riding, Jan Nicol met with supporters in her committee rooms on Elizabeth Street during an informal coffee party.

McKeough Pays Visit

PICTON — Darcy McKeough, provincial minister of treasury, economics and intergovernmental affairs was to stop here briefly today to meet with James Taylor MPP Prince Edward - Lennox.

Mr. McKeough will arrive by plane and travel with Mr. Taylor to Napanee for an evening social.

Missing Van Found

PICTON — Town police Sunday recovered a car stolen here on Labor Day Weekend in Brampton and a Brampton man has been charged on two counts of theft.

Detective George Wright of the Picton Police Department said a van owned by James Roy of Church St. was reported missing from a service centre on Bridge St. and later recovered on York St. here.

A second vehicle owned by Douglas MacDonald of Bridge St. also was stolen but had not been recovered.

Donald R. Matthews, 18, of Brampton is in custody here today charged with theft.

Afternoon Ride

Nine-month-old Kaley Horton expresses an "I could care less attitude" for the afternoon consitutional she's about to take piggy back with her parents on their bicycles.

The Dr. David G. Horton family of RR 1 Ameliasburg were among the many noticed touring the Prince Edward County countryside Sunday taking in the late summer sunshine in natural colorful surroundings.

Two Youths Charged With PUC Tool Thefts

PICTON — Two youths have been charged with break, enter and theft and possession of stolen goods following a break—in last week at the Public Utilities Commission barn at Picton Fairgrounds.

Det. George Wright of the Picton Police department aprehended the youths in Midland last weekend.

Charged are Patrick Mickle Rienzo, 18, of 212 Foss Rd., Fenwick and Bela Bojtar, 16, of RR 2 Welland. Both are employed by Happyland Shows, the midway hired for the Prince Edward County Fair held in the fairgrounds recently.

Det. Wright said the youths remained at Picton fairgrounds last week with broken equipment owned by the midway.

A quantity of tools valued at $160 subsequently was taken from the PUC barn. Also, a number of hockey sweaters reported missing from the county centre at the fairgrounds was recovered.

The youths are also charged in connection with this theft.

The Chance Reunions That Give Meaning to and Enliven Our Transient Days

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Thirty years ago in a drafty naval barracks and a frigid Nova Scotian winter and then in a damp forecastle (focs'l) quarters of a pitching corvette at sea, Harold Sinclair ("Sinc") and I were friends.

In fact we were bosom pals bolstering each other as very young officers against the vicissitudes of wartime naval life and the rough-and-tumble lifestyles of older fellow naval officers.

And then we went our separate ways, strangers in the same city, until the years sped away and we faced each other unexpectedly after three decades on a sunny afternoon in the Civic Square here.

It was another of those myriad reunions in life which give spice to daily existence, a reminder that a long-forgotten fellow human being once shared your intimate thoughts, your life and your hopes and then was gone.

That pattern was especially true in wartime. It was the weave of the bitter sweet romances of the war years, of the longings expressed in Vera Lynn's songs and later of the inner thoughts of veterans' reunions.

Chance meetings of this kind, as well as those recalling shared memories of less dangerous, less uncertain times past always remind us of the close communion we have with many people around us—links we think have been broken—but the other person on meeting again remembers.

Perhaps than, I should not have been surprised at Sinc's strong memory for the imponderibilia of distant years, the hated drill masters, pompous and self-serving senior officers, the organized chaos of naval life ashore and afloat, the picadilloes which in civilian life in peacetime would get you charged for petty crime.

We remembered once lowering the ship's seaboat with oars muffled under the nose of the somnolent duty officer, rowing it to the New Brunswick shore of St. Andrew's-by-the-Sea to remove and cook in the small ship's galley someone else's fresh lobsters.

The succulent smell of them permeated the small warship all night waking up most of the crew, ending as a result in a large on-board feast.

Or the time two ancient corvettes, somewhat rusted and run down from three years in the North Atlantic U-boat war, were about to get under way—but—one of them was dragging her anchor. Neither Sinc nor myself as youngsters on board one of them could persuade the duty officer nor the NCO in charge of hoisting anchor that we had a problem, until Sinc broke the rules, rushed to the captain's cabin and got him on the bridge.

There was the already middle-aged officer who tried to make time with a stout but we understood sexy Wren officer. He was a guy we viewed as rather crude, but in the innocence of our youth we were not aware the war for him was relief from a distant woman and home he spurned.

The crudities of the naval personnel which Sinc also reminded me about, we had put down then as desires to be ship's show-offs. But their negative reactions to naval discipline, the war and the stern sea were more complex than that.

Everywhere this boy-officer, (your author), ventured in the navy of 1945 from a very comfortable North Toronto home, he was looking for the first time at other young men who had become the human residue in deed and word of the harsh and debilitating depression.

Only the post-war boom and prosperity, which still lay ahead, would at least give purpose to the most ambitious of them in college, business or a profession, released at last from an economic and social bondage they did not create.

They say and rightly too, that men and women remember the pleasant, the absurd, the hilarious moments of war, forget the terror, dreariness and futility of it which is the other more realistic side.

It was a common bond, this laughing over events, faces and crises of "30 years astern" as navy men say, and a total recall of that time from "Sinc" which made our reunion and a later lunch together a lot of fun.

But life at anytime is like this, basically a structure of small events and at the time unimportant happenings not so much from a war as from the life of a family, of a happy marriage, of a good place to work or play.

One should not shun the chance to create the small moments or to remember to cherish them as time quickly passes.

They are the stuff of growing older happily, of relating in the most basic way to people around us, friends and families.

They make the past contemporary and the present even if we don't notice it in passing, also precious.

Libraries: Another Look

Libraries traditionally are places for acquiring knowledge at the personal level, establishments too for quiet reflection. The staff, ideally, are polite, welcoming without being either pushy or officious.

As a young university studend about to start another semester put it: "I wouldn't want someone looking over my shoulder and saying, 'can I help you.' "

Corby library is not like that and she agrees that the staff there are helpful when approached. Most people know what they want anyway and find things for themselves.

Yet is there another side to libraries that is not generally perceived, or was not touched upon in a recent editorial? Are they cold, institutionalized, lacking in stimulus — for the young in particular — regressive or out of tune with the times?

To many, the Corby library building combines a traditional look from the past with a bright, airy and pleasant interior that owes much to recent modernization. The library content and various library programs enhance this feeling.

Yet before us is a letter from a woman teacher and mother of a young child who sees libraries as "worse than penitentiaries . . . as even these are updating their facilities."

What then of the modernization at Corby? Is this overlooked when the writer speaks of "a stark and outdated building."

It's a long letter, too long for publication, and strangely bitter in tone, but it does make some interesting points. She speaks of "a generation of children turned off by libraries and books and turned on to marijuana, LSD etc." and says they need emotional warmth.

Children in libraries — for instance, at the special programs laid on for them — seem happy enough, but as a child, for the writer, the letter says going to the library for her was a "traumatic experience."

This, resulting from books overdue, worry as to what it would cost, parents "always upset," covers broken or soiled, a lecture from the librarian. And so on. Possibly few associate a library with the classroom atmosphere, but this teacher wonders could it not be thus, with the motivation of "people, music, poetry, laughing and talking."

A pipe dream? Or are libraries still, as she suggests, little changed from half-a-century ago?

The key word seems to be "stimulus." A warmer atmosphere. Doesn't the reading matter and the quiet atmosphere suffice then?

A word again from the university student. She agrees youngsters should be given a positive impression of libraries, so they will want to come back. Then she says: "People say there is nothing to do in Belleville . . . but considering the library hours available and the money spent on books and facilities, I think it (the Corby library) is the best bargain in this city."

We are inclined to agree, even allowing for the other dissenting viewpoint.

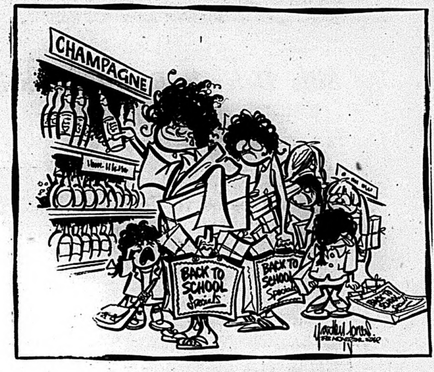
Smoking Bad for Kids

There has been another one of those scary announcements by researchers on the hazards of smoking.

It concerns women smokers who, scientists say, tend to give birth to undersized and sometimes dangerously delicate babies. The cause has remained a mystery, but researchers at Johns Hopkins University now say women who smoke may be depriving fetuses of oxygen critical to proper growth and development.

Even a smoke-filled atmosphere is said to be bad for children, as well as adults, and a young woman driver observed lighting a cigaret, with her baby strapped to its chair on the passenger side, could have been creating such a situation. The scene was a supermarket parking lot and the thought occurred also that the child's seat should have been in the back too.

How much damage smoking is doing in this way cannot be gauged by the layman, but the cumulative evidence of the scientists, as it affects the health of people of all ages, is disquieting to say the least.



Unpaved Township Roads Mean Dusty Scene

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Here are some excerpts from an edition of your newspaper dated April 4.

Davis says Ontario plans heavy roads expenditure. The Premier said that despite the government's recent emphasis on Urban public transit, roads will continue to be the chief arteries of life and commerce in our rural areas and smaller communities . He said increases in road expenditures would be significant.

This appears to be a clear clean cut directive regarding all Ontario roads.

I live on one of these roads located in RR 5, Thurlow Township. It is an unpaved road and is approximately 18 feet wide and about half a mile in length. It runs in a fairly straight line from the 401 bridge at the north end of Sidney St, Belleville, and joins the paved road which runs from Highway 14 to Frankford. This road then parallels Highway 14. As can be seen it is a north-south-east and west link in the main road system.

Although considerable traffic uses this road, there is not a single speed limit sign along its length from Maitland Drive north. Any traffic would use this oversight to the limit and does.

Being unpaved the traffic creates clouds of dust particles and this in turn envelopes everything within sight.

Residents along the road have consistently phoned the township, the roads department, the Reeve and councillors concerned.

Eventually at some time or other, the spraying truck might appear. The last time was several weeks ago, it did not do a good job of spraying the road. Also the liquid used must be very inferior, because the dusty condition of the road is evident again in a few days. This last statement has been generally agreed to by a Thurlow councillor.

To sum up, it appears that a proper schedule should be maintained for this unpaved but well-travelled road. That an efficient road binder be used to cover the whole width of the road. Appropriate speed signs should be posted just as they are on the adjoining roads. Whenever the grader does its job, the top surface of the road is composed of loose gravel, rocks, and sand. Therefore the road spraying binder truck should be used in unison with the grader.

The Provincial Hustings

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Political promises are a dime a dozen; they are forgotten the moment the votes are counted. The public's memory is short, and rarely is a political person held to account for what he promised he would do but didn't. But there are exceptions.

If the string of broken promises is still fresh in the public's mind, the politician has to overcome them with even more effective ones. Otherwise, he may not be re-elected.

Belleville' former mayor Jeffrey should find herself in this predicament. When she ran for mayor, on a popular platform, these were some of her promises:

1. She would take Belleville out of the hand of the developers and return it to the people.
2. She would introduce the long-range road renewal program.
3. She would prevent the building of townhouses in Elizabeth Crescent.
4. She would build sewers for the residents of Hillcrest.
5. She would keep her office open every Monday evening to listen to the people.

After the election, the promises fell by the wayside, for reasons never properly explained. The developers continue to hold sway over the city, the roads remain as pot-holed as ever, Elizabeth Crescent will get townhouses; she called the Hillcrest residents "squatters" and sewers were installed the price of which will drive them out, and the inspired ear was soon shut for the public.

Of course, all of this is now forgotten. Among other things, she looks forward to the day when Belleville and Trenton will become one. Trenton residents should relish that prospect.

This string of unfulfilled projects should blast her hopes in provincial elections.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Sept. 15, 1975

A corps of almost 400 volunteers—the first Canadian contingent to take part in an Imperial war overseas—left Canada 91 years ago today—in 1884—to aid in the relief of Khartoum in the African Sudan. British Gen. Charles George Gordon had been ordered to evacuate Egyptian garrisons besieged by the rebelling Madhist Dervishes, but his forces in turn had been pinned down.

1807—Former U.S. vice-president Aaron Burr acquitted of treason.

1917—Russia proclaimed a republic.

Cabinet Material

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Services

TORONTO — There is a canard being circulated in this election which in fairness, should be knocked down.

This is a rumor, carefully and subtly planted, that the Liberals, if elected, couldn't form a cabinet of any strength.

Largely fostered by the NDP, this impression has been so widely circulated that it is a most important factor with many people who are considering voting Liberal . . . as one quickly gathers in talks with voters.

And it is a canard, for two reasons.

One is that out of the men in its caucus and candidates running in the election the Liberals could form at least a reasonably strong cabinet.

In the last house the party had a number of men of cabinet calibre.

Jim Bullbrook, Jim Breithaupt, Murray Gaunt, Albert Roy, Harry Worton, Ed Good and Vernon Singer are some of the names that come to mind.

Some of these men haven't been too prominent before the public but all have the capacity to be good ministers.

Among the candidates there are several others of definite cabinet potential. Men such as Desmond Newman, for president of the Canadian Mayors, and Elmer Sopha of Sudbury.

Then there is the fact of life that over the years it has been shown unlikely men have turned out to be good ministers.

This is because men tend to grow into the job. They mature quickly with ministerial responsibility. Any cabinet, after all, is mainly made up of assorted lawyers, merchants, teachers and what have you.

Practically never have they had to deal with the amounts of money or the size of operation they inherit, but they come through in most cases surprisingly well.

Charles MacNaughton, for example, was a seed merchant from Exeter, yet he handled the province's finances as Treasurer, and handled them well.

Talking of subtlety it has been fascinating watching the way the other parties have been opposing the Liberals in this campaign.

The Conservatives have focused almost entirely on Bob Nixon, influenced by the party leader's low rating in the personality polls.

And the NDP has used innuendo; such as this from Stephen Lewis:

"I do not believe that in the last analysis the public will take the Liberals seriously, knowing as I do other Liberal governments and the way the federal Liberals behave and the way the provincial Liberals change their minds at a moment's notice."

This, of course, is a nothing statement, but still it could carry weight with a lot of people.

Actually the NDP would have a lot more trouble forming a credible cabinet than would the Liberals.

Consumers Are Short of Full Protection Against Corporate Rip-offs

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The consumer movement may have won a few victories during the past decade.

But in most areas of business where the financial stakes are high, consumers don't have as much protection as they think.

Let's take a couple of examples:

Packages or cans of mixed nuts, the federal government has ruled, must list the weight of each type of nut and show the percentage of the nut present in the greatest quantity. Fine—especially if you spend a lot of time feeding the squirrels.

But the same government steadfastly prohibits any increase in real competition among airlines, despite the obvious neglect of feeder services by airlines that enjoy a monopoly.

Why? Probably because the government agencies that regulate such multi-million-dollar industries are much more closely attuned to the interest of those industries than to the interests of the consumer.

That's the inference to be drawn from a study by a University of Toronto law professor, Michael Trebilcock, who has looked deeply into the relationship between the consumer and what he terms the "modern regulatory state."

Prof. Trebilcock supports that description of our economy by pointing out that the federal government has established more than 100 regulatory agencies, and that most provinces have created more than 50.

On the face of it, that suggests that the consumer's interest is being well protected against the inevitable tendency of industry to maximize revenues.

Instead, he contends, most of the heavily regulated industries would rather remain regulated (by tribunals that are usually sympathetic to them) than compete.

The people who comprise the regulatory agencies are not dishonest or incompetent, Prof. Trebilcock says.

But the industry that's being regulated has a concentrated interest in making the best possible case for more money. The opposing view of consumers is not concentrated at all.

Prof. Trebilcock cites the example of Bell Canada. His figures state that the telephone monopoly sought rate increases of $51-million last year, and was therefore justified in spending $1 million, directly and indirectly, in preparing its case before the Canadian transport commission.

Although that $51 million was to come annually from consumers, no individual consumer could spend 50 days in Ottawa to fight an extra 20 cents a month on his home telephone, or the 100 per cent increase in pay-telephone prices.

To balance the scales, Prof. Trebilcock proposes a sustained consumer advocacy system, financed by Parliament but controlled by citizens.

That begs a question—what citizens?

It's possible, even probable, that such a program would be taken over by noisy, self-appointed activists — for example, those who, in their paranoia about the oil industry, would cut off the development of the energy resources that their fellow-citizens depend upon.

Regulatory agencies, imperfect as they are, will continue to be needed.

Governments would do well, however, to accept Prof. Trebilcock's proposals aimed at balancing the rights of consumers and industry at regulatory proceedings.

In relation to the millions of dollars at stake in such hearings, it wouldn't cost government much to give legitimate consumer representatives not only the right to a hearing but also the right to free information from the industry concerned, free legal assistance (to cross-examine industry) and free transcripts of evidence.

Mishaps Leave Four Dead in County

PICTON — Four Prince Edward County men died this weekend in two separate accidents, one near Wellington and the other on the outskirts of Picton.

A Bloomfield resident, George Pike, 62, was killed, Saturday night, when his pickup truck was in collision with a car on County Road 10 near the hill leading to Prince Edward Heights.

Also killed were two passengers in the other car, Robert MacKenzie, 27, and Donald Nelson, 28, both of RR 9, Picton. They were pronounced dead at the scene by Prince Edward County coroner Dr. C. R. Richmond.

Driver of the car, John Still of Milford, said by police to be in his early twenties, was taken to Kingston General Hospital and is in serious condition.

A third passenger, Gordon Thompson, 23, of Picton was admitted to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital with head injuries.

A spokesman for the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police said Sunday that driver of the pickup truck, George Pike, was northbound on County Road 10 while the Still car, was southbound on the same road, when the mishap occurred.

Just two hours after Donald Nelson, a passenger in the Still car was killed, his brother Douglas Nelson, 22, escaped unhurt from a single car accident on County Road 22, the old Army Camp Hill.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 after Nelson's car went out of control and overturned near the scene of the crash that claimed his brother's life.

A Wellington man, 20-year-old Robert (Bobbie) Insley, died Saturday night when the pickup truck in which he was a passenger went out of control on County Road Two near the Town Line, about five miles north of Wellington.

The turck, owned by Paul Johnsen, of RR 1, Wellington was driven by David Conley, described by police as in his twenties, of Bloomfield.

Conley was taken to Kingston General Hospital with undetermined injuries.

Another passenger in the truck, Colin McQuaid, 24, of Bloomfield was taken to Belleville General Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Small Cars Using Paths

The Belleville Police Commission will ask council to amend a city bylaw to empower police to stop motorcycles and compact cars from using a pedestrian tunnel under CNR tracks on Frank St.

Chief Douglas Crosbie said Saturday police have no power to stop such use because the pedestrian tunnel is classed a footpath and not a sidewalk in the city bylaw.

Motorcycles riders and Volswagen drivers are known to use the walkway, he said.

Police have jurisdiction over sidewalks but not over footpaths.

The commission agreed to ask the city's traffic committee to recommend council alter the definition of a sidewalk to include that of a footpath.

Mayor Sworn In

Mayor Ben Corke is sworn in as a Belleville police commissioner by Judge W.S. Lane (right) Saturday. The mayor fills the shoes on the commission of former Mayor Robin Jeffrey, who resigned her post to contest the Quinte riding provincial seat as a Conservative candidate.

Advance Vote Heavy

Voters turnout at the five advance polls in Quinte riding this weekend has outstripped by nearly 100 per cent the turnout for the last provincial election in 1971, results from the riding returning office indicate today.

On Saturday alone, voters marking ballots numbered 671, just over the total number that took advantage of the two days of advance voting in 1971.

Differences this election in the number of polls——five as opposed to four in 1971——and the number of days for advance voting——three as opposed to two——are unlikely as explanations of what Quinte returning officer Gerry Joyce called a heavy turnout.

Mr. Joyce said today all candidates were "really plugging" and "strongly" urging voters to turn out to advance polls.

"Undoubtedly," said Mr. Joyce, the advertising made a difference in recording the high number of ballots cast.

In 1971, 669 people voted early. On Friday and Saturday, a total of 1,206 voted, a fraction of the 42,128 voters eligible to vote Sept. 18.

Today is the final day for early voting across Ontario.

Provincial Debt Main Concern of Socreds

Conservative government monetary policy, costly housing and a discriminatory education system were criticized by Ontario Scoial Credit League leader Sid Hamelin while attending the party's annual convention here Saturday.

Mr. Mamelin called the present monetary system and Conservative government fiscal policies the source of Ontario's problems.

A Socred candidate in Hamilton East, Mr. Hamelin promised his party would phase out existing welfare and social service payments and establish a guaranteed annual income for all Ontario residents of $1,200.

Necessary funds would come from savings realized by a quick retirement of the province's debt, he said.

The leader proposed that 25 per cent of the last $11-billion provincial budget, as announced by treasurer Darcy McKeough, be borrowed from the Bank of Canada "at no interest."

The guaranteed annual income would eliminate the bureaucracy that now exists to administer welfare programs, he said.

He said the Conservative government is putting $600-million into housing, but Socreds would feed funds through the Ontario housing Corp. and make mortgages available at two or three per cent interest.

"People can't afford to pay $400 in carrying charges for homes," he said.

During the convention, Cochrane South Socred candidate Bob Cochrane was elected provincial party president.

Mr. Cochrane is one of 10 candidates the party has fielded for the Sept. 18 provincial election. Locally Nancy Arnold is seeking the Hastings — Peterborough seat.

BOB COCHRANE

Driver Charged

MADOC — An 18-year-old Madoc area man has been charged with careless driving following a one-car accident on County Rd. 38, one mile east of Highway 62 Sunday.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc identified the man as William Holmes of RR 2, Madoc.

Police said a 1974 Dodge hardtop was westbound when it went out of control while turning, went into a private driveway and ended up on a lawn.

A vote for Davis

The Premier of this province, in a television address last January, described The Globe and Mail as the opposition press. We wouldn't quarrel with his terminology if he regarded opposition as a description of our function to analyze and criticize the performance of political administrations. Ourselves, we prefer the word independent, in that we have no continuing affiliation to any party or person in politics.

We are, like many individual Canadians, uncommitted. But, like the majority of Canadians, we feel that we must be counted at election time. Conservatives, Liberals and New Democrats we have supported in the past know very well that after the ballots are counted, we return to our fundamental job of analysis and criticism.

In this election we feel that the needs of the people of Ontario would be best served by returning the Progressive-Conservatives for another term.
